The Secretary clarified the portion of the Financial Statement on the County's contribution to the Recreation districts for Mrs. L. Szabo.

The Secretary advised that as the County is the signing authority for P.S.S., operating costs are reflected in the County's budget.

The Chairman noted the surplus for the year and stated it is hoped a simplified financial statement will be ready for presentation to the ratepayers next year. The present statement is in the form required by the senior governments for their records. The booklets are expensive and a flier type statement is being looked into for insertion in the local papers and to be sent to every post office.

The Chairman advised that the County owns 18 houses, 1 duplex in Killam, 1 triplex in Heister and 4 trailers making a total of 24 units available for use as teacherages.

The 1978 audited Financial Statement was accepted on motion of S. Crenshaw and F. Waldorf.

CARRIED.

Reeve Blatz reported the total taxes collected in 1978 was 95.8% and he thanked the ratepayers for their co-operation.

MUNICIPAL INSPECTOR'S REPORT

The Municipal Inspector's Report for 1978 was read by Reeve Blatz and he thanked the internal staff on behalf of everyone. The report was accepted on motion of Reeve Blatz and A. Dietz.

AGRICULTURAL FIELDMAN'S REPORT

Chairman Jacobson asked Brian Lee, the Agricultural Fieldman, to make his report.

There has been one change in the Advisory Committee since the report in the Financial Statement was printed. John Hofer of the Hutterian Brethren of South Bend resigned as he is now living in Saskatchewan most of the time. He was replaced by Eugene Elm as representative in Division 1.

Information on the cattle survey in the County of Plagstaff and Marble Control was included in the last Plagstaff News. This survey is required every four years to be eligible for a grant for Marble Control. This will be the first survey taken in eight years in this County.

A lot of people are not aware of what V.S.I. is and this has been made part of the page question and answer approach prepared by the Veterinarians' Association. It is not the idea of the County to try to force anything on people but just to put out information for people who are interested. Comments received will be passed on to the Veterinarians' Association.

Mr. Zwack was to report on the Seed Plants to-day but is ill. The Regular Seed Plant Conference will be held June 14th and best attendance trophies will be given out.

Nestlock Sales & Services will service fire extinguishers for towns, villages, or farmers when they are servicing the fire extinguishers for the seed plants. A schedule will be put out as to when they will be in the area.

It was noted the Nestlock Sales & Service will service fire extinguishers for the seed plants but are not under contract to do so.

New federal dust regulations are coming in and the plants will be checked. More work will have to be done in our seed plants to bring down the dust pollution level.

The federal grant for improvement of seed plants, which was a $10,000.00 grant, has come to an end. 33 plants advised themselves of the grant. The cost of a new plant has escalated tremendously.

D. Poutledge was advised the V.S.I. system is a pre-paid veterinary plan.

A. Fredrich was advised by Glen Werner, District Agriculturalist, that the results on the deep plowing plots has been published in the local papers and a more detailed copy of the information may be obtained from the D.A.'s office.

Chairman Jacobson thanked Mr. Lee for his report.

In answer to a question from A. Fredrich, if a fire permit was required for burning windrows of brush and stump piles, he was advised all Councillors and all town and village fire chiefs have Fire permits. Under the Forest & Prairie Fire Protection Act a permit is required for any type of burning.

Brief discussion ensued on liability if a permit is not obtained and if proper precautions are not taken when burning. It was noted that by getting a permit, the Fire chief is made aware you will be burning and this will avoid a false alarm being turned in. Charges can be laid by Constable Vanderveude, the R.C.M.P. or the Game Warden if a person is caught burning without a permit.

S. Crenshaw was advised you can drain on your own land as long as it does not affect your neighbor's. The County had looked into initiating a study on water drainage in the Iron Creek basin and the effect at the lower end, but the government did not feel it was feasible. They would do the study for the County but the cost would be in the millions. To drain water across or affecting someone's land, you must have a license from Water Resources and permission of the people whose land may be affected. Every project drained into Iron Creek affects the land at the end of the creek where it enters the Battle River. The County wanted to have a study done beginning at the Battle River but had no success. Water Resources do not look at the far end. It was noted 60% of the County is drained by Iron Creek. The ratepayers were cautioned to make sure they proceeded through proper channels.

Mr. Miller, Chairman of the Drainage Committee, said it had been suggested that the Creek be straightened out at the river to speed up the flow. If information on the effect where the creek enters the river could be obtained, Council could then look at some of the proposed projects and if feasible, could allow them to happen and feel right about it. Council wants to know where the water is going and how much. To date Water Resources have been by-passing Council and telling applicants to go ahead and drain anyway. There have been several. What would happen downstream if another year like 1974 occurs?

Mr. Werner noted the Iron Creek is a fairly substantial portion of the Battle River Study. Water Resources feel the water runs out of the Battle River area too quickly and they feel if the County proceeds with the Iron Creek proposal the water will run out that much quicker.

Mr. Crenshaw noted that the water in a slough bordering his land was pumped dry and the beaver all died. He felt the County did this as they thought the road may be washed out. One dam was 3/4 of a mile away from the road, and he thought the County blew this dam. A grant had been received in the 30's to put this dam in and the beaver had raised it. He thought Constable Vanderveude blew it. Reeve Blatz stated this would have to be verified as Constable Vandermeulen does not handle dynamite.

Mr. Lee advised the beaver dam was pulled down but not removed completely. The dam is still there. The beaver were removed. The water was pumped out at a farmer's request so he could get to his land. Water is only pumped out where there is a good reason to do so.

Mr. Cramshaw advised the County did not rent out the pump to a farmer to fill a day-out. This was done by the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Werner advised his department pumped the water so the farmer would have a water supply for his stock. If the farmer had the water removed from Mr. Cramshaw's land without permission then this is a problem between the farmer and Mr. Cramshaw.

Reeve Blatz advised that beaver control will now be under the jurisdiction of the government and will be dealt with directly by the Fish & Wildlife officers.

Mr. Werner advised Mrs. Stokke the Soil Conservation Act says the landowner is responsible to retain land so it does not erode but there is nothing to say so many trees must be kept to prevent soil erosion on the land except in watershed areas. The landowner can be charged if he doesn't take steps to prevent erosion. The problem lies in enforcing it. It was noted farmers are at fault for some of the soil drifting through use of treflan and cultivation in the fall.

Mr. Lee noted in the 50's the County was planting 100,000 - 125,000 trees per year and now are down to 50,000 - 25,000 trees per year. These trees are free to farmers and are available if the farmer orders them and plants them. The County has two tree planters and there is a program where a farmer may receive $50.00 per year to look after these trees.

The Chairman asked Mr. A. Rands to report on the Municipal Financing Corporation financial year for 1977. The corporation operates similar to the County with the Shareholders (Ratepayers) telling the administration (Council) what to do. A Board of Directors is elected at each annual meeting and they carry out the affairs of the corporation. They meet at the Mayfield Inn in Edmonton. Mr. Rands read excerpts from the last Financial Statement and noted it is a non-profit corporation, established to assist municipal jurisdictions to obtain funds at a lower cost. It was established in 1956 under the authority of The Municipal Finance Corporation Act. Mr. Rands went on to explain how the shares were issued and advised the Crown has the majority so as to keep a controlling interest over the corporation. He explained the requirements for applications for loans. New loans issued exceed the previous year's loans by 16 million dollars. Interest rates in 1977 advanced to 11% and has increased since then. With the government announcements recently and funds to be made available this year, there should be interesting figures for next year's report on outstanding loans. Some municipalities with loans at 8 - 9% are going to keep the loans and use the money so they won't have to take out new loans. If the department approves this, it looks like good financing. The corporation has never lost any money -- all loans have been made good. In early years of operation quite a bit of money came from the New York Market but since 1964 no more money has been borrowed from outside Canada. Roger Parlier of Strathcona was elected as Director on the board for our area. It has been passed on to the government that there will be a special class set up for school districts as there is a continued involvement of school boards with our association. The directors are taking this under advisement.

The Chairman thanked Mr. Rands for his report.

All reports were accepted on motion of D. Davidson and W. Barnes.

GALAHAD HOSPITAL

With regard to a question from B. Cihac on the Galahad Hospital, Mr. Rands advised a final decision was made by the Department in late February that the Flagstaff-Hughenden General Hospital District will operate the hospital.

Mr. Rands advised there are trouble spots showing up in the hospital field in the province. With 100% or last dollar financing the government are encroaching more and more into hospital affairs and hospital trustees are worried and think the ratepayers should be also. There also seems to be a problem of communication between the trustees and the ratepayers. He requested any way of improving communication would be welcomed. There are department officials who it appears, have very definite plans to phase out the boards and local administration and the boards are helpless in fighting this without the support of the people. Mr. Rands felt they should get away from 100% financing. There should be other financing available on a "right-to-own" basis rather than a grant basis. Unless the people get actively involved in the business of finding a way out of this dilemma more and more local autonomy will be lost. You can't finance hospitals out of real property taxation -- the cost is too high. When the government has such high revenue that the amount they have is an embarrassment to them some of it should be at the people's disposal by right. If people ask for too many services they have to dig into their pockets and will be responsible. When we paid for everything from the mill rate everyone came and was interested in the affairs of the municipality. Now that grant money is received, people are not really interested any more.

A. Cameron noted that according to the School Act the minutes are to be available to the ratepayers. He believes they are to be available now -- not when they are history in a month or so. The minutes are acted on before they are approved. The Secretary said the minutes are acted on but are not considered official until they have been adopted. This is why they are edited if published before adoption. Mr. Cameron felt there was more secrecy than was necessary. Decisions are made and done before anyone can see the minutes. The Secretary noted everyone is invited and can attend the meetings and the press have been asked to attend. They were getting copies of the adopted minutes. It was noted the press were not in attendance at the annual meeting.

I. Cameron asked if there was anyway of preventing stones from coming off the gravel trucks on the gravel haul. Reeve Blatz noted the box should be protected with boards on the front. Mr. Waldorf pointed out the truck driver is supposed to clean off the edges of his box before he leaves the pile.

G. Miller noted it had been pointed out to him that in hauling gravel from northern stockpiles to southern stockpiles, anxious weeds could be spread. It was suggested the trucks be tarped the same as grain trucks must be.

A. Friedrich stated too many farmers are not using tarps on their grain trucks and Mr. Lee noted it is very difficult to get a conviction in this regard.

Reeve Blatz advised that effective 7:00 a.m. Tuesday, March 20th, 1979, a road ban of 75% of the axle weight will be placed on all County roads. The ban may be lifted from the gravelled roads at a later date.

It was agreed the annual meeting be held in the Recreation Centre meeting room again next year.

The above are verbatim accounts but summarized.
The meeting adjourned at 4:30 p.m. on motion of M. Kuntz and
A. Dietz.

75th Anniversary regional officer visits Sedgewick

A good turnout was recorded when the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce met in the Anglican Hall, Tuesday, February 19. Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Jeanette Boudet of St. Paul, Alberta who is the Regional Officer for the 75th Anniversary Commission.

During the business meeting, Mayor Koehl reported that the general plan for the town of Sedgewick had received first reading. It was moved that the local Chamber receive membership in the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and that a cheque be sent to them.

President Strobel then introduced Mrs. Boudet who gave a very informative address. It was stressed that the funds for marking our 75th anniversary did not come from the Heritage Trust Fund but from tax dollars. She queried individuals as to how they felt about spending this money. Some projects must be approved by the Commission while others of local nature are left to the discretion of the local committee.

Material for homecoming promotions can be obtained, medallions for senior citizens, gold medals, and other forms of recognition. Capital investment may take the form of building renovations, park improvement, playground upgrading etc.

Donations may be made to service clubs and for schools a per capita grant could be made for a number of activities both in sports and academics.

General community activities include such things as picnics, dances, parades, concerts, pioneer days.

fashion parades, rodeo, etc., all with the 75th anniversary theme.

The Council must account for all the money used, and the per capita funds may be used for a large project. The use of the logo must be approved by the Commission.

A seminar for help in writing the history of the area could be arranged by contacting the Commission or Mrs. Boudet.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Koehl was moved by Mayor Koehl and heartily endorsed by all.

The next Chamber meeting will be March 18.

Wally and Susi Seto, relaxing with grand-daughter Lisa, were hosts to a Chinese New Year celebration on February 16, held in Hardisty Elks Hall. About 450 attended this year's event, which has grown each year. Following a bountiful dinner, Mrs. Harrison presented the Seto family with a gift from the community. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Mayne's Orchestra.

Seat belt laws pushed

Transportation Minister Henry Kroeger is pushing hard to have compulsory seat belt legislation introduced in the spring session of the legislature.

Kroeger, who has advocated a mandatory seat belt law since taking on the transportation portfolio last year, is trying to persuade the government to hold a free vote on a seat belt bill.

The Conservative caucus "is split right down the middle" over the issue, with about half its ranks arguing compulsory seat belts would be an infringement of individual freedom.

But Kroeger is firmly committed to the concept, and is an effort to change his colleague's minds he has been exposing them to films produced by his department showing the dire consequences to passengers caught without seat belts in traffic accidents.

Kroeger says a seat belt bill could be introduced by either the government or a private member.

If a free vote is held, a private members' bill is more likely, as it would free cabinet ministers to vote according to conscience. With a government-sponsored bill, ministers would be under pressure to support it or resign.

Alberta and Manitoba are now the only provinces west of the Maritimes that do not have mandatory seat belt legislation.

Kroeger and officials in his department are now citing the results of studies in Saskatchewan and Ontario to show that the buck-up laws there are effective. Injuries dropped some nine per cent in Saskatchewan in the year after seat belt legislation was enacted. And deaths in traffic smash-ups dropped by nearly 30 per cent.

Even better results were achieved in Ontario where seat belts were made compulsory at the same time as the province's speed limit was reduced.

"Seat belts work. And legislation works," says Kroeger, not one to mince words.

"That one person being convinced doesn't make it possible to carry (a bill) through."

The minister says that talk in caucus that the issue is easy. But he now warns his colleagues to defend their views in open debate on the floor of the assembly.

If a free vote is held in the legislature, it will be a first for the Lougheed government. It will also be one of the rare times in this Conservative-dominated legislature that the results of a vote will not be pre-determined.

It is yet to be seen whether Premier Peter Lougheed and his cabinet are prepared to let the normally united Tory caucus come to verbal blows over the seat-belt issue.

Steve Yuba, President of the Battle River Hockey League, presents the League's Rooker of the Year award to Colin Brausen of the Dayland North Stars.

Jim Clarke elected

Jim Clarke of Sedgewick has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

The American Angus Association, with some 38,000 active life and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on nearly 10 million registered Angus.

The Association records accurate information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then marketed with the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

Flagstaff teachers going to convention

Intermission.

County of Flagstaff teachers will be participating in the Central East Convention being held in Edmonton, March 5, 6, and 7. These days are essentially an opportunity to be exposed to a select group of experts in specific fields of education and become acquainted with new ideas and techniques. These goals reflect the convention's theme, "Educating for the 80's - Our Living Heritage Trust."

Special sessions at convention include such diverse topics as: Evaluation of Students, Elementary Social Studies, Creative Business, Consumer Education and Canadian Literature. In addition to these special sessions, there are two major sessions designed for all teachers, the Opening and Closing Addresses.

Elks leader visits Heisler

Mr. A. J. Malahoe, the National Leader of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada, will be visiting the Heisler Lodge #806 at their special meeting of March 6.

Mr. Malahoe hails from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan and has been an active member of the B.P.O. Elks of Canada for 31 years.

The B.P.O. Elks of Canada are a fraternal organization founded in Canada in the year 1912 and today has a total membership of over 61,000. The Heisler Lodge #806 was instituted in 1947 and today has a membership of 198.

given Thursday morning and Friday afternoon. This year's closing address will be delivered by the internationally famous generalist, Dr. David Symant, Basingstoke.

Teachers and their spouses will gather at Dayside on Saturday, March 18, for the Annual A.T.A. Local No. 18 Banquet. The purpose of this event is focused more on socializing among teachers than upon cutting skills (as is usually evident). Prizes are awarded for such things as "the most original hat." This year will also feature a darts tournament and such exotic prizes as a 1980 "Mercedes 480 SL" windshield scraper, a "GE refrigerator" ice cube tray and "Tidy for Two to Hawaii" holiday brochure.

Per capita grants

The 75th Anniversary Commission has given each community in Alberta $20.00 per person to spend on 75th anniversary projects, but if this money is not used in 1989, the communities neglecting it will have to give it back.

Killam and Sedgewick for example, have been given $18,800 and $16,940 respectively. This money unfortunately has not been put to any use, in fact virtually no proposals have even been made for the use of the funds. Killam and Sedgewick are just illustrations, other communities in the county are in the same predicament.

Per Capita grants account for $41,331, 700 of the $75 million limit set for celebrating the anniversary. Fortunately other communities in the province have found a need for their share of the money.

Other activities already planned for communities in the province are: town parties, breakfasts, fireworks, cakes, rides, reunions, museum functions, banquets or balls, parades, and the list goes on.

Events are often historically celebrating Alberta's 75 years, therefore many of the events other towns have planned are ones with old fashioned traditions tied into them. Old uniforms will be used for sporting events, and old styled clothes for beauty pageants.

Any person or persons wishing to submit a proposal to their town office should name the activity and the date of when it will occur. A long-term or short-term goal of the project should be stated. It should also say to what group (entire town or specific) the project is directed towards, and explain the details of the plan as well as telling the amount of money that would be needed. All projects proposed should have volunteers available to carry them through. The local anniversary committee will then decide if the project is worthwhile.

The money is here, all we need is some input so we can begin to spend it.

The Third Column

BY THE NCATE

"I WRITE AND I PLEASE"

NOW THAT THE labors of another election are ended, looking remains but to close the record books and get on to the next phase of governing the nation. Certainly the statistics remain and the memory lingers, but all that really is left for pundits and laymen is to try and guess what happened and why it happened, and what the results may possibly mean for the country as a whole.

WHAT HAPPENED doesn't require a thesis from a political science graduate. It's very simple. The Conservatives were thrown out and the Liberals installed. So we have a change of governments. So be it. Once again the people have spoken.

WHY IT HAPPENED does take a bit deeper thinking. So let's see what we think. I can't think for you, but I can tell you what I think. If that helps, good. If it doesn't, well, you figure out your own angles. First of all I believe the Tories were defeated, not for the reason that Joe Clark made some supposedly bad moves or said some things that might better have been left unsaid, but for the pure and simple reason that he and his finance minister brought forward a very unpopular budget. Unpopular because it was going to hit the average person in the wallet right now. That does not negate the fact that, in my opinion, just such a budget was necessary, was realistic and showed determination to deal with the situation in a statesmanlike manner. But that isn't the way to win friends and influence people. The average person is not a bit concerned with what a government is going to do for us three or four years down the road. All we want to do is something useful and constructive with our own lives. Only then can we be of help to others.

Al-Anon gives us the assurance that no situation is too difficult and no unhappiness too great to be overcome. With the understanding that alcoholism is a disease, and with the realization that we are powerless over it, as well as over other people, we are ready to do something useful and constructive with our own lives. Only then can we be of help to others.

Al-Anon may be contacted by phoning 364-3687. Meetings are held every Monday at 8:00 p.m. in the Selkirk Legion Hall.

IN SPITE OF all this, I disagree with all the blather that the media is going down the drain, that the country is ruined. Down and gloom are not going to first base with me. Government doesn't make a nation great. It's the initiative and resourcefulness of the people that will keep Canada afloat. It is government's responsibility to assist them in every way possible. If we all get on with the job, there's nothing wrong with this great and productive land.

BUT HOW MUCH more it would have been if the Tories had won 30 seats in Quebec and the Grid 30 seats in Western Canada. Don't blame Quebec for going all Liberal any more than blame Alberta for going all Conservative. They're two of a kind.

If we have not peace within ourselves, it is in vain to seek it from outward sources.

God will keep no nation in supreme peace that will not do supreme duty.

Adding insult to injury

We learn permission to pump Buffalo Lake's precious water for the oil drilling rigs working in our area comes from Environment Minister Jack Cookson who has scuttled the Alberta Government's study of the feasibility of stabilizing the lake's level.

The removal each winter of millions of gallons of water from the lake by the oil industry is an affront to the public who only last year protested so vigorously the plan of Ducks Unlimited to divert a few acres from the lake for a water fowl propagation project that it had to be abandoned. On the heels of this, Mr. Cookson shut down the feasibility study ordered by the premier and his cabinet because he says there is no interest in maintaining the level of the lake by the people of this community.

Rev. Robert Chappell

What and Where is the Good Life?

There is current in our society a frustrated quest for what is often described as the 'good life'. It is commonly believed that one can attain some degree of happiness by acquiring more leisure time, increased financial resources, and by achieving some measure of success in one's chosen vocation. Our society has engineered many changes in order to bring the 'good life' within the range of as many people as possible. Shorter working hours, increased remuneration, better working conditions and improved benefits all are becoming more familiar to the people. Mechanical and electrical devices that have made people less dependent upon requiring physical skills and have enabled them to accomplish tasks more rapidly and effectively, in a society that has made a god of speed, everything is being streamlined to the persistent demands of 'time'.

Clutching in their hands credit cards of all kinds people frantically reached out, and with the plastic money, they sought to acquire larger slices of the so-called 'good life'. Almost too late, did we realize that vast as our land appeared and enormous as our resources were, there was rapidly approaching a saturation point and that our land was being contaminated with pollutants of all kinds. The 'good life' was indeed proving to be costly and only expensive and drastic anti-pollution programs could retard the alarming deterioration of our land and its resources. In the same frantic quest for the 'good life' we greedily consumed vast amounts of energy assuming that they were without limitations.

Perhaps, the most tragic of all, is the fact that the quest for the 'good life' has proved to be something of a 'mirage'. Somehow, it always eluded the human hand and always enticed people to reach out for something more, seldom did the 'good life' bring with it peace and satisfaction. Psychiatrists are overworked and psychiatric services strained as an increasing number of people are suffering breakdowns in the mental health. The law courts are heavily burdened with the demands of justice and penal institutions are constantly meeting larger facilities. Divorce runs rampant in the land as more men and women discover a breakdown in human relationships.

It is possible that people will yet learn that systems and programs improved conditions and technological advances will not necessarily bring with them improved health, or happiness. I would suggest that the great need of the hour is not increased financial power or more extended vacations, the great need is for people to discover the quality of life that has been made available to them through the life and work of Jesus Christ. Systems and programs can change the exterior of our lives but, only the Lord can do anything about what is deep inside of us.

The psalmist once said: 'Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me.' This is a prayer that so many need to offer. They also need the assurance that because of Jesus Christ, no one is down too far that God cannot reach him and no one has wandered too far away that he or she cannot come back. Jesus is Lord.

Agriplex new slogan
"Fitness with Fun"

The majority of Canadians should be in relatively good physical condition considering all the excellent recreational facilities that Canada has. To go to work the physical fitness trend, the Killam Agriplex has adopted a new slogan this year: "Fitness with Fun."

Swimming once or two times a week, along with a few daily exercises at home would be enough to get the average Canadian on the road to fitness. Balanced diet and sleep also play important roles in the process of achieving and maintaining good physical condition. Each individual must deal with these two factors. To aid you in the exercise portion of your physical improvement plan, we are offering several aspects of aquatic activities that will enable you to enjoy yourself along with others at the same time. "Fitness with Fun."

Swimming has always been a relaxing way to tighten up "excess" areas and limber stiff spots. Wednesday, March 15 at 8 p.m. will be the first session of swimminics for the new decade.

We have developed a new pilot program this year geared towards the workday class. It is called swim-time. To begin with, the fitness program will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays from 11:00 a.m. to 1 p.m. The class is open to anyone wishing to attend. Because everyone is different, each individual will be set up on their own personal fitness program. The first half-hour will be warm up activities and from there we will continue with both dry land and water exercises. Following next will be the development and improvement of swimming strokes. Finally we hope to improve our endurance and stamina and thus improve our physical condition. If you have any other questions please phone the Agriplex at 365-5017.

Lessons are another excellent way to get into shape while learning to swim at the same time. Presently our lessons are not full and there is still room in several of the classes. Adult evening classes (Monday and Wednesday 9 p.m.) will not be held unless there are more registrations.

Swim passes are available for sale on a monthly basis. The cost of these passes are $70 for family, $10 for adults, $6 for students and $6 for children. We like to encourage swim passes as it encourages parents sending money with children. A cork board at the pool will be kept for family, friends and hold patrons swim passes. This we hope will eliminate the chance of losing the passes.

To encourage more families to utilize the family swim hour on Sunday afternoons from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., we have adopted a new policy. Any children who bring their mom and or dad to the pool for this hour will be admitted free of charge.

Hope to see you soon at the pool.

Sedgewick Central High School questionnaire assists students

One of the objectives of the High School is to help students assess their own strengths and abilities so that they can develop realistic career goals and plan their educational program accordingly.

The questionnaire from the Department of Education Task Force addressed itself to those objectives with the following responses from our Grade 11 English students and their parents.

Assumption: Students need help to realistically assess their interests, abilities, values and achievements.

13 of 17 students felt this assumption to be very important. 12 of 17 students felt that the school had a major responsibility in providing this help. Eight students felt that this help was not being provided and five didn't know whether or not it was provided. The four students who thought it was provided felt the school was doing a good job. Tenhara and parent respondents thought we were doing a good job. We do in fact, have tests that can help students assess their skills and interests but the questionnaire strongly suggests that the school is doing a poor job of making students aware of this fact. This is a communications problem that will have to be rectified within the school.

Assessment: Students need help to develop realistic career goals which fit their interests, abilities and values. 17 of 18 student respondents said this kind of help was very important. Nine students felt that providing this help was the major responsibility of the school while eight felt that the responsibility should be shared between the school and the home. 14 students agreed that the school now provides this help and generally believe that the school is doing a good job. Parent responses were mixed in student responses except that the majority of parents did not think that the school was providing this help. The County Board of Education has provided this service for the past few years and half years through the Work Experience and Career Information Curriculum. Associate position held by Mr. Offord on a half-time basis in the three High Schools.

Assessment: Students need help to plan their educational programs related to their interests, abilities, achievements and career goals. All of the 17 students respondents, parents and teachers, felt this help was very important. Eight students respondents felt that providing this help was the school's responsibility and eight felt that it was a shared responsibility. Three parents felt that it was a school responsibility and four felt that the responsibility should be shared equally by the home and school.

Twenty of 55 respondents stated that the school was providing this service now. Students and parents were unanimously assigned the school a good grade for its efforts while teachers assigned poorer grades through the Work Experience and Career Information Curriculum. One possible explanation for the teachers' responses might be that they are more aware of the situations where students have not excelled in courses that would help them achieve their career goals.

If anyone has questions related to this information summary, please feel free to contact the School at: 354-3817.

Not only is it important to feed enough to meet the pregnant and mothering cows requirements, but it is also important not to overfeed the cow. Overfeeding will result in excessively heavy cows, which can lead to calving difficulties. Overfeeding first calf heifers also tends to cause fat calls to replace milk secreting tissues and thus permanently reduce the heifers' potential for milk production.

So, as calving time is approaching make sure your cows are getting proper nutrients, minerals and vitamins, so as to make for better cows and better calves.

INVEST A STAMP IN THESE TWO MONEY SAVING, ENERGY SAVING, BOOKLETS

Canadians living in different parts of Canada have different energy needs. For example, the climate in Victoria is different than the climate in Alberta. And that's why our two booklets are so important. They're both designed to help Albertans find money and energy saving solutions that match conditions in Alberta. In fact the information you can get from the ENERSAVE booklet is custom-tailored to your own home and its specific energy requirements. Here's what both of these compact and to-the-point information pieces can offer you.

1. ENERGY MATTERS

This booklet discusses ways for you to save energy and money at home and in your car. It also provides useful information on Alberta's and Canada's energy resources. It's a valuable booklet for students, car and home owners alike. It discusses common points of heat loss in the home. Plus furnaces, Water heaters, Fireplaces, Insulation Windows and doors. And lighting. For your car, it looks at such energy related areas as vehicle weight, engine size, transmissions, tire types and energy efficient driving tips.

2. ENERSAVE

This computer form will suggest energy efficient changes you could make. But that's only the beginning. You will also be shown how much you could save, about what the job might cost, and the number of years it will take (approximately) for the energy savings to equal your dollar outlay. Special comments of interest to you regarding your home are also included.

MAIL OUR COUPON
Go ahead. Get some good advice about increasing the energy efficiency of your home. Advice that matches the climate we all share. Simply fill in the coupon on this ad now - before you turn the page. It will cost you no more than a postage stamp.

Killam 4-H Beef club

On Sunday, February 24, the Killam Club and the South Heiler Dairy Club met at the Killam Public School Library to decide whether Alberta should sell its oil and gas. The Heiler Club's debut was late Maria, David Sommer, and Karva Lundy. Debating for Killam were Fran Wilson, Deanna Weiss and Stuart Wilson. The chairman for the debate was Low Wilson. Kathy Coates acted as time keeper. The judges for the debate were Mr. Gary Zastel, Cheryl Arntsen and Mr. Phil Marston.

Each team gave excellent presentations and rebuttals. A lot of research had been done by both sides. The judges declared the Killam club the negative side.

The Tip Henderson Challenge Cup remains with the Killam 4-H Beef Club. We would like to thank the judges for coming to score the debate. Randall Freadrich

44 rinks at Oilmen's bonspiel

The rink from Lehne Trucking in Amisk were winners of the first event in the finals of the fourth annual Oilmen's Bonspiel held in Sedgewick on the weekend.

Entered in the bonspiel by East-Central Alberta Oilmen's Bonspiel Association were 44 rinks. There was a greater demand for entries this year, causing the number of entrants to jump from the usual 44.

The rinks had entered in Amisk, Hardisty and Loughheed and Sedgewick in the bonspiel, before playing in the finals at the Sedgewick Rec Centre.

The Lehne Trucking rink won the grand prize of $300 and a fishing trip to Christina Lake.

Other winners include the rink from Ranchman's Resources of Hardisty, taking first in the second event; Conco Supply of Edmonton, first in the third event; Will's Well Servicing of Coronation, first in the fourth event.

There were 86 donors of prizes for the four events. Air Argo of Hardisty, however, donated most of the first prizes, giving flying services for the third year in a row to and from Christina Lake.

Hardisty District News

Congratulations to the new parents, Mark and Leonora, on the arrival of a young son born February 20, weighing 8 lbs 10 oz and named Mark Douglas.

Three Hardisties came home on the bus Tuesday evening. Hazel Rubenok had been to a funeral in Edmonton, a Rubenok relative. Olive Seale had been to Edmonton to celebrate her granddaughter Angela's 18th birthday and Isabel Nelson had been to Canmore to house-sit for two grandsons.

A number of relatives and friends helped try to celebrate her birthday on February 20.

While in Canmore, Ruth Brynhaud visited with Laila Mahon. Well, had been busy curling in the ladies league with 46 risks taking part. The risk in which she belonged was in the prize. Nice to hear that.

After being hospitalized for eight years both in Hardisty and Killam Auxiliary, Mr. Sobak of Anaheim, Calif. died away February 20 at the age of 96 years. Sympathy to Mrs. Aereo and family.

Many enjoyed Wally Seto's hospitality in helping the family to celebrate their Chinese New Year, with a delicious supper and dancing afterwards in the Eika hall February 16.

Another sad time from north of Hardisty who passed away at Provost, was Frank Baka age 78. He leaves his son Charlie, daughter Helen, Bill and Annie in Edmonton.

Sympathy to his family. The Strick Ladies Club had their last meeting at the home of Gus and Virginia Johnson in Hardisty. We all admired Virginia's new home and all her lovely handicrafts especially her quilt.

We welcome Glenda Olson from Canmore, B.C. to our midst. Glenda is Jan Oltz's sister and is seen frequently in the Bakeshop as afternoon.

Nice to see Jimmy Morrison from Aldrie in town again. However they had been on a sad mission this time as they had attended their brother-in-law's funeral in Holden. Henry Tiede had been in Hardisty many years ago, married Helen Morrison and lived in Holden where he had worked for many years.

Several ex-Hardisty residents also attended the funeral with a crowd that overflowed into a near by hall. Sympathy is extended to the relatives.

A and event happened in Hawaii when a son of Mark Russell's, cousin to Adolph Russell and Ella Collier was drowned. He had gone over there with other young fellows and this tragedy occurred. He is from Iron, Minnesota area.

Jimmy Morrison tells us that Aldrie is still growing. 100 new homes were built last year but he is happy that they have bus service there now, three buses are running.

The Gerald Scotts have moved back to Canmore and will be residing in Alpine Manor close to downtown.

Sincere sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. Cahill and family on the sudden passing away of Mr. Mulrany, Doodie's mother.

Mrs. Mulrany was in Hardisty a few years ago and enjoyed the town. A great loss to Doodie and family.

Twin towns meet curling

The twin towns, Sedgewick and Perdue met in a curling bonspiel on the weekend in Perdue with two teams from the Community Press being entered.

Community Press A almost made the prize in the C Event losing just one game short. The B team got to a slow start but were competitive while getting knocked-out in three.

Press teams found the hospitality of the people in Perdue to be exceptional. They went out of their way to make the team feel at home.

Community Press A consisted of Elaine Keith, Mena Keith, Karen Cook, and Keith Nordstrom, skip, with alternate and coach, Don Goka.

Community Press B consisted of Lee Anderson, Kerry Anderson, Laurie Nordstrom, and skip, Barry Nordstrom.

Next meeting of the twin towns will be this weekend in a senior hockey tournament in Sedgewick. Perdue Sedgewick and Coronation will play in division A, while Perdue and Coronation will play in division B.

Winners of each division will play-off on Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

Second event, Frances Bouscampa, Ralph Storch, Ian, Steven Rawluk, Daran Lam.

Third event, Brian Rawluk, Johnny Chum, Al Martin, Vern Costello. Fourth event, Ricky Stelm, Joe Cameron, Perry Stelm, Cam Maxwell.

With a new executive for the Strong Ladies Club in January of 1979 and with a very successful board, the club decided that as the money came from the prize it should be returned to the members.

The members felt that most would benefit from their donations so the money went to the Daysland Health Analyser machine, Killam Hospital, Therapy, Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary, Christian Education Building, Drop-in Centre, High Mount Cemetery, The Tiddler's play school and gymnastic equipment for the Hardisty School, each receiving $500.

About 150 candy bags were made up and distributed to residents of Parkland Manor, widows, widowers in Hardisty, former Hardisty residents at Plagiat Lodge and Killam Auxiliary.

As well as bags to members, their children and some grandchildren.

The remainder, about $400 to be given in trust to the town of Hardisty for periphery children's recreational facilities.

After many years this is the closing of the Strong Ladies Club.

Services for Bertha Brunner

Bertha Brunner was born in Poland on March 17, 1922. She came to Canada with her parents, William and Lillian Penke in 1928. They settled and farmed in the Galahed district, later moving to Clyde, near Westlock.

Bertha was united in marriage to John Brunner, on December 11, 1939, at Westlock. They lived and farmed in the Galahed district until 1957, when they retired in Sedgewick.

Bertha was well known and loved by all who knew her. Her outstanding talents in home making, cooking and gardening will be remembered by many, as well as her hospitality and kindness to all, the ever ready cup of coffee, and help to any who were in trouble or need. She passed away suddenly on January 21, 1980 at the age of 57 years, 10 months and 13 days, after having been in poor health recently, and leaving to mourn her passing her loving husband John, two sons, Robert and Dennis, and a daughter, Mrs. Linda Penke of Legal, Alberta, one daughter, Mrs. Brenda Brunner, and a son, Mr. John Brunner, all of whom were present at her funeral service held in the Sedgewick United Church on February 4, 1980, with Rev. Robert Chappell officiating.

Bertha's favorite hymns, "Amazing Grace," and "The Old Rugged Cross," were sung and Harry Anderson sang the beautiful hymn, "Beyond the Sunset" with Helen O'Reilly as organist. Pallbearers were six nephews of Bertha's, Wayne, Dennis, Martin, Rudy and Ronnie Penke, and Douglas Buehler.

Interment was in Longbeard Cemetery.

Word of Thanks
We wish to thank Dr. Meier, staff and nurses at Killam Hospital, ambulance driver and Nurse Clara Lewis for the care given Bertha. Also to Rev. Also for the flowers, memorial donations and all the cards of expressions of sympathy.

Your many acts of kindness are sincerely and deeply appreciated.

Credit Union operating at loss

We are expecting an operational loss in the Flagstaff branch in 1980, said Camrose Savings and Credit Union General Manager Terry Kelly, at the second annual meeting for the Flagstaff branch last Wednesday at Sedgewick Anglican Church Hall.

Kelly was one of the executive members addressing a membership of about 75 who attended the meeting. Trevor Hanson of the Camrose branch gave the auditors report which stated that assets have been lost from $2,354,550 to $1,595,000. "We have invested investments to over $1 million, and through the Guaranteed Reserve Fund have cushioned reserves to protect the membership," he turned added.

Leif Obeack, Credit Union Director representing the Flagstaff branch, conducted the meeting. When one of the membership pointed out that at the first annual meeting Obeack said he would wipe out the deficit, he responded by saying that he was optimistic about the operation of the year.

Last year Camrose Savings and Credit Union had a loss of over $700,000.

but this year it was just over $300,000, said Obeack, and "I would like to thank the people who made it possible. It would be like to be optimistic this year as I was last year, however I am not."

A name change for the branch was suggested by a member, and Kelly pointed out that it was too late this year to do it, but a resolution was made that the name be changed next year. The suggested name was Battle River Savings and Credit Union, which will be brought forward at a later date.

A member also thought that the Flagstaff branch should try to get Co-Store interested in a Credit Union account. "We have great respect for our competition," replied Obeack, "and eventually hope we will get our share of the business."

Kelly contradicted Obeack's statement by saying that the branch definitely plans to go out after business. "We are more restricted than other institutions of our kind because we are under the Credit Union Act, but our competition will have a long hard run in the future."

New members were installed to the advisory board, being Ed Hamshere, Dick Mathews and Robbie Robertson. Jim Baker was awarded a plaque for becoming the first manager of the Flagstaff Credit Union.

Forest Ranger job for students

A summer job for students between the ages of 16 and 18 as a junior forest ranger has been provided by Alberta Forest Service and Department of Advanced Education.

The job is designed to observe and obtain a background in the natural resources field. Included in the program will be tree seedling, camp site construction and maintenance, survival plot studies, erosion control and construction of foot bridges and fences.

There will be approximately 10 camps set up in forested areas of Alberta, with 18 persons per group. Eight of the camps will be male and two female. Living quarters will be tents with sleeping bags provided, but individuals must supply their own food and personal hygiene. Earnings will be $20 per week, with holiday pay set at $40.

Camps do not start until the last school is out for the summer, thus giving everyone equal working time. They run for about seven weeks between the months of July and August.

Deadline for applications is April 15, with acceptance on a first-come, first-served basis. The applicants must be a student and a resident of Alberta, and be 16 by July 1 but no older than 18 by the same date.

Presently the office has plans of being built in the Central District Agency office building in Sedgewick, and which that the MLAs endorse the proposal. They requested that District Agricultural, Glen Werners, the office be upgraded to the senior office.

Lyons replied in saying that the plans for going to Stettler aren't that strong and that it could possibly be changed if they showed the minister that they are serious about the proposal.

Local man taught ping pong winner

Fred Sparrow taught and coached Nikki Guest (Webb), who won two silver medals in table tennis in the Whitecourt - Yellowknife games on February 25.

Sparrow has been teaching and coaching the sport for a number of years in Sedgewick.

MLAs Gordon Stromberg, Charlie Stewart and Tom Lyons listened to public pleas and answered questions from the Flagstaff county at it's county meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick on Thursday.

Stewart responded to this by saying that he and the minister are well aware of the conditions and they have looked at the hospital themselves. "It is said that the wheels of government move slow, but sometimes I think they almost come to a halt," said Stewart, "the steps the board has to take are lengthy, and he added that he is not happy with the system. "When you need a facility, you need it now, not in five years."

Stewart suggested that one solution to the problem may be to have a streamlined construction system that could choose them and they could be set up relatively fast. That would only hasten the process after approval though, and the east end (Hardisty) have to use an existing facility," said Foe. Apparently two patients have walked out of the hospital because of this.

Stewart said that the hospital was being brought to the hospital would not have her child there because of the facility. Hardisty Hospital was condemned by the fire inspector four years ago, and we've been trying to get a new facility ever since."

said Foe. "The writing and planning is bad and the walls are caving in. We were given two years to make the facilities safe, but there is only so much that can be done to that building."

The thing slowing it down is that the caucus can make a decision. The MLA's agree with it, but the bureaucrats have all the power to make the final decision, concluded Foe.

Education was the next topic, with Glen Miller, chairman of the Flagstaff School Board opening by stating that the county schools have lost 700 students in the past 10 years.

His major concern though was that with the teachers' union, they do what the board can't seem to be able to get rid of a bad teacher.

"We have one or two teachers that if the rate payers had their way, would be strung up. Once we have one in there for life."

In concern with this, Stromberg suggested that the Alberta Teachers' Association could make an evaluation of a bad teacher. Lyons stated, "It goes right back to the signing of the union contract, but if teachers are thinking of the students you would think they would want to get rid of a poor teacher."

The thing slowing it down is that the caucus can make a decision. The MLA's agree with it, but the bureaucrats have all the power to make the final decision, concluded Foe.

Education was the next topic, with Glen Miller, chairman of the Flagstaff School Board opening by stating that the county schools have lost 700 students in the past 10 years.

His major concern though was that with the teachers' union, they do what the board can't seem to be able to get rid of a bad teacher.

"We have one or two teachers that if the rate payers had their way, would be strung up. Once we have one in there for life."

In concern with this, Stromberg suggested that the Alberta Teachers' Association could make an evaluation of a bad teacher. Lyons stated, "It goes right back to the signing of the union contract, but if teachers are thinking of the students you would think they would want to get rid of a poor teacher."

COME ALIVE

Rev. Ray Nibergall

The Celebration of Grace
S. Samuel 6:11-22
"I was dancing, a thief, a murderer, a rebel, but who would I be without stand in God's presence, celebrating the good news that he is loving and forgiving Winn David saw his sins, he admitted them before God making no excuses. He went beyond mere confession for he believed that he was forgiven. David was a man whom God called a man after my own heart." To understand this goes to the very depths of God's love for humanity.

In our text, we see David celebrating this amazing grace of God. He danced before the Ark in the sight of the people of Israel. His wife Michal shouted at him.
"What a fine reputation the King of Israel has won himself today displaying himself as any buffoon might display himself." David shouted back, "I was dancing for God," and continued to dance before the Ark. He was celebrating the good news that God forgives and justifies sinners. Being able to confess his own unrighteousness, David was free to celebrate the very grace of God.

We celebrate in this session of Lent the grace of God, as we are on our journey to the Cross and Resurrection. Lent being a time for self-examination and penitence, we are able to come to the Cross for forgiveness and new life.
Just as David who celebrated the grace of God knowing that he was a forgiven sinner, so should we follow David's example, celebrating with joy that because of the Cross, we are a forgiven people, we are now free to celebrate the depth of God's love.

Flagstaff Further Education

In compiling the statistics re: courses in the county, I am happy to find we are right in line with Provincial averages. An average of 18.7 adults took advantage of our courses in 1979 in the county of Flagstaff. Provincial average is 20%, of which I feel the large urban centres complete a large percentage. Further Education (adult education) constitutes planned and educational experience designed to be integrated on a part-time basis into the existing life styles of adults as a part of a system of re-education. The Province of Alberta has provided grant support for further education programs since 1964. In 1978, advanced education assumed responsibility to provide grant support for non-weight problem upon much less time in physical activity than most overweight children. Another factor is that overweight children ate less than the others. The reason for the problem is more complex. The same is true for adults. An adult who eats a day can put on 10 pounds a year. A 100 calories is a glass of milk, a potato, a large apple, or one glass of beer. There is only one solution to good health and weight control and that is a well balanced diet and regular exercise. RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Elaine M. Duback

The Vanishing Breed
Sometimes I feel as though I am a member of a vanishing breed. All around me young women like myself are having babies, finding suitors and returning to work but I have chosen to be a full time housewife and mother. I do not bother trying to fancy up my position by calling myself a homemaker or a domestic engineer because it simply isn't a fancy position. I am an old twenty-something lady every day. My job offers no sick leave, no holidays, no pay, no prestige and no hope for advancement.

Why, then, have I chosen this way of life? I must definitely was not a matter of necessity. I have a University Degree and could be earning a salary equal to my husband's. If I returned to work I could easily afford to pay a babysitter and could also hire someone to take over some of my household chores. In addition to this I would also be able to afford some of the luxuries that I am presently doing without.

I do not believe that laziness was the reason for my choice. My days are very full for mine is a demanding job and I have many roles to play. I am a teacher, a counsellor, a housekeeper, a cook and a laundress. Sometimes I am a seamstress, a hairdresser, a chauffeur, a decorator or a first aid worker.

In spite of its drawbacks I chose my career for purely selfish reasons. I feel that I give me greater personal satisfaction than any other could. I enjoy my children immensely. Certainly they get on my nerves at times but every aspect of their growth and development fascinates me. I have no interest whatsoever in paying someone else to enjoy my children. I would rather pay a career outside the home.

I would be lying if I claimed that I enjoyed housework to the same extent that I enjoy time spent with my children. I do appreciate a clean, comfortable home and find a certain amount of satisfaction in keeping mine that way but I must admit that I do not become as ecstatic as my typical T.V. housewife over shining floors or sweet smelling laundry. Many times the tedious household chores are I'm waiting while I read to the children or take them for a walk.

In spite of the fact that sleepless nights and dirty diapers do not seem to concern me very favorably with the glamour of the working world, my job does have many advantages. Because I am on my own and my schedule is very flexible I have a great deal of freedom that is lacking in most other professions. I am not constantly trying to meet deadlines and am not forced to compete with others. I have only myself and my family to please.

I do not want to imply that my choice would be right for all women but I do resent the fact that those of us who have chosen to be "just a housewife" are often looked down upon as though we are simply unambitious and somewhat inferior to the "working woman." Perhaps some day, when my children are old, I will return to work but in the meantime I am proud to consider myself a valuable member of society fulfilling an important and satisfying role.

Merna 4-H Light Horse

Merna is the host of the 4-H speak-outs and our club is certainly going to be prepared.

Our February meeting was spent by doing an impromptu speech for roll call (which was well done) and our junior leader, Fran, taught the other members the basics of a good speech. Our next meeting will be held Wednesday, March 9 from 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the Mill Hall doing our speeches in front of an audience. Anyone interested in being invited to speak will be invited to speak.

Sticking is also on the agenda. The club has invited the Alton, Killam, and Happy Riders clubs for a potluck supper Saturday night, March 8 from 6 to 7 p.m. and the Valley Hill will be open to those who are going from 7 till 10 p.m.

GREEN ACRES

By Glen Warner, D.A.

Cultivation - Can You Afford It?
The possibility of diesel fuel costing a $1.50 a gallon has caused us to ask - can we afford to summer-fallow? What about minimum tillage? Is there any potential for zero tillage in our area?

However, you may say that "zero tillage is not for me - I fallow about half every year." Well, I agree and disagree. I agree that zero tillage is not for everyone. It may not be for anyone, but I cannot agree that summer fallow is necessary.

Take $15 on an acre for fertilizer in continuous crop as compared to $5 and an acre for a fallow field. That's a $10 difference, which at about $3.00 per acre per working means about three operations. Thus, following the same figure, you will save $10 on the fertilizer bill. But, you know the field six times and we will watch the results.

Now let's look at the extra yield. Was it just because a better job of weed control was done? Could the fact that the crop had less influence the results? We don't know yet - but we do know that we saved fuel by not having to work the field and we increased the yields by doing it!

Oh yes! I know the argument "I'll work it continuously crop. I'd like to work it six times a year." Well, that is only partly true. You would likely work it more when the fall and you'd likely save some workings in the total - there's those $10 again. Further, who says you have to work a field six times to get a crop in? Why not continuous crop with minimum tillage?

Consider this - the technology exists to put a spring laser with follow, but that's right. From harvest to a growing crop with three workings at $1.50 per acre for diesel that looks good.

How about it? Are you willing to look at a different system of farming so as to save energy and still raise a crop to make a profit? Ask yourself the question - cultivation can you afford it?

Heisler News Items

In the month of February the kindergarten was very busy.

On February 7 the kindergarten class enjoyed a visit to Dr. Robert Martin's Clinic (Veterinarian) in Foreburg.

A grandmother's tea was held on Valentine's Day. Many grandmothers were there to enjoy the songs the class performed for them and the lovely lunch by the mothers.

The evening of February 10 the daddies went to the kindergarten room for Father's Night. The children enjoyed the evening building a small project of their own with their dad.

The kindergarten would like to thank the community for the great support given towards the Community Birthday Celebrations.

The money collected from this project is used for operating expenses and the kindergarten was able to buy a few new toys for the room, some new books and a new large toy box was bought.

Rita and Lawrence Sundman were last weekend visitors with daughter Doris and son-in-law Russell Svendsen and Patty Ann in Rocky Mountain House.

The Heisler family's Whist card party was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Agnes Knut. Prizes for high scores were won by Mrs. Fred Laess and Louise Blom.

Mrs. Louise Smith is spending a few weeks with her sister, Sylvia Schelle in Barstad.

Kate Kroetsch returned home after spending some time with daughter Collette Blavik and family in Hailu.

An open house was held in Heisler from February 27 to March 2, with the following results: the Grand Challenge went to the Larry Blak risk of Dayland, second in the first event, Frank Hain, Galahad; third, Herbert Twitchell, Dayland; fourth, Jerry Weiler.

News from Central High

On Saturday, March 1, the Rams and Lams basketball teams competed in Regional playoffs in Foreburg. The Rams were eliminated from competition after their first game because they lost to Coronation by a score of 54-30. The Rams defeated Coronation by a score of 47-42 but then lost to the Grays in Foreburg by a score of 60-57.

During the month of February we were pleased to have Marilyn Noverenvis 88 as an secretary. Gladys Loy, who was Central's secretary several years ago, has returned to her former position from Fort McMurray. We welcome her back to our school.

At this time of year most secondary institutions hold open house sessions for prospective students. Several students from Central attended the University of Alberta Orientation Day on February 28. Those who attended reported the experience to be worthwhile. NAIT Open House is on March 14 and 15. The school will be taking a bus load of students to this annual event. We direct our attention for these next secondary trips to grade 11 students so that they can better plan their post-secondary registrations next year. Grade 12 students, who plan on attending post secondary institutions next year have very little time left to register. The majority of students have already registered and are now awaiting acceptance. Parents are also encouraged to attend NAIT Open House and other such events which will be announced in this column.

Above, six of the ladies in the course posed with the cakes they had completed on the last session of the course: Doris Powell, Liz Eriksson, Marilyn Maertz, Mary Ann Lewis, Flora Oliver and Margaret O'Reilly, with instructor Verona Cookson. Verona was presented with a lovely plant by her students.

Southern gavel

This past summer 18 kids and two chaperones went down to Springfield, Tennessee. Mr. Wellhite, a coordinator of 4-H in Tennessee helped out with this exchange. He sent back a token of appreciation to Carol Arntzen for organizing the exchange and sending such a good bunch of kids down there. Mr. Wellhite showed his appreciation by sending a handmade gavel back to her. He was a woodworker and made this by himself. Lorraine Barnes presented the gavel to Carol Arntzen.

Lorraine Barnes was one of the 4-Hers who went to Tennessee and she made the presentation at the annual meeting of the Flagstaff 4-H District Council.

Carol was very honoured to have him give her something but she decided they'd leave it in the Flagstaff 4-H District Council and let the present and future Presidents use it.

Killam Public News

The grade nine class of Killam Public School were glad to see the snow come so they could go skating on February the 28th, at Alliance ski hill. A good time was had, not even any broken bones, but there were lots that had sore rear ends, and were stiff and sore. There is now quite a bit of action in the gym as the school is practicing for the physical fitness program at the end of March.

For example the grade sevens have to run 42 laps in 10 minutes. There will be a sort of party for Killam junior high on March 14 in Killam gym, starting with basketball from 7-8 p.m. and at 8:30 there will be cards and from 8:30 till 11 p.m. there will be dancing. If junior high shows up then we can run the dance later.

Come on Killam junior high we want a good turn out. Anna Christensen

INVEST A STAMP IN THESE TWO MONEY SAVING, ENERGY SAVING, BOOKLETS

1. ENERGY MATTERS

Canadians living in different parts of Canada have different energy needs. For example, the climate in Victoria is different than the climate in Alberta. And that's why our two booklets are so important. They're both designed to help Albertans find money and energy saving solutions that match conditions in Alberta. In fact the information you can get from the ENERSAVE booklet is custom-tailored to your own home and its specific energy requirements. Here's what both of these compact and to-the-point information pieces can offer you.

ENERGY MATTERS

This booklet discusses ways for you to save energy and money at home and in your car. It also provides useful information on Alberta's and Canada's energy resources. It's a valuable booklet for students, car and home owners alike. It discusses common points of heat loss in the home. Plus furnaces: Water heaters. Fireplaces. Insulation. Windows and doors. And lighting. For your car it looks at such energy related areas as vehicle weight, engine size, transmissions, tire types and energy efficient driving tips.

2. ENERSAVE

Read this booklet! Fill out the questionnaire included. Mail it away. Then watch for a personal computer guide to saving energy in your home to arrive by return mail. The questionnaire asks basic questions about attic, roof, wall, foundation and exposed floor insulation. It assists you in answering questions about your windows, weather stripping, and thermostat settings. A personal computer print-out suggesting how your individual home could become more energy efficient will be sent to you. This computer form will suggest energy efficient changes you could make. But that's only the beginning. You will also be shown how much you could save about what the job might cost, and the number of years it will take (approximately) for the energy savings to equal your dollar outlay. Special comments of interest to you regarding your home are also included.

MAIL OUR COUPON

Go ahead! Get some good advice about increasing the energy efficiency of your home. Advice that matches the climate we all share. Simply fill out the coupon on this ad now - before you turn the page. It will cost you no more than a postage stamp.

Hardisty Stampeders fought back from a 3-0 deficit to defeat Forestburg Hawks in the third game. Here,

Hardisty leads Forestburg in semi-finals

Garry Bromby scored five goals including the winner as Hardisty Stampeders pumped Forestburg Hawks 7-5 in Battle River hockey playoff action Monday in Hardisty.

The win gave Stampeders a two-game to one edge in the best of five semi-final series with the fourth game shifting to Forestburg to-night.

Bromby's winning goal came while he was standing in the slot in front of Hawk's goalie, Gord Hauser with the score 6-4 for Hardisty. Bromby picked up a rebound in front of the net and pumped it in with under six minutes remaining.

The game was marked by Hawks continuous force-checking and offensive-minded play in contrast to Stampeders brilliant back-checking and defensive skill.

The score is not revealing of the goalkeeping put in by other Hardisty goals. Ron Croteau or Forestburg's Hauser. Croteau had pressure at his end and much of the game and made some great stops, while Hauser made saves much of the time with his defense out of position.

Stampeders played a patient game, although they didn't say mean dominate it, they waited for opportunities of catching Hawks off-guard. In the case of Monday night's game, their best offense was their defense.

Forestburg took a 3-0 lead after the first period on two goals by Perry Whan and another by Graeme Bevington.

Hardisty came-back in the second, tightening the score with two by Bromby.

The third-period was a free-for-all for Stampeders who jumped in front early in the period. Forestburg seemed to be trying to force the win at this point, as the players free-wheeled all over the ice. It back-fired however, and Hardisty takes the advantage to Forestburg tonight.

Also scoring for Hardisty in the third was Bromby with three, including the winner. Brant Sim on a breakaway, and Alvin Miller on the open net with less than a minute remaining.

Forestburg stayed close with two-goals in the third, one by Bernie Doan with a wrist shot from the right-side, and the other by Perry Whan on a blaring slapshot from the left-wing giving him a hat-trick.

Eight different players scored for Hawks in a total team effort. Bob Watkins scored two for Stampeders.

Lougheed won't accept less from Trudeau

Premier Peter Lougheed has served notice that his government will not accept an oil pricing deal from the federal government that provides any less to the province than the oil field deal with the Miles Clark administration.

Breaking his two-month silence of the federal election campaign, the premier has asserted that the province is willing to suspend oil sales to the rest of Canada and delay approval of new oil sands plants unless it gets what he considers is a fair deal.

But not wanting to commence pricing negotiations with any threats, the premier said he is prepared to take Liberal Pierre Trudeau at his word when the former and future prime minister promised Alberta a fair deal on oil prices during the election campaign.

"We are not prepared to accept any arrangement with net benefits overall anything less than the arrangement we were about to conclude with the Conservative government," he told a press conference.

While the province is ready to accept a different structure of pricing package, "the net benefits" must be the same, Lougheed said.

Under the agreement worked out with the fallen Clark government, Alberta oil prices were to rise to 85 per cent of world oil prices by 1984, in $4 to $4.50-per-barrel annual stages. This would have raised the price of a barrel of oil to nearly $30 from $14.75 within four years.

Before the government fell, all details of the pact had been worked out except for the level of taxation on oil company profits from the windfall price increases.

Lougheed rejected Trudeau's proposal for a blended, made-in-Canada price that would incorporate the costs of already discovered "old" oil, frontier oil and imported petroleum.

The premier said such a formula is "not workable and unacceptable" and argued that Alberta deserves to get "full commodity value" in international prices-for its crude oil.

The premier's statement on oil pricing could have been predicted in advance.

It would be almost impossible for him to accept a back down and take anything less than the Clark government had offered.

The premier does have room to maneuver if he really finds it necessary to yield any ground to Trudeau during the pricing talks.

Lougheed left his options open on a price schedule and need for a trucking meethaphan that would ensure Alberta oil prices kept up with international prices.

With the oil industry's room to move when the size of oil companies' income from price increases are taken into account, Lougheed could accept a higher level of taxation on the oil companies providing the province's take remains intact.

Sedgewick Kindergarten make many tours

The Sedgewick Kindergarten has been fairly busy this new year. They have been skating at the Rec Centre every Tuesday, weather permitting. So far it's been just fine. The Kindergarten class toured Brodie's Bakery in Kilman, learning a little about bread and bun making. There they had pop and doughnuts for a snack. On February 12, the kindergarten class had a Valentine's party and skating at the Rec Centre, with the exchanging of valentines and a beautiful cake and hot chocolate.

Around 60 folk gathered at the Legion Hut on Sunday for a surprise farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. "Frenchie" Duperron. They have sold the Hotel and will be moving to Boyle. Myrtle Mathews, Strone, Orville Limes, County Secretary-Treasurer, Rolf Jacobson, Councilor appointed chairman for the meeting and Alex Blatz, Reeve at annual county meeting.

Annual county meeting

There will be a reduction of teaching staff in the county, said Dale Erickson, School Superintendent for the County of Plagstaff at the annual county meeting at Sedgewick Rec Centre on Monday.

In Dayland's case there will be a reduction of one teacher, not because there are less students but because the resource program will not be available. The program is not up for students who have either a learning problem or a lack of desire to learn.

There is supposed to be an estimated loss of five children from each of grades one to six using the facility, said Erickson. "A resource teacher's job is to work herself out of a job." But a point was brought up by a parent that it shouldn't matter if the program is being used by one, two, five or 10 students. It still has its place.

Another in attendance suggested that repeating a grade would be more suitable. Erickson replied by saying that the problem is, how many times can you fail children before they feel like failures in the class system?

Other staff cuts are due to a lack of students. There is a loss this year of about 80 students, said Erickson.

Incentive funds have been given to schools in the form of books, maps and kits. It is an $8 million fund set up about three years ago. The Superintendent felt that the books were a waste of money because every school received forty, and some schools have but seven pupils in a class.

Reeve's report was given by Alex Blatz. "Our financial position is cash in a real good position. 1979 was our biggest year for the municipal section." He added that well over $1 million was spent and the county is still sitting in a nice cash position.

Jim Crawford, Waste Disposal Councilor reported that a regional dumping grounds will go ahead this summer if things go right. Part of the new right will be set aside for the disposal of chemical containers.

Delmar Bergum, from County Development Office reminded those present of the recent permits needed for developments. Now that the county is responsible for planning they are keeping tabs on where construction is taking place.

Brian Lee reported for the agricultural committee, stating that this year there will be a Good Dirt Survey. 50 samples will be taken, 12 in dark brown soil and 11 in black soil. The survey which is supposed to be conducted every five years, was last taken in 1979.

District Agriculturalist, Glen Werner told farmers that this year there will be army worms and other pest problems. He also said that the public must come to the realization that they pay more for food. "I suggest that we lobby together as farmers must...and tell the consumers what they should pay for food."

"My major concern," said

Diane Benne, District Home Economist, "is nutrition at school." She based her remark on a nutrition survey designed for grades one to six. The survey according to Benne suggested that young school children are not well nourished.

She also said that floor

General plan for county

A general plan was being devised for the County of Plagstaff at a meeting at the County Office last Thursday.

The major part of the discussion of the general plan being worked out by Battle River Planning Commission and the County Council was to arrange the most practical use of land. While charting a plan the two groups are keeping in mind that it is agricultural land.

There has apparently been a lot of inquiries about setting up more rural industry in the county from the gas and oil industry. The meeting will probably be done on soils that are group four and under, the many around the Hardisty area.

In the next few months the county will be looking for interested people and groups who may wish to build a rural industry.

Correction

Last week's report of the Credit Union annual meeting was incorrect in the following instances.

In 1979, Canwest Savings and Credit Union had a recorded operational loss in July of $700,000, but by the end of the year it was reduced to $331,966. It had, in 1979, increased investments by $1 million.

We regret any inconvenience it may have caused the board and Lou Hagen, the local Credit Union Manager.

Farmers in trouble says Werner

Today's farmer has managed to stay in business through efficiency, said Glen Werner, local district agriculturalist at an interview at Plagstaff County Office last Thursday.

His major concern of today is the future of western Canadian agriculture and the farmers. "In the next 20 years food has gone up in price little in comparison to the farmers' expense," He suggests that people must realize that there are one of two things that must be done, either subsidize the farmer or recognize the fact that food prices must increase dramatically.

Out of every dollar earned, less has to go towards food in Canada than anywhere else in the world, he pointed out. Werner added that if there isn't a drastic change and realization of this fact, there will be a radical change in Canada's agricultural scene. As it is, he stated, the next five years will not be easy for the farmer.

Werner said that those farmers that will be most in trouble will be those that are poor managers and were given the land by their fathers or other relatives.

"It will split the men from the boys, and those big farmers born with a gold spoon in their mouths probably won't make it."

Werner, 31, was born and raised in east-central Saskatchewan and moved to Sedgewick almost seven years ago to train and take over the position of district agriculturalist.

He is moving to Stettler where he will advance to the position of senior district agriculturalist for the new sub division of the central regional agricultural extension.

Werner explains his new position as that of an overseer responsible for Sedgewick, Stettler and Coronation offices. He will be working with the district agriculturalists in all three offices, although he will be in a supervising position.

The people I now work with are concerned with my move because they feel that I've done a good job here, he said, and presently they are trying to get this senior office located in Sedgewick.

Werner thought, however, out of the political end of the upcoming job change, "I accepted the job with the knowledge that I would move and although I have enjoyed my stay here, I am prepared to move."

In each of the six regions of Alberta agricultural extension, there are sub regions which have senior agriculturalists supervising a specific area. Our area in region three has been titled east-central sub region effective March 1, said

Werner. This new region used to be supervised by the regional director in Red Deer.

An ad was placed in the paper for the position. Werner applied and was interviewed in January and offered the job on February 7. He accepted the following day.

Strome homecoming vs County Council

Strome's 75th anniversary committee has been working hard towards its Homecoming 1980, but have found a sudden delay from the County Council in regards to funding the caterer.

Apparently the committee needs $10,000.00 down, to book the catering for the three day event beginning July 25, and has already received half of the down payment from the Village of Strome.

The other half was desired from the county, but it was quickly loaned to them. Not so, the county is still looking over the loan request, and at the present time the Strome 75th committee was decided to go it alone and pay out the $5,000 in some way by themselves.

The entire problem seems to date back to the lack of planning and foresight that Alberta had done in regards to celebrating its birthday. In fact, the county reports that they knew nothing about provincial funding until late January.

Hard to imagine but still believable

What Others Say

Newer math

Older people remember that there used to be math. Then there came 'new math'. And while it may have made things easier and more understandable, many people found a highly backward step which produced pupils who really knew less about the subject than their parents did.

Now, we seem to be heading into the field of PRISM. And let's hope, if it ever is generally adopted, it will improve the overall level of education in the field, since mathematics is becoming more and more important in the field of computer electronics, in aviation, in physics, and many other technologies still developing and coming into their own.

PRISM is an acronym (first letter of each word) for Priorities in School Mathematics, and was set up by five members of the Faculty of Education at the University of Alberta.

So far PRISM Canada is a study only, but the hope is it may lead to a whole new integration of mathematical teaching across the country.

The project began with the development of both a preference survey and priorities survey for Canadian and American project teams, looking at the whole field of mathematics from kindergarten through to Grade 12. It will look at elements such as problem solving techniques, whole numbers, algebra, geometry, measurement, fractions and decimals. The surveys are being taken a-considering the conglomeration of proposals for spending the per capita grant that the County Council has recently been swamped with.

In comparison to Alberta's strategy we should look at the province of Saskatchewan which was given a mere token from its government in comparison to the enormous sum of $76 million granted from King Peter. The reason Saskatchewan has been participating in their anniversary celebrations more than Alberta is simple, they began organizing it early in 1979.

County Council can not be held responsible, for they must sort through the present mess and make sensible conclusions for all proposals. Although the Strome committee was not asking for grant money, the anniversary proposals have caused a definite slowdown in all proceedings of this kind for the county.

The Strome problem will only be one of many worthwhile projects interrupted due to the past provincial muddle.

Letters to the Editor

A True "Friend for Life"
When the Red Cross call itself a "friend for life," it's not just an empty slogan, or a pretty little jingle for the end of a song.

It's a reflection of the commitment the Red Cross has to this community, and to people across Canada and around the world, a commitment to the promotion of public health and welfare and the relief of human suffering in war and in peace.

We see that commitment every day, in so many ways, here and elsewhere. Youngsters learn the basics of safety in Red Cross youth programs. Senior citizens regain their physical fitness and joy in living with the help of Red Cross instructors. Veterans learn arts and crafts and enjoy the company of Red Cross volunteers. Experienced Red Cross relief workers respond immediately to help those struck by disaster. Blood, collected and processed by the Red Cross, is available when you need it.

The most amazing thing about this commitment is its voluntary nature. Ninety per cent of Red Cross work in Canada is carried out by volunteers - people who donate their time, energy and talents, not for money but out of concern for their fellow man.

And that's why a donation to the Red Cross goes so far. Your money is put to work helping others by an army of organized, efficient volunteers.

So remember, when a canvasser knocks on your door, support your Red Cross - an agency you can count on.

Philosophy for the Birds

"OBSTACLES ARE THOSE FRIGHTFUL THINGS YOU SEE WHEN YOU TAKE YOUR EYES OFF THE GOAL!"

The Third Column

"I WRITE AS I PLEASE!"
IN ALL PROBABILITY it would be correct to say that persistency is a jewel, but more probable would be to say that it depends on what you are being persistent about. A person who, though constantly "caught in the act" of having his hand in the cookie jar, persists in the act, is treading near the verge of disaster, depending, of course, on the attitude of the keeper of the cookie jar. In fact it would likely result in having the right hand stricken off, but we being of more temperate nature might either install tighter security measures or cease putting cookies in the jar. Either method may work to stop the pilfering but it works a hardship on the legitimate cookie eater too.

SUCH IS MY attitude toward those nations of the world who persist in expending their means in domestic strife, civil insurrection, subjection of the masses and even aggression, thus allowing little or no time and physical effort to pursue the means of livelihood. Then when final and ghastly realism rears its ugly head and starvation stalks the byways, the upped goes to the granaries of the world to display its humanitarian instincts and save a starving nation from extinction; for it has at last realized that food is almost as important as breathing to maintain life. So it follows that those who persist in the pursuit of peaceful provision of the basic food needs of the world become for me, the person that provides the instruments of warfare. Food one day will be king, and the nations which have it in abundance will dictate the policies of the world. That is a lesson we might well learn and clutch at.

IN THIS REGARD I was quite interested in a letter which appeared in this paper a few weeks ago, and written by an old friend of mine, which stated in part that Christians should never use food as a weapon. Now, while the writer led with a pretty solid right cross, he left himself open for a left hook. Even God visited people upon the people as an object lesson in righteous living, and one of those personages was the absence of food. Food as a weapon? I believe so, albeit one of moral connotation. Lest my readers are ahead of my thoughts, let me state that I abhor starvation whomever it may be visited upon, but I believe in the use of food as a weapon to achieve one's ends. Never having been involved in such a condition, such a statement may come easy, yet starvation is a ghastly evil. Innocent people from involuntary starvation must be fed. That is one of the basic rules of humanitarianism and we neglect it at our peril. In this regard the Western world has displayed a true and compassionate heart on scores of occasions. May it continue to do so, for the innocent victims of ruthlessness have a right to live on.

BUT THERE IS another side to this issue too. Do we have a responsibility to provide grain and food to an aggressor nation? To provide it with the basis on which to maintain an aggressive army? With the food to maintain and operate the personnel of invasion which brings starvation to the invaded? Even though they have the means to purchase and pay for it? If the answer is yes then we become equally guilty in the belated judgment of the innocent and must be judged guilty of being accessory to the horrible crimes committed in the name of aggression. If the answer is no then we may day will be king, and the nations which have it in abundance will dictate the policies of the world. That is a lesson we might well learn and clutch at.

That's why a donation to the Red Cross goes so far. Your money is put to work helping others by an army of organized, efficient volunteers.

So remember, when a canvasser knocks on your door, support your Red Cross - an agency you can count on.

Flagstaff Further Education

What Are Your Future Plans?

What is Your Destiny? In order for adult education to exercise some measure of control over their destiny, they must be given the opportunity to learn and the freedom to choose from among a wide variety of learning experiences. On the basis of the best information available, it seems socially desirable to promote voluntary adult participation in a co-ordinated program to further education activities in the Province of Alberta. Advanced Education provides some incentive funding in order that the cost to the student for these programs may be kept as low as possible. The County of Flagstaff Board of Education permits the use of school facilities at no cost for adult education classes, when such use does not interfere with regular school requirements. Many county residents travel considerable distances to enroll in general interest courses which in some cases could be offered within this county or in a specific region if those persons wanting the courses made their interests known to the council or get in touch with Jean Johnson, 384-3772.

Eight major 75th fairs and exhibitions

Major fairs and exhibitions throughout Alberta will host a 75th anniversary these this year, and Alberta's 75th Anniversary Commissioner, Bob Dowling on March 3.

Financial assistance will be provided to assist activities of the eight major fairs and exhibitions, explained Dowling.

"Fairs and exhibitions are often considered special events," said the commissioner. "This year we like to assist these exhibitions in becoming special Alberta 75 events, events that people throughout the province will have the opportunity to attend."

Alberta's two largest exhibitions, the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Association, and the Edmonton Exhibition Association will each receive $225,000. Receiving $15,000 each will be the remaining six fairs: the Camrose Agricultural Society, the Grande Prairie Agricultural Society, the Lethbridge District Exhibition, the Lloydminster Agricultural Society, the Medicine Hat Exhibition and Stampede Co., Ltd., and the Western

County meeting

Continued from Front Page plans will be made to assist people buying new homes or renovating older ones. "I will come and assist you for no cost," said Bourne.

Preventive Social Services Director, Paul Bujold outlined last year's activities. "We were setting up various activities in the community," he said. Bujold also pointed out that PPS organized many events for the coming year, including the Home Support Program and Family Life Education program. Both of these are designed to help people who are having family problems.

He added that PPS is working with senior citizens in helping them to be more active in the community. We are working with Dayland and Forestburg seniors who are presently attempting to get more facilities, said Bujold.

It was stated at the meeting by Glen Miller that rural people in the county have received $95,000 in per capita 75th anniversary grants. The money is presently to be spent on a float worth approximately $10,000. $10 per capita will be distributed into recreation boards for projects beneficial to rural people. The remainder, said Miller will be put into municipal projects for rural.

At the end of the meeting, Alex Blais announced plans for retiring this fall after thirty years to settle down. "I intend to step out of this public life and get into community life."

News from Sedgewick Central High

Another year's convention is over. Teachers were given a good psychological lift during the opening session with Dr. Ambrose Brantley and enjoyed a number of general interest sessions on Thursday afternoon and Friday morning before the closing address by Dr. David Suzuki on Friday afternoon. Many students took advantage of the break by going skating in Jasper.

We are very rapidly approaching report card time at Central. The first reporting procedure will be on report of the second semester will be sent home at the end of next week with Parent-Teacher interviews scheduled for Monday, March 13.

We are also changing our reporting procedures in mid year to a new format that we hope will provide parents with more information and will give teachers more time to fill out the report cards and write comments about student's progress. The new reporting procedure will also provide teachers an opportunity to indicate absences from their classes. Perhaps the new reporting procedure will encourage teachers to develop their own report cards to provide information about their specific courses and the student's progress through the course.

The provincial government provided local school boards with funds to upgrade Industrial Education and Home Economics equipment. Our school has received an additional sewing machine, the metal lathe and one wood lathe in the shop have been replaced and Mr. Doody has two new drafting tables. Mr. Sparrow has received some new equipment in the printing area which will permit him to expand his program in that area. Ask the teachers about this new equipment on March 30.

Because Small Comforts Make a Big Difference

Like the mittens that make a big difference on a cold day, so wheel chairs, braces, artificial limbs, orthotic supplies are among the aids that make life more comfortable for a disabled or chronically ill person. And now these and many other aids for daily living are being made available to Albertans without charge.

The objective of the new program (effective March 1, 1980), is to remove the financial burden of buying these important aids, and to allow Albertans to enjoy more independent living in their homes and in the community.

Some Albertans already receive these benefits through the Extended Health Benefits Program. Workers' Compensation and other health plans, but this new program assists those Albertans who do not now receive such benefits.

If you, or someone you know is interested in more information about how we can make a big difference, contact your local health unit or board of health.

Some strangers to our town, arrived for cold and dirty jobs, they tried. And were successful, so it seemed. Their presence here would fit the scheme. But on the townfolk, upright and true. Would have nothing at all with them to do. They're all too young, and too fast to be true. They're wild, and lawless and potheads too. But the money they make and spend in the town. Nobody seems willing to turn that down. Without even thinking, I let me be blind. Take my way of living, lay it on the line. I had joined the crowd in condemning them. 75th Anniversary salute to a pioneer

Rose Bowly, 96, found things tough when he first settled in Alberta in 1913, but fought and defeated the poor farming conditions while staying in the Daysland area for 67 years. "In 1913 the crops from out, and in 1919 they died out," said Bowly. The dust storms of the 1930s always caused dying crops.

He was born and raised in Nova Scotia before coming to Alberta. "There were hard times in Nova Scotia and most of the young people left to find work." Bowly came to Alberta with the idea of settling here and he certainly did.

"E.W. Day owned two sections, one of which Daysland was built on," remembers Bowly. He worked on a farm for three years when he first moved to Alberta, before buying a half section near Daysland where he lived from 1916 to 1978.

The reason for his long stay in the area and in Alberta, explains Bowly was because, "Alberta has good land and the people really got along well."

After while the crops got better in Alberta with the advancement in agricultural technology. "In 1942 I had my biggest and best crop ever," he said, and he maintained a good quality after that. I can remember when I had to clear and cut brush by hand, he said, in pointing out the progress.

Bowly sold his land two years ago, and presently lives in his son's (Grant Bowly) farm home. He still remains active in the farming business, working on Grant's land.

Longevity runs in the Bowly family, as many of the family have lived far past 90 years and into the 100s.

Rose Bowly is just one of the pioneer farmers that made Alberta the great agricultural province it is today.

Church parade

February was a busy month for the girls in Sedgewick Brownies and Guideettes.

Annually on February 22, the groups remember their founders, Lord and Lady Baden Powell whose birthdays fall on that day. In Sedgewick, the Brownies and Guides attended church at Bethania Lutheran Church on February 17th. Carrying the flags for the Brownies was Susan McKinnon, while Charlotte Lewis carried the Guide Company flag. The Canadian flag was carried by Pat McDonald. Pastor Ray Niebergall accepted the flags from the girls after they entered the church. Pastor Ray commented on the work of Lord and Lady Baden Powell. The open collection of $52.75 was given to the Canadian Friendship fund which assists Guide projects around the world.

Following the service, a social hour was enjoyed with members of the Lutheran congregation, lunch being provided by some of the members.

On February 18th, the Brownies and Guides had served tea and strawberry shortcake to friends and relatives who came to their tea at the Anglican Church Hall. A bake sale also helped raise funds for their treasury.

Hobby Club

On the evening of Wednesday, February 20 the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flapstaff met in the Sedgewick United Church Hall with 15 present. The President, Mr. R. Patterson conducted a short business meeting then introduced the guest speaker Mr. Lorne French who showed a most interesting selection of slides. A series of slides taken of the 1908 July 1st, Sedgewick Parade was really fun to see 12 years later. Holiday trip slides of the Barbados and Hawaii were much enjoyed. Lunch and social hour followed.

The next meeting of the Hobby Club will be on Wednesday, March 19 at 8 p.m. in the Sedgewick United Church Hall. We are very pleased to have Miss Denise Schweitzer who teaches at Central High School, as our guest speaker. Miss Schweitzer is a keen photographer and we are looking forward to viewing a selection of her work.

Sedgewick Minor hockey plan supper

This year a committee of ladies have been working hard to make this year's supper more enjoyable for Minor hockey players and their families. You will not have to balance your supper on your knees as a lovely sit down supper is planned for you.

After your supper, individual and team trophies will be presented and then on with the fun. The Pee-Wee team will take on a team known only to us as the Alberta.

Following this game the powerful Midgets take on the over-enthusiastic Rec team, which should prove interesting. Both teams games will be of short duration so that even the little ones can stay and cheer on their brothers or sisters.

The bowling alleys will be open for anyone wishing to try their skill in that line. In short, good food, good fun for everyone at a most intimate meal.

Minor Hockey people mark your calendar now for March 30, at 6 p.m. for the Minor Hockey supper.

Hazelwood Good Deed Club meets

The regular meeting of the Hazelwood Good Deed Club was held at Brea Birchella. There was a good turnout of members and two visitors Margaret Denham and Molly Ferryhouse.

Dish towels were handed in, and other costs given out to be worked. Costa of the bags have risen considerably so the club has raised the price of the dish towel sets.

A committee was formed to put the quilt in the frame at Sasse Dragers and then members are asked to go quilt any time they can.

Despite the handicap of a wrist cast the hostess served a beautiful lunch including a birthday cake honouring the lady of the month, Verna Metts. Gerry Metts won the hostess raffle, a set of tumblers. Next meeting is at Kay Co's in Loughheed.

The Sedgewick Figure Skating Club was host to C.F.S.A. (Canadian Figure Skating Association) tests on Thursday March 8. Tests tried were for Preliminary Figure, First Figure, Preliminary Dances - which are the Dutch Waltz, Canasta Tango, and the Swing Dance; and also the Junior Bronze Dances - which are Ten-Yen, Peeta Tango, and the Willow Waltz. Entries were from Coronation, Castor, Hughenden, Hardisty, Loughheed and Sedgewick. The tests took a full day to judge, as there were 71 entries.

The capable judges were Linda Ellis and Sandra Weidner from Lacombe, and Monica Chesney from Ponoka. Trial judge was Dianne Blosser from Hiram.

Partners for the dances were Margaret O'Toole from Coronation, Lisa Sinker from Hardisty and Rhonda Tanton and Denise Hagen from Sedgewick. The girls did an excellent job.

This skating season's teacher is Janice Arntsen; the President is Helen Whitten; the Secretary-Treasurer is Diane McClements; and the Test Chairman is Marcia Hagen.

The success of the test day was due to the hard work of all the many volunteers.

Hawks advance to finals

Perry When gathered a hat trick as Forestburg Hawks defeated Hardisty Stampede 6-3 to win the Battle River hockey semi-final in Hardisty and move to the final.

When opened the scoring early in the first period and by it's end Hawks were up 3-0. Forestburg skated hard while Stampede warriors were out of position causing the early lead.

When scored another in the second and added his third goal with only 18 seconds remaining in the third and final period. His wicked slap shot seemed to stun both Hardisty goalies. Ron Croshaw who started the game, and Fred Colonne who was put-in, in the third with the score 5-1.

The game was played like every other game in the series, with Forestburg pressuring all game and Hardisty looking for mistakes to take advantage of, except for the good checking by Hawks that kept Stampede off stride all game.

The key to Forestburg's victory though was that Hawks continuously watched and smothered Gerry Bromby and Brent Sim Stampede's big gunners and kept them from generating much offensive thrust.

Adding goals for Forestburg were Marshall Charchon, Dave Leitch and Lynn Fouts with singles. Gerry Miller, Alvin Miller and Danny Sim scored for Hardisty.

Economy booms

Alberta's coffers continue to fill at rates that outstrip the government's estimates.

The Provincial Treasurer, Lou Hyndman, recently released the public accounts for the 1976-79 fiscal year and disclosed that the province collected about $300 million more than it originally anticipated.

With this previously hidden public windfall now exposed, it's expected the government will be able to announce total savings of nearly $9 billion when it brings down its budget April 2.

That will include approximately $6.5 billion in the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund, and another $2.5 billion in its accumulated general revenue surplus.

The unprecedented level of savings for a provincial government has been accomplished even after a major $1 billion giveaway to Alberta municipalities last year to retire local debts.

And it has raised once again the question of whether the province should consider putting more than its current 30 per cent of non-renewable resource revenues into the Heritage Fund.

Although last year's budget called for an overall increase in government spending of 10 per cent, the government has been demonstrating some restraint in spending the money the legislature has allocated to it.

In 1976-79, the province spent $65 million or two per cent less than the approved budget estimates for that fiscal year.

The department of social services and community health, for instance, spent $40 million less than had been budgeted for it. Utilities and telephone spent roughly $15 million less.

But the transportation department exceeded its budgeted spending by approximately $50 million, and the treasury over-spent by some $10 million.

Although the province continues to stress that the bulk of its revenues come from non-renewable resources being depleted daily, the short-to-medium term budgetary outlook for Alberta looks rosy.

Some time this year, the province will be negotiating a new oil pricing deal with the federal government that will give Alberta even greater revenues from the sale of oil and gas.

Under the tentative oil price deal worked out with the Clark Conservative government, the Heritage Fund would have been able to accumulate a grand total of $80 billion by 1984.

Though there is suspicion the new Liberal government might not be quite as generous with Alberta, the oil deal, whatever its size, will serve to swell the province's savings faster than in the last five years.

In an effort to help Albertans get a better understanding of the province's financial picture, the government released a special summary with the current public accounts. "But I don't think many Albertans will consider this bedtime reading," Hyndman said.

Limit on bus trip to Perdue

Only 14 people will be able to come to Perdue by bus, contrary to the statement that there would be no limit. People riding the bus will be the only ones admitted into the dinner party.

Grants for the elderly

A program called, New Horizons, has been set up by Alberta Social Resources Inventory to assist those over 65 years, through grants into becoming community active.

The grants will be given to the retired for projects of their own design and administration to assist those benefit them and their community. The project has awarded $4,568,186 to 748 senior citizens' organizations in Alberta.

Plans that have been awarded funds are for renovations on buildings for senior citizens groups, organization of historical books, and movie projects.

There are 90,000 people between the ages of 65 and 70, and taken at the mean age of 70, they account for 6% million years of knowledge and skill. New Horizons is attempting to put this experience back into circulation, contrary to negative opinion that 65 means redundancy.

Hauser stops Viking

Gord Hauser was remarkable in the nets for Hawks as Forestburg defeated Viking 6-3 in the first game of the Battle River Hockey League's best of seven final series.

Hauser repeatedly stopped breakaway shots and turned away pressure in front of his net in beating Viking. He was especially good in the first period, although he let in two goals.

Kings were all over Hauser in the first, and it would have been a rout had Hauser not been so sharp. Especially noticeable was the number of times Forestburg gave away the puck in their own end although Hauser seemed to be perched with a 5-3 lead.

The game was wide open at all times, but the older it got the more Hawks were Kings down until finally taking command near the middle of the second period. Hauser scored the winning goal early in the second period as he poked one in from the feet of King's net. Forestburg played the game much as they did in the last game against Hardisty. Checking was their key to the offensive control they gained during the game.

Dave Leitch scored two for Hawks as did Lynn Fouts, and adding singles were Terry Hawn, Graeme Bevington, and Dean.

Forestburg net minder reaches to make one of the many saves in Monday night game at Viking

Canadian Cancer Society Unit 18 meets

The Canadian Cancer Society, Unit 18, held a Spring Information Seminar March 5 in the Kilham Elks Hall. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies of the Royal Purple. Unit 18 includes all of the County of Flagstaff and we were pleased to welcome representatives from Daysland, Killam, Sedgewick, Alliance and Gahagan. President Rosemary Jack introduced members of the Executive and special guests. Mr. Lloyd Loyall, Alberta Division Campaign Co-ordinator, Mr. Fred Griffith, Division Representative and Mr. Ruben Haman, Alberta Division Campaign Co-ordinator, Mr. Ruben Haman was the guest speaker.

Mr. Haman spoke on the difficulties we all have in getting enough people to canvass, and the canvassing itself. Let the good feeling you have when you know you have helped will almost always outweigh the difficulties.

The ladies then took part in several skits, showing the right way and the wrong way to recruit canvassers, and the right and wrong way to canvass.

Mr. Lovell showed a film "The New Supermarket" and following the film Mr. Griffith chaired a question and answered period. Mrs. Jack thanked our special guests, and the Campaign Kits were given to the area Campaign Captain. Remember April is cancer month!

Dicka Hollinger (Pharag) was born in Vancouver, B.C. on June 8, 1901. She immigrated to Canada with her parents and family in 1905. The family settled in the Sharnon district north of Irma.

December 27, 1981, Dicka was united in marriage to Ludwig Hollinger. They farmed in the Sharnon district. One son, Gordon, was born to this union.

Dicka was well known in the Irma and Hardisty area and those who knew her loved her for her generosity and love. Her home was always open to anyone in need of a cup of coffee to share. She possessed the pleasant spirit of giving of herself to help someone.

She was a loving mother, mother-in-law, and grandmother. As a cook she excelled and her garden, flowers and lacework. She gave generously of herself and her means to her beloved family.

Her grandsons were very dear to her and she enjoyed living so close that she could share her love with them.

After falling health, Dicka Hollinger passed away on January 17, 1986 in the Hardisty General Hospital. She leaves to mourn her passing: one son, Gordon, and daughter-in-law, Marina of the Sharnon District; three grandsons, Douglas, Dwayne and Curtis; one sister, Nanna Nilson of Irma, Alberta; two brothers, Norman Fluevog of Irma, Alberta and Sigurd Fluevog of Vancouver, B.C. She was predeceased by her husband Ludwig in 1975 and by her parents and one brother, Selvin.

Funeral services for Mrs. Dicka Hollinger were conducted from Sharnon Lutheran Church on Monday, February 21, 1986 at 7 p.m. with Pastor Ray Niebergall officiating. The hymns sung were: "When Peace Like a River" and "Sweet Hour of Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Della Nilson at the organ. Mr. Carl Seronen also sang a solo entitled "Some Golden Daybreak". The pallbearers were the Messrs. Lerne Ford, Carl Conroy, Leslyn College and Helen Smallwood, Peggy Smallwood, Willard and Avis Shaw, Jim and Marianne Cole, Mrs. Ida Olson and family.

Battle River Tourist Assoc. meets

The February meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association was held at Holden, Alberta on February 21.

A total of 38 delegates from Canora, Camrose, Coronation, Chauvin, Daysland, Donalds, Holden, Killam, Leduc, Loughheed, Struma, Stettler, Ryley and Wetaskiwin turned out to the supper meeting at the Holden Community Hall. It was the first time the association had met in the Holden district. Following a delicious dinner, President R. Brown of Leduc, called the meeting to order.

It was reported that plans for the annual BRTA Cavalcade are well under way. The affair will be held the weekend of May 24 and 25. The cavalcade has become very popular over the years, and organizers have to limit the participation to 60 units. The cavalcade will take participants on a tour of various highlights that can be found in Battle River Country. Anyone is welcome to join the cavalcade; registration is $15 per unit. The Battle River Tourist Association has expressed concern in the recent past regarding the condition of Highway #63 linking Basaw, Donalds and Foreburg. BRTA Manager, S. Clements advised members that correspondence from D.J. Bassard of Alberta Transportation indicates that while reconstruction of the grade has been held up due to right-of-way acquisition, it is anticipated that the reconstruction program will be carried out in 1980.

It was reported that the 1980 Annual Meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association will be held in Camrose on October 22, and all feature well known radio news broadcaster, Mr. Bruce Hogg, Manager of News and Public Affairs for Saskatchewan Broadcasting. Limited as the guest speaker.

Finance Chairman Gertrude Thoms of Stettler announced that Battle River Tourist Association had received word from the Travel Alberta Zone Assistance Board respecting the annual provincial grant that the association would be receiving in 1980. Not including a standard advance of approximately $2,800.00 that the association received earlier in the year, the Board announced that BRTA would receive a grant allocation of $30,000 for 1980.

Let's Talk It Over - With Gordon

Letters have been sent to the Department of Housing and Public Works to the following Commission, advising them that their request for a Community Services Program Grant has been approved.

Daytona gets $51,700 for a Town Complex. However, their additional request of $46,000 for a Golf Course Clubhouse was not approved. Also not approved was Bitters Lakes application for a Community Hall. The village of New Sarepta gets $42,500 for street upgrading and good old Olaton, $19,575 for a Community Playground.

Edberg was turned down because its per capita entitlement was almost all used up in 1979. In Donalds, $27,895 for sidewalk upgrading, an addition to the town shop and curb and gutter work. And by next door town, Fortistoth, $24,900 for their Municipal building and finally Basaw's bid for $130,500 for the Curling Rink. However, Basaw's bid for $130,500 for a new town office in the Department assessment, the curling rink project showed a greater need than a new town hall and in the words of the Department it has a larger impact on recycling the deficiency of Community facilities in their town.

Now within the constituency, I had the opportunity to attend Ross and Mike Zwick's 50th wedding anniversary in Camrose. A full afternoon over at Sedgewick where M.L.A.s Charlie Stewart from Wainwright, Tom Lysons, Vermillion and myself met with the county council of Flagstaff, the School Committee, the Playstaff-Hughenden Co-op and $46,200 to Chain Lake Gas Co-op for constructing gas distributing system.

No longer new news but never-the-less important to New Sarepta, A.G.T. has jumped in New Sarepta by 35% at a cost of $97,000 which will increase their telephone lines from 250 to 400.

From Recreation and Parks to Basaw area Rec. Board, $2,572 for the project Co-operation Grant and good news for the Mayor of Fortistoth, his village has qualified for Alberta Transportation 1980 Street assistance program.

Finally even the magazine in Camrose got a grant for $6,653 from Alberta Environment. As per agreement with the city, control financial assistance program. The city will be reimbursed the above sum of money for expenses incurred during the mosquito control program carried out last year. The City of Camrose spent a total of $18,044 controlling the darn mosquito.

A full afternoon over at Sedgewick where M.L.A.s Charlie Stewart from Wainwright, Tom Lysons, Vermillion and myself met with the county council of Flagstaff, the School Committee, the Playstaff-Hughenden Hospital Board and the Agricultural Committee. Some of the main problems discussed out of many were: the deplorable condition of the Hardisty Hospital (thank goodness that's not in my constituency), killing camoufleur in their school system, proposed Bott Lake Provincial Park and the A.D.C. beginner farmer issue.

On March 1, a dual role, bringing greetings on behalf of the Government of Alberta to the Moose Mid-Winter Conference in Camrose and attending their fractions as a Moose member and Ardell also in the Women of Moose. And last Friday night at the official opening of the Camrose Performing Arts Center.

Heiler North Dairy and Beef February's meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Len Zimmer. Marion Smith had O'Canada, Mickey Smith led the pledges.

We changed the date of public speaking to March 16. We will be having a rope halter demonstration after public speaking. For raising money we will raffish a pig. Marvin Zimmer adjourned the meeting.

After the meeting we wrote our quiz on the beef call and then we did skits because it was parent's night. Kelly Smith

KALEIDOSCOPE

Donna Bours, DME

Diets: Detective: Chase For Good Food Buying 'Food Selection Tips:

1. When possible shop by yourself, when you are not hungry.

2. Comparison shop. Unit pricing is a good way to check prices.

3. Be aware that end of aisle display and other advertising gimmicks may blind you to the fact that the product is more expensive than other stores.

4. Use the "bend-and-rim" technique to check product on the shelves above and below eye level. Sometimes those items at eye level are the most expensive - a clever marketing technique of which you want to be aware.

5. Read the label. The grade of a product will vary from standard to fancy. All are equally nutritious. Net quantity states total amount of product you are getting for the price. Ingredients are listed in descending order of proportion, so you can tell which ingredient you are paying the most for. Be sure to check dates.

Food Storage

There is no excuse for food waste due to improper storage.

1. Rotate your stock of canned goods so that older cans are used first. Canned foods are safe to eat no long as there's no sign of bulging or leakage, but with prolonged storage for several years they deteriorate in quality. Store cans in a cool place to retain texture, color and vitamins.

2. Turn evaporated milk cans upside down once a month to prevent settling.

3. Keep opened cereal packages, nuts, dried fruit in tightly closed containers (glass jars) or plastic bags to prevent insect infestation.

4. Avoid storing spices and herbs in a warm place or for too long a period of time, as they lose flavor and aroma quickly.

5. Frozen foods should be stored in moisture vapor-proof wrap to prevent freezer burn. If retail end of meat are going to be frozen for a month or longer, they should be re-wrapped with freezer wrap or put in freezer bags.

Final Words

This column marks the end of the Diet Detective Nutrition Series. If you have been following this series, you may have changed some of your eating and exercising habits.

Seed For Sale?
The months of January through May always bring a good number of advertisements announcing "Seed For Sale." Although, this practice of making available good quality grains to some neighbours to be used for seed is an honourable gesture, there could be some questions that may end one in the government of seed with free room and board.
In the past, controversy has arisen between the buyers and sellers of seed. These latter disputes have brought about the formulation of some rules and regulations for the trading of seed. These are contained in the Canada Seed Act.
This Act was established by the Government of Canada and is administered by Plant Products Division. It was set up to kinder either the buyer or seller but to protect both. The Act requires that a certain standard of quality, purity, and grade be maintained in the grains offered for sale and specified seed. For example the Act requires that all agricultural seed sold, offered for sale or advertised for sale if cleaned, must be labelled with the kind, grade, lot number and name, and address of seller. Only seed graded with one of the Canadian Pedigreed grades may be labelled or represented by a variety name.

Ungraded seed may be sold, offered or advertised for sale provided it is accompanied by a label that states clearly shows that the seed is ungraded.
Therefore, if someone advertised because seed hereby third generation, germination 97%, and does not have a pedigree registration for this seed (which is either the buyer or seller but to protect both. The Act requires that a certain standard of quality, purity, charged as a third generation could very well be untrue to variety as advertised. Furthermore, if a purity test showed that a certain amount of weed seeds were present he could also be charged as the grain which he sold for seed did not meet the standard established for the product he advertised.

The benefit and protection to the buyer of the seed is obvious. He is guaranteed a certain quality of product which meets certain standards as determined by the Act.
What does all this mean to our local farmer. Basically this: If you advertise grain available for seed, you can use variety names. If you do not have a pedigree registration is obtained (foundation to certified). If you have grain of good quality that you wish to advertise for seed purposes, you advertise it correctly. This could save you a great deal of problem if someone wishes to be nasty.
A suggested way to advertise for seed: Excellent quality oats. Germination 96%, cleaned to Canada No. 1 standard. May be used for seed.

Remember: The Canada Seed Act is here to protect everyone, and like advertising, good seed pays.

Would you like to be a writer?

Alberta has an unsuspected wealth of writing talent. But like all talent, it needs developing.

If there are SUFFICIENT would-be authors in the community served by this paper... and if they can form a writing group that will be responsible for producing and selecting suitable material worthy of publication in this paper... they are invited to get together and get to work!

These writers may be interested in poetry, in general news writing, in history and features; if their work merits publication, we will be pleased to publish it as space permits and, through arrangement with Alberta Culture (which is interested in developing such talent in the province) provide professional remuneration for all published material.

Literary Achievement Trophy

Such material likewise becomes eligible for a special literary achievement trophy, to be presented by the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association annually for the best published work in each of the following categories:

1. The best general feature article
2. The best historical article
3. The best human interest article
4. The best poem
5. The best cartoon

Thousands of Albertans Say "Yes" to Canadian Unity
Members of the executive of the Alberta Committee for the People to People Petition for Canadian unity open and count the hundreds of signed petitions being received each day. Left to right: Dr. Sherburne McCurdy; Honorary Chairperson Jean Forest; Barbara McGregor; Dr. Harold MacNeil. (See story).

People to people petition

The Alberta Committee for the People to People Petition for Canadian Unity has expressed appreciation for the support which the petition has obtained in Alberta. Signed petitions are pouring into the Alberta Office by the hundreds each day.
The response by Albertans has been overwhelming — over 50,000 signatures have been counted. Campaign coordinator Don Eastcott states that this indicates Albertans do care about Canadian Unity.
The Alberta campaign will end on March 15, however, signed petitions will be accepted until the end of March. These can be mailed to campaign headquarters, left of Books, Treasury Branches or Credit Unions where utility bills are paid, or at any office of the four participating utility companies.
The signed and numbered petitions from all across Canada will be presented to the people of Quebec in late April or early May, just prior to the Referendum. It is hoped that a representative group of Albertans will travel to Quebec with representatives of other provinces.
Petitions have been circulated through various service organizations, schools, churches and businesses including the Provost Legion.
Four Alberta Utility Companies: Alberta Power, Northwestern Utilities, Canadian Western Natural Gas and Calgary Power, have distributed copies of the Petition with their utility bills.
Approximately 50,000 signatures have been returned from the 600,000 mailings.
Coordinator Don Eastcott notes that statistically this is a high rate of return but adds that he hoped Albertans would take pride and thereby put out a special effort to either sign the petitions being circulated throughout their community, or return the petition form received in their Utility Bill.
Eastcott was high in his praise of the four utility companies for their assistance and stated "Without those utility companies we could never have covered the Province, we couldn't even come close."
Mr. Eastcott also observed that while many of the petitions being returned averaged three or more signatures, a great number only had one — the signature of the person who paid the utility bill. His concern was that in a petition such as this only one half or less of the probable support was being indicated by the single signature. He urged everyone returning a petition to get as many signatures as possible.
"Alberta is being regarded as the focus province in this endeavour, our activities have been picked up and carried by national press, radio and television," he states, "this puts even more emphasis on Albertans to make the campaign a success."

average citizen, but okay for a country's leaders. That assumes that those leaders (whether democratically elected or brought into power by military means) are somehow more sane, more dependable, than average citizens. That's elitist. It's also false. Politicians and rulers, at home and abroad, have been shown to be just as prone to weakness, self deception and promise-breaking as anyone else. So if you can't trust your neighbor to have an atomic bomb in his basement, should you trust China to have one? Has the world gone mad?

AND SO WE FIND that in many of our so-called economies, society is spending more to cure ills, prevent depression, alleviate alcoholism, patch up broken marriages and care for neglected offspring. More courts are more crowded with cases that one would naturally think an affluent society would not be involved in. Charges are constantly being laid against those who are "rich" on their income tax returns, and the government is spending more and more to "bring down the big boys."

RECONCILIATION
2 Corinthians 5:14-17
"It is all God's work. It is God who reconciled us to himself through Christ, and gave us the work of handling on this reconciliation."

The same God whose Spirit moved over the chaos in the beginning, the same God who brought reality into being, the same God who made everything out of nothing, "became flesh and dwelt among us full of grace and truth." This very Word of God, who bore the consequences of our sins in his own flesh and blood.

There was no other way in which God could deal with our sinfulness so that mankind would turn from self-will to repentance, and the burden of guilt be removed. God reconciled us to himself, through the forgiving work of Christ. Calvary and Easter are not just historical facts, but an experience of our inner being. It was Paul's conviction that in his own experience God had taken the initiative. Paul did not ask Christ to come into his life but Christ sought and found Paul. Paul was not the pursuer, but

Maywood - A Growing Problem
Maywood, otherwise known as Scentsless Chamomile, is a weed that was introduced from Europe years ago. It has achieved a stronghold in the north-west sector and is slowly moving south and east. So, Maywood is most definitely a growing problem.

Scentsless Chamomile is a plant with erect, smooth and multibranched stems. It can grow to heights of two feet or more. The leaves are finely divided and when crushed have a strong, sweet, slightly soapy smell, hence the name "Scentsless." The flowers are daisy like, with numerous white ray florets around the edge, and with yellow tubular flowers in the centre.

Maywood flowers from June to October.

What makes Maywood such a tough weed? Under Alberta conditions, Maywood acts as a biennial or short-lived perennial.

During the year of germination mostly vegetative growth is produced. This first year of growth is the best time to tackle Maywood, because if it is left to overwinter, the plant will develop into a large, bushy, multiple branched plant which is extremely tough and competitive to control.

Besides being a strong competitor, and a perennial weed, the root system which is large and very fibrous, allows Maywood to cling to large clumps of soil.

This clinging to the soil is particularly bad in our heavy and silty soils.

Another thing that makes

Maywood a tough weed is its ability to reproduce. A single plant can produce up to 300,000 seeds. These seeds are very small and light, and float easily on water. Usually the first sign of Maywood in an area is a weed that was introduced from Europe years ago. It has achieved a stronghold in the north-west sector and is slowly moving south and east. So, Maywood is most definitely a growing problem.

Vitavax RS Flowable

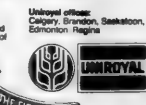

A winner in the rapeseed protection arena.

For years, flea beetles, seedling blights, downy mild and Blackleg fungus have threatened Canada's rapeseed acreage. But last year a new gladiator entered the protection arena - Vitavax RS Flowable - the only systemic liquid product registered for use on rape in the country.

Vitavax RS Flowable is easy to apply. Seed is treated uniformly and there is no dust or bridging of treated seed in drills.

It is available in a 4 litre container - sufficient to treat 360 pounds of rapeseed or plant 70-80 acres.

What happens? Vitavax RS Flowable quickly reaches to work swallowing crops from these damaging insects and insects. Growers were able to reap more easily knowing their crops were protected.

Killam Minor Hockey action

After a record length three month season the hockey action in Killam is drawing to a close.

Although three players out of Killam Minor Hockey (Gary Fossen, Ken Grant, and Edward Tillet) will be missing action with Sedgwick in the Provincial Mini get D finish in Bentley this weekend.

The Bantams have an exciting league final series against our potential rivals to the north. They dropped a 4-2 decision in Viking Friday night in a "close-checking" game and thereby lost the two game total point series by a score of 6-5.

Other Bantam action took place in a tournament in Dayland where they easily defeated Hobbie 1-0 and were defeated 11-4 by To-field in the "A" final.

The Pee-Wee found the Mines in an exhibition game last week and using three players per shift seemed to have the upper hand over their counterparts and "little brothers." The team travelled to Irma on Sunday for tournament action facing Inawitchee in the opener and today 8-4. Then dropping the "B" final to Watervliet 10-4, Jim Leung scored a "hat-trick" and picked up an assist for four points in the first game. Brent Leung and Michael Berch each scored twice in the final game, with Proschke in goal plus in defence corps. (Merlin Pritchard, Murray Dobay, Laurie Keldorfer, Dan Foe and Greg Lewis) had to save off the attack. Laurie Keldorfer finally put a high-hard wrist-shot past the outstanding Irma goalie for what proved to be the winning goal. The game was played on good fast ice and ended 4-2 in favor of Killam.

Michael Tanton and Robbie Berch playing with Greg McCleary scored one goal each. And the 6th Killam goal was scored by Brent Leung who along with Brian Grant and Brent Parsons had many good shots on goal. Wednesday, March 8 at 8 p.m. was appreciation night for the volunteers who came out to clean and paint at the pool. After a good session of water polo, we all indulged in the delectable swimming pool and the water was baked and beautifully decorated by Greg Berg, baker of the Killam Co-op Bakery. Thanks go out to Mr. Berg for donating the cake.

Energy Conservation and Textiles

Energy is becoming a concern of everyone. A session often asked about manmade versus natural fibers and energy.

Man-made fibers save energy. A comprehensive study done at Yale and Catholic Universities and published in American Scientist magazine shows that an all-cotton garment uses 80% more energy than a blend of 65% polyester, 35% cotton. The blended apparel lasted 10 years longer than did the cotton.

Man-made fibers are derived from petroleum yet the cost of the fiber today is, in many cases, less than it was nearly 30 years ago. The industry anticipates shortages or extremely high cost of fiber due to the energy spurge, since fiber represents only about 2 to 3% of the final retail price of a garment.

Color is an overwhelming influence in fashion. New trends begin first with color forecasts by mills 1 1/2 to 2 years in advance of the season. Manufacturers can adjust fabric styling, trim and detail up to a few months prior to shipping but must utilize fabric colors, types, weights and quantities in fabric ordered and obtained.

The Color Association of the United States is also ready to help. Every Spring/Summer 1981 color forecast. The forecast... of blood pink, magenta, purple, and strong brights.

The popularity of the Danakin body suit and stretch spandex fabric is influencing overall fashion trends towards leaner, closer to the body design and many varied shiny or semi-shiny stretch fabrics.

With Tux Blumagame at the piano happy birthday was sung to those having March birthdays. 90 vinyl March birthdays, 90 vinyl March birthdays, 90 vinyl March birthdays.

New textile trends and improvements include a continued emphasis on natural looking synthetics, moisture absorbing fabrics for polyester, rayon, heat transfer printing and coated waterproof fabrics for breathability. Most designs in textiles today are done electronically.

Darwin Westchester checked out well against Watervliet.

The Killam Mines met Irma in Lougheed on Saturday for a close well played game. The score was 1-1 after one period and 3-1 after the second period. The Irma boys opened the third period aggressively and Brad Proschke in goal plus in defence corps. (Merlin Pritchard, Murray Dobay, Laurie Keldorfer, Dan Foe and Greg Lewis) had to save off the attack. Laurie Keldorfer finally put a high-hard wrist-shot past the outstanding Irma goalie for what proved to be the winning goal. The game was played on good fast ice and ended 4-2 in favor of Killam.

As we had intended giving a shower for Kathryn Ashton, we discussed this next. Marlene informed us that the Sedgewick ladies were giving her a shower and had invited us to go in on it if we so wished. We decided to do this and share expenses of same. This shower will be held in the

All-Risk Crop Insurance for hay and pasture crops is now offered throughout Central Alberta. This new drought insurance plan offers coverage up to $60 an acre.

Deadline for application is April 30. Indemnities are based on calculated production using available soil moisture supplies, temperature and hours of sunshine rather than measured production. Using this system, already tested in Ontario, the management factor in hay and pasture production is removed and the highly efficient farmer continues to benefit from his efforts.

Safeguard your feed supply this year by insuring under the Hay and Pasture All-risk Crop Insurance Program.

Linda's father had a meal market in Hardisty for many years, one location being in Isabel Nelson's building after his shop was burned down.
Linda went to school in Hardisty and asked numerous questions re this area. His brother, Eddie lives in Red Deer and his sister, Margie in Edmonton.
His wife the former, Marie Miksa from Hughesden went to see many that he had known as a student from Hughesden attended.
It was no more to see June Bone at the bluffs. June's health has not been too good for awhile but she tells us she is feeling so much better and she looks better so we hope that she will soon be like her old self again.
Linda's pleasure of accompanying Perry and Doris Powell to Hughesden was a great time.
Conversations to Gene Campbell of Hughesden were John Grimsdale with a hat trick and Boucher.
There was a fair crowd following the game and a party followed at the Legion Hall. Entertainment was supplied by Uncle Harvey and group.
Door prizes were won by: Stephanie Erickson, pen and pencil set; Thelma Erickson, radio; and Agnes Carlson, camera.
Peruse opened the second period with two more goals but Sedgewick added another try by the end of the period leaving the score 4-3.
Peruse told the score in the third before Aramant put it away late in the game. Also scoring for Sedgewick were Dale Erickson with two and Richard DeBock with a single.
To watch the dining hospital.
It was no more to see so many old friends again and to see Bessie Best not playing. There were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chase, Mary and Paul Van Hoes, Bill and Thelma Leary, Betty Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blane. They were Cam and Melvin who had quite a heavy curtain program on March 9, playing three games that afternoon. However in the final game their opponents, the Anderson risk from Sedgewick had had the same routine but Anderson won the final game by one point. Jack's risk was small G.E. radio, a new memo of their efforts.
The trip to Las Vegas was won by Debbie Johnson and the door prize at the Carnival was won by June Bone.
Gail's find anything about the men's hospital two weeks ago. It is known that Jack Swanson's risk had quite a heavy curtain program on March 9, playing three games that afternoon. However in the final game their opponents, the Anderson risk from Sedgewick had had the same routine but Anderson won the final game by one point. Jack's risk was small G.E. radio, a new memo of their efforts.

Hardisty Auxiliary plans bingo

Spring Bingo plans were formulated when the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary met for the March meeting on Tuesday March 11 at the Hospital.

Our spring Bingo will follow the same format as the very successful one held last fall, in that it will be an all cash bingo with a $100 blackout game. 14 other games offering prizes of $15 each will also be played. A door prize of $10 will be offered on advance ticket sales, with tickets being priced at $2 each. Tickets should be available shortly from any Auxiliary member. The Bingo will take place Monday, April 18 at 8 p.m. in the RMA Hall in Hardisty.

Final plans for the Child Protection seminar were completed. This is to be held on Tuesday, March 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Drop-in Centre. A film "Children of Our Times" will be shown, and guest speakers will be in attendance.

A reply to our letter to Honorable Dave Russell, Minister of Hospitals was read, in which Mr. Russell stated, "Serious consideration is being given to the proposal to replace the Hardisty Hospital." He also spoke of Mr. Charlie Stewart's strong support on behalf of the Hardisty area residents, to see the Hardisty Hospital replaced. Altogether it was the most encouraging letter received to date.

Marion Elm displayed a beautiful baby comforter, that she had made for sale in our showcase, and this was gratefully received.

As April is the month for our annual meeting a nominating committee consisting of Paulette Manning, Phyllis Manning, and Maria Madden, was appointed. This meeting on Tuesday, April 8 will begin with a supper at Soto's Dining Lounge, followed by the business meeting at the Drop-in Centre.

MARCH 25 - 30

8:00 p.m. Each Evening

Rev. Hugh Gorman, Evangelist

Hugh Gorman, Irish evangelist and author, was born and lived in a militant Protestant ghetto in Belfast, Ireland. For four and a half years he served in an Irish regiment of the British Army, and travelled to Belgium, Jerusalem, Cyprus and Egypt. The story of his miraculous conversion to Christ has thrilled thousands around the world.

Hugh is a graduate of British Isles Nazarene College and has pastored churches in Scotland, Ireland and Canada. He is a dynamic evangelist preacher and has ministered in revivals and conventions in the British Isles, across Canada and from coast to coast in the United States.

People love to hear the quaint Irish accent as Hugh Gorman speaks, especially when he tells the story of his transformations, "Requiem for a Rebel." You'll laugh... you'll cry... you'll be inspired... you'll never be the same again, after you hear this man's story.

Helpful Hints on Insurance

TRUCKERS

Do you still have your vehicle insurance placed with a large agency in the city? Are you getting tired of long distance phone calls, unnecessary driving or mailing delays?

Due to a different underwriting approach than a few years ago, most smaller agencies may now write policies to suit your needs, both "Cargo & Bond" and vehicle policies. Due to a competitive market and no "Brokerage-Fee", you may find the premiums very competitive. Interested? Contact your present "Personal Lines" agent or see us before renewing your "Cargo & Bond" policy.

Hardisty Hospital approved

A new Hardisty hospital will be built and it could be underway as early as June 1, 1981, said Charlie Stewart, MLA for Waterlatch and area on Tuesday.

Stewart announced plans which were approved at the 24th Legislative Assembly of Alberta on Monday.

Flanagan Hospital Board has finally, after five years of requests, given the go-ahead provisionally on a new 50 bed active treatment hospital. The new facility, which has not received a building date, will replace the old Hardisty Hospital which also lacked 30.

Stewart stated that the new building will cost some $3 million, at present day prices.

Hospital Board member, Ed Foe stated that the approval is certainly a step in the right direction. "I'll have to wait until I see the plans," said Foe, before he could state whether or not he liked the design. Foe added that he will be pleased with the plans if they allow for further extension.

The old Hardisty Hospital was erected in 1968.

Also announced at the assembly was the approval for temporary replacement buildings to be used at Dayhead Hospital.

The replacement facility will cost $400,000 and accommodate patients while the old section of the hospital, built in 1908, is being torn down.

Athabasca University moves

Athabasca University, offering degree courses by correspondence to people unable to attend the university's three traditional universities, is being expanded and moved to the town of Athabasca.

Advanced Education Minister Jim Horne has announced the government will spend $15 million in building administrative and course facilities for the university in Athabasca, about 150 kilometers due north of Edmonton.

In the process the school will expand its staff from the 150 employees it has now to 300 when the new facilities open in 1983 or 1984.

Athabasca University, an open university similar to one established in the United Kingdom, was set up in 1970 to serve residents of isolated northern communities and rural areas, as well as persons who wish to study while working full or part-time.

It's centre of activities has been, until now, in Edmonton. But cabinet believed its continued operation in the capital in the shadow of the University of Alberta was restricting the school's efforts to build an identity of its own.

The need to establish an identity for Athabasca University was one of the chief reasons for moving its staff and facilities to the northern town of 1,800 people on the Athabasca River.

It is also a further step in helping with the government's well-recognized policy of decentralization," Horne said.

The minister said he received a large number of briefs from various communities throughout Alberta commending, and as a result, the decision to relocate the university in their localities.

"The cabinet had a difficult decision to make (but) that some members of the university's current staff for five to 10 years, said Bujaid. "It will give us more space for offices, counselors and further education activities."

There are also six home makers in training programs that need more space, he added.

PSS will also improve its counselling program with the addition of a director. The university construction will provide employment opportunities and economic buoyancy to the town and provide a strong cultural base to build on for new services and housing that the construction of the university would bring.

"The name of the town was coincidental to the cabinet's decision, but fortunate," Horne said.

The minister acknowledged that some members of the university's current staff for five to 10 years, said Bujaid. "It will give us more space for offices, counselors and further education activities."

There are also six home makers in training programs that need more space, he added.

PSS will also improve its counselling program with the addition of a director. The university construction will provide employment opportunities and economic buoyancy to the town and provide a strong cultural base to build on

New location and increased budget for PSS

Playstaff Preventive Social Services (PSS) will relocate its office in Killam on April 1, and will likely receive a budget increase for their upcoming year which extends from April 1, 1980 to March 31, 1981.

The previous office used for PSS was on the far east end of Killam just off the highway in a more residential area. "The new building will be on main street so that people will know where we are," said PSS Director, Paul Bujaid.

The new space which will be the location of Battle River Upstair, has been renovated for office use, a reception area, a board room for classes and committees and a meeting room with a library. It has 1400 square feet of space compared to the other office's 608. The other location only had a room and two offices, and a room used for classes.

The minister acknowledged that some members of the university's current staff for five to 10 years, said Bujaid. "It will give us more space for offices, counselors and further education activities."

There are also six home makers in training programs that need more space, he added.

PSS will also improve its counselling program with the addition of a director. The university construction will provide employment opportunities and economic buoyancy to the town and provide a strong cultural base to build on office. There was no room for this service in the old building and Bujaid believes PSS will now be able to supply it. "There has never been a counselling program around here that is worthwhile," he said and will soon attempt to set one up.

The budget for the program has been approved by the county and is awaiting provincial go-ahead with a set expenditure at $118,500 compared to last year's figure of roughly $80,000.

A few town and county officials question the need for the vast budget increase which also uses the cost sharing program from the tax payers from $11,000.00 to $13,227.80 for the coming year.

Bujaid though disagrees with the concern. "In comparison to other areas and considering the length of time we've been here and our size, we are on the lower end of the money scale."

PSS is also now heading its own accounting. The County of Playstaff used to provide this service for them but now that the budget has gotten so high they have decided to quit.

PSS hopes providing services in the county in 1978, locating in Killam the following year, with only one employee, a director. It expanded to two in 1979, and presently has three full time employees and one part time.

"Our main purpose is to organize services for the community," said Bujaid, "and we run only courses the community asks for." Most of the services have to do with improvement courses varying in type according to community requests. PSS trains volunteer instructors to teach the classes in a 12-week course. Here they learn further information about their course and are taught how to instruct a class.

PSS presently has eight playbooks underway along with a Family Life Education course, home support services, Big Sisters, Union at Large and youth programs.

One of the newest and most successful courses is Family Life Education. It involves courses in parenting, marriage, teenagers, family planning, birth control and retirement.

Daysland Kindergarten

The kindergarten children accompanied by their teachers and some mothers enjoyed a ride on Kane's bus to Canmore where they boarded the train for Edmonton.

Arriving at the train station some of the children experienced riding on the short walk to the Centennial Library. Nettie from "Story-time" told stories with help from the pet rabbits and guinea pigs at the library.

Next it was a trip across the city via Greyhound bus to Neak's Ark Pet Shop. Some of the fascinating pets included box constrictors and some tarantulas. Then to MacDonald's where the children received five hamburgers and pop. Everyone was tired but had a good rest on the Greyhound bus back home.

February 18, the Kindergarten visited the Friendship Club where they entertained the members with some songs. Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Olsen, Mrs. Milbr, Mrs. Beggs and Mrs. Montgomery were present. When they were young, Mrs. Fraser was M.C. and memember.

February 19, Jo McCarran came in to decorate a large Raggedy Ann cake for Laura's pretend birthday. Everyone enjoyed eating the cake and also decorating the cupcakes which were sent home.

March 10, "Me and My Dad Night" was held. Kids and dads played floor hockey in the gym, followed by spending some time in various learning centres which were set up. The kids seemed to enjoy it all, even the fingerprinting. Then the children served their dads a lunch of sausage, beans, bread and coffee. Dessert was cookies made by the children.

News From Sedgewick Central High

The weatherman was certainly uncooperative last weekend when Hender's heavy snowfall made it impossible for many parents to attend parent-teacher interviews on Monday. Any parents who were unable to come to school on Monday are urged to contact the school at 364-3817 so that we can set up an interview for you. Quite often comments can be expressed over the telephone so I again urge parents to contact the school if you are concerned about your child's progress or have questions about any school sponsored activities.

One of the expressed concerns about our new program reports was that students might not deliver them to their parents. All reports were sent home with students on Friday, March 21. Did you see your child's progress reports? Are you aware of the progress your child is studying this semester?

The school is busy preparing for next fall's graduation. Under the direction and guidance of Mr. Rosenbach, the Grad Society has organized all graduating students into groups with a rotating responsibility to operate a store at the school during the noon hours. Profits from the store will be used to offset graduation expenses.

The Grad Society is also contacting various photographers to compare photographs to be included in the yearbook.

Mayweed A Growing Trend

Last week I discussed some characteristics of Mayweed. Now I would like to cover some possible ways of controlling this weed and halting its spread.

The first step is to prevent it from producing seed. A community effort to spot, report, and control seed-producing plants will help prevent Mayweed from getting a good foothold.

Under our climatic conditions Mayweed acts as a biennial or short lived perennial. Now any plant, be it biennial or perennial, in its first season of growth acts as an annual. It is during this first season that the best control can be attained.

Tillage to get seeds to germinate and grow and to be destroyed by further tillage is a good practice. However, Mayweed seeds will germinate throughout the growing season, spring, summer, and fall. Because of this, frequent shallow tillage is best done in a summer fallow year or after harvest.

If Mayweed starts out as a winter annual or survives its first season, the second season growth causes difficulty because of its larger size and vigorous roots. Again, through tillage on summer fallow or after harvest is needed to break up the roots and destroy the plants. If a Mayweed plant is well established it can survive cultivation, because of its clinging roots, and just be transplanted.

On land that is not cultivated, fenceless and headless, a possibility is to re-sodify more any Mayweed plants. This will prevent production of seed and prevent further infestation from these plants. Tordon will have a measure of effect on the plants, but due to its long lasting residual effects, extreme care and caution must be used.

If Mayweed is just moving into your land and has not yet established a strong foothold you may do some hand weeding. It is an effective way of controlling this weed.

To find out more about Mayweed and its possible controls plan to attend one of the Mayweed meetings. April 1, Gladstone Curling Rink, 1:30 p.m. - 4 p.m.; Prince Hall, 7:00 p.m. - 10 p.m.; April 2, Burnside Hall, 1:30 p.m. - 4 p.m.; Killam Legion Hall, 7:00 p.m. - 10 p.m.

Plan to attend and bring along a neighbor.

Black Beaters

Latest residential survey on electrical use shows black beaters using 300 kilowatt hours per year, out of a total of 6000 kilowatt hours per year. This represents 4.6% of the total residential load.

A new brand name will appear in early 1988. Black beaters will initially be sold in both Simpson Sears stores (now owned by the Hudson's Bay) and the Bay. A decision has not been made whether to sell the line in other Hudson's Bay chain stores, Zellers and Shoppers. The Bay will continue to sell its previous home brand. Beyercrest will enter 1988, that is until it can be phased out. The Kenmore lines will be sold after December 31, 1979. CAMCO (Canadian Appliances Manufacturers Company) and WCI (White Consolidated Industries) will manufacture the majority of the appliances line.

Students win bursaries

Jacqueline Costes of Langford and Diana Calder of Grimsby have been awarded bursaries from MacEwan College in Edmonton are recipients of bursaries.

Costes, a student in Equine Studies was awarded $100 from Griffin Foundation. Calder, a student in Design Arts was awarded $125 from Jasper Place Students Association.

New Refrigerators

Increased noise levels in refrigerators may be the result of a change in compressor design and a new type of insulation. The new foamed in place insulation, which has better insulation at qualities, doesn't absorb noise as well as the old fiberglass insulation.

Increased service calls have resulted from new owners not accustomed to the higher noise level. Time Up and Save.

Clean, well cared for appliances last longer and use less energy. Clean up hood fans of grease and grime by making fat in detergent and water. And other food particles can accumulate. Vacuum refrigerator condenser coil at the back of the unit.

Secure retirement

Paula Mills
How would you like to retire with a million dollars? This would give you an annual income of approximately $40,000 for the rest of your life. Well of course you would. And you can believe it or not, even without winning a million dollar lottery, if you start saving $200 a month, you can retire with enough money to ensure a very comfortable retirement.

Experts suggest that you start planning for retirement at least 10 years before you are able to retire. By taking an affordable tax first annual

For example, if you were to deposit $2,000 per month (or $60 per week) for 30 years, you would have grown it to $6, you'd have about 1 million dollars accumulated by retirement. This is based on a 9% annual interest rate.

Of course, for some people, $200 can afford $40 a week.

but you could start with $30 and gradually increase it. 30 years from now you might be putting away $100 a week—but 30 years from now you could be earning $300,000 a year if inflation keeps up.

And, of course, you shouldn't forget about the tax advantages you'll reap through investment in R.R.S.P.'s. A $2,000 a year investment will actually only cost you around $1,300 or $26 a week, because of the reduction of personal

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

The Hardy's Hospital Auxiliary sponsored a seminar on Child Protection at the Drop-In Centre, on the evening of March 18.

Special guests were Mr. Leo Heinemann, the Administrator of Social Services for the Westminster District, and Mr. Roy Hayden, Child Protection Officer. The evening began with Miss Hayden explaining the role of the child protection workers in their capacity of Child Protection Officers who deal with Child Abuse cases (there were 100 cases reported in the United Kingdom in 1978); incest, neglect, and

There is a problem in a home, every attempt is made to provide help to the family in the form of counselling, therapy, or other assistance. Only if no progress can be made, and a last resort, is a child removed from the home. In extreme cases the child will be made a ward of the court.

Mr. Heinemann spoke briefly on the conditions of child abuse in our society, which affects family relationships. Children are adversely affected by unstable family situations and our generation. This was graphically brought home by scenes of young people being run over by cars on their way home from their homes. A spokesman for "Operation Go-Home" — an organization which attempts to locate run-away children — said that, at any given moment there are approximately 215,000 young people who are missing from families in Canada. This in itself is a sad commentary on our times.

Hardisty hosts Minor hockey tournament

Hardisty played host to a hockey tournament for 10 and under teams on Saturday, March 22.

The tournament was efficiently organized and run by Peter Gray, who also donated the beautiful trophy.

The tournament was unusual in that it hosted six teams who each played three games. Every game was about one hour long. The teams were divided into two divisions, who each played a round robin. They were then placed and played off against their opposite position in the other division. Thus fourth and sixth places were decided in the third and fourth rounds.

The whole day ran very smoothly, thanks to the capable flooding by Russ Hobben and punctual starts, for which the coaches are to be commended.

A final note: the boys were entertained throughout the day by the showing of three Hockey Canada films.

Going the Distance — National Film Board Documentary Nominated for 1980 Oscar.

Going the Distance is the official film of the XI Commonwealth Games held in Edmonton in 1978. Director Paul Cowan followed eight athletes from four countries, portraying their demanding training programs, their personal determination — all building up to their performances at the Games. The film goes beyond the actual sports events and reveals the spirit of the Commonwealth itself.

Nails — Nominated for 1980 Oscar in Documentary Short Subject Film category.

Directed by Phillip Jarrold, Nails is a montage of moods and rhythms racing the evolution of mail production from the days when it was an individual skill through to today's automated mass production.

Energy corridor plans discussed

Plans for a pipeline, Energy Corridor, running to Hardisty, were discussed at the rural roads study meeting at the County Office last Wednesday.

The proposal would run a pipeline as far as Devonish, turning due south past Glen Eden through St. Paul, Myram, Massville and Irma with termination in the Hardisty area. From Hardisty the Energy Corridor would be the central location for petrochemical developments in south-eastern Alberta. Other pipelines would later run through the corridor to other regions in the province.

Two other pipelines, Alberta Gas Trunk Lines and Inter Provincial Pipeline, already run to the Hardisty region. For the Energy Corridor to be built in Hardisty, construction would have to be at specific times of year so as to avoid environmental damage.

Present at the meeting was the County Council of Flagstaff and Beaver with the M.D. of Wainwright and Provost, all members of study area 13. Invited were counties of Paintearth, Camrose and Milk River.

Also discussed were road maintenance for the coming year. Road 872 to the junction of 808 will be rebuilt along with 870 which will continue to be worked on with the resources development grant.

The annual meeting for study area 13 will be in Camrose next year, although it isn't in this particular study area. Study area 13 is one of the few in Alberta that have kept up with the annual rural road study meeting which began in 1963.

Consumer rights and responsibilities

Paul Mills
While we are all so different in so many ways, one of the things that Canadians have in common is that we are all consumers having dealings in the marketplace.

For most of us, our consumer transactions and activities are such regular and frequent occurrences that we soon develop certain attitudes and expectations about how the marketplace should function. Put simply, we have learned our consumer rights.

As consumers, we have the right to truthful and honest information about the goods and services we buy. This information must be by law, appear in advertisements of all kinds and on labels and packages.

We have the right to choose between products and services to satisfy our

We have the right to safety in the goods and services we buy. We can expect that household products and children's toys for example, will be safe when used as instructed.

Finally, we have the right to be heard, to voice our opinions and complaints to businesses, consumer agencies, government, and politicians.

But, as in life, there are two sides to this coin. If we are to enjoy our rights, we must also accept our responsibilities.

So while we have the right to information, we have the responsibility to seek it out before we purchase.

With the right to choose, goes the responsibility of making sensible choices and to shop comparatively for such features as price, durability, and warranties. The right to safety in the products we buy can only be enjoyed if we accept the responsibility to use them as directed, and in a reasonable, careful and safe manner.

Our right to be heard is worthless unless we assume the responsibility to be willing to vo comments, concerns and complaints, and to learn what laws protect us.

Your rights and responsibilities as a consumer are important. Remember them the next time you make a purchase.

THE LONELY FAWN

See that very young, seemingly abandoned fawn lying alone in the brush? Maybe you can see it from your parking car. The temptation to pick up the apparently weak and carry it away to safety can be irresistible, especially to children. However, it is unlikely to be an orphan, and by picking the fawn up or even petting it, you put its life in jeopardy.

White does are feeding, they will often leave their fawns unattended for hours on end, perhaps for as long as a day. The doe relies on the natural cunning of the young animals to blend with the vegetation and provide camouflage from predators.

If you just spot the lonely fawn, and leave it where it is, the unfortunate you have behind may return the doe when she returns, and persuade her to abandon the fawn. The point will also attract natural predators to the usually defenseless fawn.

Wildlife personnel monitor young moose, have adapted to the natural phenomenon. They have learned to use scent-killing agents and to avoid holding young animals close to their bodies while enjoying the sights.

The danger of abandonment by the doe because of some apparently weak or ill fawn is rarely seen and is usually for the natural mother and fawn to leave the fawn alone.

The phenomenon also applies to birds. Highly sensitive to danger, they will frequently abandon their young if, on returning to the nest, they are alarmed by human or other unfamiliar sources. If you witness a young bird has been deserted, notify your local Fish and Wildlife Office.

Vitavax leads the crop protection crusade.

After centuries of oppression by feeding seed diseases and all sorts of diseases including true loose smut, cereal seedlings everywhere can emerge safe and sound.

The protector is Vitavax — the only systemic seed product registered for use in Canada. Vitavax coats the seed and moves right to the embryo to control fungus diseases. Smuts, rots, bunt and blight threaten thousands of cereal acres in the Prairies all year, and in drought, that transmits a lot of money. And even when well established cereal varieties with built-in resistance to diseases were attacked.

Join the Vitavax crusade and stamp out profit using seed diseases as they all by making sure you treat all your cereals with Vitavax.

Fish and Game trophy ball

The biggest and best yet this was the general comment of the large crowd who attended the Iron Creek Fish and Game Trophy Ball in Loughheed on March 18.

The evening began at 6:30 when a capacity crowd sat down to a delicious banquet, catered to by the Loughheed Arena Ladies.

Following the banquet, Eber Waite once capable M.C. for the evening, introduced the head table. He then called on President Ed Davidson for a report on the club's work the past year.

One who again had a very successful year with the pheasant rearing and the releasing in the area of close to 800 birds. Most of the success of the project must go to Irene Vais and her expertise in caring for the pheasants. More grouse nestling also were set out last fall in some new areas. At the present time some energetic members are in the process of building more bluebird houses, which are available to anyone free of charge who would care to set them out.

Eber Waite then assisted trophy chairman Dick Peilera in presenting trophies for 1979. This past year the Iron Creek Fish and Game Club were pleased to have many of the trophies donated by local business men. These donors included: Coop Implementations, Sedgewick; Smith's Service, Loughheed; Kinella Welding (1974) Ltd.; Flagstaff Implementations, Loughheed; John Larson Water Well Servicing, Loughheed; Poyers Farm Equipment, Sedgewick; Kilham Farm Equipment Ltd.; Towns View Seed Sales and Trading, Loughheed and Seven-Seven Petroleum, Loughheed. The club's gratitude and thanks go out to these generous donors.

Iron Creek Fish and Game presented trophies for last year's records to: Bryan Erickson, whitetail deer; Ervin Oliver, male deer; Terry Peterson, moose; Zane Parsons, goose; Vernon Simpson, mallard duck; Vernon Simpson, pheasant; Bob Roggenbach, lake trout; Catherine Horridge, northern pike; George Mathews, pickerel. Junior fish winners were: Gary Davidson, perch; Roman Drager, northern pike.

Eric and Shirley Holmberg then presented the club with a new banner and a beautiful home-made plaque which displayed in pictures from the club's many projects undertaken throughout the past few years. They included pictures of our trout pond, goose nesting sites, pheasant raising, and releasing, bluebird houses and banding of birds. The Club is extremely grateful to the Holmbergs for the generosity and artistic talent that went into making the lovely banner and plaques.

The set of game dishes were then raffled off with Shirley Borencamp being the lucky winner. The ladies door prize was also won by Shirley Borencamp and the men's door prize was won by Charlie Lane.

Mr. Tim Kirby from the Taxidermy Shop in Sedgewick and Mr. George Mathews of Hardisty showed a very interesting and scenic display of their work which was set up in the front of the ball on the stage. Mr. Mathews' display of mounted fish and reptiles drew a large crowd of interested viewers.

Mr. Kirby the special guest of the evening then addressed the audience and gave a most informative talk on taxidermy ranging from caring for your trophy when first taken in the field, until the mounting is completed and ready to be taken home and hung on your wall. His large, excellent display, which included many animal head mounts, bird mounts, bear rugs and taxidermy animal hides drew the admiration of all those present.

The remainder of the evening was spent dancing to the lively music of Storkbaker's orchestra and socializing with Fish and Game members who turned out from near and far.

We look forward to see you all next year at our Trophy Ball.

HAPPY RIDERS 4H

Our club met March 10. Next time we meet we will probably be riding. Therefore we are all hoping that it will warm up soon. We received our rodeo tickets and will be going up either March 29 or the 30th.

We discussed going to the "Horse Psychology and First Aid Clinic" held April 12 at Alliance. Some of our members will likely be going as it sounds very interesting.

After lunch we watched four films. The first one was named "Common Hoof Problems" and it taught us a lot about hoof care. The other films were "Horse Feeds and Horse Feeding", "Vital Defects Related to Unsoundness" and "Hunt Seat Equitation". All four films were very interesting and informative.

Hardisty and District News

We were happy indeed to hear that Bob and Anna Gregory were moving into the Parkland Manor. Although we understood that Bob was in intensive care in Edmonton following a heart attack, we were all hoping for his recovery, but we were all saddened greatly by his passing. However, sympathy to his wife Anna and family.

The Midgate, composed of boys from Car, Hugabender, Amisk and Hardisty left by bus on Thursday accompanied by 30 parents with 17 boys for Hythe, where they would play in the provincials. The expect to be back on Tuesday so we all wish them good luck on their trip. It will be a good experience anyway if they should not be winners.

However we will be glad to have Anna among our midst and for the Hardisty newcomers, we would like to inform them that the Gregorys ran the Hardisty Hotel for many years. The house lived in by the late Julian Vieder and the late Mr. and Mrs. Churt is taking on a completely new look. The roof has been lowered and the house lengthened considerably and Al Duncan and his crew have done a lot of work on it already. When finished it will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Wes Pedlar Jr.

4-H CLUB MEETING SOUTH DAKOTA AND BEEF 4-H CLUB

What? What should I do? On March 18 we had our meeting in the Heister School. Jim Martz opened the meeting. The assistant leaders led O'Canada and the 4-H pledge. Final plans were made for our tour to the University of Alberta which included a visit to the Greenhouse, Soil Science Department, and the Edmonton Research Station on March 24.

The Spring Lake Stitches joined us and Karen Lusty introduced our guest speaker for the evening: the Fire Chief for the County of Flagstaff Mr. Bill Sandmeyer. Mr. Stan Badry, the Heister Fire Chief also was present. We all viewed a film on "Farm Electrical Safety." Our speaker talked on many different topics all of them to do with fire and saving lives. Mr. Badry gave us many pamphlets on fire safety and also a sticker to place on your phone with Heister's Fire Alarm number on it. After a question period, Darrell Sommer thanked them.

Lunch was served by Orla 4 and everyone left for home making plans for escape fire routes and installing fire and smoke detectors. Neil Maris

75th salute to a pioneer

Art, Eastly, 71, a lifelong resident of Alberta, took over his father's newspaper and printing shop, The Community Press, in 1943 and operated it until his retirement in 1969.

His father, Arthur Eastly, bought the Sedgewick Sentinel in 1908. He owned papers in Banff, Daplyn, Killam, Sedgewick, Longbeed and Hardisty before amalgamating them in 1969, Eastly said.

Eastly worked at various jobs before his newspaper ownership of 1943. "After finishing high school I served a four year apprenticeship in a pharmacy. After leaving this business Eastly worked on The Community Press before becoming town caretaker and police constable. I had no qualifications for the police job, he said, "but the last guy who was town caretaker was also Police constable."

Eastly was born and raised in Banff until the age of 10, when he and his family moved to Sedgewick. He has lived there ever since, and has no intention of ever moving.

"I am not a traveller," he said, "I am perfectly content to stay right here." Although travelling may not be Eastly's favorite thing to do, he added, "I have travelled a lot but I haven't found a place I would rather live than here."

In backing up his reasons for remaining in the Sedgewick area, Eastly said that it is the stable agricultural area in Canada. "We haven't had a crop failure in this area for 30 years."

His fondness for the Sedgewick area goes for the rest of the province as well. "This is the best damn province in Canada," stated Eastly. "I have the best natural resources in Canada as well as having the widest range, he said."

Eastly also added that he likes the climate and the location of the province as well. "I like climate change. It's good for the health. As far as the location goes, we're fortunate to be near the west coast. We're by the mountains but not just on flat prairie land, he said."

One of Eastly's major interests is in politics which he has been personally involved in. "I ran as a liberal candidate for the provincial legislature in 1960, and ran for the nomination for the federal constituency of Battle River." He lost both times but maintained political interests which can be read in an editorial form in The Community Press each week under the alias, Timmala.

This weekly column which began in June 1978 has been his only writings for the paper since he sold in 1969.

Eastly's "I Write As I Please" attitude as a newspaper pioneer has helped make the Alberta media a powerful force, and has allowed it's people to be knowledgeable in current affairs.

Nitrogen fertilizer --

Broadcast or band?

Appl insight by
Alberta Wheat Pool

To keep the energy crisis in nearly every conservation. It is not surprising considering energy affects all in the agricultural industry, one of the largest energy inputs is natural gas in the form of nitrogen fertilizers. It is from the standpoint of maximizing the efficiency of nitrogen fertilizer use that the discussion of the relative merits of banding and broadcasting is extended.

Prior to now, much of the discussion has been of a theoretical rather than a practical nature as the equipment required to apply nitrogen fertilizer in a band has not been available.

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

Mothers who "brown bag" their youngsters' lunches often find themselves steering a fluctuating course between the merits of nutrition and the monotony of monotony. Here are some tips to help you add spice-and life-to the lunch box.

Instead of packing sand which every day, vary the form of the food frequently. Start the small fry off one day with a salad, a thermos of milk-based soup and a slice of fruit bread, for instance. Rather than packing candy or another non-nutritional snack as dessert, include some beef sticks or a few pieces of beef jerky. Lowrey's Beef Sticks, which are ready to eat right from the package, are available in five different flavors and actually have more protein per gram than dog, milk or cheese.

When school is over for the summer, you might give the younger set a change once in a while by packing a picnic lunch they can eat in the backyard or a nearby park.

Takeover of Pork Board auction County waste municipally operated Opposition members of the legislature have been pressing Agriculture Minister, Dallas Schmidt for a justification of the takeover of Pork Producers' Marketing Board's auction system.

Social Credit Leader, Bob Clark has suggested the takeover was in response to recommendations made by one of the province's big packing companies, Swift Canada Ltd.

NDP Leader, Grant Notley has wondered whether the move was taken to interfere with the marketing board's 870 million legal suit against the packers charging them with collusion to keep hog prices down.

But Schmidt has provided few clear answers in the assembly arguing that the government agency that will take over marketing board operations April 11 is an autonomous body that doesn't need instructions from him to bring about orderly marketing in the province.

The Alberta Marketing Council, an agriculture department agency, will oversee all hog auctions to ensure pigs brought to the board by farmers are sold to the first, highest bidder.

The marketing board had earlier withheld hogs from the market demanding packers pay at least a minimum price for hogs of $64 per hundredweight.

Hog producers, of whom there are some $1,000 in Alberta, claim they need nearly $70 per hundredweight but to break even.

At the same time as prices are low, thousands of pork cuts are being imported from other provinces that have encouraged their pig farmers to expand production with price support programs.

With no price support plan in Alberta, producers claim the imports provide unfair competition. They also argue the hog industry in the province is being seriously eroded.

Hog production, at 1.8 million in 1968, dropped to 1.4 million last year.

Schmidt's only action so far is to appoint a four-man committee under former Attorney General, Jim Foster to investigate the state of hog farming in the province. He is joined by a representative of the packing industry, a representative of the marketing board and an independent hog farmer.

The minister says the committee should be able to report in a matter of months.

In conjunction with the other three western agriculture ministers, Schmidt has extended letters to Federal Agriculture Minister, Eugene Whelan about the possibility of setting up a nationwide supply-management system for hogs similar to that now exists for eggs and milk.

But Schmidt doesn't appear greatly enthusiastic about such a system, noting that the idea has not been popular with hog farmers.

be picking up the additional capital costs which will be approximately $700,000.

Most of the two hour meeting was in discussing about the budget and coming to these conclusions.

The decision was made between this or a contract functional dump. The operational costs which will run in the neighborhood of $145,000 will be divided among the municipalities in the county on March 4, into operation by the end of July.

County of Flaggstaff decided that it's waste dumping grounds will be municipally operated, at a waste management meeting, last Tuesday at the County Office in Sedgewick.

The decision was made between this or a contract functional dump. The operational costs which will run in the neighborhood of $145,000 will be divided among the municipalities in the county on March 4, into operation by the end of July.

At a time off of the peak load. There has been no set date as of yet but the county is planning ahead for a time near Spring, 1981.

Council also talked about setting up a solid for operator training, using the road equipment in the county. The school would be limited to the amount of machines available. The course would be lengthy to those wishing to learn from scratch or those wanting to brush up on the equipment.

From the meeting, the municipalities including the county have given the approval of the county dumping grounds. The site involves the second waste in Alberta.

Also announced at the meeting was the date of the County of Flaggstaff's 60th anniversary celebration of the first day of the agricultural office in Alberta, then for set for July 31, and the appointment of Carole Clancy to the position of safety supervisor.

The tournament

The 75th Anniversary Amateur Open Golf Tournament is a frustrated amateur's dream.

Endorsed by the 75th Anniversary Commission and sponsored by The Paranto Golf Club Co. and The Trophy Bank out of Sherwood Park and Edmonton respectively, the tournament set for June 13 - 27 has the potential of involving practically everyone in Alberta.

For the frustrated golfer who willingly goes to the course on nights and weekends to practice swings and break 100, just to go home and watch Jack Nicklaus on T.V. almost halving your score while earning $100,000, this tournament is for you.

First off, Nicklaus is ineligible, and secondly, you have at best a one-in-five chance of being in the prizes and at worst only one-in-nine. Pretty good odds, and besides you would be helping your province celebrate it's 75th anniversary.

The tournament involves three levels of competition, course, regional and provincial championships. There are also three categories for golfers to fall under, mens, womens and juniors.

Entry fee package is $20.00 which entitles a person to submit scores for the three levels of competition as long as 18 holes is played for each and two other golfers are watching play.

A $50.00 prize will be awarded to 10 of 50 entrants at most in the course championship, and every one of the almost 150 Alberta golf courses will be eligible to play on. Larger prizes will be awarded to those winners of the other categories.

For further details write The Tournament, Box 80,000, Edmonton, T6J 3N2. Entries are also available at Safeway Stores throughout the province and at specified Credit Unions.

The Tournament may end up being one of Alberta's most memorable events in it's 75th birthday year. It certainly has the potential of involving a great number of people and allows them to become involved without travelling very far.

In fact, it sounds so good I think I'll pull out the putter and practice in the living room until the ground dries.

What Others Say

What price poverty?

Poverty spreads scar-like across the face of the country. Images of foreign children with distended stomachs and frightened, empty-eyed eyes arouse sympathy. Home-grown poor provoke contempt.

In most industrial nations official estimates range 10 to 20 per cent of the population as poor. In Canada nearly 20 per cent of the population - about 4.5 million - try to survive on incomes below the official poverty line. Almost invisible, seldom seen in banks, hospitals, department stores, museums or art galleries they are the discarded of a consumer society.

Poverty is relative; it is not having enough as the society we live in understands enough. The standards of a community are the increments on the poverty yardstick. While our poor are perhaps better off than the poor in many Third World countries, they are nonetheless poor.

Our society qualifies status and success by education, income and consumption. Those with a low level of literacy and education and certified as intelligent and probably inferior. To be poor is to be a failure. To be poor in a consumer society is to be unhappy.

Poverty is fundamentally a scarcity of power and influence. The same mechanism that produces wealth at one end also means to excrete waste and destitution at the other. The personal and persistent presence of the poor in the industry/technological alliance repudiates the myth that all have equal access to the riches of the modern circus.

Stereotypes persist - the poor are lazy and do not want to work - despite the fact that the majority of the poor work for a living, often at hard, personality-smashing jobs. They are poor because of insufficient wages. Often unskilled and usually unorganised they have no clout, income security or job protection. They spend more than 25% of their income just on meeting their basic needs for food, clothing and shelter.

Who are the poor? They are seasonal workers like fishermen or farm labourers, along with those who toil in small assembly shops, textile factories, restaurants or clerical jobs. Of these, large numbers are new immigrants and/or women.

Many governments and business barbers proclaim growth and more growth as the magic elixir. The Gross National Product of the Western camps has, on average, quadrupled since 1946. But the distribution of that income has not changed, except to benefit the already rich and powerful. In 1970, in Canada, the top 1 per cent of income earners owned 42 per cent of all stock shares. The pie may have gotten bigger but the poor continue to get the crumbs and leftovers.

Unquestionably rich countries possess the resources to eliminate poverty and its consequent suffering and loss of human potential. But our priorities are messed up. The military analyst, Ruth Sivard, notes that in two days the governments of the world spend as much on national military forces as on a full year's cooperative effort to deal with world peace, unemployment, energy, health and the whole range of our social problems that are universally shared.

We have good intentions. We lack the political will.

Elderly honoured

Eligibility requirements for 75th anniversary awards and medallions were released late in March, said Stewart McCrae, Government Services Minister.

Medallions will be available to all Alberta citizens, 65 years of age and over.

Gold medallions will be given to those Albertans who are or will be 75 years of age or over in 1980, if they were born in the province or the part of the North West Territories which is now Alberta. Their principle residence also must be Alberta as of January 1, 1980.

The medallions and award programs are designed to especially honour the pioneering efforts of early Albertans as well as the contributions of all Albertans who have reached the 65 year mark," said McCrae.

Letters have been sent to all Albertans 75 years of age or older to discover their qualifications for either gold or silver medallions.

The Third Column

BY THURGOOD

"I Write as I Please"

OFFICIALLY OF COURSE, spring is here, but the recent snow storm was evidence enough that one dare not go outside without a protective jacket on, lest he cause the teeth to chatter. Season comes and season goes and each brings its own surprises, some welcome, some not. YET I FOR ONE love all the seasons. They are ordained. I love spring with its opening leaves, its blue skies and the sowing of the seed. I love summer with its long days, its frisky feeling and its labor in the outdoors. I love the fall with its rich colors and its bounties and the ingathering of the fruits of the fields. Yes, and I love winter too, with the snow like a white coverlet set over the land and with its star-filled nights. In all of them I find reminders of the Almighty's goodness and love. We should all stop once in a while to dwell on the reminders we have of Him, from winter. Here in our Northern clime we associate snow with winter. We are 'the land of the snow' and in its whiteness there is a reminder of purity, for whiteness is the symbol of the just. The whitest animal in all the world is the ermine, with its spotless coat of white. Winter knows he is a difficult animal to capture, for it will, at all risks, protect the purity of its coat; its protection against harm.

FROM NOW ON, the reminder of cleansing. After all, we all long to be clean within and without even if we don't give too much credence to the fact. Do you recall the ancient adage, "Wash me and I will be whiter than snow." Snow is a cleanser. As a little boy I remember my mother cleaning the windows and medallions were released late in March, said Stewart McCrae, Government Services Minister.

Medallions will be available to all Alberta citizens, 65 years of age and over. Agriculture Alberta

One of the major problems now facing Alberta farmers is the unstable financial market we have in Canada today. Alberta, despite its overall prosperity, has not escaped the financial convulsions in interest rates we have seen in the last 18 months.

To establish farmers, having to borrow increasingly expensive money from private institutions, the financial crisis has resulted in two opposing options: expand to private credit sources, or go to the government for help. The latter option is the more realistic one.

Some loan cases, some producers have reached their credit limit. At times, the very act of increasing production requires cash flow because of the high cost of capital needed for expansion. Unfortunately, too often this has also led to buying land as a short-term speculative effort rather than a valid move to keep a farm enterprise viable.

Dayland General Hospital, the Auto-Analyzer is used by all hospitals in the Playfair/Hughesdon General Hospital District #56, of which Mrs. Nina Sorensen is president. Many organizations and clubs in the area have donated to the fund set up by the Dayland Lions Club. Those involved in making this donation possible are: Ron's Service Station, Dayland; Bewill Town, Forebush Lions Club, Forebush; Norman and Julia Berg, Bewill; Forebush Chapter of the Eastern Star, Forebush; Dayland Branch #62 Canadian Legion B.R.S.L.; Dayland; Ukrainian Catholic Ladies Club, Dayland; Catholic Women's League, Galthead; Galthead Senior Citizens Friendship Club, Galthead; United Church Women of the Bethel United Church, Forebush; Betty Angus (Dayland) Ltd.; Dayland Lions Book Night; Dayland Lions Club.

I can assure you these concerns reach the top. For the past six months several AIC programs have undergone extensive reviews. And your concerns, raised through direct agricultural personnel, AIC loan officers, and the organization's AIC program, have been taken into account. Some loan cases, some producers have reached their credit limit. At times, the very act of increasing production requires cash flow because of the high cost of capital needed for expansion. Unfortunately, too often this has also led to buying land as a short-term speculative effort rather than a valid move to keep a farm enterprise viable.

On the other hand, farmers who have reached the end of their credit rope have had to consider. This too presents pitfalls. Under a farmer has enough resources to intensify production, consolidation can occur cash flow in the point where it doesn't meet cash requirements, even though there may have been no change in a real sense of cash flow. A loan officer, however, always appears as a "leader of last resort," has been the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation (AADC) to relieve farmers in our financial crisis. Since 1972 it has written and guaranteed producer loans exceeding $745 million to help Alberta farmers start-up, expand or reach peak production through such programs as the Dairy Development Program.

However, despite regular program refinements, AADC has not always been able to meet the needs of all the province's farmers and potential farmers. Indeed, its success in meeting the needs of all the province's farmers and potential farmers is a fact that is not always recognized. Unfortunately, AADC's success in meeting the needs of all the province's farmers and potential farmers is a fact that is not always recognized.

is to provide rebates according to the amount of interest paid. For instance, beginning in 1989, the interest rate on a 6% annual AIC loan will be reduced to 5% for the first five credit years of the loan. This will be a significant benefit to farmers.

Today & Tomorrow

For a change, some good news: Alberta Housing has awarded $1,000,000 for a new court house for the city of Camrose. And another contract for $400,000 for the renovation of the City of Camrose building at Bannewash in Camrose.

Also, Alberta Housing has awarded $418,700 for the construction of a 12 unit rental housing project in the city of Camrose. This project will provide special services to the elderly and disabled.

Tuesday evening I came down from Edmonton to attend a Park Marketing Directors meeting in Park and another one in Camrose Friday evening. Also Friday evening with Arden and the kids at the Hay Lakes Fish and Game Association Wildlife supper.

Now back to the park board meetings. 85% Gas To Liquid

The Gas Liquefying Converter is a new method of converting ammonia to a liquid and applying it to the soil at a very low pressure.

The ammonia enters the top of the converter and is expanded. As it expands it freezes, separating the liquid ammonia from the vapor and reducing the pressure. Two tubes from the converter — one for the liquid and one for the vapor — deliver the ammonia to the soil. This low-pressure allows for shallow application, reducing horse power and leaves more ammonia in the soil closer to the root zone.

Dental health month

Good oral hygiene is good mouthkeeping, that's why "How's Your Mouth-keeping?" is the theme for dental health month across Canada during April, 1988.

Provincial campaign activities are being coordinated by the Alberta Dental Health Promotion Steering Committee which is composed of representatives of the dental health professions of Alberta. Six regional committees will be working with local health authorities in planning local campaign activities under the direction of the Steering Committee.

Dental Health Month is cooperatively funded by the Alberta Dental Association and Alberta Social Services and Community Health. In announcing dental health month, Dr. Richard Sandilands, Chairman of the Steering Committee said, "It is hoped that dental health month will achieve its purpose by reminding Albertans that year-round dental care is a worthwhile investment."

Beginning in April, a package of dental care information produced by Alberta Social Services and Community Health will be offered to all new members in Alberta hospitals.

The annual poster contest is being conducted to encourage children to think about good mouth care habits. Children were invited to enter the contest by designing a dental health poster and submitting entries to the regional chairmen of the Steering Committee. Provincial winners in each of the three age categories - 7 and under, 8 and 9, 10 to 18 inclusive - will be awarded prizes at a kick-off campaign luncheon Tuesday, April 8 in the Edmonton Plaza Hotel.

Nation-wide television advertising featuring Sheri Lewis and her puppets will remind the public of the principles of "Good Mouth-keeping", daily brushing and flossing, proper nutrition and regular check-ups with your dentist to prevent dental problems.

Johnson chairs campaign

Mrs. Joan Johnson will again chair The Arthritis Society's fund raising campaign in Sedgewick. She will head a group of volunteers from her community.

Mrs. Barbara Gray of Calgary, the Society's director of fund raising made the announcement. "We are so pleased that Mrs. Johnson and her volunteers are generous and caring people who know the Society and arthritis suffer-ers need their help. They recognize that it is not always easy to raise money but they are ready to meet the challenges ahead simply because the job is necessary."

Mrs. Johnson said, "It behooves all of us to help The Arthritis Society in their battle against the world's most insidious disease. Arthritis is one of the oldest known diseases, and it's still incurable. But in recent years it has become much more manageable, thanks in part to programs provided by The Arthritis Society."

Campaign plans are not complete as yet, but Mrs. Johnson is confident that when she and her volunteers call the people of Sedgewick and area will give more than a thought to arthritis.

Hardisty Chamber busy

To paraphrase a saying "There are three kinds of people. Persons with small minds, persons with average minds and persons with superior minds discuss ideas."

Fortunately the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce has a few of the former, but many of the latter, which has made for some interesting meetings the last several months. No organization can be measured by the number of memberships sold, but rather by the number of members who regularly attend meetings and produce ideas for the organization to consider and act upon. The more ideas that are produced, the more excitement is generated, and certainly there was much excitement at the regular meeting of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce, held March 26 at the Parkland Manor.

President, John Skene, as the first item of the evening, called upon Allan Thompson for a hospital report, and it was with a great deal of excitement that the membership heard that Hardisty is to receive a $2,500,000 Acute Care facility to replace our aging hospital. The thanks of the Chamber goes to each and every person who in any way helped to obtain approval for our new facility.

Lucy Syder and Martin Harrison, then passed around the proof copy of our "Welcome to Hardisty" booklet, which is now complete except for minor revisions. The book will be printed and ready for distribution by Round-Up Days. The membership is excited about the book, as it has been in the works for some time and it is nice to see it nearing completion.

Seventy-fifth Anniversary Chairman, Joyce Harrison reported that plans are well in hand for our special 75th Anniversary Round-Up Days celebration this July. An exciting three days of activities are lined up for July 11, 12, and 13. Stetle Silver Light Horse President, Jim Brownson, was also present, and said that the Light Horse has two full

AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES

Harvest more of what
grow.

At the heart of the Axial-Flow Combine from IH is a threshing/separating system so simple, you'll wonder why it hadn't been thought of years ago. Straw walkers have been eliminated. Grain yield has been increased. Harvesting time is faster. Grain damage and mechanical problems have been reduced. Only two sets of concaves are needed for all crops, and they take one man only about 20 minutes to change. The Axial-Flow Combine is certain to revolutionize harvesting, yet it is carefully based on 14 years of development and testing to insure that it's top-of-the-line in all respects. The Axial-Flow is easier to service and requires less maintenance. The 54 inch wide control centre is designed for greater operator efficiency — with climate control, good downflow and grain tank visibility, and upholstered air very adjustable seat and steering post that tilt forward and back to five positions. Control consoles are conveniently located. And there are fewer levers, more switches and knobs. Choose from three Axial-Flow models and mount them with an IH corn head, grain head or windrow pick-up. *Compared to conventional combines under identical ground speeds and crop conditions.

How the west is being won.

Across the prairie, farmers agree — to handle the weeds and magnitude of soil-cultivating chores, the most important tool is a heavy-duty performance. That's why the 55" VIBRA CHISEL is the most important tool in the parts department. It can be matched to your tractor power, soils, terrain, climate, crops and more.

55 CHISEL PLOWS Working 6 to 12 inches deep, 55 Chisel Plows hit subsoils and roots, shape your soil into tumbled ridges that absorb water and resist soil erosion. The mechanical grading and tilling using heavy massed 5 1/2 inch by 12 inch angled tines that have been chugging with tugs.

55 VIBRA CHISELS For your chugging summer fallow work, suitable for 1000 to 1500 horsepower tractors, the 55" Vibra Chisel is a good job.

45 VIBRA SHANK CULTIVATORS Vertical rotating shank action and exceptional shank resistance to soil burial. 45" Vibra Shanks Cultivators are the standard for performance. Mounted, trailing or trailing wing type — all models have 2-inch tines of heavy 2 1/2 inch square ended steel. Wypout declares war on wild oats

You've been weeding the war with wild oats for years. But it will take a powerful force to make a dent in the enemy's armor. Last year Universal Chemical committed Wypout to the fight and in 1980 brings up the heavy reinforcements—Wypout 250—a hard-hitting, double strength formula which is going to make its presence felt very quickly.

Wypout and Wypout 250 are among the most economical post-emergence wild oat treatments available in Canada.

They provide growers with effective control before there is a chance of yield loss.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

Dianne and Jerry Lohs

WHEREVER A TRAILING PAIR OF CONVERSATIONISTS, like the Holy Grail, is becoming a lost art form. As far as I'm concerned it can stay lost because it's breeding a generation of phibers, twisters, stretchers, and biters. These are the unfortunate that have brought the gift of gab to its knees.

There is something about seeing a finger impaling an ear or one that takes away all interest from a conversation, especially when it is brought out for public examination. According to some body language, the picking of one's nose indicates one of two things: 1) The picker is bored by the topic of conversation and finds the interest of his nose more interesting, or 2) He is taking his brain through times out of ten the first reason is the most likely. Now and our phibers must beware for they are delving into a dangerous mine. Just think of the danger that could occur if some villainous bystander accidentally bumped them. Massive injury may result.

How many people enjoy listening to a person who punctuates every other word by scratching his body? The scratching usually begins with a soft rub, as the conversation grows so does the intensity of scratching. From a hard massage it evolves into a vicious game of "kill the Lohs" as the scratcher rakes his body as if terminally infested with ticks. This dreadful mutilation has been thought of as a psychological vent where nervous people can let their anxiety out by giving their hands something to do. Then, on the other hand, the poor person may just have lost his. So don't take chances.

Anxiety is the key word to many subconscious oriented habits that are displayed during a conversation. The hands of a person who displays such habits are dangerous to his own body. For example, have you ever noticed a person who twists his hair while he talks to you? The twisting begins slowly and progresses to a ruthlessly tight, painful twist. As the lock of hair in question reaches to little more than a strand of brittle steel it will either pull out or break off. After victimizing one lock to the fullest, the twister hunts out another for further experimentation. The scalp soon takes on the appearance that could only be attributed to heavy drug therapy or massive radiation.

Another phibic aberration

M.L.A. Report

The Spring Session of our Legislature is now in full swing. One of the major announcements this past week by the Minister of Agriculture, was to plan to assist new farmers.

A modified beginning farmer loan program will be instituted by the Alberta government. On April 1, 1989, the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation (ADC) will withdraw the last report lending provision for the beginning farmer loan program. Until now, if a younger farmer's family were known to be well established, then it would have been deemed that the family should assist him.

The main criteria of the new program are: once-in-lifetime loan to establish a working farm package maximum loan of $500,000 and an upper limit of $100,000 plus assets. A preferred interest rate of 12% for the term of the loan, with a 6% earned interest rate for the first five years, adequate experience and repayment ability on the part of the applicant.

Funding will be sourced from the Alberta Investment Development Division of the Alberta Heritage Savings and Trust Fund. This program will provide upward of $75 million in lower interest loans to young farmers.

More information and complete details can be obtained from your local District Agricultural Office.

Direct financing will be available to the established farmer at 9% for 5 years.

M.L.A. Report

The 1980-81 Budget was brought down on April 2. The main thrusts were on upgraded and expanded hospital facilities, housing loans of over half a billion dollars from the Heritage Savings Trust Fund money to finance significant expansion of the Alberta Family Home Purchase Programme and the Core Housing Incentive Programme, including enriched sub-subsidies.

Highways and road rehabilitation will get a boost by almost 25% to $336 million. Health care, education, social services and recreation with emphasis on services for senior citizens, children, the handicapped, and those with special needs.

Over the next few weeks we will be going over the budget in detail. The entire budget document would be nearly three inches thick.

A report on a survey conducted by the provincial government on the use of pesticides in the Alberta farming community was released last fall by Alberta Environment. Written by Alison Kuzyk of the Pollution Control Division, the report of producer use of, training for, and problems with pesticides, should be of particular interest to all agricultural producers who make use of pesticides. It is also going to be of considerable help to government in determining the need for regulations concerning labeling, training for and disposal of pesticides.

Conducted during the summer of 1979, the project surveyed 383 farms in all areas of the province. This represents .5% of the approximately 66,000 farms in Alberta and should be a statistically valid sample.

The survey is very comprehensive in covering a diverse selection of issues. Ranging from questions on the kind of producers using pesticides, to associated health problems, to safety, disposal and labeling concerns, the report covers all areas.

In order to provide information on pesticide difficulties, the report focused on surveyed had problems; crop or shelterbelt damage, 38% had problems; chemical residues, 21%; ruptured cans and chemical spills, 10%; health problems associated with the handling of pesticides, 5%.

The survey results also indicated, however, that the difficulties encountered were more a function of poor training or incorrect application than a problem with the pesticides themselves. It was found, too, that if storage of unused pesticide was easier or unnecessary, if disposal was easier, and if equipment and handling was also easier, producers would have less difficulty with pesticides.

The author of the report recommended that: all chemical container labels clearly state procedures for disposal; more approved burial sites be established; pesticide containers be refundable; all chemical retailers, especially in smaller communities, stock good protective equipment; producers be encouraged to buy chemicals only as needed if they have problems storing them.

The report is now being clearly reviewed by the Caucus Committee on Agriculture, and by the Department of the Environment. Further study or action will begin soon, but I certainly feel the results of this study should be of considerable interest to all Alberta farmers.

I will be in Edmonton for the next few weeks while the House is sitting and please feel free to call me collect at 427-1836. Also, I now have a constituency office in Vermillion, which is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. from Monday to Friday. Ellen Ranger is in charge there and the phone number is 883-4203.

Knox United Church to have special guest Come one, come all, to Knox United Church, Killam 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 16, when the Rev. Michael Chandon and family from Grenada, in the West Indies, will be our guests at a very special evening event.

This will be an exciting evening when we will be given a first-hand picture of the church in Alberta, and of our own life-style as seen through the eyes of an informed Christian observer from a part of the world vastly different from our own.

Mr. Chandon, who has been a minister in the Presbyterian Church in St. George's, Grenada, for 14 years, is part of an exchange program (Mutuality in Mission) which has placed him in the pulpit of Knox United Church, Edmonton.

Following Mr. Chandon's presentation, lunch will be served.

Killam Public School

Hoppy hop, hoppy hop! The Easter hat parade on March 30 at Killam Public School was quite a thrilling experience.

Everyone had a hat on, some wore hats and some wore little. Everyone went into the gym and had the hat contest. There were three awards: the most original hat, the funniest hat, the fanciest hat.

Everyone who wore a hat got a chocolate Easter egg from the Easter Bunny. Junior high also wore hats and got $3 for a prize.

Last week, junior high also had a dance and basketball game. Reporter: Anna Christensen

T.O.P.S. four years old

It was four years on February 28 since T.O.P.S. AB #2234, Sedgewick was organized. We have two club members and one member who has never missed a weigh in. These past four years have been very rewarding for the chapter.

Divisional winners were presented with certificates for weight losses for 1979. Leader Joyce congratulated those F. Marjorie S. and Myrtle E. for their well merited efforts.

Turks of the Year awards were presented to Minnie and Eleanor who tied by Co-Leader Mary Ann. They are truly outstanding examples of K.O.P.S. Joyce also presented a three year award to Minnie for her 1979 to Leader Joyce for her many contributions towards the work of our Chapter.

The highlight of the evening was the Graduation and Crowning of our Chapter Queen for 1979. Joyce presented Queen Verma G. with certificate and a red rose. Verma will be representing the Chapter at P.R.D. Leithbridge. Congratulations.

Installation of officers was conducted by Gail who COUNTRY LOVERS Planning to build in the country? Plan well ahead for phone service.

As soon as you start to excavate or build the foundation for your summer cottage, acreage home, farm or rural business — phone AGT.

All rural telephone lines are underground, so we need to make sure that cable is in place — ready to connect your service. That's why we need to know your phone needs at this early stage of development.

When you call, please tell us the legal land description, lot and block number of your property. Phone your local AGT Business Office, for answers to any other questions you may have about rural telephone service.

Killam C.W.L. News

The March general meeting was held March 13 at 8:00 p.m. Ten members and Father Fuen were present.

Business

- 1) We will serve at the Provincial Writers Workshop.

- 2) Banquet May 24.
- 3) Eleven ladies from our parish attended Women's World Day of Prayer held at the Baptist Church.
- 4) We will not put out hot soup for the "Christopher Graduation" March 17.

Business arising from our annual meeting: Resignations were received from Edna Eubank and Helen Nikiforuk. Carol Stang volunteered to help with the slower committee.

Ways to increase attendance at our meetings were discussed. Some suggestions are: we bring C.W.L. member with us to each meeting; we have a program after each meeting; we have an annual spiritual service.

The next meeting will be April 10 at 8:00 p.m. in the church meeting lounge.

MAKE HISTORY COME ALIVE

This past summer I walked where history was made, stood where pioneers had cowered and saw what men had died. I felt that history was a living thing.

We were visiting the historic battle grounds of the Red River. We climbed the winding paths that led to the top of Frenchman's Butte. It's over 30 years since Big Bear's Indians dug the pits so the officers could hide from the attackers. The prisoners, women and children huddled in holes dug with sticks and buns, hoping to escape the bullets that screamed around them. The pits are still there.

When we got to the top of Frenchman's Butte we could look across to the other side of the ravine to where the pursuing troops of General Stoughton and General Stoughton had set up the cannons to shoot at the entrenched enemy.

We crossed Steele Narrows on a paved bridge but it was here, then a swampy ford, that the Indians swam their horses and the women, children and prisoners threw themselves into the water in their desperate flight from the troops and the bullets whistling overhead.

We climbed the hill, step after step, along the path we reached the top where the three plaques are set to tell the story of what happened there long ago. We crossed the railway and stood by the Indians' grave and read the names inscribed. We felt history. It was no longer a dry account in a history book but a living vibrating experience.

How can we make all our private history come alive on our 70th birthday? Read some of the very old books, you will say. But I will answer, There are few who will read them. How can we read them? How can we pass on our history to others besides the learned ones? I think we must do more to promote travel these places so people can see where these events took place. We need good, well

There are some things we older ones can do. Our province has many excellent resources. We can take our children and our grandchildren and let them see firsthand the tools and artifacts of the past. We can explain how and for what they were used so they in turn can pass the knowledge to their children. This is the way history was passed down through the ages and it's still a good way. Help us keep history a living thing and not just a story in a book.

Attends Iowa horse show

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davidson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Montgomery of Hardisty, Alberta to the Waverly Mid-West Horse Sale at Waverly, Iowa. This is the annual spring horse sale with an attendance of approximately 4,000 people.

Over 600 draft horses and mules were entered. There was also a large and varied assortment of huggies, colts, carriages, wagons and a wide variety of horse drawn machinery. Also a large building of good blonde yearling fillies came to Alberta. There is a large Amish community in the area and these people use horses for farming. Some people also attended a farm auction a few miles from Waverly held before the horse sale and were amazed at the number of horses and buggy outfits that were there.

Three hundred light horses were sold on the fourth day of the sale. The highlight of the sale was the milking of a young registered Belgian named for $15,000. The high selling stallion, a two year old registered Belgian, and a team of good blonde yearling fillies came to Alberta.

federal support program was preferable to a variety of provincial programs, but pointed out that regardless of how strongly policy positions in the regard are held, they are of little comfort to producers, especially those facing bankruptcy.

Unless positive steps were taken to put federal programs in place immediately, provincial assistance must be provided, Unifarm said.

To continue to mouth policies that are wholly academic in view of the circumstances must be regarded as dereliction of duty to hog, duty to hog producers of the province, Falkenberg stated.

Golf Tips

Golf Clubs
Golf clubs range in price from less than $100, for a set to more than $1,000. Usually the expense of clubs grows with the experience and wallet size of the golfer. It can be sensible for the beginner golfer to have an expensive set when all he will have to buy specially sized clubs.

Club length is important but can be adjusted by choosing up on the club according to height. Only the extremely tall or short will have to buy specially sized clubs.

More important than the club length is the club

85% Gas To Liquid
The Gas Liquefying Converter is a new method of converting ammonia to a liquid and applying it to the soil at a very low pressure. The ammonia enters the top of the converter and is expanded. As it expands it freezes, separating the liquid ammonia from the vapor and reducing the pressure. Two tubes from the converter - one for the liquid and one for the vapor - deliver the ammonia to the soil. This low-pressure allows for shallow application, reducing horse power and leaves more ammonia in the soil closer to the root zone.

Volume 71, No. 15

Collision course seems evident

Relations between Alberta and the new federal Liberal government are off on a predictably shaky footing after announcements from Ottawa the provincial Conservative government believes are prejudicial to the province's interests.

Federal Transport Minister Jean-Luc Pepin was the first to set the tone for Alberta-Ottawa relations under the fourth Trudeau government when he withdrew the federal government from the promise of its Conservative predecessor to pay $42 million for support services at a closed airport in Edmonton that Ottawa wants to recover some of the costs involved in building the infrastructure to pay for.

Pepin's bad news was followed shortly afterwards by Energy Minister Marc Lalonde's announcement that Ottawa is no longer committed to giving of funds to the world price for its production.

In reacting on the commitment, Lalonde said he was invoking a "zero major" clause in the 1974 Synchro agreement that allowed Ottawa to break of the world price during an international emergency or if world price increases exceeded normal levels of profitability.

Energy Minister Merv Leitch responded angrily to the move, claiming it was unwarranted under the circumstances.

The legislature later unanimously approved a motion proposed by Social Credit MLA Walter Buck condemning Ottawa's action. The Buck motion had the support of all three parties represented in the assembly.

Observers have speculated Ottawa's actions are an attempt to put pressure on the province during the new round of oil price negotiations made necessary by the millification of the last oil price pact when the Conservative government was defeated February 18.

Conservative MLAs say the move, particularly the invocation of the force majeure clause, will not be conducive to a co-operative attitude from Alberta during the price negotiations.

As for Prime Minister, Pepin says he is not out to block the grain terminal development and claims the momentum for the project achieved during the former Conservative government can be maintained.

Many observers are suspicious of the government's move, claiming it is a delay tactic to the detriment of the Liberal government, Otto Lang.

Gives extension

Dave Thiesse

one month off the job," said Thiesse.

John left the site early in April with the $198,700 job about half completed. "Since this time we've been trying to get a replacement," said Thiesse, but have been unsuccessful to this point.

He came to the meeting asking the council to consider one of two possibilities which would solve the crushing problem. Either John finds a reputable company to finish the last half of the work or the county gives the company an extension until December, after the concrete season is over.

The concrete season starts down in November and we would have about one month's work left."

In thinking about the concrete, council put its trust in the company's reputation by giving it the extension. Although there is enough gravel for the summer, if the job did not get completed in December the county would lose $70,000 worth of work.

Until the job is completed the county has about $5,000 in holdback from the declining balance of 10% which is stated in the contract. This money will be in the bank collecting interest for the county until the work is done.

The question was also raised as to the benefits of either signing a new contract or extending the present one. Beers, Alder suggested that if a new contract was signed in the fall for the finishing of the work, the company would be talking in terms of more money.

Beginning farmer loan program offered

The future of agriculture in Alberta relies on the recruitment of young farmers into the agri-business, said Alberta's Minister of Agriculture, Dallas Schmidt in the Legislative Assembly in announcing a new program to assist beginning farmers in Alberta.

To recognize the difficulties confronting a starting farmer, such as rising land values and increased interest rates, a modified beginning farmer loan program will be initiated by this government in April by the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation (ADC), beginning its last record book provision for the beginning farmer loan program.

The new program, funded by the Alberta Investment Division of the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund, is estimated to provide $75 million in low interest loans to farmers.

In addition to the new beginning farmer loan program, alterations have been made to the ADC's direct loan programs.

Program approved

Tom Breen, program organizer from the county organization that the County of Flaxton will have an operating training program for two weeks beginning April 28, at the county meeting in Sedgewick.

They are hired employees under the expectation that after the course they will run the equipment for the summer," said Breen.

The 12 will be graded according to their knowledge in the practical operation of equipment on lectures during the program.

75th Anniversary Salute to a pioneer

Minnesota about the land and the opportunity. It is not too long almost all of the Sorenson family had moved to Alberta.

Sorenson feels that Alberta is one of the finest if not the finest place in the world. He said that he travelled all over the province and there isn't one place he dislikes.

He added that although he has had good and bad crops over the years, Alberta allowed a man opportunities that he just couldn't get in the United States at the time. "The best move I have ever made was to come to Alberta," Sorenson said.

One of the changes from early Alberta to its 75th birthday, is the weather he feels. "The climate is a little bit different," said Sorenson. "It's not as severe as it used to be." He recalls a day in the late 1910s when it was at one point -40 °F.

He said that he stayed in the Killam area because he likes the town and the friends he has made there. "There's a lot of good people here," he said, "and a lot of good organizations."

Andrew was married in 1919 to his present wife, Marie. Together they started the Pentecostal Church in Killam in 1923. They began by organizing a group of Pentecostals which met each week until it became necessary for a church to be built.

Other town activities included an active baseball life for Sorenson. "I pitched for Killam for five years beginning in 1907 but found myself too busy on the farm in later years to continue playing."

Among other achievements, he spent 21 years from 1946 to 1967, as a county councillor.

Homeowners like Andrew Sorenson who saw an opportunity and took a chance on Alberta farming have had a hand in building the province up to great heights in a mere 70 years.

"I like Canada." After he got here, he told his family in Andrew Sorenson, 92, was born and raised on a farm in Minnesota previous to moving to the Killam area in 1908 where he worked on bridges for two years before buying the homestead he still lives on. He got his first job in Alberta working as a riveter on the Battle River train bridge near Hardisty. He spent two years working on the bridge before buying his homestead of 340 acres. He later expanded on this, building his farm up to a size of 2 1/2 sections. "I've never been sorry I came here," said Sorenson.

Rat control meeting

Rat control personnel from Alberta and Saskatchewan met in Leduc on Monday, March 10 to 20, to co-ordinate and strengthen the united efforts of the two provinces to control rats.

More than 85 people, including past control officers and extension personnel, attended the meeting, 44 from Saskatchewan and 21 from Alberta. Representatives from all six western provinces.

CHD Barrett, supervisor of animal pest control with Alberta Agriculture, says it's evident there is keen interest on both sides of the border in getting the rat problem under control.

He observed that Saskatchewan is making gains in organizing regional programs for control of rats, while Alberta continues to fight to remain rat free. Most rat infestations in Alberta are the result of a 1970-80 fiscal year occurred along the eastern border and were brought largely under control. Mr. Barrett reported 10 infestations still active out of a total of 107 infestations during the year.

Speakers at the meeting discussed rat control techniques, programs and problems that are being encountered and other related topics. Dr. R. S. Sandler of Simon Fraser University in British Columbia reported on warfarin resistance in rats, a subject on which he has extensive working. Barrett notes that the past control officer's job is increasingly a thankless one, but it's only through his efforts and the support of the general public that the rat control program will continue to be successful.

A joint meeting of rat control personnel is held every second year. It is a welcome opportunity to exchange information and provide encouragement for past control officers on both sides of the border.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

Oh little seed within my womb,
Into my child you soon will bloom.
What right have I to hand to thee
This word of hate and misery?
I see a world where no one cares
And no one seems to hear my prayer;
A world where all seems far from right
And hearts of men are filled with spite.
Oh little seed within my womb,
Am I giving you sabbat and a tomb?
What can a little child do
To change this world I hand to you?
But then I look and really see
What beauty this world holds for thee:
The twinkling of a starry sky,
The music of a bird's cry,
The laughter of a child at play,
The setting sun at end of day,
How could I take from you the chance
To grow and sing and love and dance?
How could I take your life away
Before you've seen the break of day?
So when I view the world this day
To the Lord I kneel and pray
And thank Him with my humble prayer
Oh child to come, that you are there

KILLAM PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The other side of the picture was shown to Killam parent-teacher group at the March meeting when Mrs. Carol McDermott showed a slide presentation of the loneliness and frustrations experienced by a young mother trying to raise her infant child alone after the friends had left to "do their own thing." The young mother felt helpless in her efforts to cope. Being alone was the only one to answer the child's call twenty-four hours of the day until due to her frustrations in coping alone, she released her pent up emotions on the baby, striking the child and maybe leaving the child in its crib while she felt she had to get out, meet her friends up town. The young mother became an abusive parent. The presentation presented the suggestion that maybe the mother should have allowed the baby to be held adopted by a couple who would have been able to give the child a more secure home. Also, by allowing the slides to be shown to the students, Mrs. McDermott hopes it will help to prevent a couple who would have been able to give the child a more secure home. Marsh World

WHITE-WINGED SCOTER (Maremma leglandi) - A large, heavy bodied deep-water duck, distinguished from other scoters by the white wing patches. Adult males are black; females and young, sooty-brown. Their food, obtained by diving, and from inland marshes, consists of crayfish and other crustaceans, aquatic insects and pondweeds. On coastal marshes and offshore, they consume quantities of blue mussels, clams, and small crabs. Nests are located on dry land, usually close to water and in a clump of thick grass or at the base of a shrub. Nests may also be built in crevices in rocks along a lakeshore.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, also the treasurer's report given.

A letter from the Days-head Lions Club, explaining about the Blood Cholesterol Auto Analyzer was read. This was tabled till our next meeting for further discussion. A pamphlet on "The Leptomy Mission in Action" was passed around to be read. As there is a real need for help, it was decided that a donation be sent at our next meeting.

A letter had been written asking for information to have Mrs. Stewart's name put in the "Book of Remembrance" but so far there has been no reply. Plans were made for members to attend the Regional Deafy meeting in Sedgwick.

We were sorry to hear our minister, Rev. Conrad, was in hospital. Cards were to be sent to Rev. Conrad and Ed Collins and we wish them both a speedy recovery.

As there was no further business, a meeting closed with prayer.

Merna 4-H awards night

Now that spring has come the club has been busy. The date took the pleasant boys ice fishing. It was lots of fun, then on Sunday 15th the members of beef had a judging class at Norman Wegman's. Mr. Maud of Alis was very helpful in showing us how to judge bulls and heifers; members from Killam Club and Hastings Coulee were invited. Thanks to Wegman's for a lovely winter treat.

Merna 4-H Maud had their Awards Night, for the 1979 beef projects on April 2, 1980.

Last year's members plus this year's, family and donors were invited to come to the Seventh Day Adventist Hall, where it was held.

Plates and cutlery were clanging at 6:30 p.m. when everyone dug into a scrumptious pot luck supper. The awards followed the meal. Every one of last year's members received an award, a plaque, for their participation; but some got additional credit for their achievements. The donors and their donors are: George Leale donated the award for Grand Champ

Sizer to Judy Garroth. Tom Leale a trophy to Lee Wegman for First Senior Showmanship and first in Junior Showmanship donated by Mr. Merna. Anna Christensen was first for Junior Grooming, donated by Robert Barth. Ben Buchholz rate of gain by Eric Christensen and Mr. Ely to Ben for Grooming Senior Second. Norman Wegman donated to Lyle Buchholz for second Junior Grooming. second Junior Showmanship. Jane Christensen received the Alvin Buchholz Memorial Obedience Award. After the presentations a film presentation was held entitled Huckleberry Finn. After the film, an active game of basketball was underway.

A big thanks to the Seventh Day Adventists for the use of their hall and to the trophy donors and to the mothers who prepared the superb supper. You all made the evening a successful and enjoyable one.

Cuthbert wins at Ag-Expo

Lloyd Cuthbert of Huxford captured third place in class 34, Pedigree Flax at Ag-Expo held fair in Lethbridge in March.

There were eight entrants in class 34 which allowed machine clean samples.

Cuthbert had participated in the fair once before when he finished first with a reward sample.

The local farmer was awarded a $10 cheque and an Ag-Expo ribbon for his recent sample.

Hardisty Auxilliary meets

It was an evening to celebrate, and an with food, nice surroundings and good company, the members of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary had the ingredients for a pleasant evening, when they gathered for their annual supper meeting at Sen's on Tuesday, April 5. Special guests for the occasion were Mr. George Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Will West, Dr. Keith and Joyce and Doug Harrison. After dinner Mr. Matthews spoke briefly on the situation regarding our new hospital. Mr. Matthews and Mr. West will attend a meeting in Edmonton, the first part of May, at which time, plans for the new facility will be unveiled. Construction is to begin to be completed by freeze-up. Actual placement of the new hospital has not been decided, and anyone with construction ideas on this matter might like to contact Mr. Matthews or any member of Town Council. What a lovely way for our Auxiliary to begin a new season, with the knowledge that a new hospital for Hardisty is finally a reality. Following Mr. Matthews' remarks the members adjourned to the Drop-In Centre for the Annual Meeting.

The officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Erna Matthews; vice president, Jeanette Cross; secretary, Doreen Cahill; treasurer, Charlotte Gouk; press, Rose Marie Thompson; volunteer service, Phyllis Manning and recorder, Marlene Smith.

President Erna Matthews reported two donations since last meeting, one for $17, from the Knights of Columbus and then the most generous private donation received by us, in the sum of $1,000, from Birgit Nelson of Assiniboia. This will be used for some special projects in the new hospital. The generosity of this fine lady literally overwhelmed us, and we are most appreciative of this fine gesture.

Volunteer service chair, Phyllis Manning reported receiving several new items for the showcase. These were one doll from Gertrude Terry, two dolls from Barb Matthews and the unbelievable amount of 15 dolls from Ida Orr. Brenda Lukens donated seven pairs of slippers. We cannot count these ladies too highly for the wonderful volunteer work done. All reports were given. It was decided to raise some money for the new hospital as a true savings account. A new table has been purchased for the library for the use of the kindergarten room.

A motion was made to order these done silver spoons with the 75th anniversary crest. Information was given on the S.T.E.P. There is a possibility of getting students to work for the summer. Projects which require extra help are the cemetery, the library and the museum.

The kids for the cancer and Red Cross campaigns were given to volunteer workers. Residents of Lougheed and district may expect to be called on during the month of April. The committee will meet to plan the dinner to be served at the conference on May 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Granger, owners of Hardisty Farm Equipment, relocated and opened their new building just outside of Hardisty last Friday.

The move was made to accommodate a large display area and to provide ample space for the ever growing business.

The new facility contains a spacious parts room, repair area and machine assembly space.

Lougheed Women's Institute meets

The regular meeting of the Lougheed Women's Institute was held on April 8 at the Welcome Club. There were 11 members present. The president, Mrs. J. Johnson welcomed the members and opened the meeting by repeating the creed. Mrs. Gordon Coates acted as secretary because of the absence of Mrs. Edna Wells.

by handing in articles for the handcraft display, also old jewelry for the Winifred Stewart School. Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Johnson and Mrs. G. Marlow. The business was won by Mrs. Darrell McClements.

Hardisty book club

A meeting of the Hardisty Book Committee was held on March 31, when Mr. Al Granger of Friesen printers attended. Some 16 stories were reported ready for printers with, another 10 ready for typing. Every story must be first read and edited by three different people, then typed, then proof read by three other persons, thus making reasonably sure of no mistakes. The stories so far have been marvellous. Do get yours in as soon as possible, as, as before mentioned, if you can help with the reading or typing give your name to Vivian Robinson, Mary Goodrich or Barbe Matthews. If you want help in compiling your story, the same persons will see that you have it.

NH³ GAS - LIQUEFYING CONVERTER

CHANGES GAS TO LIQUID - LESS BLOW AWAY - LESS DEPTH REDUCES LOSS - SEALS EASIER - LESS POWER REQUIRED

NEW - NON FREEZE TIP
(Prevents shank and shovel freezing)

85% Gas To Liquid

The Gas Liquefying Converter is a new method of converting ammonia to a liquid and applying it to the soil at a very low pressure. The ammonia enters the top of the converter and is expanded. As it expands it freezes, separating the liquid ammonia from the vapor and reducing the pressure. Two tubes from the converter - one for the liquid and one for the vapor - deliver the ammonia to the soil. This low-pressure allows for shallow application, reducing horsepower and leaves more ammonia in the soil closer to the root zone.

Anglican Church News

Will this year's procession of thoughts and deeds ever end? Your reporter and her children are once again making around the house, blowing noses and sipping hot lemon. And it still seems to injury, I've broken a tooth and I couldn't even taste what I was chewing at the time. But spring will come...

Mrs. Dorothy Feltz and Mrs. Elaine Keith attend the recent Girl Guides seminar in Camrose. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Ward of Rochester have been visiting recently with the Rev. John Feltz family of Kilham.

Rev. Richard Conrad spent the past week as a patient in Edmonston. We understand that one of the reasons for his hospitalization was to give him a much needed rest. But judging from the vigour of his Sunday sermon and his host that he had received no less than 37 visitors during his stay, I wonder how much time he really found for resting.

Mrs. Nettie Johnston of Hardisty is now home from hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Culbert spent Easter with daughter Shirley and family in Vermilion. Mrs. Thelma Tanton, along with daughter Mary and family of Camrose, Saskatchewan, is paying a visit to Arizona.

The Corns and Mr. Ted Lister spent Easter in Edmonston with the children and their families. All Anglican ladies please remember the Regional Annual Meeting of the A.C.W. on Wednesday, April 23, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at St. John's Anglican Church in Sedgewick. We look forward to seeing you there.

A nice little crowd of relatives converged upon the Donald Cookson home for Easter Sunday dinner. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Somers of Sylvia Lake, Mr. and Mrs. David Eddy and Mark of Edmonston, Mr.

and Mrs. Orin Markwart and Doug, Mrs. Elsie Cookson and Mr. and Mrs. Greg Martin and family of Sedgewick, and Mr. Wilbur Smith, Mr. Allan Cookson and the Bob Roselbach family of Loughheed. Highlights of the day included Grandma's scrumptious homemade Easter chocolate and a snapshot of Granddad (Don himself circa 1980) happily sucking his thumb.

Our sympathy is extended to the Adamson family on the passing of Mrs. A.V. Adamson of Sedgewick at the age of 97 years.

The Greg Martin family of Sedgewick spent spring break visiting with relatives and friends at Penhold and in Edmonston. Margaret insisted upon returning home on Saturday, in order that the Easter bunny would be able to find her. We are happy to report that the good bunny arrived on schedule.

Sedgewick Chamber

Twenty four members attended the regular dinner meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce held in the Anglican Hall April 16. A vote of thanks was extended the Anglican Women for the delicious dinner they were able to find her. We are happy to report that the good bunny arrived on schedule.

Business from the minutes included the management of the Community Hall which will continue to be handled by the Kilham. A book recording the history of Sedgewick and District has been approved by the 75th Anniversary Committee and funding provided. The committees which have been working on the numbering of the Avenue reported that the cost of the project would be about $800.00 and would include a map sign at the entrance to the new subdivision. It was decided that a volunteer committee be initiated at the time of installation. The membership committee reported about 60 percent finished. The second stage of the new development is now underway and Mayor Koehn stated that only one lot is left to be sold in the first phase.

Letters of appreciation were received from Mr. Jewell and students attending the Forum for Young Albertans. Request for funds was received from Central High Graduation Society and it was agreed to send a donation to them.

Candidates for the Farm Family Award are to be named and a committee for this was appointed. Our membership in the Alberta Chamber of Commerce was voted to be renewed.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter to the County with regard to the second emergency access road that the Chamber proposed last year.

It was agreed that a clean-up will be advertised and that residents be asked to clean up their own and adjacent property so as to improve the appearance of our town, and that extra trash pick-up be made during that time.

Local artists receive recognition

Two local artists had paintings chosen in a regional show which was judged by a jury recently. Isabel Hoyland of Kilham and Lois Forster of Sedgewick were among artists represented in the Alberta Community Art Club Association show in Wetaskiwin.

This is the third time the A.C.A.A. show has been held in our town which includes groups from Wainwright to Banff. Last year in this show Shirley Young of Kilham received a purchase award.

About 60 paintings were selected from 180 entries to go on to Red Deer. There they will be judged by a jury for the first ever province wide A.C.A.A. show.

One of Lois Forster's paintings was among the chosen to travel the province. They will go to Edmonton and form a travelling exhibit.

It is good to hear that our local artists are active and doing so well in local parades.

The DA's office is also contemplating getting a bus to be entered in local parades.

Celebrations for Flagstaff DA office

Sedgewick will host a tribute to the County of Flagstaff for having the first district agriculturalists' office in Alberta, 60 years ago, and has planned celebrations for July 11.

All DA offices will be given plaques for their contribution in Alberta during this, the province's 75th anniversary.

Flagstaff though, will be given a special plaque becoming the first office.

Thus far plans are that Agriculture Minister Dallas Schmidt will be unveiling the plaque at the celebration.

It has also been proposed that dignitaries of agriculture from past years will be present at the event. The public will be able to talk with all of the honouree guests during the afternoon.

An invitational banquet has been proposed for later in the day with a dance following.

The DA's office is also contemplating getting a bus to be entered in local parades.

Larry Pempeit, (right), Executive Director of the Handicapped Communications Society presents an award plaque to Monte Keith (left) and Rick Truss (center), co-owners of The Community Press.

The award is in recognition of their services to the Spokesman, a newspaper for the handicapped. The two gave the paper one free year of printing. Representing the county at the presentation were Dale Erickson, Jim Crawford and Orville Lixness. Representing the Town of Sedgewick was Mayor Ernie Koehn.

Landfill outlined

The County of Flagstaff has been looking for a site for a landfill for about two years but now has passed much of the organizational matters and has much of the plan worked out.

In December of last year, the county was given permission to occupy and acquire land N.E. of Sedgewick for use as a sanitary landfill. The lease on the land was granted by Alberta Energy and Natural Resources.

The County consists presently of 9,781 people, ranging from its largest town, Kilham, 940, to the smallest, Heister, 215. In the County, 147,500 pounds of garbage is collected per week, according to Bisset and Associates who undertook solid waste planning studies for Alberta Environment.

Smaller bins will be set within the towns where necessary for use by businesses which would have otherwise burned their garbage in barrels. These units are 22 cubic feet bins, which will be picked up by landfill sanitation trucks for disposal within the front and loader unit and later taken to the site.

community in the county that choose not to use landfill facilities is a priority but provisions have been made so that they may enter at a later date.

The system that will be used when the landfill site is in operation will be much as the present but without the bar of the present dumping grounds. Towns will use the present system of picking up the garbage but instead of taking it to the dump, the garbage will be deposited in 60 cubic yard containers.

The landfill site will provide operators to then pick up these bins with specially made trucks provided by Alberta Environment. The landfill trucks will take the bins to the site for proper disposal.

Regulations will be in operation will be much as the present but without the bar of the present dumping grounds. Towns will use the present system of picking up the garbage but instead of taking it to the dump, the garbage will be deposited in 60 cubic yard containers.

Departmental exams

The most fair and accurate way of judging students is through departmental exams, and they may be coming back to Alberta.

Minister's Representative Dr. Gordon Mowat Augusted a public opinion report from August to December of 1979, and came to the conclusion that the public supports greater provincial involvement in setting academic standards and testing student achievement.

The report included a Gallup poll along with briefs and hearings. Polled were 1,064 adults in home interviews which concluded with the following results:

49% of Albertans believe that standards and evaluation of achievement in Alberta schools is unsatisfactory while 42% feel it is satisfactory.

79% of the public believe that the provincial government should establish standards of achievement applying to all schools.

61% of the public believe that the provincial government should take part directly in the measurement of student achievement.

68% of the public thinks that the provincial government should determine that all students who receive a high school diploma have reached minimal levels of achievement.

60% of the public believe that students who want to go for university entrance should be subjected to measures of high school achievement which need not apply to other graduating students.

51% of the public believe that the provincial government through Alberta Education should have strong involvement in setting basic requirements for university entrance and in deciding who meets the requirements while about 35% think universities should determine their own entrance requirements.

This report has given the government all the information it needs to make a decision and will probably make one this summer.

These exams could not only upgrade student achievement, but could be used as a much needed tool in accurately judging teachers.

What Others Say

Who decides?

A $20.000 million per year price tag for international arms trade seems unable to guarantee peace. Like a teenager battling acne, efforts to ensure world peace seem fated to frustration. Ireland, Rhodesia, Iran, Afghanistan. No sooner is one eruption lashed or cosmetically camouflaged than another erupts.

The Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia illustrates once again the fragile and illusive character of peace. Economic, cultural and social boundaries are constantly being transgressed, as the case of the U.S. and Canada aptly demonstrates. But when the action is military, concerns escalate.

And, in the age of push-button destruction, questions of an appropriate response become urgent. When an invaded country consents, or is a threat to another's security or is grossly abusing its citizens - all have been advanced as justification for one nation transgressing the boundaries of another. But the question of who decides, what is consent, or when one country is really being threatened by another or what constitutes gross abuse, always muddles the ethical waters and makes foreign political action hazardous and grey. Nevertheless, countries must respond to the actions of other countries.

Military responses should not be contemplated just to save face or to prove who is the toughest among the international heavyweights. They can only be envisioned as a last-ditch strategy aimed - always ironically - at safeguarding the welfare of the invaded country and its citizens and at promoting world peace and justice. Physical violence is condemned when it is utilized by junkies looking for a fix. It cannot be condoned by nations out to ensure a constant supply of their drugs, whether they be oil, raw resources or political power.

No nation is independent and self-sufficient. There are many strings that can be pulled to urge the Soviet Union to withdraw its military presence and support of the puppet Afghanistan government. They must be pulled before the military are loosed. One of these strings is making the delivery of foodstuffs to the U.S.S.R. conditional upon the withdrawal.

The use of food as a political weapon is always to be regretted. And seldom can it be justified, not even to ensure a continuous supply of oil, coffee, tobacco or cheap labor. But when the prospect of a Third World War casts its mushroom-shaped shadow, the use of food as a weapon may be the lesser of evils. In the long run, it may be more humane, more just, more loving to force Soviet citizens to eat less meat and to endure the dehumanization of deprivation than it is to blast them - and ourselves - out of existence. But even then we cannot be sure it will work.

4-H spring clean up

The rights of way along side Alberta's highways will be beehives of activity Saturday, May 3. That's the day when more than 6,000 members of nearly 500 Alberta 4-H and Junior Forest Warden Clubs are expected to take part in the fourth annual 4-H Spring Roadside Clean-up of 7,000 km of highway right of way. Transportation Minister Harry Kroeger announced today.

Last year club members removed 68,000 bags of litter from provincial highways' rights of way. The 4-H Council of Alberta coordinated the clean up campaign, with Alberta Transportation regional crews providing the bags and trucks for hauling the litter away.

Philosophy for the Birds

The Third Column

BY TRUCATE

"I Write as I Feel" honest labor, more effort or more efficiency. A good example of this was disclosed just recently when the Federal "Watchdog" disclosed that federal civil servants are working at 61% of capacity and efficiency. In other words they are accepting pay under false pretences and gouging the public purse to the extent of millions of dollars annually. So we find that it is true that we could get along with at least 50,000 fewer civil servants and still maintain efficiency. If honesty is prevailing.

THE NEXT THING that disturbs me is the relating to sainthood of some of our workers, simply because they are employed by some government. Because we are presently confronted with a province-wide strike of Nurses, it naturally follows that they enter the discussion. When we raise them to the level of DEDICATED or DEVOTED to their work simply because they work in the field of Life and Death, we make the amateur's assertion that dedication to their work and devotion to the healing of the sick and injured is their only priority. The very fact that they are out on strike gives the lie to that theory, because it also shows that they are just as dedicated and devoted to their paycheck. Where is their dedication to the suffering at this present time?

ALL THIS IS NOT TO SAY that nurses in Alberta should not be paid at a higher level, for I sincerely believe they should. But how high should that level be? A recent release of figures shows that the latest offer by A.H.A. if accepted, would have put Alberta Nurses at the very highest levels in Canada. But because it was not ALL that was demanded, the sick must remain in their beds, the injured must suffer for lack of attention and remaining staff must work more strenuously. All the while the Nurses parade up and down the street carrying signs which say, "I'm not a nurse, I'm a mother." Of course they do. So does everyone else in one way or another. The rest of us have to put groceries on the table too.

THE SECOND THING that strikes me as peculiar to our attitudes about why we want and don't want. We want MORE, but I pose the question: is MORE what we are not receiving ENOUGH. But again we pose the question: what is ENOUGH? If we want to pursue the questions to an ultimate and honest finding, we, in our present, today situation, will be forced to answer that MORE simply means as much more as one possibly be adequate to the situation; and that ENOUGH is never enough if there is a possibility of getting MORE or ENOUGH is going to result in more

The good news from Further Education this week will be of interest to all Adult Educators in the county. A half day seminar on May 9 from 9:30 am to 12:30 pm at Room 150, Caribbi Hall, University of Alberta, 112th St. and 82nd Avenue offers all Adult Educators the opportunity to meet Dr. Teresa MacNeil, a senior member of St. Francis Xavier's Adult Education Department. This novel program will give the Adult Educator a chance to discuss with Dr. MacNeil his own special needs at a consultation, by arrangement, after the seminar.

Details re: seminar are available at my office so give a ring. Throughout the year, the University of Alberta offers many good short seminars which I'm sure someone out there would be interested in, however, I can't begin to advertise all of them. Best you drop in and see what is available. One of our instructors are doing a fantastic job, but perhaps for the own satisfaction they might feel more confident if they could attend and gain more knowledge on good teaching techniques. TILL DEATH DO US PART

After performing a wedding a few weeks ago, I was reminded once again of the importance of the marriage vows that a couple makes to each other and to God. Perhaps because of the excitement of the day, one might not totally grasp what he or she is saying. This then would call for a reminder and maybe even a renewal of the vows... perhaps each year on the anniversary day. This might help correct a serious problem in our society, that problem being divorce. If we take a close look at the downfall of any nation, one of its problems was marriage. When the best and family fall apart, the nation begins to crumble. This I believe is what we are facing today, a breakdown of family life as a result of divorce. Grandma Adamson passes

The surrounding communities were deeply saddened to learn of the passing of Mrs. A.W. Adamson on Thursday, April 5, 1990. Mrs. Adamson was born in Canton, Iowa on September 24, 1892.

In 1905 she married Adamson and after they were farming six years in Iowa, they came to Alberta in 1911, settling on one of the best CPR colony farms 10 miles south of Sedgewick, the present family home, on which she and her family have lived ever since.

Grandma Adamson was a whole lot more than a homemaker. She was a family friend, a friend to all, and she was a very energetic housewife. She was known for her hospitality to young and old alike. She loved her garden and flowers, as well as loved the farm life that went with it.

As the years passed she became known for her accomplishments in the growing orchard fruits of different varieties. There were few gardens in the community that didn't have a plant or shrub growing that was a gift from her.

One of the oldest and one of the most beloved of our citizens, Grandma leaves to our daughter Emily, one daughter-in-law Marjorie, one grandson Danny, his wife Valerie and two great grand-daughters Janelle and Jennifer.

She was predeceased by her husband Arthur in 1968 and one son John in 1979. The funeral service was held at the St. John's Anglican Church, Sedgewick, on April 7, 1990 at 2:30 pm with the Rev. Richard Conn officiating.

Mrs. Kay Roselinge was the organist. Pall bearers were George Anderson, John Baker, Albert Kohrstrom, Harry Simpson, Eddy Swanson and Dick Pallen.

Grandma was laid to rest in the Sedgewick Cemetery. Fee and Sons Funeral Home were in charge of all arrangements.

The Adamson families would like to take this opportunity to extend deepest thanks to all our friends and neighbors who so kindly helped and comforted her and her family during her illness and her passing. A special thanks to all expressions of sympathy, floral tributes, memorials and the thoughtfulness shown. We are grateful to Rev. Richard Conn and Kay Roselinge the organist, the pall bearers and Fee and Sons Funeral Home and the ladies of the A.C.W. who served tea after the service.

Your many acts of kindness and consideration will always be remembered.

Mrs. P. Lackey chose to read an interesting article about the experience of Dr. Robert McClure when he began his mission work in China and later in India, as the program material.

All repeated the Lord's Prayer and correspondence included a letter of thanks from Bessie Centre and requested clothing for babies, children and teenagers, as well as household clothes. Spring used clothing may be collected from May 1 to May 31 when it will be packed.

Hardy's Lake Camp clean-up to be held on May 5. Donations were to be sent to the Camp Committee to assist in purchase of a dresser.

It is marriage seems to be failing apart, it needs the touch of God. Christ must come first in the individual life. He must be Saviour and Lord and then He must be allowed to take first place in the marriage and in the home. We must apply the instructions God has given to us in His Word, stated every day of our life. We can read numerous books, we can receive extensive counselling, but there comes a time when we must respond and then act according to God's plan for our life and our marriage. Marriage can be beautiful if each partner is willing to totally submit themselves first of all to God and then to each other. Try It! You'll like It!

We were pleased to have pastor Don McLaughlin with us and enjoyed his talk on "Death and Dying." He gave five perspectives of how a dying person faces death and also stages of grief for relatives.

A LIST OF INSULTS

The Speech from the Throne was not an act against Alberta. Every citizen in our province should be angry at the implications. It was a socialist address calling for greater centralization of power, five more agencies or crown corporations, greater government participation in enterprise, and much more federal control in energy.

The Speech from the Throne clearly indicates that this government intends to treat Alberta

distastefully different from other provinces. From the Speech we note that the price of oil should not be based on world price, even though the price of all other Canadian products are. The government has stated its intention to pursue a concept of a "blended price" over through such a formula lies within provincial jurisdiction and in spite of the fact that the United States tried blended pricing for a few years and gave it up as a bureaucratic nightmare. The new government is intending a single price for retail gas and oil across Canada even though that is not the policy for automobiles, refrigerators, lumber or any other product. To establish the price for oil, the federal government intends to establish a Petroleum Price Auditing Agency to monitor and regulate expenditures of oil companies - a program to which no other industry is subjected. It all adds up to having a British North America Act to ensure that resources belong to the provinces except in the case of oil, gas and the Province of Alberta. Further, the government intends that the petroleum industry be regulated by Canadian law by 1980. The implications are that the ownership is to be government rather than citizens and we must justify wonder why our multi-national energy brands "en" while Westinghouse, G.M., Ford, Kleenex, and Coca Cola are not but a few central Canadian multi-nationals that can do business as usual. Again, an act that focuses on Alberta.

The Speech from the Throne is but a continuation of events in recent weeks. The unilateral breaking of the 1977 heavy oil pricing arrangement started the list. As a follow-up the new government has indicated their reluctance to pay $42.5 million for upgrading the Sports Coaching School in Provost.

A workshop for teachers of the retarded will also have a Dayland representative.

Mr. and Mrs. Evert Boomhower of Wainwright and Mrs. Florence Sumack of Saskatoon were weekend visitors at Mr. and Mrs. George Coopers.

The Sunbeam Club met at the hall April 16 with 27 members present. There were six tables of whist and three played crib. The high score went to Bertha Olson and to Bally Manning. The next card game will be April 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ekpelier and children spent Easter holidays at Disney World.

Mrs. Elsie Coward is spending awhile with friend at Dayland.

The Dayland Hospital Auxiliary had another successful Film Market in the hall Thursday afternoon April 17. They had the quilt displayed and Anna Boggs sold tickets on the raffie to be made May 28 at our Strawberry Tea.

Next week is Education Week, Thursday, May 1 has been set for a teacher-student exchange day at Central. Students may apply to teach classes which they previously successfully completed. The teachers will assist in planning for the classes and their students will have the opportunity to experience what teaching is all about while teachers will be reminded once again of how the students see things from their side of the desk.

Once again parents are reminded that if they have concerns about their children's progress they should phone the school at 864-2677.

LAWN-BOY

ECONOMIZER 20" MODEL 4530

ONLY $149.00

A true bargain for years.

The "Econo-Mower" is a new low-priced model in the Lawn-Boy line-up. It has a beefed steel deck, sturdy 7" wheels and a 2-position wheel height adjustment. Plus features such as a side discharge chute with a built-in cover, a flexible rear wheel and the proven "Iron Horse" engine. Even an optional side pre-mixer is available.

Well, I have news for this Prime Minister: Crowfoot is in Canada. I do not have to tell the nation or my constituents; they are Canadians. And I don't intend to let them what they do not believe. My job is clear - to represent my constituents in Parliament and they may believe whatever they will. From the collection of beliefs comes Canada, not from a sense of mission. There is a desperate need for the new government to get in touch.

Bells Hill Society

The Bells Hill Society held a meeting in their community centre on Tuesday, April 15 with 24 members present. The secretary gave them a rundown on the winter's activities and also informed them of all the anniversary, reunions, etc. that are to be held there this summer. Looks like a real busy time. In July especially. The local ladies have been asked to enter to the Arnold School Pledge Reunion at Bells Hill July 18-19.

Bells Hill also set the date for their anniversary party which is to be July 19. Final plans are yet to be made, but it is thought to have a picnic, supper, and dance. Highlight will be the official turning on of running water. All interested parties will be hearing more of this in due time. Our thanks to all who have attended the dances and especially the regular wheel drives, as this is what keeps the community alive. Nice knowing you all.

Golf Tips

MODERATION

It isn't necessary to hit the ball with maximum power. Using 60% is quite enough unless extra distance is desired to get across a creek or something similar.

With the exception of par, distance isn't terribly important. For beginning golfers, control is more important.

After a drive, the use of longer irons with less slope

Above is the outline of what the landfill site will look like upon completion. Stage one will be the first worked on, and in the sequence of the trench numbers. Stages one and two have a life-expectancy of 40 years.

The present system was found to be a poor one by Bissell and Associates. The company found during their examinations that seven of the 10 sites have no current regulations, some enforce proper storage practices, all of the County use burning barrels which in long term create major problems, and collectors have extra work due to improper storage receptacles by many residents.

The company also found problems with the present system when they inspected the 10 legal County sites. They found eight were unsightly, six had evidence of recent burning, none had on site supervision and two had dead animals viewed on them. Two other sites were found to be illegal and the company found them to be having refuse dumped indiscriminately.

All of the sites in the County will be shut down in favor of the landfill site which is set on a quarter section of land and will provide service for an expected 87 years.

Silver Saddle 4-H

Wednesday, April 2, the Silver Saddle 4-H Club had its meeting.

The roll call was telling our favorite type of horse and why. Then the secretary read the minutes from the previous meeting. Old business was discussed and finalization of plans for club tour were made.

On April 12, we plan on attending a clinic at Alliance.

April 19 we held our club tour starting at Reg Barrow's and ending at Ken Alder's. At each stop the members there would demonstrate something to do with horses. Afterwards a winner raffle was held. The day was great and so was the tour. Marg Ward

Hockey in Scotland

On Thursday, March 20, Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Miller and Mrs. Art Armstrong left Saskatoon with the group of Lloydminster Novice players for the 1980 Annual Oldtimers International Cup in Scotland.

Points of interest in Scotland were Edinburgh Castle, the Royal Mile which runs from the castle to the Palace of Holyroodhouse, and Calton Hill. The Calton Hill Hotel on Prince's Street was a point of interest for shopping and very close to the castle.

Each time the group went to Kirkcaldy (over 10 miles) long over the Forth Road Bridge, a suspension bridge 2.5 km (over 1.5 miles) long over the Forth of Forth. The group crossed this bridge again in their tour of Kirkcaldy, a famous Scottish castle, lived in since 1272.

Twenty four teams took part in the tournament with the Lloydminster Novice players in the A division. On Sunday they played in the B division, Finlaid at Kirkcaldy and got beat 5-1. The B division scored three goals in the last five minutes.

On Tuesday evening, Lloydminster played F.C. Galloway, Sweden in a very fast exciting game with Sweden winning 3-2. On Tuesday evening the Novice players met Superstars, Finland, winners of the A division in Tokyo last year. At the end of the second period they were 3-2 for the Novice team, but the Superstars beat the Novice team 4-1.

On Sunday, March 23, the group left by bus for England staying overnight at the Europa Lodge Hotel in Dartington, a very pretty spot. Monday's long journey was the longest brought the gang to the Strand Palace Hotel in Westminster. Tuesday they toured Trafalgar Square, Piccadilly Circus and Oxford Street getting caught in the rain. Wednesday part of the group took the bus tour of London to the Tower of London and the Crown was called for highsteeking as it wasn't about the tail Finlaid's shoulder. So it was touring and shopping from then on.

Lougheed questions throne speech promise

Trouble is brewing between Alberta and Ottawa over the federal government's promise to bring more than half the oil industry under Petro-Canada by 1980.

The industry is concerned the Trudeau government might go short on fulfilling its promise of giving Petro-Canada preferential treatment in the oil patch.

Premier Peter Lougheed, while claiming he favors more Canadian control of the oil industry, wants Ottawa to achieve this objective "in a positive, rather than negative manner."

The would mean giving independent Canadian companies tax incentives to expand, but not giving Petro-Canada preferential treatment or buying out existing multi-national subsidiaries in Canada.

Lougheed took this message to the heart of Alberta's oil industry. He stepped to the defense of big oil companies who have developed the industry "with entrepreneurship, risk-taking and technical skill."

But he stopped short of condemning outright Ottawa's plans to bring the petroleum industry under Canadian control, saying he was to see exactly what the federal government has in mind first.

Lougheed's remarks on Petro-Canada, however, are the closest he has ever come to outlining the government's position on the role of the highly prosperous Crown corporation.

In the past, he has always claimed Petro-Canada "is not an issue for us," providing it operates as any other commercial oil company in the market place.

These were exactly the words used by Jack McLeod, chairman of the Canadian Petroleum Association and an executive of Shell Canada Ltd. The foreign-owned oil industry, represented by his association, accuses Petro-Canada of a lack of life but not if it's given privileges not accorded other companies. McLeod said. The oil industry appears to be taking very seriously the federal government's nationalistic notes.

Two days after the Throne Speech outlined Ottawa's half-Canadian ownership objective, Senator Laid, operator of the Great Canadian Oil Sands plant at Fort McMurray, indicated it would be selling 10 to 20 per cent of its shares to Canadian investors.

Senor's parent company, Sun Company of Pennsylvania, holds 98 per cent of its Canadian subsidiary's stock.

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW
By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

A few weeks ago I had a run-in with a skunk. No, I didn't lose my hat. The game was played under my foot. I caught the skunk who the dog came in for consolation. Well, in the end, my trusty shovel, one that I built up through thick and thin since I first started farming more than 20 years ago, helped me provide extra protection to the skunk. It was a clumsy method. Indeed, it was comical, as least as I later recall to the vast majority of the people who are familiar with the skunk's reputation.

However, as I think back, what happened had the potential to be a tragic tale. The fact that the skunk was aggressive (perhaps for good reason) is one indication of a skunk infestation with rabies. Right now we're fighting a rabies outbreak in the southern part of the province. Although it's very unlikely this outbreak affected the skunk in any way, there is always a risk chance that a wild animal could be infected anywhere in the province.

Here are the facts on the outbreak. As of April 10, there were 10 confirmed cases of rabies among skunks found in Alberta in 1986. Eight of these were discovered within a distance of Fort McMurray in the south. In late March, one of two miles south of Medicine Hat and another recently showed up outside the town of Edmonton.

In total, 13 rabid skunks have been found since December 1 of last year. Without a doubt, we have controlled. And it has the potential to spread to the north, possibly early if it should be passed on to the growing hog population or coyotes which have wider roaming movements.

On the other hand, we now have active control measures underway. Where we have found rabid skunks, we have initiated skunk depopulation projects within a five-mile radius of the finds. These three-mile figure corresponds to the normal range of activity of a skunk. Skunks do these efforts turn up any additional cases.

But, that didn't hold true for the outbreak one Fort McMurray. There we turned up more rabid skunk carcasses. So, we have extended the depopulation to a 20-mile radius.

Overall, Alberta has been very meticulous in maintaining an anti-rabies control program. Over the past decade, 1970-79, we have had a total of 220 infected animals. The majority of these were found with reported cases.

Though the incidence of rabies in bats is high, bats seldom attack other mammals. We can only hope to control bat rabies in dangerous situations. For instance, if more than five percent of a bat colony is an abandoned building has rabies, then we will eradicate the colony to prevent any chance of the Christian Men's Club meet

John Bush

Guest speaker, John Bush of Westsaskatoon spoke of forgiveness and the Love family from Carleton Place to entertain the Christian Men's Club during its 60th anniversary celebration Monday evening at the Tasty Mill Restaurant, Kilkam.

Bush presented his well prepared speech in an inspiring manner. His major point asked the question, "Why do we wait so long to ask forgiveness?" He told a story of a girl who had left home because of a fight with her father. Before she left she told him that she hated him. They had not spoken to one another for over a year until she found out that he had suffered a heart attack and was in the hospital. The girl phoned the hospital inquiring about his health and said she would be right over. Her father died before she arrived but left her a note stating how much he loved her.

The point Bush made was that the girl waited too long to ask for forgiveness but still fortunately received it. He said we can all be forgiven if only we would ask. His story related to God in that we should ask Him for the same forgiveness that she asked him.

"Jesus is the cornerstone of forgiveness. He is the High Priest. He is the one who brought a sacrifice. He was the sacrifice," said Bush. He passed through the heavens, time has no limit to Him for He is in the presence of God. He added, "Jesus knows our troubles. He's been here."

God has a companion with forgiveness, said Bush, and Christ can sympathize with our weaknesses. He has felt every anxiety and has seen the whole course—that's why He can have sympathy.

He made a third point about forgiveness by stating that there is a certainty of forgiveness and Jesus was the sacrifice for our sins. Bush added that he feels it is never too late for forgiveness.

Relating back to the earlier story, he said, "Our God has left behind a love note and it reads, 'I love you, I gave my son for you, I want you to come and join me in life eternal.'"

The remainder of the evening was enjoyed through fellowship. The Christian Men's Club is a joint effort between the Baptist, United, Pentecostal, and Presbyterian Churches. Although the club is religious, few religious beliefs are brought up other than its basic principles for common, the common belief in Christ.

The club began in October of 1976, and will continue again in October 1986 after a break. Each week, guest speakers or entertainers are brought to Kilkam for the club meeting.

Reverend Tom McLaughlin explained what he thought about the club in his devotional. "Fellowship through Jesus Christ is the main thing that I have enjoyed during the week."

One very robust comment from back in the 1970s was that the club was run by a number of men. It was a very successful club. It was a very successful club. It was a very successful club.

Letter from Cairo

Enclosed is an excerpt from a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. R. Matthews from their son Frank, of Cairo.

On Palm Sunday weekend we (wife Sheila, daughter Shanna and self) took a bus trip to Mt. Sinai. It is a trip that is hard to describe but was very impressive. First we travelled by boat, including crossing the Suez Canal by ferry for 10 hours or so. We last five or six hours on a desert road that would be condemned in any other country. The scenery was progressively more awe inspiring. The road winds along valleys (wadis) between solid granite mountains without a shred of vegetation. Here and there one sees small oases with one or two families living there. Along the way we stopped at the Convent of the Seven Virgins, a lovely little oasis where 13 Greek Orthodox nuns live. Then on to St. Catherine. There is a total built by the Israelis at the strip, about 30 km from the monastery of St. Catherine, and there we spent two nights.

Early in the morning (8 am) of Palm Sunday, we got up had a light breakfast and then by bus to the Monastery where we started up the mountain at 8:30 am by flashlight. Shanna made it to the top by sunrise, but the old ladies were a little slower! The climb involves about 10 km of walking with a vertical rise of 4000 feet. And what a view from the top! Standing where Moses and Elijah stood, one looks out on an ocean of rock. Rugged granite mountains in all directions and only one higher than Mt. Sinai. We stayed on top for about an hour and then came down the old steep way (4000 steps) to the rocks by the monks years ago) to the monastery. It is very old and very impressive. Inside the high walls is the original Burning Bush, the wall of Jethro, where we had a drink, and a lovely old church filled with treasures, icons, etc.—all Greek Orthodox. In back of the High Altar is the statue of St. Catherine, an early martyr in Egypt under the Romans. Legend is that she was executed in Alexandria and that angels carried her body to Mt. St. Catherine, where the local hermits found it and built a shrine. When Justinian made Christianity the legal religion of Rome (390 AD) he built the Monastery much as it is today.

Sheila remembers England although she hasn't returned since coming to Canada. "It is much more crowded in England," Miss Fernyough said. "The farms in Canada are so much bigger, and it gives a person the opportunity to do outside work." When indoors, though, she enjoys "needle work of all kinds."

"My aunt worked for the Probate for 10 years or so when she quit. I took over her household and chore work at the farm," she said. She said that she likes the Lougheed area because the people are so friendly and she knows everybody. "It's just like home," she said. "There isn't much fighting among the people. It's peaceful."

I have seen a lot of changes in Alberta since I've been here, said Miss Fernyough. Some of them are, she said, the number of officials, the population and the progression in travelling. Another thing, she added, is the weather. "I can grow a lot more now because the garden stay out longer."

Presently she is a member of W.I. and the Senior Citizens' Welfare Club. She works in the library for W.I. and enjoys dining with the Welfare Club. Miss Fernyough she knows everybody. "It's just like home," she said. "There isn't much fighting among the people. It's peaceful."

IN MEMORIAM
ARBUCKLE - In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Colleen, who passed away
April 28, 1975.
No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain.
We have suffered, since we lost you.
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lives.
Sweetly, tender, fond and true.
There is not a day.
That we do not think of you.
We will love you always.
Not just this day, but every day remembered by Bill,
Denny, Leo Anna and David.
37-1c

BAKKEIN - In loving memory of my dear husband and father, Andrew Bakkein who passed away April 21, 1975.
There is someone who misses you daily.
And finds the time long since you went.
There is someone who thinks of you daily.
And tries to be brave and content.
They say time heals all wounds.
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only reminded.
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to carry on.
And courage to bear the loss.
But what it meant to lose you, but, no one but God will know.
Ever remembered and loved by his wife and daughter.

Hardisty and District News

Elise Parkin has just received a letter from Sister Joseph Mary and at the end of January she had been to visit a friend in the Halifax Infirmary. As she got out of the bus she had slipped on ice and fell, breaking her right wrist. However, she wished to attend the big celebrations on April 20. Seven Sisters who are Diamond Jubilarians and seven Sisters who are Golden Jubilarians will celebrate their anniversaries at the Mother House, Sister Joseph Mary belongs to the Golden Jubilarians. She also wished to be remembered to all her friends in the area and said that Sister Andrea (Elizabeth James to us) was keeping well.

Sympathy is extended to the passing away of Mr. Adair, Ruth's father in North Sydney.

While we will miss our friend Ian MacKinnon, we are happy for him too, as his former boss Ed Poshka has asked him to work for him again, in the Drumheller area this time.

June Bow's sister Doreen Whitely of Vancouver was a recent visitor with June.

Also, Eric and Clarence Burwell of Burns Lake, B.C. have been faithful visitors with June as well as her other daughters too.

St. Mary's Ladies will be holding their annual knit-in in early June, so watch for dates and other information.

This year half of the proceeds will go to the Red Cross, the other half to the St. Mary's Ladies. We were thankful that Grassy Martin was moved from the Misericordians to the Allan Gray Auxiliary, where she will have the same duties and other information.

We were very pleased that Mrs. Green was able to attend her husband's funeral at High Mount as Mr. Green was admitted by many for doing so well by his family.

that a great many hours have been spent getting the wood back to its natural state and still lots of work yet but it will be worth it some time.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Tom McElie and Isabel Nelson were guests of Neil Nelson and Blanche McElie for a delicious supper at Seto's.

Correction: a misprint in the Hardisty Hospital story last week should have read, "Construction to begin before the end of June this year with groundbreaking completed by freeze-up."

Many thanks to the staff of the Hardisty Hospital for their help and support.

The April meeting of St. Mark's Womens Guild was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Barb Davis. The hostess had the devotional period. Business consisted mainly of plans for the half-a-ton. Watch for notices on this. Anyone wishing to knit may contact any member of the Guild. Strong Uniform meet

The Strong Uniform held their regular meeting at Bella Hill on April 18 with 18 in attendance. Glen Werner, our local DA gave a very interesting talk on Scientific Mayweed and showed a very informative slide on the same. It seems that this noxious weed is creeping in closer to our area every year, so it is important that we know what to look for and how to deal with it when we do find it. As the old saying goes, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Two representatives from the local R.C.M.P. detachment also gave very interesting and informative talks on "Neighborhood Watch" in the County. It seems it would help to just pay a little more attention to little details when noticing a strange vehicle in the community at an unusual time. So neighbors, just continue being real neighborly.

Education Week

75 YEARS OF KNOWING AND GROWING

Education week 1980 is upon us with the hope that by emphasizing it across the county that you, the parents, students and taxpayers will take note and recognize its importance over the past 75 years.

This is the time of year we hope that you will reflect on what an education has done for you in the past and by doing so urge you to look forward to what it can do for you in the future. I have found that whenever I have had the opportunity to learn something I have, at a future time, been able to use that knowledge.

The Board of Education would like everyone to become more involved whether it be in your child's education, advanced education, further education or how your tax dollar is being spent on education. Your thoughts and ideas are important.

Thank you for this opportunity to encourage everyone to recognize Education Week April 28 to May 2.

[Signature]
Chairman,
Board of Education.

The face of education has changed a great deal over the 75 years since Alberta became a province. Large structures have replaced the one-room schools; parking lots have replaced the lively stables; and complicated heating systems have replaced the pot bellied stoves. But while the appearance of education exhibits these changes, essentially the heart of education still remains the interaction of students and teachers.

This publication, jointly sponsored by the Board of Education and the Local A.T.A., will show some of the directions that educational change has taken. As we enter the 1980's it is hoped that the experience of the last 75 years will make the teaching - learning process even more effective.

Floral Display Made From Things From The Kitchen Cupboards

Students of the grade eight Social class entertained the Senior Citizens of the community. The topic was "Get To Know A Canadian". The students had prepared displays, reports and posters about six important Canadians, namely Norman Bethune, Billy Carr, Frederick Banting, Timothy Eaton, Alexander Graham Bell and Chief Crowfoot. The Kanata Kit, provided by the Province Government, to further Canadian Study, initiated the program.

A study of Canadian Communities was culminated by the grade 4 and 5 class with a "Lunenburg Day", focusing on the fishing and fruit growing industries on the Atlantic coast. Slides were shown of the area and parents were invited to view the pupils' display of work while the Maritimes lunch was prepared by the students.

International Year Of The Child I.Y.C. was observed by all classes. The Junior High gave an interesting presentation, after watching a U.N. film called "Why Should I Care?". The grade nine class presented reports, charts and posters relating to the subject. The topics were all taken from the "Why Should I Care?" magazine that was put out by the Red Cross and Unicef. The morning ended with a lunch that consisted of Alberta Grown Products. The elementary grades began their program by singing "Be My Friend" and "Reach Out". This was followed by a talk, "The Way Of Life In Nigeria", by Mr. Fee of Killam. Lunch consisted of foods which were representative of the countries studied.

The shock of the day came when a bag of food was displayed. It consisted of 5 pounds of apples, cookies and sandwiches which the principal had collected, from the garbage, over a period of 4 days. This is an average of 1.25 pounds of wasted food per day.

SNAP

were produced for the first time in three years in the Industrial Education Laboratory this year. Interest in the new area also "developed" as a result of the new enlarger, washer, and print drier. Many a school scene became freshly "exposed" as the staff "shuttered" at the thought!!

The most POPULAR additions were the new lathes, used for ever/thing from tack hammers to-you guessed it- CEREAL BOWLS!!

However, this is not to say that the new saws were "cut" from their deserved attention, and the welder certainly allowed the "fusion" of theory with practice. The joy of the new grinders and sanders will also take some time to "rub off," and the new drills will never become "boring". Aside from attitude, it's the conclusion of all concerned that this rant, like a new bread dough maker, was badly "kneaded!!"

This SERIAL has been presented by the management and staff of the Forestburg Industrial Education Laboratory.

Hardisty School

Architects at Work

While studying a social studies unit on urban communities the grade 2/3 class at Hardisty built their own city.

Much discussion on the development of cities preceded the construction stage.

The children brought boxes of different sizes, covered them with paper and painted on varying facades. Their teacher drew out the street layout and the children placed on their buildings. Finally a backdrop was painted and park areas and trees, street signs and place names were added.

The whole project was completed in one week and culminated in the selection of a city name. The whole task was a very rewarding experience for the class that the children entered into with a great deal of pleasure, enthusiasm and pride.

Community Involvement in School Program

Hardisty Public Library is taking part in a reading enrichment program in Hardisty School. Each week, Library Board and ex-school staff member, Mrs. Judy Routledge visits the school and makes presentations in varying forms; for example, video cassettes, slide-tape, records, the books themselves and selected readings from them. Themes have ranged from mystery, horses, how a book is made, a profile on illustrators as well as studies of particular authors and their works.

The response from the children has been most enthusiastic and has increased their awareness of suitable leisure reading materials.

The program will be highlighted by a visit to the library for a presentation by Ted Harrison, author of "Children of the Yukon", on May 9th.

Relief Map

One of the Mini B Options offered at Hardisty School this term was the painting of the Relief Map sent to us by the Alberta Heritage Learning Resources. The students were required to locate and paint the oil, gas and tar sands in Alberta. A part of the project was devoted to research for written projects. This proved to be a very worthwhile project for both the students and teacher alike.

County meeting

General Plan
The first draft for the county general plan was announced at the Flagstaff County Council meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, last Thursday.

The first draft sets aside a two mile radius of land around each municipality as use for rural industry.

The draft attempts to compliment the land use bylaw and the regional plan. Meetings will be held with towns and villages in the County along with the public in an attempt to get opinions on draft one.

Access to Sedgewick Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce brought forward their request for another access road to Sedgewick.

Presently there are only two ways to get into or out of the town and go directly to Highway 13. One is south to the highway, crossing railroad tracks, and the other is to go east of town.

The Chamber would like to see a road west of town to Highway 13 so that it would be quicker to get to Killam Hospital if a train were across the southern town.

Task committee
Strome and Lougheed are presently the only municipalities that have replied to the county's request to have a list of contacts from the 75th Anniversary Committee. The request was sent near the end of March.

Aerial photos
Aerial photos of the County of Flagstaff will soon be distributed to various government agencies including the County Office.

The County Office will receive one copy as will the Battle River Planning Commission. Half of these costs will be picked up by the provincial government, with the other half paid by the B.R.P.C.

Among other things photos are used to determine soil types, tax assessments, location of right-of-ways, location of oil and for planning sub divisions.

Financial
The County Council of Flagstaff recently received a letter thanking it for a $750 donation towards the Daysland Blood Analyser.

MLA Session
It was announced that a MLA Committee has been set up to study Preventive Social Services within the province.

Laconie requested support and received it on its plan to halt metric conversion until a county-wide plebiscite.

Flagstaff County Council felt that the system is not ready and that the country should have gone all the way instead of the present middle stance.

Fred Fleming

Killam Minor Hockey

"You don't get to be a Wayne Gretzky or Bobby Orr by sitting on your butt," said Fleming. "A kid that goes off at age eight will go off when he's 13 and 22, it just works that way."

The game will never cheat you but you can cheat the game. Everyone will get a break in life but the successful ones take advantage of the break."

He said that there is a lot of luck to becoming a big time athlete, so it should not be one ultimate goal. Whatever you do, do it to the best of your ability and the time to start is at your young age, he said directly to the hockey players.

Fleming concluded his talk by advising "Whatever you do, enjoy it. You will never enjoy sports in your life as much as you do at the age you are at right now."

Anderson, a retired professional hockey player from Killam said that the facilities in Killam now are excellent and hopes everyone realizes it. He said that the Killam community really supports the kids. "I remember watching the old building burn down when I was a kid and saw within a week, parents building up boards in the community for us to use."

Voycechek, a retired amateur hockey player and now a minor coach gave a historical view of sports. He expressed his feeling that minor sports today is becoming less for fun and more for winning. "Sportsmanship has become gamemanship, and has turned sportsmen into entertainers at a professional level."

Awards were given at the event for mini mile, mini pee wee, bantam and senior hockey players in Killam.

Mini mile winners were given to Steven Lindstedt, top scorer; John Stark and Jason Freddrich, most improved; Keith Kalawsky, Mark Bonnet, Jason Freddrich, Steven Lindstedt, Derek Lewis, Michael Lewis and Murray Gamet, most skilled.

Mini winners were: David Lang, most valuable; Laurie Kelso, most improved; Brian Grant, most dedicated.

Pee wee awards went to Ron Fox, most valuable; Mike Berk, most improved; Randy Brodie, most dedicated.

Bantam winners were: Ron Carruth, most valuable; Danny Fierch, most improved; Bill Peters, most skilled.

Senior trophies went to Brian Bowles, Len Quinton Memorial Trophy for top scorer; Dale Schettler, Nick Kinsler Memorial Trophy for top defenseman; Ken LaFestale, Frank Coster Memorial Trophy for most improved player; Mike Kueber, Dave Bourne Memorial Trophy for rookie of the year; Jon Spiller, most valuable player trophy donated by Killam Cycle and sports; Tony Schettler, Community Award Trophy for most improvement.

Reg Fox, President of Killam Chamber of Commerce presented the Killam Minor Hockey League with the sash given to the chamber in 1970 by Ron Anderson, along with every player on the Bantam League, was given a sash by Frank Iselach in recognition of the team's entrance into the National Hockey League. The sash will be on display in the trophy case at the Killam Agplex.

M.C. for the evening was Sharon Klebanosky, manager of the Killam Inn.

Bad time for fires

Strome Fire Department held a practice fire last week, burning a vacant lot, but fires have not been an uncommon thing in the county recently.

Fire departments are warning not to burn fields without first informing them. The dry, windy spell has caused many such circumstances to get out of control.

Killam Lions Charter Night

Deputy District Governor Bud Baker presented an entertaining speech while President Doug Bengt gave incoming President Louis Delange his pre-dents pin at the 19th annual Killam Lions Charter Night at the Legion Hall in Killam, Saturday.

About 90 were in attendance including members, wives and guests.

Baker, from Canmore has been a Lion for seven years and has held numerous positions in the club. He is active in the community and besides his position with the Lions, he is a past president of Toastmasters.

Baker began his well planned speech with husband-wife jokes, later continuing with a Lions Club Historical.

"Lions Clubs are now global and have grown to be the largest service club in North America," said Baker. There are 35,507 clubs and they represent people from all walks of life. There are presently about two million members of the Lions Club whose main objective is to achieve funding to improve the overall quality of life. The association has grown to the point of international respect," said Baker. He concluded his speech with a tribute to the members wives. The wives have given support to the husbands, helping them to be a Lion, said Baker. "They have allowed us to live up to our motto, We Serve."

100% attendance pins were then distributed to Doug Bengt, Larry Rodwell, Jay Frickard, Wayne McCleary, Carl Schuster and Wally Purwell. Stan Hobbs of Dayland was also active in the community and besides his position with the Lions, he is a past president of Toastmasters.

Lions also awarded Ken Laing of the Killam Agricultural Society with $1,000 in support of their projects.

President Doug Bengt concluded the evening with a Lions Club Historical.

First to Los Vegas, then on to Highland, California to visit Jim and Myrtle Gillespie, formerly of Dayland, and then on to San Francisco, Edna and Charlie Brown of Canmore were also visiting at this time. Some of the highlights of the trip were a trip to Palm Springs to see the Angels play ball, a stop at Disneyland, and several rounds of golf played at the local courses.

TODAY & TOMORROW
By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

The subject in farm safety. It need is unquestioned. Unfortunately, its interest evades some farmers on a 'nil', except of course when there is an outcry after a particularly serious farm accident.

That is a problem. Every Albertan hopes each farmer continues to remain intact throughout the farm year. But not too many of us really want to talk about it. Unlike other Albertans, I, with the Minister of Worker Health, Safety and Compensation, have a responsibility to emphasize greater safety in every sector of the industry.

A critical aspect is timing. If you were I, when would you write a farm safety column? In mid-spring, when major seeding, fertilizing and other weather operations were getting underway? In mid-fall when harvesting was in high gear?

Both are ideal times in terms of being high-risk periods. Yet, they are high-risk, in part, because farmers are working such long hours, and few tired farmers are going to bother reading newspapers, much less this column.

On the other hand, if I were to write this column in mid-summer, when farm activities tend to be less urgent and farmers have more time, the crucial period for farm safety has passed.

The answer is obvious — to get the message out when it means the most. For the reasons I've stated, I expect more non-farming farm families will copy this column. Bearing this in mind, I suggest that you consider responsibility to urge every active farming member of your family, indeed every community, to follow safety practices every day of the year.

In some ways I hesitate when I ask people to farm safely. In no way is it a 'nil' solution. The real answer is to an unthinking, reflex action. Mind you, we must always be alert for those potentially dangerous situations which continually arise. Still, safety can be most effective as a habit — and things like checking children behind cars, trucks or tractors before backing up in a farmyard should become as natural a habit as turning the ignition key.

Anyway, below is my safety message for the new season. It is a reprint of a personal letter that was distributed by our Farm Safety Program last year. Possibly a little 'colourful', it was well received, and for that reason I don't intend to alter something which may have helped someone, somewhere avoid a farm accident at some time.

Severed arms, legs, hands and feet; cuts, burns and bruises; at times, lost time and injury; death — the effects of farm accidents are many and well documented.

In Alberta, farm accidents take a high toll. Absolute numbers don't lie. Last year more than 25 Albertans who lived and worked on farms were killed. Well over 400

The nurses' dispute was an important issue this week. On Monday, Mr. C. B. Minister of Hospitals and Medical Care, said the following: "This morning, reports indicated that the nurses' dispute was serious to the extent that where Cabinet made the emergency powers of the Labour Act should be invoked. We believe that the health and lives of the province, inasmuch as the provision, inasmuch as our responsibility related to the health and lives of Albertans being at stake, we therefore feel it is necessary to get the system functioning again as quickly as possible. We are prepared to risk the lives of Albertans by a prolonged strike, but we are not prepared to risk the lives of Albertans by a prolonged strike."

The Cabinet then concluded that an emergency does exist due to the nurses' strike and that a Public Emergency Tribunal was to be established. Mr. Justice Gauthier, however, was authorized to make binding arbitration award.

At the same time, the order was given for the nurses back to work. The nurses did not agree with the order and are currently disputing it in the courts.

Another area of business the Assembly has been writing on is the budget. So far the expenditures for the Departments of Education, Transportation, Energy and Natural Resources, Attorney General, Advanced Services, and Telephone and Utilities are undergoing examination.

It has been brought to my attention that there has been some misunderstanding with the receipt of 76th anniversary medallions and scrolls. To help clear up any problems, the eligibility requirements for someone to receive a medallion or scroll are:

1. Citizens who are 75 years of age or more in 1980 and
2. Whose principal residence is in Alberta as of January 1, 1980.

Those citizens of 65 years or 74 years (i.e., not eligible for a medallion) resident in the province, whose principal residence was in Alberta as of January 1, 1980.

3. In addition, the Commission agreed to award scrolls to these individuals who may have lived the majority of their lives in Alberta, but who have moved to another province for health or other reasons. These scrolls would not be awarded only, but would be awarded only as individual contacts the Commission regarding possible recognition.

If anyone is eligible, and has not yet received an application, please contact me Collect at 427-1886, or write to me at 808 Legislature Building, Edmonton, Alberta, T5K 2N6.

1. Citizens who are 75 years of age or more in 1980, and

2. Whose principal residence is in Alberta as of January 1, 1980, and

3. Who are Canadian citizens or alternatively, have had their principal residence in Alberta for the past 10 years.

4. All babies born on September 1, 1900 in Alberta (except those receiving gold medallions).

5. Visiting dignitaries (at the approval of the Cabinet Committee).

6. Special dignitaries visiting Alberta during 1980 (at the approval of the Cabinet Committee).

7. Silver Medallion

1. Citizens who are 75 years of age or more in 1980, and
2. Whose principal residence is in Alberta as of January 1, 1980.

Golf Tips

Interlocking Grip

The right-handed golfer should grip the shaft of the club with both hands with the right being the lowest on the shaft.

Now, since positioned on the club, the object is to keep it straight when swinging. A turn of the wrist could cause poor contact with the ball.

Interlocking the left index finger with the little finger on the right hand should keep the hands positioned straight and correctly.

Information for this weekly series is provided by Doug McNabb who took golf lessons in Sedgewick.

Two bus loads of people from Sedgewick journeyed to Fortin, Saskatchewan on Saturday, April 26. It was in exchange for the trip last February that our twin town made here.

The group left here at 11 a.m. to arrive at their destination by 4 p.m. The first stop in Fortin was at the school for coffee and doughnuts and an hour or so socializing and a tour around town.

At 6 o'clock the visitors went to the Community Hall where a bountiful barbecue beef supper was provided along with wine to refresh the Sedgewickians. Supper was followed by a

engraved plaque to the president of the Fortin Agricultural Society, Vera Furber. The shield was suitably engraved to mark the groups visit to their twin town.

Dancing and visiting until 10:30 concluded a most enjoyable time with music provided by Mayor's Orchestra. At 10:30 the visitors boarded the bus after being hosted, wine, dried and provided with liquid refreshments all provided gratis by our hosts.

Loughheed A.C.W. meets

The All Saints A.C.W. of Loughheed held their April meeting at the Loughheed Welcome Club with President Marie Martin in the chair.

Meeting opened with members prayer and was followed by devotional read by Verena Cookson. Secretary-Treasurer Rosemary Kampen read the minutes of the March meeting and also the treasurer's report.

Members paid their Easter tax money and the motion was passed that we donate money to help pay for the sundock on the rectory.

We discussed the Regional Meeting of A.C.W. being held in Sedgewick at St. Johns on April 28, and we are to take goodies for morning coffee.

Everyone brought articles to put in the Ditty Bag which we are to take along with knitted items for the display which will be taken to Edmonton to the main office for distribution to needy persons.

Prayer and all enjoyed a fine lunch and fellowship.

We all signed a get well card for Rosemary Bergeson.

Roll call was answered by number of sick calls and cards sent.

Marie Martin won the house prize given by Jean Heyworth.

We closed with Lord's Prayer and all enjoyed a fine lunch and fellowship.

75th Anniversary Salute to a pioneer

Frank Mayne Sr., 86, was born and raised in Ontario before coming to Sedgewick in 1912 to spend most of his years farming in the area. "I came because I had relatives in Sedgewick who told me it was a good place to live," Mr. Mayne said. "My brother lived here, but I also had relatives in Ladue and Edmonton."

Frank Sr. worked on a C.P.R. colony, building houses and drilling wells. When he first arrived, He worked at this for two years before spending another two working on a nearby farm.

This experience combined with a love for animals inspired him to buy his own farm. Mr. Mayne worked his farm for some 40 years before selling. "At one time I had 50 horses and 80 cattle," he said, but he explained that he had to sell the horses cheaply because they cost more to maintain than they were actually worth. Aside from farming, Mr. Mayne spent over 14 years as butcher in Sedgewick as well as once having a hand in carpentry work. strongly, because if it doesn't the landfill could become a farm. Signs will also be erected reminding people to keep Plagstaff land.

Presently, no work has been done on the landfill site, but grubbing will soon be started around stage one of the quarry section site.

Stage one will consist of seven trenches, each 15 feet deep. The depth of the trenches will be 50 feet wide and 800 feet long.

The water table at the site lies at a minimum depth of 5.5 metres below the surface. The water quality is marginal to unsuitable for human consumption due to excessive mineralization.

The ground-water flow systems are directed southward at a downward flow from the sight reported water-table.

One of the major problems with solid waste disposal of this kind is the possibility of contamination. Pollutants can be leached from buried garbage; due to a downward movement of surface water into buried garbage, the mixing of liquid and solid wastes at the landfill and the contact of buried waste with the water table.

The authority of the landfill will have chosen two preventive measures in controlling contamination: not going under the water table and the regular monitoring of batters, tractors and bins will be picked up by Alberta Environment's Waste Management Division. However the operational costs will be approximately $15 per parcel of the participating municipalities.

The per capita breakdown will be as follows: disposal, $8.64; storage, $2.60; transportation, $4.36.

Viking and Watnigh have been asked if they wish to be involved with the landfill site. At a March meeting their reply was no, but they or Hardisty wish to enter into the system, the less it will cost on a per capita basis.

A number of minor items, such as operational hours and type of weight units, have not yet been cleared up. The authority has straightened out the vast majority of the plan and is hopeful the trenches will be in operation by the end of July.

Western premiers make commitment

Canada's four Western premiers have promised "intensive negotiations" for the new Canadian constitution. If Quebecers vote 'no' in their May 30 referendum.

The premiers made their commitment at their annual meeting held this year in Lethbridge. They hoped the extensive exposure of their position in Quebec would help defeat Premier Rene Levesque's plans to pull his province out of Canada.

But the premiers also vowed for the third time in three years they would refuse to negotiate any new constitutional arrangement with Quebec that looked like Levesque's sovereignty-association proposal.

The impact of the four premiers' statement in Quebec was difficult to gauge, but the four provincial leaders are hoping they have been able to show the West shares with Quebec a common interest in reforming the country's constitution.

During the three day conference, Premier Peter Lougheed, Saskatchewan Premier Allan Blakeney, British Columbia Premier Bill Bennett and Manitoba Premier Sterling Lyon all attacked federal government policies and urged more decentralization of decision-making in Canada.

While they tried to persuade Quebecers the West had common grievances as French Canada, they also sought to show they are prepared as never before to accept a constitutional change without erecting unnecessary impediments to the process.

Unable otherwise to reform the constitution in 1978 and 1979 when most proposed changes met roadblocks from one or other of the provinces, the premiers argued there has now been a change in attitude.

Premier Lougheed described the new attitude as "a will for change," while Blakeney said there has been "a coming together of ideas" in recent months that will put constitutional reform over the top.

National unity was not the only topic the premiers dealt with at their conference, but the shadow of the Quebec referendum nonetheless hovered over even their economic discussion.

The premiers outlined a six-point program to deal with high interest rates, arguing that a direct rollback of the rates would not be as effective as dealing with the structural deficiencies that caused them.

So they called for higher energy prices, larger natural gas exports, tax incentives to encourage investment in Canadian savings in Canada and a reduced federal government deficit.

Lougheed argued that an improved Canadian economy would help defuse support for separatism among Quebecers.

Although he acknowledged Quebec separatism has roots in cultural and language differences in Canada, the urge for Quebec national independence is misguided, he said.

BULB MISER is a gadget that is supposed to extend the life of lightbulbs. However, in reality bulbs burn out when their tungsten
This is caused by the evaporation of metal from the filament, while the light is actually on. The miser is supposed to extend the life by being a mini-venter, thereby reducing the surge of electricity when it is turned on. The "miser" does in fact reduce the amount of light produced so the bulb uses the same amount of electricity but produces less light. Beware of energy conserving gimmicks.

from Calgary Power)

SMOOTH TOP RANGES
may be more efficient in the future. A new heating element has been developed. In the past, smooth top ranges were quite inefficient compared to conventional heating elements.
Why? Presently, on smooth top surfaces the heating element was 1 inch (2.5 cm) from the glass surface. This "air gap" produces thermal (heat) loss, amounting to about a 25% difference between the efficiencies between "smooth top" and regular surface units. The new element design reduces the gap to about 4 inches (1 cm). This smaller air gap reduces thermal resistance.
A higher heating efficiency is the result. (Source: The Enlightener from Calgary Power) MAN MADE FIBRES:

When considering the end use of petrochemical raw materials you may wish to consider the following:
Twenty gallons of petrochemical raw materials, which is the equivalent of enough gasoline to power the average automobile only 32 miles, will produce all these man-made fiber products: 12 dress shirts, 13 full-length slacks, 98 pairs of pantyhose, 3 automobile tires, 7 bicycle tires, 6 square yards of carpet, 4 cushions, 1 blanket, 100 feet of 1/2" rope, 18 windbreakers, 16 parkas, 4

sleeping bags, 2 tents, 2 backpacks and 6 duffel bags.
It would appear that man-made fiber products are extremely energy efficient.

Juice cans returnable

Alberta is the first province in Canada to allow a return on juice cans which began April 1, as an example of the province's commitment to Alberta Environment's beverage container recycling program.

The cans can be returned up to the 470 ml size for a two-cent refund per can. Beverages container deposits.

Alberta became the first province to begin a return system for liquor and soft drink bottles in 1972. Imported beer bottles were added in March.

In 1979, about 42 million liquor bottles, or 80% of those purchased in the province, were returned.

Approximately the same amount of soft drink cans, or 50% of those purchased, were returned.

Consumers receive five cents back on liquor bottles and two cents refund for soft drink cans.

Proclamation Pitch-In '80

Whereas litter pollutes our parks, recreation areas, beaches, highways and school grounds by defacing them to our sight; and

Whereas litter can be dangerous by causing physical harm to man and animals; and

Whereas thoughtlessness and negligence are the main contributory factors in the occurrence and spread of litter; and

Whereas the litter problem can be reduced by modern technology, education, streamlined enforcement and updated litter-by-laws, and responsible packaging; and

Whereas the Town of Sedgewick is concerned with the problems caused by litter and to bring to the attention of the public it is deemed appropriate to appoint the week of May 5 to 10, 1980, as the start of the "Pitch-In '80" campaign in the Town of Sedgewick, and urge all citizens to co-operate with the Town of Sedgewick in the elimination and reduction of litter and littering;

Now therefore I, E. J. Koshl, Mayor of Sedgewick do hereby declare the week of May 5 to 10, 1980.

Sedgewick to compile history book

On Wednesday evening April 30, an enthusiastic group attended a meeting in the Town Office to select a committee to compile and publish a book about the history of Sedgewick and District, which is being sponsored by the 75th Anniversary Committee.

The following persons were named: Chairman, Carol Arntsen, members, Art Falk, Elaine Keith, Dave Black, Helen Whitten, and secretary-treasurer, Helen Alexander.

It was agreed that advertisements for information of historical interest be placed in newspapers and other publications in the area, as Camrose, Viking, Wainwright, Heritage, Co-op Consumer, Alberta Enterprise as well as the Community Press.

After the next meeting on May 21, this committee will meet regularly on the third Monday of each month. This project involves a great deal of research and the committee is hopeful that anyone who has material to contribute will do so. All material, photos, etc. will be carefully handled and returned.

R.C.M.P. conduct spring clean-up

With the melting of snow and slighting of pavement, stunts have been spotted in numbers and the R.C.M.P. of Killam Detachment has set a "get tough" policy to combat the problem.

Included in the policy will be the setting and holding of vehicles until after a court appearance for motorists.

The Detachment will especially be watching for speeders and those driving while in possession of open liquor.

For those charged with crimes of these kinds more than once and in extreme cases, the judge at the trial has the authority to claim the vehicle as crown property under the Liquor Control Act.

A bulletin from Alberta Transportation stated that there were 78,146 accidents in Alberta in 1979. Of those, 871 were fatal and caused $88 deaths.

A suspect has been arrested in connection with the theft of the county water truck and destruction of various items.

A person was also arrested and charged with the R.C.M.P. of Killam Detachment on April 18. A man entered carrying a tin of ether but was released by the women and fled the scene.

Three people have been charged with theft of the flag at Dayland Golf Course.

Central High registrations

By the end of the week all of the 1980-81 registrations for the 1980-81 school year should be completed. The student registration forms require a parent signature, parent signature and principal signature. The parent signature is especially important because it indicates that the parent is aware of the courses which their child intends to take in high school. The principal's signature on the registration of feeder school students is required because it is upon their advice and guidance that the high school relies to ensure that students have registered for courses which match their abilities. Please give the student registration your serious consideration and remember the fact that the high school program offers a variety of courses because it recognizes differences in student ability and interest.

Mrs. Maclean has returned to school to resume her business education position after her maternity leave absence. We were fortunate to have had Fran Anderson for a replacement for the past three months with her success in her new job.

The second student report card of this semester will be sent home with students on Tuesday, May 13. We will again follow the format of one sheet of information for each class in which students are enrolled. This format gives parents information on their child's progress and also takes considerably more time for preparation time. After the next report card, as evaluation questionnaires will be sent home with students so that parents can make their comments about the new report card format. This information will help us determine whether to return to the old report card or continue with this semester's reporting procedure.

Guides celebrate 70th birthday

The 70th birthday of Girl Guides of Canada is being marked this year with celebrations across the country.

One of these events was held in Killam. The following article was contributed by Sharon Fleck.

On Sunday February 17 at 2:30 p.m. the Killam Girl Guides held a church service to celebrate Thinking Day and the Girl Guides 70th anniversary in the Killam Baptist Church. The first service was held in 1910 and the service was read by Sharon and Maureen Fleck. The sermon and service was conducted by Reverend Conrad. The organist was Clara Rect. After the service the congregation went to the hall where a history of Killam's Guiding from 1908 to 1980 was on display. Then we concluded our anniversary with a beautifully decorated cake and coffee.

Incentives to increase housing supply

New efforts to increase housing supply in the province have finally been announced after weeks of government promises.

Chief among the new initiatives is a tax credit for high-income earners who can afford to put their money into apartment and condominium construction. Valued this year at $35 million, the tax credit will replace a federal capital cost allowance which was phased out last year and which the province claimed was a significant factor in generating new housing starts in Alberta.

Apartment and condominium investors will be able to claim five per cent of their investment in new construction as a tax credit. Cities and towns are being encouraged to speed up their residential development approval process with a system of grants from the government.

If a town can bring on more housing this year than the average of the last three years, it will be eligible for $2,000 grants. But even if it achieves only half the level of new construction of medium and high-density housing it will receive $1,000 grants.

The government has also promised additional aid for non-profit housing and increased the senior citizens' renter assistance tax credit to $1,000 from $800.

The new housing initiatives have been criticized. The critics for ignoring home and apartment owners forced to re-negotiate mortgages this year at rates five to six per cent higher than they have been.

He also said the plans ignore low-income earners who are not senior citizens.

Bribing doctors

The lack of rural doctors is becoming an ever increasing problem and it seems the last resort Alberta has is to bribe them to the rural areas.

Rural doctors are on call 24 hours a day, lack qualified support staff and subordinate health care workers, usually have to invest extensively to open a practice, and their standard of living is lower than an urban doctor due to a higher cost of living and transportation.

Presently, organizations such as Alberta Hospital Association, Alberta Medical Association, The College of Physicians and Surgeons, and Social Credit Caucus members have been pressuring the Alberta Government into this bribery. After all, other western provinces have been doing it for some time.

B.C. has a complicated formula for solving the problem which consists of paying up to 20 percent extra and above the medicare fee schedule, depending on the degree of isolation.

Going further than this, Yellowknife doctors are paid 20 percent above B.C. and Inuvik physicians receive another 40 percent above B.C.

Manitoba pays 6.1 percent on all fee schedule billing to doctors practicing north of the 53rd parallel, which would be approximately Camrose in Alberta.

However the Manitoba situation would not determine isolation in Alberta.

The present Canadian average that is thought to be sufficient is one doctor for every 750 persons. But this average does not justify itself even in larger communities in Alberta. Fort McMurray for example has a population of 30,000 but contains only 12 doctors, making its average one for every 2,500 persons.

Suggestions from the organizations fighting this problem, have been to give rural doctors equipment subsidies and low or no interest loans, guaranteed minimum income which is now done in Ontario, bursaries to medical students who agree to work in designated hospitals after graduation, in service training to practicing nursing staff and rural doctors to teach them skills usually completed by support staff in urban areas, a back-up service for vacations or educational meetings and upgraded rural hospitals.

Although the provincial government has not agreed to these persuasion methods, it had better, and quickly, it can not be proven that this bribery will work, but something must be done to attract physicians to rural areas, and this would be a step in the right direction.

What Others Say

Athabasca move

Sometimes it appears the provincial government makes decisions which will benefit themselves more than the people of Alberta.

A recent example is the decision to move Athabasca University to the town of Athabasca, 145 kilometers north of Edmonton. While the move no doubt pleases the residents of the town and the construction of buildings and the operating of the facility will help the economic aspects of the surrounding area, the staff of the university are extremely upset. Not just because of the move but because of the method in which the relocation was decided; behind the backs of the governing council, the faculty and staff associations.

The university is not "traditional". There are no residences for students or buildings full of classrooms. It is an open university providing undergraduate programs for adult studying at a distance. Basically a correspondence school, it relies heavily on the library and computer services of other Edmonton area facilities.

One would think the people involved with the operation of the university would be the best ones to ask on where or how the university should be run. The governing body of the university and staff would seem to be the logical group to ask for input. That input should have had a great deal of weight in making the final decision.

Bypassing the council angered Athabasca President Dr. Sam Smith and he felt the only step he could take was to resign from the position. He called the government move "a serious attack on the integrity and autonomy of this university". It is expected that before the move has been completed the university will have lost more of its staff.

Who was the government hoping to please with the university move? Surely not the staff.

More important what will be the expense of the move in educational terms?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
The editorial writer of the Community Press has concluded from the results of a public opinion poll that, "The most fair and accurate way of judging students is through departmental exams..." and further that, "These exams could not only upgrade student achievement, but could be used as a much needed tool in accurately judging teachers."

If the editorial writer has some evidence other than the public opinion poll figures from which he appears to be able to draw his conclusions and from which the government can somehow make a decision I believe that he has an obligation to present this in future articles. If the editorial writer knows of a departmental examination that fairly judges students and accurately judges teachers I'm all for it and would work diligently with the editorial writer to make the Department of Education aware of its existence and would work tirelessly to convince my colleagues that

The Third Column

"I Write as I Please" HEY, YOU OUT THERE. Everybody's doing it. Well, not EVERYBODY, but pretty close. Especially those who are organized, unionized and carry enough by the very sheer fact of numbers, and ability to put a "crimp" in the progress of things. Even those who are not fully organized have become militant enough to demand and get the same equalized treatment, and industry, small business and public service institutions are forced to keep pace with the ever-changing scene, under constant threat (blackmail) of losing staff and thereby production capability to the point of closure. Quite frankly I don't see any improvement in the situation so long as we have too many dollars around chasing after too few goods, and am convinced that the only way the situation will straighten out is for a severe recession to invade the economy; a thought that is both undesirable and repugnant. Yet we continue to steer ourselves directly into just such a state, because our greed has invaded our common sense and our demand for a bigger slice of the melon assures that eventually there won't be any left.

THERE WAS A TIME when absolute abominable and inhuman treatment of laborers prevailed. I remember reading accounts of such, more particularly in the coal mines in the Southern States where heinous economic crimes were prevalent toward workers, slave labor and even child labor dominated the scene because the boss was the boss in ununionized colonies, and if you complained you were simply fired, without fuss, without access to bargaining, and someone else took your place. It was time for action; and situations like that gave rise to organization and finally unionization. The day of equality for the laborer became a real and life-surviving reality.

BUT THAT DAY has long since passed, and the feel of power has pervaded the work force to such an extent that its demands are now commanding eighty percent of total overhead of some industries. That doesn't leave much for all the other aspects of running a successful enterprise. And if the enterprise is not successful the workers themselves are out of work and unemployment is again on the increase. When management doesn't know how to manage and workers don't know when management is in difficulties, you have a situation that leads to disaster. The combination of poor management and excessive demands by the most militant unions in the world, are what has forced the Big Three auto manufacturers into a state of near bankruptcy. Situations like these are costing the taxpayers and the buying public millions of dollars with no indication that the situation will be alleviated in the foreseeable future.

HERE IN ALBERTA, just to bring the situation closer to home, we turn to such things as M.L.A.'s giving themselves 4% increases in pay; striking guidelines for pay increase and then breaking their own rules. Setting, for example, no to speak. Setting the pace, and giving the next militant group targets to shoot at. Then warning, that one settlement doesn't mean that all will achieve the same goal. How out-of-touch can one get? Taking the most recent example as a case in point. A 38% increase over two years for the U.N.A. Whatever extenuating circumstances may have existed, whatever else was involved, the one thing that other Unions are going to look at, is that 38%, and that is going to be the target. For the government of Alberta to think otherwise or even hope otherwise indicates it is entirely out of touch with reality.

SOME HAVE PREDICTED that it is going to be a HOT, DRY summer, weatherwise. Well, let me tell you something. It's going to be a hot summer laborwise as well. Only God can improve the weather, lessen the heat and give moisture. Only man can take the heat off situations of his own making and that will never come about so long as greed is the motivating power behind his action.

M.L.A. Report

Tom Lyons
Alberta faces housing problems that are unique in Canada. This week eight major initiatives, totalling $94.7 million, were announced to increase the supply of affordable housing in Alberta. Because of their uniqueness, I will outline them briefly for you.

Alberta Municipal Housing Incentive Program (AMHIP) (Housing and Public Works)

The province will offer municipalities unconditional grants of $1,000 to $2,000 per unit for each new housing unit that meets certain density criteria once pre-established levels of production are exceeded. Production in the current calendar year will be measured against the average annual housing production of a municipality over the previous three years. Construction of new housing units in subdivisions and mobile home parks will be eligible.

This new program is designed to help rapidly growing municipalities and is estimated that $15 million will be directed to municipalities in the 1980 calendar year. The program will begin July 1, 1980, and will include eligible housing starts since January 1, 1980.

Financial Aid to Municipal Non-Profit Housing Corporations (Housing and Public Works)

Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation programs previously providing loans to Edmonton and Calgary non-profit housing corporations will be allocated an additional $27.5 million. These municipal corporations will be able to obtain loans from Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation to finance up to 250 more rental units in each city.

Alberta Home Conversion Program

This program was introduced to increase the supply of rental units in communities and neighbourhoods where rental units are scarce. Owners who want to convert part or all of their home to self-contained suites or light housekeeping rooms, will be eligible for low interest loans.

For renovation costs, guaranteed loans of up to $10,000 per unit, will be made available at preferential financial institutions. These loans will be renewable annually and will have a 10-year amortization period for repayment. To reduce interest rates down to 12 percent, subsidies will be provided by the Department for a maximum of five years.

To qualify for the loan and the subsidy, an owner must rent the converted suite or room for at least six months in the first year and for a minimum of nine months each following year.

All renovations must meet the standards and zoning by-laws of the municipality and the education program will be undertaken by the Department.

Every municipality in the province is eligible and it is expected that up to 100 conversions will be initiated in the first year of operation.

Capital Grants to Non-Profit Groups who Sponsor Seniors Housing (Housing and Public Works)

The Alberta Housing Corporation will restate a previous program for private non-profit groups to build housing for seniors. Approximately $9 million will be provided for grants to cover as much as one-third of the approved capital cost of new housing units. Loans which may also be obtained from A.H.M.C. can be amortized over 50-year periods at the current rate. Housing incentive interest rate of 6.75%.

Alberta Rental Investment Incentive Program (Provincial Treasurer)

By making available $55 million of incentives to

Alberta investors in 1980, and $40 million in 1981, this program will provide a major stimulus to apartment and condominium construction.

Increases in the Renters' Assistance Grant for Seniors (Financial Affairs)

Seniors currently living in rental accommodation where the Government sets the rent as a percentage of income, or where it sets the maximum rent, will continue to be eligible for the $500 per year. Those seniors living in private rental accommodation will have their grants increased from $500 to $1,000 per year. To be eligible they must have rented for 120 days during the year and did not receive homeowner benefit. The program does not apply to residents in Nursing Homes, Auxiliary Hospitals, or Active Treatment Hospitals.

Alberta Assured Income Plan and Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped Program (Social Services and Community Health)

By making available $55 million of incentives to Effective July 1, 1980, the Alberta Assured Income Plan will increase by almost 60 percent to $75 per month. Also, the same day, there will be an increase in the Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped of $80 to $415 per month.

For any further information on these programs, or any other questions you may have, please call me collect at 427-1835.

My constituency office is open from 10-12 noon and 1-3 p.m., and Ellen Ranger is in charge there. The phone number is 935-4262 (Vermilion).

Education Minister David King released a report which looked at the potential for Computer-Based Instructional Support (CBIS) in Alberta schools on April 28.

The report, entitled "A Practical Approach to Computer-Based Instructional Support," is one in a series of studies dealing with the topic of educational technology. In the other two studies, to be released, various means of using a computer to assist student learning are being investigated.

The report, commissioned by Alberta Education and prepared by Currie, Coopers and Lybrand Ltd., showed that the computer has potential for assisting with teaching tasks such as maintaining student records, locating learning resources and preparing test questions.

CBIS, as explained in the study, is a system for use by individual teachers at their discretion. It contains information banks which reduce the amount of teacher time involved in accessing information. The information is stored nearest the location where it is needed, subject to cost and organizational implications.

Recommendations in the report include that Alberta Education should examine the total requirements for computer use within the province and that training level and quality of computerization should be determined.

"The report will provide guidance for Alberta Education in determining future directions for computer use within the province and that training level and quality of computerization should be determined."

Seeding forecast

On April 11, Statistics Canada released its report on seeded area of principle field crops for Canada and for each of the Western provinces. The report forecasts the area seeded to cereal grains (wheat, oats, barley, and rye) in Canada will increase by approximately 11% from a year ago. As well, a 4% decline in summerfallow acreage is anticipated for 1980. These trends for Canada are also evident for each of the Western provinces individually.

Total wheat area in Canada is forecast at 27.4 million acres - an increase of 6.7% over the 25.9 million acres seeded in 1979. This would be the highest wheat acreage since 1976 when Canadian farmers planted 27.3 million acres.

In Alberta, total wheat area is forecast to increase by nearly 11% to 5.7 million acres from 5.2 million acres seeded a year ago. If this is an accurate reflection of what Alberta producers will plant this year, it will be the largest acreage devoted to wheat since 1980.

Total Canadian barley acreage is forecast to increase by almost 34% to 11.7 million acres (9.45 million acres were seeded last year). This would be the most barley grown in Canada since 1977 and would return Canadian barley acreage to the levels of the early and mid 1970's. Alberta farmers are expected to plant 5.55 million acres to barley this year - an 18% increase from the 4.7 million acres that were seeded in 1979. This is a large increase and would be the most barley seeded in this province since 1971. Oats acreage in Canada is forecast to increase by 11% this year to a total of 4.9 million acres. This compares to 4.4 million acres a year ago. In Alberta, oats acreage is expected to increase by 9.5% to 1.75 million acres from 1.6 million in 1979.

The acres needed to rapeseed in Canada this year is forecast to be reduced by 25% to 6.86 million acres from the record 9.1 million acres last year. Alberta rapeseed/canola plantings are estimated to decrease by 29% to 2.5 million acres compared to 3.5 million a year ago. This trend of decreasing acreage is also evident for flax - a decrease of 18% in Canada and a decrease of 89% in Alberta.

Estimates of farm seeding intentions are valuable but it should be remembered that they are just that - estimates. Many factors involved in a complex interaction determine what ultimately will be planted. Many factors are under the control of the individual producer, however weather is a factor that is not and can severely modify farmers' plans. It also needs to be mentioned that these estimates by Statistics Canada were based on March conditions. Since then, rapeseed prices have decreased, and initial payments announced by the Minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board were less than last year's revised initial payments.

There can be no doubt that the trends reflected in these acreage estimates will occur in 1980 - that is, a general increase in cereals, and a decrease in oilseeds - the magnitude of these changes, however, is less certain.

County looks at budget

Proposed Budget
The County of Flagstaff announced that its budget would be in the neighborhood of approximately $9,864,000 for this year, at the County Council Meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, May 6.

The school budget is estimated at $4,957,000, while the municipal portion will be about $4,907,000. The municipal portion includes the paying for gravel, oil, public works, ambulances, recreation, etc.

Two of the guns will be given to the R.C.M.P. and one to the County Police Department. Council felt that they should keep up the present good relations with police and said that the guns could be put to good use.

75th Anniversary
The County has had a lot of replies from the 75th Anniversary Committees in regards to the March request of having a list of contacts.

Sedgewick "75th" plans for birthday

Plans for the commemoration of Alberta's 75th Anniversary are continuing at a good pace in the recent meetings of the Sedgewick Committee. The budget which was agreed upon at the first meeting is as follows: July First Celebration $1000, Sept Days Promotions $1000, Play ground Public School $3000, 75th Anniversary Promotion for flags, pins, decals, etc. $3000, History Book $5000, Community Hall $5000, Stating Risk at Rac Centre $5000.

The exchange value with our twin towns of Pordus, Saskatchewan have been most successful and further plans are in the offering.

July First, preparations are underway and the Committee urges all businesses and individuals to start now to plan their feast for the biggest and best parade ever. Prize money has been loaned in all categories. Children are asked to decorate bikes or whatever and join in the fun.

Some pins, badges, and balloons will be given away, while a small charge will be made for some of the souvenirs. These may be picked up at various business places in town.

Liquor offenses up

Among the problems arising brings for the R.C.M.P. is liquor related incidents due to outdoor parties. In the past week a number of people have been charged with illegalities due to liquor. Much of the occurrences have come about at or near Hardisty Lake and Sedgewick Lake.

R.C.M.P. are still investigating the May 10 robbery of a home outside of Sedgewick. Money was taken from the residence. Also being investigated is the hit and run damage done to a Hardisty car.

Refugee family settles in Forestburg

A Vietnamese family of six, four adults and two children arrived the middle of April to start residence in Alberta. Eva Fossen and Nan Kuehler brought them to Forestburg from the Griesbach Army Base, Edmonton. The members consist of husband (Hong, wife (Tow), their two children Wai (Y) a boy of six years, Mayling, a girl age four, and husband's brother Lapha and sister, Vien.

Because of communist domination and the demands of the government, these six members of a large extended family, were provided with just enough money to enable them to raise the alarming sum of eight ounces of gold per adult and four per child - six ounces claimed by the Vietnamese government and two ounces for boat fare. No personal belongings were allowed when they left the country.

These refugees lived in Saigon, South Vietnam. They boarded a Bagan and travelled at night to the Delta of the river, out to the ocean to meet a large boat loaded with other refugees.

They were left stranded on a barren island in Indonesia. Here they had to build their own bamboo hut and were rationed with one and a half (1 1/2) ounces of rice per person every second day, no meat nor vegetables unless they had a little money to pay the natives. To secure water for drinking they went upstream, and to wash they used the downstream. They remained on this island for 10 months, then they were moved to a nearby island to be organized living accommodation sponsored by the United Nations and Red Cross.

Canada or U.S. - several were refused. From Singapore they flew to Edmonton. Because of citizenship of their maid - this family is worried about the safety of their own relatives at home in Saigon.

These refugees are very grateful for the help and opportunities offered by the people of this community. The two men are presently employed in construction work by local men on a full time basis. The family are settling in fairly well with the hospitality offered by the Halbergers, where they are presently residing.

Donations to this worthy cause could be left at the Senior Citizens' Drop-In Centre, or through the United Church. Further inquiries can be provided through the following committee: Joe Forster, Chairman; Dorothy Lant, Secretary; Eva Fossen, Treasurer; Rev. Ted Steward, Nan Kuehler, Bern Oberg, Ed Halberg, James Gowanlock, Jack Kirschbaum, Josephine Mallett, Sam Strum and Peggy Froehner of Heiler.

Refugee family (back row, l. to r.) Hong, wife Tow, Vien and Lapha, (front row) Hong and Tow's children, Mayling and Wai. The family of Forestburg has donated over $4,000 to the family who used up all their money to get to Canada and were not able to bring personal belongings.

Editorially

Vietnamese family in Forestburg

I usually don't like to point the finger at certain people, but I feel the Village of Forestburg deserves to be singled out with its salvation of a Vietnamese family.

The family of six consisting of husband and wife, Hong and Tong; children, Wai and Mayhing; Hong's brother and sister, Loph and Yien; arrived in Forestburg in April.

They left their home in Saigon because of political turmoil and went through Hell before arriving in Canada early in April.

Meanwhile the Village of Forestburg formed a refugee committee last fall and applied to the Department of Immigration requesting to take a family to Forestburg. The application was approved and in mid-April they came to Forestburg.

Since arriving, the family has been given shelter by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Halberg who graciously donated upstairs living accommodation at their home.

They have been given food by Forest-burg Refugee Committee compliments of the village people whose donations have already totalled over $4,000.00.

Out of the same sum, the family have been given clothes and all other things necessary for survival.

The family can barely speak or understand a word of English but yet soon after arriving in the village the men were employed at Don Heymeyer's Beaver Lumber doing carpentry work.

Future plans for the family include learning English as a course through Advanced Education in coordination with Further Education in Sedgewick, and living self supportively in the community.

It's hard for us in Canada to imagine how the family must feel in this foreign land; the frustration of not being able to communicate and the alienation and loneliness of being separated from friends and relatives. But yet, this and more I am sure someday will be expressed in two simple English words, thank you.

What Others Say

Boycott

Although the boycott of the summer Olympics in Moscow is a ridiculous step to take, Canada has no option but to join in it. What is a number of other countries and prohibit Canadian athletes from participating.

The Americans, who called for the boycott, were hoping to embarrass the Soviet leaders in front of their people by having no one show up for the summer games. But that is a lot of nonsense if the Americans think it will work. The Soviet propaganda machine is too powerful.

The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan was what prompted the American call for a boycott. How many Soviet citizens know about the Afghan invasion? How many of them know the truth behind the invasion? How many of them know of the atrocities which have been committed in Afghanistan? The answer is probably not very many.

Through state controlled newspapers, radio and television the Soviet people are only told what their leaders want them to hear. Sure some people will know the truth but their neighbors believe tales of their own countrymen murdering women and children and using poisonous gas on poorly equipped mountain tribesmen. The Soviet leaders could easily turn such tales into lies fabricated by the United States and its allies.

It is doubtful that the threatened boycott will force a troop pullout from Afghanistan so the propaganda machine will turn now to the boycott itself. And what will they say?

It was all a part of the American plan to back up its lies about Afghanistan. The Americans were afraid their team of athletes would be humiliated at Moscow.

Time's majestic march

Mankind is beset with many tribulations but they are trivialities amid the majestic march of heavenly constellations.

The huge spheres still swing in the infinity of space; the days and weeks and months and years pass as they did a million years ago; "the moon with delight looks around her when the heavens are bare".

Here it is spring again. Winter is over—that was to be another hard winter for humanity.

The buds on the willow trees are swelling. The breast of fertile Mother Earth is burgeoning with the promise of growth. Another month and seedling will be in full swing, if not completed.

Thus the seasons come and go, disregarding the frail walls or small exaltations of the tiny tribe that treads the Earth. And we struggle on, hopeful of a destiny greater than we can realize.

If we were more in tune with the majestic progress of Nature, we would live happier and more useful lives.

The Third Column

BY TRUCUATE

IN LAST WEEK'S COLUMN I said that nearly everybody was doing it, and you know what "doing it" meant. As time goes on and we witness more and more military, strikes and threats of strikes, slowdowns and "going off" at the job scene, we know sure that peoples and groups are really doing it; and doing it to us. Of course considering the times we live in, with continually rising prices, we are forced to concede that most of labor's demands are justified. If they only stay within due bounds. But carrying up to inflation is no longer the goal. What we are really doing is trying to get ahead of inflation by setting our goals higher enough to take care of both. You see, no-body wants to lag behind inflation. But the aim is to find the highest paid group in any field and set a target to surpass it. And so the game goes on and on.

YET THERE IS ONE GROUP that has suffered long and rather painful for a number of years. One now and again someone in the group "billychance" a bit and talk a bit and story of poverty and distress, but being unorganised such signals go unheeded by the mainstream of society.

WHAT I'M TALKING ABOUT here is the senior citizens group, that long-suffering contingent of the population, whose pitiful twice-a-year raise in pay bills as below the government guidelines as to bring shame to those who profess humanitaria in the United States. Yet the group itself accepts the increases with grateful thanks. I don't think they should be so passive and have been waiting a long time for them to rise up to righteous indignation. Part of the matter is that I'm fed of waiting for them to become more militant. There are many millions of us, and with our low overhead (my salary and that of the Secretary), think of the millions we will accumulate over the years. It could rival the drive of the new union.

That will give us clout to shape the destiny of the Nation. Money speaks the economic balance and power. All INTERESTED SENIORS get in touch with me through this column, I will advise your age and immediate response.

THEORETICALLY, I propose to inaugurate a new UNION; one that may have its mark

Strome District News

Elaine Rowe, her sister and their mother holidayed for a week in Ottawa.

Many parents attended to view the various displays, a skit, a language presentation, gymnastics and classes in music.

On Wednesday, May 7, the Strome Junior High took a field trip to Edmonton. The first stop was at the Court House which they toured and met in on some interesting cases. After eating lunch on the bus, they took a ride on the L.R.T. and then went to the museum to observe many displays. On the way home they stopped at MacDonald's.

Linda and Don Hoffman of Estevanville and Jean and Gerry Kjer of Edmonton were Mother's Day visitors at the Gordon Loesch's.

Graduate Mothers and Mary McEne visited with Jan and Lisa Bricker.

Joanne Hamm and family moved to Saskatchewan to spend Mother's Day with Joanne's father.

Brus and Pat Curdie were home for the weekend at Pete Curdie's.

Derwin Hill, Ruby Robertson and Dyane Breckenridge of Edmonton with George and Belle Curdie of Deltona joined the Hill families for turkey dinner with Maynard and Ann Hill on Mother's Day.

Murray and Peggy Golden and boys of Vegreville and Bonnie Hancock of Edmonton spent Mother's Day at John Hancock's.

Cliff and Estella Robb were to Edmonton for the weekend.

John Reason had his sisters visit him on the weekend.

Mai and Anne Johnson drove their daughter, Gail, to the airport where she left for Whitehorse, Yukon.

Dorothy and Big Johnson took a bus tour to Victoria, British Columbia where Nancy and Sharon, (Mai Johnson's daughters) visited with them.

Buying meat

Paddy Mills

More and more people are buying slices of beef to reduce costs these days, but be warned, careful thought must be given to whether savings are realistic.

There are three alternative approaches to how you buy meat and each has merit and potential advantages. You can buy a side or quarter, buy wholemeat cuts in whole loins (round or chuck) or you can buy retail cuts.

A hind quarter will weigh about 150 pounds. From this you will get approximately 56 pounds of steaks, 34 pounds of rump and sirloin tip and about 28 pounds of stewing meat or ground beef, and 40 pounds of your order will be fat, bones and shrinkage.

The front quarter also weighs about 150 pounds and from it you will get a variety of less tender, lighter meats. So if your family does not particularly care for pot roast, stew and hamburger, there is not much point in buying a side which includes this front quarter. Buying this front quarter the hind quarter, it costs more per pound but it will eliminate waste and save money in the long run.

If you are not interested or can not use all the cuts in a hind or front quarter you can buy what they call a wholesale cut. For example, you can buy a loin only, buy wholemeat cuts in whole loins (round or chuck) or you can buy retail cuts.

The third alternative is buying pieces by piece at the retail store. It has been said that consumers who buy only the weekly specials and stock up, save more than those who buy in bulk.

Again, the waste factor is a big determinant in whether you win or lose at this game. Before buying your weekly buying habits then, it is obvious that you will have to carefully analyze your family's eating habits. Eliminate waste and save money.

Springlake Stitches 4-H

On April 22 the Springlake Stitches held their last scheduled meeting. The meeting started with the presentation of a plaque to Karen Zimmerman for her participation in the project and reborn our plays.

The last thing on the agenda was a lesson. There were many things suggested so we were asked to discuss them with our parents. Since our lesson wasn't planned we are having another meeting. It will be held on the third Tuesday of May at Mrs. Marion Zimmer's place.

Marion Zimmer congratulated Judy on her performance in Public Speaking and afterwards Judy gave an encouraging speech.

After the meeting we held our Parents' Night. This consisted of three talks and lunch. This went over well. Elaine Zimmer Club Reporter

The camps are fun and educational and are available for young people 14 to 21 years of age.

Killam Auxiliary meets

Seventeen members and one visitor attended the meeting of the Killam Hospital Auxiliary, As Mrs. Abel has resigned her position as president, Mrs. Madeline Munro capably took the chair.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. A thank you letter from the Daybreak Ladies thanking us for our $200 donation toward the Blood Analyzer was read. 1000 paper bags had been folded and handed in for patient bedside use.

Mrs. Clara Schuetzler had bought a number of birthday gifts for patients in the Auxiliary. 56 visits to shut-ins and sick were reported. On the cart for May is Freda Rott and Esther Moore. For June Maria Brown and Barbara Smolok. On birth-days in May and June are Ruby Stainthorpe, Margaret Ward, Madeline Munro and Marian Brown. Mrs. Theresa Spiller and Mrs. Marion Brown served tea, cookies and tarts.

Killam Agri Pool

"Swim for Fitness"

"Be Fit" for the 80's is the new provincial slogan. This phrase is simply stressing the need for participation. Everyone should attempt to be more active "walk a block a day," golf, run or any other form of physical exercise.

To fulfill this public demand, the Agriplex focuses upon swimming as one of the best all around forms of exercise available. Janet Berth has developed an excellent program for women called "Swimming." Every Wednesday from 7-8 p.m. Janet has the class perform a routine of stretching exercises to work upon muscle tone, flexibility and cardiovascular conditioning. In addition to the exercise program, Janet also discusses different aspects of exercise and fitness with the ladies. Many ladies feel this is an excellent hour of exercise and relaxation.

Mark your calendars for June 14 "Record Breaking Day" from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. We are out to break last year's record of 276 swimmers in one day. All day there will be free swimming, free door prizes and free bowling shoes for participants. Extra activities will include a Junior High Challenge and a High School Challenge in the sports of floor hockey, swim relay and bowling. All surrounding schools will be contacted to determine if they wish to enter. A one-time program will be featuring a water show and rubber dingy races. Hopefully, the daring and dashing Strome contingent will be able to defend their reign as Champion.

Also, there will be a Water Safety poster contest. A reminder, the pool hours will be changed as follows:

1. Friday, May 16, 8-10 a.m.
2. Sunday, May 18, 1-3 p.m.
3. Monday, May 19, 12-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.
4. Friday, May 22, No Swimming

Also, there will be a Water Safety poster contest.

Keeping in Touch

Arnold Nelson, M.P.

The great debate on Sovereignty Association is centred in the National Assembly at Quebec City just a few hundred yards from where our Fathers of Confederation first convened more than 111 years ago to initiate a country to be called "Canada". From the Quebec City debate, the Fathers of Confederation moved to Halifax and finally our Country was forged and constituted in Charlottetown in the summer of 1867. So it is that the location of the first debate that united us as a Dominion from sea to sea is today the site of a debate that has as its principal design the intent to separate and divide.

There can be no mistake, a divided Canada will damage us all, most of all the citizens of Quebec. If Quebec were a separate nation there would be neither federal protection nor a will in Canada to purchase textiles, manufactured products, pulp and paper or a host of other products produced in that province. It has been estimated that Quebec received about $3 billion more in returned benefits from the federal government than it is required to pay in taxes.

On the other hand, Quebec as a separate nation could easily lead to a disunity of policy direction in North America. A French Quebec, without an English association, would almost certainly be cause for the alignment with France and other related European and African countries. Ownership and control of the St. Lawrence Seaway would become an issue for dispute. The transmission of the enormous potential for hydro electric energy from the lower Churchill Falls would be without federal protection across Quebec in a divided Canada.

The list of disadvantages for both French and English citizens in a divided Canada is much longer but I will depart now to shroud some hope for a new Canada after this tortuous and distressing debate.

Whatever the outcome, the Canada that will commence with the morning of May 21, 1986 — the morning after the referendum vote — will embrace new understandings with new approaches to confederation. Clearly the frustrations of our Confederation are not confined to Quebec. Westerners are increasingly uneasy with the present system. Attention is deeply felt and vigorously expressed by many in all parts of Canada.

Our goal is simple; preserve Confederation. Our task is awesome: healing the wounds of 111 years of a system that has not protected the sensitivities of our regions. On no issue have I so desperately required your support and wise counsel.

We are a wonderfully rich land, the envy of all our citizens are talented and highly educated. We are at peace with all other nations. We are respected in international forums. If we should fail to understand the mistakes of our past and design proper amends for our future, we — all of us — will be the mystery and shame of the world.

Keeping in touch is not a question of language, culture, or any other differences, but rather, a question of justice. The new Canada, the one that is now feeling the pains of a new birth, must adopt a system that bears and reflects the views of our diversity. Our diversity must be our bond — our richness; our means for perpetuity. If we divide on these little differences, then we are but a shameful amateur on the international stage.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

SEASONS ON FAIRBANKS Eric Coulson

WINTER: Patiently, bare limbs extended Against a sky of icy blue. The trees, all growth suspended. Wait for spring, to start their life anew.

The rowdy winds that spout their gold. With reckless and abandoned glee. Now probe dark holes, with fingers cold. And swirl snow blankets round each sleeping tree.

SPRING: Pale green rays of April fall. Softly, sweetly, through the mellowed air; Washing away the grey of winter's pall. From March's branches new and bare.

Warm sunbeams stroke each brown bud-swalling. Where shining, misty catkins will be swaying. Sliding from view each bird's new dwelling. And dancing to the tunes the wind is playing.

Yuck! A mouse is a bear today. This is one of the many things we found when picking garbage along the Donalda Highway on May 3.

Afterwards we went to the Hotel and had hamburgers. We also held a bake sale. The new 968 which is now toward the blood analyzer in Dayland Hospital. We also held a meeting on May 7. We discussed the trip and carwash, nothing is final yet. Hope to see you all on May 14, in the Holter Ellis Hall, at our Achievement Day.

Being a By-Law of the County of Flagstaff No. 29 introduced for the purpose of authorizing a permit system to control the burning of crop residue.

M.L.A. Report

Tom Lynne
Henry Kroeger, Minister of Transportation, announced an expansion to the Public Transportation Operating Assistance Grant Program this week.

This program formerly included only towns and villages; however, now it will include counties, municipal districts, improvements and special areas. It is a $2 per capita grant that is intended to establish, or assist in the establishment of a particular transportation service, or to upgrade existing transportation services for senior citizens, the disabled and the handicapped.

The program will be provided annually for five years and will be based on the most recent census of the area's population. It is aimed at helping the 25% of Alberta's senior citizens who live in the rural areas and are often required to travel to urban areas for health care and social services.

Another announcement this week was that a Community School Facility Task Force was established. The Task Force has 30 members from various departments and organizations. It will recommend policies to the Minister of Education in areas such as: 1. the extent to which community facilities should be incorporated into existing schools or new schools; 2. the priority classification of community school use by the community, non-profit agencies and societies, government and the private sector.

3. the appropriate and acceptable uses of space in community facilities by the community.

After two years of reviewing student assistance, the Minister of Advanced Education and Manpower announced changes to the student finance program which will be of special benefit to rural students. These changes are:

a) Establishment of the Alberta Educational Opportunity Equalization Grant for students who must leave their own community - a grant of up to $1,400 based on need. Student must have earned 100%.

b) Increase the yearly loan maximum from $2,200 to $5,000 - again based on demonstrated need.

c) Provision for ministerial appointment of Appeals Committee members.

These were the main announcements this week. If you have any questions or concerns, please call me collect at 427-1858. My constituency office in Vermilion is open week days from 10 to 12 noon, and from 1 to 3 p.m. Thirty-five dollars is in charge there and the phone number is 853-4302.

Lougheed District News

The Lougheed School had a busy day in Lougheed last Wednesday. A lot of garbage and bottles were picked up that afternoon. Wish the young people would not break bottles on sidewalks and other places. So many small children fall so easily and go barefoot and the broken glass sometimes causes cuts.

Bill's Cafe will be open for business again by the time the paper will be published. Congratulations to Bill and Margaret on their renovated building.

Mrs. Margaret Westman of Edmonton and Jim Wright of Calgary spent a weekend visiting Mrs. Angus Wright and other relatives.

Grades three and four invited their mothers to a Mother's Tea on Friday afternoon in the School.

The Oatton Women's Institute Constituency held their 50th Conference in Lougheed Community Hall, Tuesday, May 6 with all the six branches taking part in it. Everyone enjoyed the day very much. The weatherman cooperated too. It will be held in Oatton next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Black of Sedgewick and Mrs. Esme Drager attended a wedding of close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Pankie of Wainwright in the Grace United Church on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wylie were recent visitors in Edmonton returning back with them were Pauline Gascayne and two daughters.

Don't forget Sports Day in Lougheed on Monday, May 19. It will not be hard to see lots of green trees this year, even the lilacs will be in bloom. It is very early for lots of things this spring.

News from the Anglican Church

A special Rogation and Mother's Day service of Holy Communion and Holy Baptism took place at St. John's in Sedgewick on Sunday. Those baptized were: Misses Jennifer, Natasha and Rebekah Affolder; Misses Angela and Rebecca Kober and Miss Judith Ann Reith. Some of the congregation gathered afterward in the Parish Hall for a pot-luck lunch. Others had to rush home to feed the hungry farmers who are working so hard in the fields.

Home from his retreat in St. Albert is Rev. Conrad who reports that it was a lot of hard work.

Mr. Ted Lester is home after a week of visiting in British Columbia. I wonder how that turkey found its way into his oven on Sunday.

Bob and Terry Brown and Robbie and baby Rhonda Conrad and Cathy Schooner and children of Edmonton were at the Conrad home on the weekend.

Please note that the annual St. Edmund's Parish picnic will be held at Sherwood Park on Clear Lake on Sunday, June 1. A service of worship will begin at 1:00 p.m. with lunch and games of many kinds to follow. See you there and bring along your friends.

Congratulations to newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Johnson of Hardisty who were married at St. John's Church on May 3.

We're glad to hear that Mr. Ed Collins is home from hospital.

Margie Martin wishes to announce that she and her daddy have new (finished) planting their garden. Her mother suspects that Margie's face will not be clean again until sometime close to Christmas.

The May meeting of St. John's A.C.W. took place on the evening of May 6 with President Margaret Culbert in the chair and 15 ladies in attendance. Plans were made for the Rogation Day lunch and for our annual June pot-luck supper. The fighters and whole fire departments from all over the province.

Ben Harris and Chuck Marschal, Fire Chiefs have successfully completed part of the Fire Fighter Course at the Alberta Fire Training School at Vermilion.

This is an intensive course which teaches basic fire fighting skills, use of breathing apparatus, fire extinguishers, etc., with 25% of the course being devoted to practical exercises. Candidates are required to pass a final examination.

Ben has returned to take part two of the course, and hopes to be able to register into part three later this summer. This training is very much in demand, which is indicated by fire

Lougheed plays last card

The provincial government has played its latest card in its oil price control with Ottawa.

It comes in the form of Bill 50, the Mines and Minerals Amendment Act, 1980, that gives the cabinet the power to cut the amount of oil produced in the province if it determines such a move would be in "the public interest."

The bill could be used as the instrument to make good Premier Peter Lougheed's threat to withhold oil sales to the rest of Canada if the province does not win a price deal it considers satisfactory from the federal government.

Provincial officials in the past have always argued the province had the right to regulate and control production, even before Energy Minister Merv Leitch's introduction of Bill 90 in the legislature.

But coming as it did on the eve of the week's oil price talks with federal officials, it was seen as an attempt to force the issue.

Alberta's oil industry has been a target of federal action since the early 1970s and the province's oil industry has been a target of federal action since the early 1970s.

Leitch, however, refused to specifically link the bill to the oil pricing talks, and declined to say what circumstances would prompt the cabinet to cut oil production "in the public interest."

He also denied that introduction of the bill was meant to provide Ottawa, arguing that Leitch's "would likely be as surprised as I was to find the province didn't have a law to regulate oil production on a public interest basis."

Energy Minister Marc Lalonde, the bill is seen as another public statement supporting the province's rights in the area of resource ownership and control.

The commission also struck from its list of clients all buyers who had been both oil producers in Alberta and refineries somewhere in Canada.

Leitch contended the moves were not intended to interfere with inter-provincial trade or to control the end use of Alberta oil.

But Petro-Can, a federal Crown corporation, is turning petrochemicals in Ontario, has been forced to scramble for freehold oil.

In April, the marketing commission assumed powers it had available since 1974 to become the sole buyer of all oil produced from the province's Crown lands.

The commission also struck from its list of clients all buyers who had been both oil producers in Alberta and refineries somewhere in Canada.

Leitch contended the moves were not intended to interfere with inter-provincial trade or to control the end use of Alberta oil.

But Petro-Can, a federal Crown corporation, is turning petrochemicals in Ontario, has been forced to scramble for freehold oil.

that 15 per cent of oil not pumped from Crown lands, in order to obtain its supply requirements.

The province appears intent on providing Ottawa it does in fact have the power to control and regulate the resources it owns.

Leitch contended the moves were not intended to interfere with inter-provincial trade or to control the end use of Alberta oil.

Reason for optimism

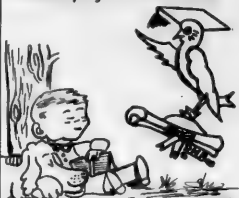

The economic slowdown in the auto industry as already had an effect on the Canadian economy, particularly in central Canada where that industry is located. It can be hoped that auto industry unemployment, in both countries, will be only a temporary phenomenon, while the industry shifts gears (and production lines) into thinking small and into creating cars for the 80's which can meet minimum standards of gasoline

Here is what I found: "Postal Workers Can Strike Legally a Week from Today"; "Teachers Vote to Walk Out"; "Board and Union Disagree"; "Policeman Killed in Rioting";

AFTER THE RECESS I again poked up where I left off, deciding that if a search was really made surely something pleasant could be found in the affairs of man. And I found it.

"POLITICS PUTS THE 'NONI' AHEAD." That was pleasant to contemplate, and I thought, well after all, just

Highway Clean-up! Big success for the Hasting's Coulee Club. There was a good turn out except for Allen Henderson and Karen Jakus who were at 4-H Selections. We congratulated Allen who won a trip to Ontario and Karen for being first on the alternate list. May 14 was the meeting for the club which was held at Arnold Gamrock's home. The members discussed plans for Achievement Day which will be held June 2 at Loughheed. They also discussed 4-H camps for the summer and a stall display. The members plan on participating in the Provincial Bahaw Heifer show in July. After the meeting there was a fast pace game of soccer enjoyed by the members. Maria Jahn Club Reporter

Provincial 4-H Selections 1980

One hundred forty-four senior 4-H club members attended the Provincial 4-H Selections held at Oles Agricultural College, May 24. Delegates were chosen to attend the conference on the basis of their past achievement in 4-H and community endeavours. They came from all parts of the province, some travelling many hours on the bus from their homes in far northern Alberta.

Sixty members were selected to attend the international, national and inter-provincial 4-H events as Alberta delegates. They will function in the capacity of ambassadors for Alberta and the Alberta 4-H program at the various events. During the three day program a variety of small group discussions were conducted. 4-H facilitators worked closely with delegates. In addition to the group discussions, leadership and personal conduct, the delegates, aged 15 to 30 years, wrote an exam covering 100 questions dealing with knowledge of world and Canadian current events and the 4-H movement.

Delegates came back to the early 1980's when Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways sponsored ten young farmers to national competitions in Toronto. The 1980 Provincial 4-H Selections program was organized by the Alberta Agriculture, 4-H Branch. It was jointly sponsored by Alberta Agriculture, Agriculture Canada, United Grain Growers and the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Winners of the various categories were announced during the Awards Banquet, Monday, May 28. From this area, Allen Henderson of Fairview was selected as one of nine delegates to represent Alberta at the International 4-H Exchange, July 7-21. He will be going to Ontario. Delegates will be honoured at a send-off banquet at the Edmonton Plaza. This trip is sponsored by the Royal Bank of Canada.

Margaret Davidson of Alberta was selected to attend the National 4-H Conference in Toronto, November 11-15. The sponsor being the Canadian 4-H Council.

Congratulations to these young people. We know they will represent our province well and find these trips exciting and rewarding.

Galahad girl attends national 4-H seminar

Carmen Brown

Carmen Brown of Galahad was among 30 Canadian 4-H members that went to Ottawa to attend the National 4-H Citizenship Seminar from May 3-7.

The theme of the trip was "Our Right to Political Power," said Miss Brown, "referring to young people."

The whole objective was to show how young people could get involved, and it was very successful. We were busy from the time we arrived until the time we left," said the 16 year old.

Much of the program consisted of panel discussions with members of Parliament and other young people in politics. The group and a lobbyist and an ex-servant speak to them. Tours included a trip to Parliament Hill. "We saw Queen's Park, and sat in the member's gallery," said Carmen.

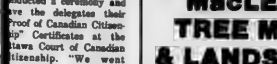

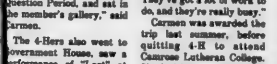

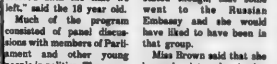

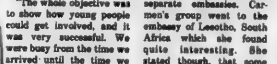

The 4-Hers also went to Government House, saw a performance of "Leslie" at the National Arts Centre, and viewed 34 Sussex Ridge.

Judge Yvonne Kerr conducted a ceremony and gave the delegates their Proof of Canadian Citizenship at the Court of Canadian Citizenship. "We went through the same procedure as immigrants go through," said Miss Brown. A final banquet was held where the group left with Mr. Williams, School of

Flagstaff Further Education

Another busy week in the life of Adult Education in the County of Flanagan.

A meeting of the P.E.S. Office in Killam on Wednesday, May 7, brought together a number of Ceramic instructors and area contacts. Statistics show that for the fall 1979 and the spring session of 1980 over one-third of our government allotment, which is $11,000 has been funneled into Ceramic programming, which serves the needs of approximately 150 adults. We of the executive feel that we are not using good judgement in spending the funds in one area of adult learning, to that extent.

A budget of hours drawn up by the group for fall programming was accepted by the executive at Monday's meeting, and approval was given to strike a committee at the next general meeting to study the course, (number of hours to a course outline, which instructors will be expected to adhere to).

A first time around for Flagstaff Further Education - we are offering English as a Second Language to a Refugee family of six at Forestburg, and four Japanese employees of Alberta Power will also be taking the course. This will be an ongoing course with Advanced Education and Macleod picking up the tab.

Once again I must mention we are looking for lab suggestions. Tell to your contact - we need your voice.

A general meeting is scheduled for June 10 at the County building at 7:30 in the evening - hopefully, you'll be there.

HARDISTY LEGION AUXILIARY.

The Legion Auxiliary met on Monday evening in the H.I. with 10 members present. The meeting opened with the usual flag ceremony. In the absence of the President, Mrs. L. Granger took the chair.

An interesting letter from Mrs. Ruth Thon (Miles) was read, describing her new home in Whitehorse and sending greetings to all.

A request was read for a donation toward for the improvement in the school program. This was tabled until the June meeting.

Hardisty Auxiliary discuss hospital

The Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary was planned to have Mr. George Matthews as a special guest speaker at a regular Auxiliary meeting, held May 13 at the Hardisty Hospital. George displayed the block schematic drawings of our new hospital, and explained the scope of the time frame given for construction, and stated that the most pressing item at the moment is reaching a decision with the Town of Hardisty as to the location of the new hospital. The Auxiliary was most impressed with the over-all plans and we are indeed fortunate to be receiving such a lovely and complete facility.

The meeting was informed by Treasurer Charlotte Guba, that a Spectrophotometer, which is used for blood analysis in the lab, has been purchased with the generous donation given by Miss Birgit Nelson of Amisk. A plate is to be affixed to the Spectrophotometer indicating it was donated by Miss Nelson. Phyllis Manning stated that the machine has already been in use for the past two weeks, and that the lab technicians are very pleased to have this new equipment. Charlotte also reported that our Spring Bazaar had been a financial success.

Invitations were received to the Dayland Ladies Auxiliary Strawberry Tea, and to the Eastern Regional Conference of Hospital Auxiliaries to be held this year in Orem. It is hoped that some members will be able to attend these functions. A very kind letter was received from Gladys and Enar Johnson of Amisk expressing their pleasure in the announcement of our new hospital, and offering suggestions on how we might obtain more widespread community involvement in our endeavors. We are very grateful for their ideas and hope to put them to good use this fall.

75th Anniversary Salute to a pioneer

Katherine Garroth, 70, has lived her entire life in the Galahad district. "I was born in Galahad, raised three miles west, got married and lived three miles east, and now I live right in the middle," said Mrs. Garroth. Katherine married Paul Garroth in 1935 and the couple lived on their farm until he passed on in 1968. "I worked hard doing chores," said Mrs. Garroth. She explained that while Paul worked the fields, she milked the cows, fed the chickens, did the gardening and the housework. "For those days the field work was done with horses and there were no milking machines."

She continued working on the farm until 1960 when she moved into town. Katherine then worked at Washburn's which is now the General Store, for six years before retiring.

Paul and Katherine had four children, two boys and two girls. Presently, Katherine has 18 grandchildren who come to visit her often.

Mrs. Garroth is proud of Galahad and said that she has always been satisfied with it, otherwise she wouldn't have stayed. The town is working on a history book about Galahad and district, and she stated, "I think Galahad is going to have a wonderful book."

Mrs. Garroth said that the town has always been home to her. "My family lives around here and always has," she said that the people of the village have always been good to her. "If friends are wanted, all that is necessary is to take part with them in community events."

Katherine also said that she loves Alberta and added that it is as nice a place as anywhere. "I have no complaints about Alberta's climate. It has good fresh air and the soil is good for County looks at aid

Dave Gower, representing Alarm Indicting Devices (AID) gave a sales pitch to Plagiat County Council as part of the County meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, May 22.

The AID system which indicates motor defects in vehicles by alarming the operator by light and sound, can be especially good use to County bulk equipment which have motors in the back. In this type of vehicle the operator has little knowledge of motor problems.

The alarm system, explained Gower, can monitor up to 168 functions and has a one year non-detonation guarantee. However, the system that Council was being shown had four motors in the back.

The operator was reportedly doing well with the vehicle, when the blade hit the guy wire which pulled the blade down and cut the voltage wire.

As soon as the wires were cut, the breaker cut the power off, and the wire fell to the ground causing little harm. Council seemed extremely concerned over the situation, but could not come up with a way to better handle the problem other than to hope breakers will always work.

It was decided to check out other such systems which may be less expensive, though less elaborate.

Operator Equipment
Council agreed to install six air conditioners into the remaining graders without the temperature control. The conditioners will cost $1,600 each.

Also, it was decided that the continuation of installing pre-coolers for equipment air flow systems was necessary. Council felt that it saved money from damage by all of the recent heat and dust in the air.

Operator Accident
A County motor grader operator was responsible for cutting 12,000 volt high power lines in Forestburg, in early May.

The operator was reportedly doing well with the vehicle, when the blade hit the guy wire which pulled the blade down and cut the voltage wire.

Fish Lake Rehabilitation
It was decided at the meeting that the Fish Lake Subdivision, Country Residential One be moved. The Council felt that it was a bad piece of land, and that it be moved to keep trailers off the land and encourage houses to be built.

Hazardous Waste Meeting
A Hazardous Waste Management Meeting will be held on Thursday, May 28, at Wainwright with the intent to hear citizen's input.

Plagiat County Council will present one to Environment Canada in charge of the hearing.

Lougheed wants renewed federalism

Premier Peter Lougheed has made clear he interprets the victory of the 'non' forces in the Quebec referendum as support for the end of 'renewed federalism'.

In the wake of the May 30 Quebec referendum, Lougheed said he is now prepared to attend a first ministers' conference aimed at reforming the constitution.

But he argues he first wants Ottawa to show a willingness to yield powers to the provinces and abandon its tendencies toward greater centralization of power in the federal capital.

The premier has indicated that his government doesn't intend to alter any of its longstanding positions on constitutional reform, despite his remarks at the recent Western premiers' conference that there is now a "will" among the provinces to bring about change.

Lougheed said he won't agree to entrenchment of French language rights in a new constitution even though his Interprovincial Affairs Minister, Del Johnston indicated the government was softening its stand on this question as recently as a few weeks ago. The premier also says he is bound by 1976 vote of the legislature to adhere to the stance that all provinces must give unanimous consent before any change are made in the 16-year-old British North America Act which lays out the differing responsibilities of provincial and federal governments.

Failure to reach unanimous consent has broken the back of several efforts at constitutional reform in the past.

Lougheed also said that a conference held before resolution of the current oil pricing dispute between Alberta and the federal government.

"I don't see how constitutional change could be successful in the face of a very serious potential confrontation over resources."

The premier argues that the province's constitutional position paper, Harmony in Diversity, presented in 1978 presents an appropriate blueprint for a new Constitution.

The paper calls for greater powers in the hands of the country's provincial governments.

Publicly, Lougheed refused to acknowledge the possibility of unilateral action by the federal government if its fails to get agreement on constitutional change at a first ministers' conference.

"Unilateral action and removed federalism are just completely inconsistent."

He said Ottawa must heed the results of the February 18 federal election in which the Liberals were shut out of all seats in the three westernmost provinces to realize the danger of acting alone.

Any constitutional conference must not solely address the problems of seceders in Confederation, but must also respond to the interests of Westerners by yielding greater power to the provinces, he said.

Sedgewick Chamber Reports

A demonstration by Mrs. Mary Woodbury and Mr. Daryl Berthiaume, representatives of the Institute of Cultural Affairs, was a lively highlight of the regular dinner meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce held at the Lathams Hall, May 20. They gave a short preview of a Forum which they would conduct later in the year if the Chamber wishes to sponsor this activity. Its objective is to encourage people to participate in community activities for the betterment of all.

The meeting, conducted by President Al Strohman, dealt with a number of local matters. The rooms read President of dry weather, travel and next year will be made an all-weather road.

The tourist information by Sedgy's Service Station and will be managed during July and August by the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce. Sideways on Meadow Lane Drive in the new subdivision have been proposed. Due to the unsatisfactory condition of the present water tank, it may soon be replaced. They have hydrants installed throughout the town and to upgrade the first fighting equipment.

The Farm Parents Award Committee reported that they had chosen a candidate. The committee for street lighting has completed its work and is now ready to present the project to Town Council. Close-up work seems to have been successful and all agreed that the streets and allies are in good condition. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Postage were announced as invitation to the Chamber to hold the June meeting at their home. It was moved and seconded that each member invite one other person to come. Social hour to precede the supper. Mr. T. Lyons, M.L.A. is to be invited to attend.

A nominating committee was appointed to conduct the annual election of officers. Plans for a field for July 1 were discussed and a committee appointed. It was suggested that a field to go to the Purdie Park might be arranged.

Next meeting date in June 17. These dates not meet during July and August.

Quebec says non

Quebec's voting against the referendum has given Canada a chance to correct its constitutional wrongs.

The negative votes not only came from English speaking Quebecers but from all over the province including many from constituencies of powerful Parti Quebecois delegates, including its leader, Rene Levesque.

The federalists captured almost 60% of the popular vote against the referendum in downing the separatist movement. But the referendum vote doesn't change the situation in Canada. It does, at least for now stifle serious subversive movements in the country.

In voting non, Quebec reaffirmed its faith in Confederation and in a united Canada. This thought is only the beginning of the solution to the problem. Canada must change its political system and take action in this direction soon. Already the federal government has stated that a constitutional conference will be held in late summer or early spring.

Other countries have changed their constitutions many times. Although Canada is a young country, 113 years with the same constitution tends to make many of its philosophies old hat.

Not only is the present constitution outdated, but since it is British in influence, it is totally irrelevant in today's Canada which if anything leans toward an American way of thinking.

This may be the last chance Quebec gives its country to correct the British North American Act which does not give a fair shake to the French in this bilingual country. If ever again the situation becomes this serious, Canada may find itself split at its seams and torn from its historical roots.

What Others Say

Roadside night walker

From time to time wildlife officials and conservationists warn of the possibility of one species or another becoming extinct. There is certainly one endangered species that is very much a risk, not only to himself but to others if he does not change his "plumage" to adapt to conditions. It is the Roadside Night Walker.

This bird does not actually walk while walking down the side of the highway, periodically sticking his thumb out at approaching traffic and encroaching on the traffic lane, that while he might feel well "lit up" (and some perhaps are), that vehicles driving that side are facing oncoming traffic and are far more interested in it.

If that oncoming line of traffic consists of one or more one-eyed drivers, it is rather difficult to gauge where the main body behind the "eye" is situated — his own side, the middle, or the wrong side. Many cautious drivers faced with the on-coming one-eye feel it is safer to pull well over on to their own side. This however is where the darksuited, well camouflaged, hitchhiker has his stand, hoping for a lift. Well, lift is exactly what he is apt to get — or a suit and body press.

Please, those who plan to pace the highway at night, wear light-colored clothing, preferably equipment with reflector tape — or carry a light. Even that does not guarantee safety, but it could help warn of someone off to the side.

One of the hairiest of hair-raising experiences in driving at night is to have a one-headlight vehicle skin past you on one side and to catch sight of a dark form or two side past the window on the other side close you know you must have polished their coat buttons.

So watch it there, you night hitchhikers, or you will be guaranteed a ride, — one way in ambulance or hearse.

Political playthings

Politicians' wives seem to suffer particularly from an illusive sense of self-worth.

Margaret Trudeau has been on a long, public, and often tedious quest to find herself. Joan Kennedy and Betty Ford suffer variations of the same trip.

Although Joe Clark's wife, Maureen, appears to enjoy her first lady role, she carefully keeps all options open retaining her maiden name, aiming to continue her law career and even run for office. The quest for self isn't exclusively a female problem as Prince Philip and Britain's Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's husband can testify.

Philip left off steam playing polo, flying planes, and taking pot-shots at cheeky journalists. Ian Thatcher staidly kept up his own career (he's rich, and delicately commented the wives' inevitable round of cocktails, shopping and hospital tours during a Commonwealth conference in Zambia by, as the press put it, "playing a great deal of golf."

Journalist-broadcaster, Michele Landsberg, wife of former Ontario NDP leader Stephen Lewis, who has been there herself, says no matter how she acts and what she says a political wife can't win. The only solution she sees is to pay a salary and spend out her dues and treat them: with the impersonal respect accorded public servants — if wives are to play a public role and be publicly accountable.

Landsberg warns a political wife's job is ...

"a muddle of conflicting demands and ambiguous rewards. No one elects her and no one pays her." Maybe it's time the beleaguered wife of the politician get equal pay for equal work!

Letters to the Editor

Ewan Emlen Sedgewick Lake — a bad reputation, unsafe, not suitable for camping, broken glass, rowdiness, etc. Yes all these things have been said about Sedgewick Lake, but 42 girls and boys and their leaders will tell you otherwise, except maybe for the rowdiness caused by the girls' theme song.

Guides from Ryley, Holden, Viking, Storme, Alliance, and Sedgewick took part in a weekend camp held recently. Much of the success of the camp goes to Mrs. Elaine Keith and staff, as well as the firemen and Kiwanis of Sedgewick who were there nights and their time to clean up the picnic area. It can be said that without a doubt we appreciated the efforts of all those involved who helped make the camp possible. Although the weather did not fully cooperate, 46 people went home Sunday tired but happy after a fun filled weekend. And yes, all those things said about Sedgewick Lake certainly were not true this weekend. New that the picnic grounds are really cleaned up (the objective of destroying rowdiness is not to remain in power the struggle will continue and confusion will reign. What Mr. Levesque does not realize is the idea that most of his objectives for Quebec can be attained within the bounds of Confederation. If demands are kept within reason and without the objective of destroying rowdiness in the process. Unfortunately this is not his objective, but rather to obtain everything he wants by any means possible, and respect what is unacceptable. What it really amounts to is that he

LEST YOU GET CARRIED AWAY with the idea that now the Referendum vote is over and the "Oui" absolutists have taken a severe drubbing at the expense of the more rational element, let it be pointed out that the struggle to solve the basic issues in Quebec, and for that matter over the entire nation, will not be easy nor will it be a short-time effort. The hope for tranquility, like the expected calm after a severe storm, does not always materialize. Rather the aftermath can be as devastating as the confrontation itself. The disappointment of those who sponsored and backed the call for sovereignty association (the first step toward independence) will not easily and willingly become passive subscribers from their position. Rather will they pursue new methods of approach intended to captivate the minds of discontent as convincingly that another test case could see the "Oui" side victorious.

RENE LEVESQUE strikes one as the kind who at his best when attempting to stir the angry passions of the malcontent, and light the fires of disaffection against those who govern. He is devious in his methods, persuasive in his arguments and persistent in his aims and does not shrink the contemplative mind as one who will abandon a cherished dream or forsake his objective. For those reasons it is possible to assume that as long as he remains in power the struggle will continue and confusion will reign. What Mr. Levesque does not realize is the idea that most of his objectives for Quebec can be attained within the bounds of Confederation. Shower for Miss Rosemarie Kroetch

Amid welcome outdoor May showers, about 25 friends and relatives gathered at McCarthy Hall, Friday evening, May 23 at 8 p.m. to "Shower" Miss Rosemarie Kroetch with gifts and best wishes.

On behalf of the C.W.I., Mrs. Helen Nishan, M.C., presented Rosemarie with a lovely corsage. Attendees sat at the pink-and-white, streamer-and-table decorated tables were Regina Nishan, Mrs. Rebecca Kroetch and Mrs. Owen Kroetch.

Several personal selections were capably sung by Pat Spiller, Rosemarie's cousin, and suitable marriage poems from Eleanor McDougall's collection were read. A card index file line filled with favorite recipes inherited by friends and family showed how Rosemarie's busy, home-made schedule. A lovely assortment of useful gifts, large and small, were delivered and displayed with the assistance of the Pat Spiller, Rosemarie's cousin, and Terrence Mann, who also attended the Agriculture Canada has issued a new type of spring oat, Fidler.

New oat

Production of the oat was obtained at Agriculture Canada's Winnipeg Research Station by the Oat Plant Breeding Group. Fidler has a good resistance to common rosetts of oat smut, stem and leaf rust in Western Canada. In years when rust could be a problem, this will permit farmers to establish good yields and grades. The oat is a short, strong stemmed variety that yields well as Fidler, on the eastern prairie and should do best in a rust area. Fidler which has been released since 1978, will be offered to SeCan for increase and distribution. Farmers should be able to purchase the certified seed in 1982.

PUT PORK ON YOUR FORK

THE NEW PORK
 Pork innovations have taken place in pork production during the last few years. Pork today is different than pork of previous decades. Thanks to genetic selection for scientific breeding and feeding. It's leaner, lower in calories, and richer in proteins, minerals and vitamins. According to Alberta Hog Producers Marketing Board, today's new pork contains 20% more protein, 67% less fat, and 36% fewer calories than pork of the past.

HOGWASH
 There are many myths about pork that have developed over time. The following myths are accompanied by true statements.

MYTH
 Pigs are dirty animals.
TRUTH
 Because pigs have no sweat glands, they sometimes wallow in mud to keep cool. However, most of today's pigs live in spatial temperature controlled, sanitary barns where they are kept clean and their diet is watched.

MYTH
 Pork is loaded with calories and should never be eaten when you are on a diet.
TRUTH
 Today's pork contains 36% fewer calories than the pork of a few years ago. It's even recommended by reduction programs. A serving of body-building food like pork leaves you more satisfied at the end of a meal and less tempted to nibble.

ANNUAL PORK CONGRESS

MYTHS
 It's bad to eat pork in summer.
TRUTH
 Pork is a year-round meat that is especially good grilled out-of-doors. Give it the same care you would any product that needs refrigeration - milk, beef, eggs, etc. - and it stays fresh even in hot weather.

MYTH
 Pork is tough stuff. It needs to be cooked to 180° F for a long time to make it tender.

TRUTH
 Because today's pig goes to market at a younger age, you get more tender pork. You need to cook it only to an internal temperature of 170° F.

Heisler South Dairy and Beef 4-H

On May 5, Heisler South Dairy and Beef Club went to Donalda and started cleaning Highway 65 East. We all had safety vests on and the drivers of the trucks had large posters on their vehicles to let incoming traffic know what was going on. We also posted signs at the start of our clean-up. After three to four hours of hard work, we were finished and all invaded the Allan Strauss home. Mrs. Laura Strauss had the barbecue going and in no time everyone had cold pop and plenty of good food. What a day!

Daysland Lions honour hockey team

At its supper meeting in April, the Daysland Lions Club honoured the Daysland Bantam Hockey Team and coaches. The banquet was prepared by our two caterers, Mrs. Lorenson and Mrs. Dahlgren. After the banquet the boys were introduced and each presented with a trophy. Each coach was presented with a plaque from the Lions Club in appreciation of his good work.

President, Joe Longhe, presented the team's most valuable player award to Richard Rieckinger. Then Richard Rieckinger, as captain of the bantam hockey team, presented Betty and George Rieckinger with a plaque in appreciation of their work and time spent helping the team.

Special guest speaker was Mr. Joe Voytchek, a long time and well known successful hockey coach in Centoria. He emphasized to the boys the importance of getting a good education, even if you hope to make hockey your career. He told the team the best for good sportsmanship and clean play on a hockey player on and off the ice. His talk was most informative and filled with a lot of advice of behavior and what is expected of a hockey player which are often neglected or overlooked by coaches and parents.

Sedgewick Central High News

The Junior-Senior High School Track Meet which was held in Dayland on Wednesday, May 21 was well attended by competitors from Central. Our athletes were able to retain possession of the County Track and Field Trophy. Four of our students - Ken Powell - Junior Boys, Allan Baumgartner - Intermediate Boys, Corey Gabrick - Senior Boys and Karen Crusey - Senior Girls, won individual honours for their categories. The regional track and field competitions were held in conjunction with the County track meet with additional competitors attending from Tofield, Ryk, Holden and Viking. Twenty-five of the competitors from Central qualified to go to the Zone track meet in Canmore on Saturday, May 31. To qualify for some competition athletes had to finish first or second in their respective events in the regional competition. We wish our athletes success at the zone meet so that we can send a large contingent to the provincial.

On Monday, I had the pleasant task of phoning the parents of students who were honored for their academic achievements on Tuesday night at the Awards presentation. It is always such a pleasure to phone parents to tell them that their children are doing well. Miss Sedgewick and her nucleus worked very hard getting the Awards Night and student displays organized.

On June 3 the students registered in English 30 and English 35 will be required to write the Department of Education High School Achievement Test. The test is written in two parts with the "Written Expression" section being tested in the morning and the reading section being tested in the afternoon. The entire test takes three and a half hours to administer.

SECOND SECTION

WEDNESDAY, MAY 23, 1980

R.C.M.P. Report

R.C.M.P. Kilam Detachment have apprehended two suspects in relation to the May 18 theft of a Loughheed truck.

The truck was driven to Loon Lake, Saskatchewan, where the two were caught. It is also suspected that the two also stole a vehicle from Oyen and drove it to Loughheed, before changing stolen vehicles.

An investigation is being conducted in regards to the attempted breaking and entering of the Loughheed Co-op store.

The month of May has been marked this year with numerous motor vehicle accidents due to the warm weather and extensive partying. Most of the accidents have been alcohol related and have occurred in the early hours of the morning. The seizing of vehicles has brought the number of alcohol related incidents down, but not nearly enough.

Writers workshop a success

On the morning of Friday, May 23, 58 writers from points throughout Alberta and Saskatchewan gathered at the Kilam Legion Hall to take part in a three day writing technique workshop sponsored by Alberta Culture and Playstaff Creative Writers. The workshop, entitled Launching Yourself as a Writer, covered numerous topics related to the writing and marketing of both fiction and non-fiction.

The speakers were Mary E. Davis, editor of Barren magazine; Sharon Chevrone, author of From the Ground Up and Alberta's Prehistorical Past as well as many articles; Marie Jakobson, author of The Mind Game and president of the Canadian Authors Association; Helen Kosta, whose short story "This House" won the First Annual Flame Short Fiction Competition;

James H. Gray, former journalist and author of eight books including The Winter Years spoke of the pros and cons of writing books at the Playstaff Creative Writers Workshop banquet, Saturday at the Roman Catholic Church in Kilam.

Gray, the 1979 winner of the Alberta Non-Fiction Award, told the large crowd at the event of the troubles a writer may encounter while attempting to get a book published. Speaking from experience, he told the story of how it took him 18 years to get one of his manuscripts published.

However, he impressed that the advantage of being a book writer greatly over shadow the annoyances. "I think that being a book writer is the greatest thing a man can be." He stated though, that book writing is not a get rich quick type of thing, and pointed out that it is hard for a beginner due to lack of publishers.

Gray added that people who write books, write them because of a love and obsession to do so. "You've got to start writing a book because you've got to write a book," he said.

At the banquet a presentation was made to John Gilmore by Lynn Berrington on behalf of the Playstaff Creative Writers in appreciation of all his help to the group over the years.

Sunday, the writers participated in a morning talk on the theme, You The Professional Writer. The discussion included the working of both fiction and non-fiction markets.

James H. Gray

The workshop, the first of its kind to be held in Kilam, was a great success partly because of the warm hospitality extended to its participants by the residents and businesses of that community.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Maureen McGovern

She said, "I don't like it, so that's funny and that's all."

Dad and my brother just went into the house when the girl started to tell things about mine.

In the afternoon, I got darker and darker, pitch black, just like night. My two younger sisters came to mother's skirt while my cousin squeezed my hand so hard it hurt.

She whispered, "Let's sit on the chair." She missed it as it was when she thought it was and landed on the floor. It was so dark and stuffy, you couldn't see the white front on the stove and warming oven. The noise outside was loud but we all stood speechless as we couldn't see anything. Just as that was it came, it was fast. A quarter past two and all was calm again.

Dad went out to see what had happened, and much damage at our place, but we couldn't see the roof of our house, but when we were always so visible. That twister had taken the left off the barn as much as a whistle, picked it up and carried it and dropped it on a nearby shelf, smashing it. Also there was a strip one foot wide through the wheat crop, clear of crop, just dirt where the tail whipped the crop out of the ground. There had been damage in the field of the twister for three or four miles.

The next day a whirlwind from the South-East and it didn't seem very big or strong, but it picked up as our hay rack from the wheels and tossed it over the fence breaking it into a million pieces.

That summer the whirlwinds were plentiful and the dust blew everywhere. One day, Mrs. Barnett of Edmonton, in to visit Mom Shogren was Joyce Wilson and Nickie Joanne. The fence line piled high with mud. Mother and Dad used to tell us if we thought we might get caught in a wind to lay flat on the ground. Never had to do that but now we were scared when the west showed signs of an approaching storm like the Toronto.

Sure hope it rains soon as nothing would be worse than the return of the dry from the Toronto.

Carl and Doris Furviden came in to visit with Mathias Furviden, Hagar and Sarah Bell, and also to visit with Mother Bish were Douglas Rae, Peggy Rae, and Mrs. Minna Hoelling.

In from Caster to see Dina Wenash were Ben and John Wenash and Alice Wyden, and to visit Mrs. Sell on her 98th birthday.

INSECTS DESTROY SPRUCE TREES!

Hundreds of evergreen, shade and shelterbelt trees are destroyed or permanently damaged each year in our country. The culprits are the spruce mite, and the yellow-bellied sawfly.

The first sign of spruce mite damage becomes visible in mid May when needles appear dingy and brownish in color, later they turn red and fall off.

The presence of mites is characterized by an abundance of fine silken webbing between the needles of the branches. A positive identification can be made by rubbing a branch with a white sheet of paper. If spider mites are present you should be able to dislodge them and see them scurrying about on the paper. Severe infestations which are allowed to go untreated can severely reduce the tree's vigor and ultimately cause its death.

All evergreens, but particularly trees under 10 years of age are susceptible to attack from the yellow-headed spruce sawfly. The first damage usually appears in early June and is caused by the small sawfly eating portions of the needles. As the larvae increase in size, they will completely eat the needles and can strip the tree bare. Usually they attack the left and talking about school. The children will visit both the public and private school and it will be their first introduction to the classroom.

At the beginning of the month the Kindergarten visited all the churches in Killam. It was an educational experience for the children to discuss the different church practices and to view the different churches and meet the ministers and so we wish to thank you for the time given to them. Another experience was when the children walked to the grain elevators. There they saw how grain was weighed, stored and moved. Just as grain was discussed and tasted. Thank you for allowing us to visit. Thanks also to Mrs. E. Keldorfer and Mrs. Niekass. Mrs. Keldorfer explained the operation of the ambulance and allowed the children to walk through it. Mr. Niekass gave an extensive explanation of how the Killam Firemen operated. It ended with a good interaction talk about "Fire Safety". The last interesting visit was to the Hot Huttenrot Colony at Ina. A guided tour of the colony gave the children insight into cultural differences. While there, the children enjoyed a picnic lunch and a time of play with the colony youngsters.

With the flowers out so early, a simple plant study was done. The study included planting beans and a trip to George's greenhouse.

Regular inspections and the proper action can keep your evergreens healthy and green for many years to come.

Alberta Environment has just awarded a $1,986,596 contract to Ras-Dam Construction Limited of Edmonton to construct the saw dam on the Vermilion River in the Town of Vermilion.

Killam Kindergarten

Kindergarten is finally coming to a close. This month has been busy practicing the alphabet, writing numbers, remembering which is right, and left and talking about school. The children will visit both the public and private school and it will be their first introduction to the classroom.

Several mothers took time out to visit our class which the Kindergarten appreciated. Mrs. Durbro brought baby chicks and ducks for the children to watch and see. Mrs. McLaughlin brought in baby aprons that had survived a fall from their nest and showed the children how she had them.

75th Anniversary Sedgewick man makes crafts

To meet people who indulge in art, craftwork is tough enough without sometimes limiting oneself to the usage of old doorknobs, iron, axes, horseshoes, wagonwheels, etc.

This though, is exactly the type of materials Albin Anderson, 68, of the Sedgewick district uses in many of his creations which include a multitude of projects related to Alberta's 75th birthday.

But Albin doesn't always limit himself to the use of junk. His woodwork and electrical know-how has also enabled him to build some homecoming displays which he may lead to certain towns in the country. These projects again, are outstanding.

Mr. Anderson began his

As an example of the unusual materials Albin uses would be his 75th anniversary table. The top is actually an old, rather large grinding wheel with the Alberta "75" symbol on the face made out of copper wire. Mr. Anderson then uses Ultra-Glow, a resin like fluid to smooth it out. The legs of the table are made out of numerous old tools which have been smoothed out and painted.

As strange as some of his creations may sound, the outcome is exceptional, and his craftsmanship, unique.

Keeping in Touch

ARNOLD MARLOW, M.P.
CANADA
We are the world's second largest nation. We have the potential to have the world's strongest economy. This land is big, diverse, and rich in human and natural resources.

The mere size of Canada is staggering and makes knowing one another a genuine challenge. In fact, few people realize that it is further from Calgary to Halifax than it is from Calgary to Mexico City. Likewise, it is further from Yellowknife to the North Pole than it is from Yellowknife to San Francisco. Also, it may surprise some readers to learn that Whitehorse is 500 miles east of Victoria.

This immense land, sparsely populated, has very little for development. Our major limitation is sunshine which negatively affects winter tourism and fruit and vegetable production. On virtually all other dimensions ours is the nation of the 21st century.

Our energy supplies are enormous. Fully one third of all the fresh water lakes of the world are contained in Canada, underfooting the potential of a fresh water fishery. Our forest and mineral reserves are the envy of the world.

Only a few are cognizant of the fact that the most southerly land mass of Canada, Middle Island, Lake Erie, is further south than the California-Oregon border. We praise people generally think of the 69th parallel as the Canada United States border; however, only three capital cities of our nation or provinces are north of the border. Also, if the 69th-parallel was the border across all of Canada, we would decrease our population by 60 per cent and lose three Atlantic provinces in total plus the populated areas of Newfoundland, Quebec, and Ontario.

If we could build a huge bridge that was secured along the east side of the Atlantic Provinces and then flip Canada over, Vancouver would then be some 800 miles in the interior of Europe.

So that you might have pity on your poor M.P., note that Ottawa is the oldest capital of a country except Ulan Bator, the capital of Outer Mongolia. I do, however, recognize my fortunes. Our lowest record of temperature was -81°F in Snag, Yukon, in February 1947 - a bad time to put your tongue on the pump handle.

And, as a means of keeping in touch, Canada has more miles of telephone lines per capita than any other nation and spends almost twice as much line per capita on the telephone as the United States, the second highest user of the line.

To demonstrate that the list goes on, note that all provinces, except the three prairie provinces, border on salt water.

How is that for some cuff around the waist.

The Sunday School wind-up winter roast was a bit damp at St. John's last Sunday morning, but the food and games moved indoors, and the kids and their teachers had a wonderful time. Killam students return cash

Four Killam Public School students found an envelope containing $22 outside the back of Killam Electric during a school clean-up campaign, and returned it to the owner, May 16.

Grade six students, Kerry Buse, Danny Basterah, Brent Gaurme and Darren Oloson found the envelope of cash to their teacher, Gerry Zetzel.

The group then passed it on to Killam Electric who identified the envelope as being the property of Red Deer Welding Supplies. Apparently the company's driver had dropped the money while delivering to the store.

During the afternoon clean-up campaign, the four pupils were working on the alley behind Killam Electric. Kerry was picking up litter behind the store when he found the envelope in some mud.

He called for the other boys, and together they opened the envelope. After discovering the contents, they called their teacher, Red Deer Welding Supplies sent the Killam school a letter to be passed on to the boys, thanking them for the honesty. The company also gave the students some company pens and stickers.

The following is a letter sent to Killam Public School.

We write to express our sincere thanks to your students, who, while working on a clean-up campaign, found a cash envelope in the alley behind Killam Electric's premises, then turned the envelope over to Killam Electric, for our driver.

This is a further indication that our young people, so often maligned by adults, are basically as honest, if not very often more so than given them credit.

We are enclosing a few pens and company stickers, which young people seem always to be asking us for, to present to the students as a remembrance of our sincere good wishes to their future.

Thank you again,
Yours sincerely,
Red Deer Welding Supplies

Child abuse and neglect

Children in our society have been victims of abuse and neglect since the human race began. However, with the stresses that have come along with modern-day technology, the rate seems to be escalating.

From 1974 to 1978, some 30,000 cases of child abuse and neglect have occurred in Alberta. This figure involves some 25,000 families, and from 1977 to 1978 alone, the rate has jumped 25 per cent.

Although figures have not been accumulated since, the problem is undoubtedly increasing.

With Alberta's sudden wealth and growth, the crime seems to be caused by an increased stress in the lives of Albertans. During the 70's, Alberta's divorce rate has grown incredibly fast along with other social problems.

Fortunately, with the increase of the crime, an awareness has come about to the problem by the people of the province. Friends and neighbors are the first to report child abuse and neglect, followed by hospitals, schools and police.

In Alberta, many officials involved with child rights suggest a child advocate system. This involves a scheme in which a third party speaks for the interests of the child in court.

This system would alleviate the present problem, where the child is in the middle of the battlegrounds between his or her parents and the laws of society. But are there any solutions to stop or at least slow-down the parental crime of abuse and neglect from rupturing children mentally, for life.

What Others Say

Western representation

When the Liberal government in Ottawa first announced it was contemplating the twinning of western constituencies with eastern ones and thereby have the sitting government members more or less represent two areas the idea met with very little favor here in the west. Outside of the party faithful very few people in fact could see any merit in the scheme.

The strong negative reaction, particularly from this province where only Progressive Conservatives were elected, should have alerted the government to the fact that Liberal representation is something Albertans are not too keen about. The plan is still in the works, however, and according to Senator Bud Olson's thinking it should overcome some of the problems now evident with no western voice in the government caucus.

Having an eastern MP carry the concerns of western voters to the government is not exactly representation in the minds of many Albertans. The mechanics of the twinning would have the selected MP conversing with provincial representatives of the Liberal party for the most part. One would have to be a dreamer to think or even hope that the selected MPs would converse with PC party associations and herein lies the weakness of the scheme.

A minority party in the politics of the province will no doubt have a greater voice in matters of western policy than the elected representatives or the party which gained the most votes. This is hardly a true democratic way of accomplishing representative government. It might even be viewed by some as ignoring the voice of the ballot boxes.

At the present time we can't see the scheme bringing any great benefit to westerners. What we do see is bringing is a further erosion of Liberal popularity in the west, something the present government can ill afford. Very few constituencies in Canada are ever content for very long with a non-resident member of parliament - the twinning concept is doubly bad in that it is representation by a non-resident, who also happens to be of a different political leaning. Hardly a recipe for success.

Open door of the U.S.A.

A question posed the other day points up a great truth: "Are people clamoring into boats or braving danger in such numbers to go anywhere but the U.S.A.? Does the Soviet Union have such magnetic pull?"

Refugees from everywhere it seems are fleeing to the "open heart and the open mind" of the U.S.A. For 200 years this generosity has been displayed to great migrations. One of these migrations - the 19th century migration from Central Europe - made the U.S.A. in the first place. The U.S.A. constitution from the outset opened the door to American citizenship to all willing to subscribe to its principles - regardless of race, ethnicity, origin, color or creed.

Thus we have today the waves of Boat People from Indochina and the Cuban refugees from across the Florida Strait flooding the U.S.A. haven.

Added to this there has been a wider and heavier steadier influx of Spanish-speaking immigrants from elsewhere, especially Mexico. A recent series of articles in the Christian Science Monitor shows Hispanics will soon overtake blacks as the biggest minority in the country.

With this scale of immigration occurring, one is left to wonder if the U.S.A. can much longer sustain the promise of its constitution. Can it accept another culture and language? Much social upheaval may well be in store for that great country where many of the white majority do not yet accept blacks as equals and where racial tensions still result in tragedies like that in Miami.

Let Canadians cast no accusations when the inevitable happens. Racial intolerance has been all too evident everywhere in our country, especially towards the small sprinklings of Pakistanis and the Boat People.

AMID THE VOLU-MINOUS cries of joy which spread wide across the land as the result of the Referendum in Quebec, could also be more faintly heard, the sighs of relief that the people of that Province had decided to put Nationalism ahead of Separatism; had expressed a desire to seek their destiny within the bounds of national unity.

Here then, from the region from whence has long emanated dissatisfaction and discontent, came the message clear and loud for Federalism to re-vamp and re-clothe nationalism in more meaningful and acceptable articles and clauses, bringing up-to-date an outmoded Act which for too many years has been dusting and a-molding in the ancient archives of a land far removed from the Canadian scene.

HERE THEN was the opportunity given to grasp the helm and steer the ship of state into a calmer harbor, to initiate needed repairs and launch once again a more worthy Constitution able to withstand the buffeting of time and the vagaries of human regional desires. Withholding tactics and procedural delays, manipulating regional advantages and maneuvering for special privileges will only serve to keep the national vessel in dry-dock, and will, if persisted in, give assurance that the Constitution will remain right where it is for another hundred years. The opportunity lies before us NOW and we might well plainly state that where the will is strong and the desire meaningful, anything can be accomplished. But the culmination of such a situation would be a far cry from the present situation where our nation is quickly becoming the laughing stock of the world, picturing Canada as a nation becoming ineffectual in national decisions and incapable of good housekeeping at home. Let us get on, meaningfully and with a determination to gain world esteem and respect at home. A failure to do so will leave a legacy of which future Canadians will have little pride.

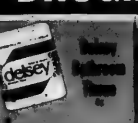

fact, demanding that we watch the antics and play-acting of leaders and more especially politicians in their efforts to appease one element of our society at the unacceptable expense of another; making expansive statements often bordering on untruth, to carry favor where the ballot boxes carry the most weight.

IT WEIGHS HEAVY on the mind attempting to decipher the code that politicians make use of to bewilder and immobilize, or at least confuse and make ineffectual any effective reasoning by the masses, preferring rather to herd them into one common mass where contention will always exist. At times the situation reaches such proportions of dismay that many people have actively not faith in the ability, nor even the desirability of politicians to solve the economic and social disorders that plague the society.

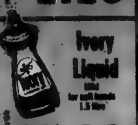

ALL OF THE FORE-GOING portrays a gloomy picture, but it would be far more so if it were not for the hope that springs eternal in the human breast, that someone will be able to put together the parts of Canada's jigsaw puzzle that are scattered about the nation and bring them all together, uniting them into one whole piece which will be a joy and delight not only to us, but to future generations, which will show plainly that where the will is strong and the desire meaningful, anything can be accomplished. But the culmination of such a situation would be a far cry from the present situation where our nation is quickly becoming the laughing stock of the world, picturing Canada as a nation becoming ineffectual in national decisions and incapable of good housekeeping at home. Let us get on, meaningfully and with a determination to gain world esteem and respect at home. A failure to do so will leave a legacy of which future Canadians will have little pride.

Killam Rebekah Lodge

The sisters of Silver Lake, our two visitors, and two candidates met at the Tasty Mill Restaurant, where they enjoyed a delicious dinner, after which they met at the Legion Hall for their regular meeting.

Assembly President, Sister Margaret Sells of Calgary, and the Deputy President Sister Ida Black were welcomed. The committee reported on the food hamper raffle, a thank you had been sent to the Killam Co-op, for giving us a place in the store to hold the raffle, also thank you to Brodie's Bakery, for donating the lovely Mother's Day cake. The food hamper was won by Lisa Folgate, and the cake by Lisa Christensen.

The members were reminded again of the annual Oddfellows and Rebekah picnic, at Deepened Campground, near Cochrane. The Rebekahs agreed to assist the Oddfellows in making a Oast for the Killam and Sedgewick picnic.

The highlight of the evening was the initiation of two new members, Alison Baker and Craig Lawson.

In Good of the Order, the President brought greetings from the assembly, and gave a talk on different things pertaining to the work of the Lodge. The M.D. President invited the Killam Lodge to their meeting the following evening.

The N. Grand welcomed the visitors from Longwood and Margaret Baker from Calgary. After penny march, lodge closed and lunch was served and a social visit enjoyed with the members.

IN SPIRIT AND IN TRUTH
John 4:24... and a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

To most people in our society, this verse, though familiar to their intellect is foreign to the practical side of their Christianity.

Society has taken a drastic turn from comedy and real life drama to an intense interest in the spiritual world. Movies are showing and have in the past shown the fear which takes hold of a person who comes in contact with the so-called... "Demon-Possessed", or the one named to be the "Exorcist", or the person said to be in contact with the dead... "A Medium."

Much that is controversy about the spirit world has brought fear, doubt, and a care-free attitude about the Good Spirit, or more commonly known as the Holy Spirit of God. Just you to Rev. Bob Crook and the Killam Baptist Church for the use of their facilities.

The only truth suitable and reliable is found in the Holy Scriptures, written by men who were moved upon by the Holy Spirit to give us a pattern and knowledge by which to worship God. Nothing outside the restriction of the Word of God will please our Heavenly Father.

Truth is relative only to God and things in association with Him.
Spirit involves setting aside the confines of Physical Sense and feeling by faith in God. Faith is regulating your life, not by what seems right to your reason, but obeying that which God says to do in His Word, for no other reason than He is God and He said that we are to do it that way.

Chop 54 year veterans

One of the huge trees in front of Katie Gamroth's home, felled like an umbrella in Sunday evening wind and rain storms.

The veterans of 54 years, and another that also posed a threat to property and persons passing by were removed Monday morning. As the chain saw bit into the huge trunk demolishing them in short order, one could not help comparing the equipment used now, to that used when the boulevard trees were planted.

Dug up from old roads and the Battle River hills, the saplings arrived at their new location in a Model T car made into a small truck. This was considered a great step forward at that time.

George Hobson was the owner and driver. Think of the digging, planting, watering and cultivating that went into the growing of those trees all was done the hard way, with crude equipment.

Did anyone care when the old trees fell? "Yes, a little robin" it flew frantically, crying out in protest, as the men worked to fall the last tree. Her reason, high on a branch, was her nest containing her little blue treasures.

It will be many years before the three saplings planted to take the place of the Veterans offered shade and a building place for the birds.

Dominic and Mary Gamroth, Alvin and Angie Dietz, spent the June 1 weekend in Edmonton celebrating the Gerard Gamroth move, and the David Gamroth celebrate their 54th wedding anniversary.

Tuesday afternoon callers at Percy Gamroth's were Ron and Rosalie Zimmer of Mörver and their children, Wayne and Tanny.

A number of ladies surprised Anna Whitehead on Thursday morning, when they dropped in her coffee, bringing a birthday cake, gifts, cards, and good wishes for a happy birthday which she celebrated on May 31.

On May 10, Mrs. Edith Johnston went to Edmonton to see where 21 members of her family gathered at her daughter's home, Dorcas Patton, on Weber's Day.

The following Thursday, May 15, Mrs. Johnston and her daughter, Mrs. Dorcas Patton, went by airplane to Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

for a two week visit with Mrs. Johnston's sister, Mrs. Lennie Riddick and other relatives and friends.

Last Saturday night and Anne Wier returns from the Alberta Council on Monday, and both Wiers were Forewings visitors on Tuesday.

Mrs. Muriel Wright returned Sunday, from a holiday spent with members of her family in Calgary. Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Hall of Calgary spent Saturday in Gahland, leaving Sunday morning to visit Kay Paves in Edmonton.

Elbert Black and Alta Willis were Wednesday afternoon callers at the Henry Scott home in Edmonton.

On May 31, John and Dorcas Patton of Edmonton and Mrs. Johnston visited in Gahland and Lehigh and Harbort with relatives and friends, before taking Mrs. Johnston home to Gahland. They then spent the weekend with her at Gahland.

Karen, Ken and Bonnie Minner, Kelvin and Sharon Keichinger and girls all of Edmonton, visited with the O. Minners, Saturday morning. They were joined by the Michael Keichingers in the afternoon and all were in attendance at the wedding of Carolina, Kelvin and Michael's brother Jerome Keichinger to Laurie West at Hanna.

The Jerome Keichingers will make their home in Edmonton. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Keichinger attended the wedding too.

Mrs. and Mrs. Roy Minner of Pigeon Lake, Selkirk, visited Orville, Carolina, and Phillip Minner on Friday afternoon.

Vern and Anna McMahon of Ladysmith, B.C. called at the Gladys McMahon home on Friday evening. They were on their way to Stony Plain to visit relatives. Connie McMahon and children were guests at Gladys' also.

On May 31, John and Dorcas Patton of Edmonton and Mrs. Johnston visited in Gahland and Lehigh and Harbort with relatives and friends, before taking Mrs. Johnston home to Gahland. They then spent the weekend with her at Gahland.

75th Anniversary Salute to a pioneer

Frances Kueber, 86, was born and raised in Colton, Washington until the age of 26, then she moved to the Klamath district and was later married to Ed.

While in Washington, Frances completed school and obtained a second class teachers certificate. "I taught some of my own brothers and sisters," said Mrs. Kueber.

grandchildren, and says she is never lonely due to their numerous visits here.

Mrs. Kueber recalls a humorous situation on their Klamath farm. She said that every once in awhile she used to milk the cow, but it was used to having Ed milk it. "I used to put on my husband's coat or jacket and hat and go out to milk the cow," she said.

It was Frances, though, which made milking a difficult chore because of her own small size.

Frances found Washington to be much warmer than Alberta. "It took me a long time to get used to the cold when I first came to Alberta," she said, she soon fell in love with Alberta and quickly adjusted to the weather.

Mrs. Kueber said that the province's 75th birthday means a lot to her, since she has lived through most of it. "I have always lived the nervousness of Alberta," she added, that everything about the province just keeps on improving.

Frances always enjoyed her life on the farm, and first didn't want to move to Klamath. She said, though, that since she moved to Klamath in 1961 to retire, and the Kuebers later, in 1962, completed the building of a house on the north-west side of town for Frances. She now has 55 grandchildren and 90 great

GOOD OL' ALBERTA

Our province is happily celebrating her 75th anniversary this year. We can be proud of our achievements, our people, and our land. We are privileged to live in the most graced spot in the universe in a milk it. "I used to put on my husband's coat or jacket and hat and go out to milk the cow," she said.

It was Frances, though, which made milking a difficult chore because of her own small size.

Citizens will celebrate this year in different ways. I am well aware of the many homecomings and other special events that are being held to recognize our anniversary. Some farmers are planning shelter belts and many villages are undertaking beautification projects.

I also have a special project, and it requires help from my constituents. In the racing of Crowfoot there are 118 individual communities. All have a unique and special history; and all should be remembered. I am therefore, asking that volunteers send a photograph depicting an interesting group, structure, or activity of the pioneer days of your community.

I already have some of these wonderful photos: the sod houses, the road building with mules and others.

It is my intention to have a photographer reproduce one selected photo from each community and enlarge it to size 8" x 10". I will then caption the community, the event, and the approximate date.

These photos will then be framed and displayed in the reception alcove at Longhead Alliance. Indeed this would be a most interesting display of western history; one which would add to the appreciation of our region for all of those who come to meet in my office. I very much enjoy educating (and educating) to the richness of our history.

I would therefore appreciate receiving photographs, carefully wrapped, but postage free, to Arnold Malone, M.P., House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario.

Be sure to include two or three sentences that will assist in properly captioning the photo plus your return address. Let's hear from everywhere. New Brighton, Bodo, Benton Station, Michichi, Edenton, Amiah, Thorne, Enderby and the 105 other communities.

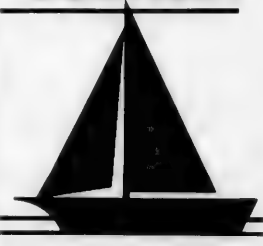

Your photos will be carefully stored and, whenever I know they will be returned by mail.

May I thank you in advance for assisting me in helping visitors to keep in touch with the early days of prairie Canada.

Arnold Malone

"FAREWELL BLUE AND RED"

Well, this is it. I close my locker door and stagger down the hall with my books. I pass the principal's office.

"Goodbye Mrs. Lamer," I say, picking my head into the small room.

"You're going now?" she asks.

"Yes, this is it," I reply and shift the heavy books in my arms.

"Can I help you with those?" she begins to ask.

"No," I say, "I can do it." I can do it. I've wanted to strike out on my own for a long time. It's just that twelve years of memories are hard to leave behind.

I continue down the hall, glancing in vacant classrooms as I go. The social room, the English room, the science lab. I remember our assembly rooms the first time we had to do a class in biology.

As I pass the washroom, memories of hiding in the cubicles smoking, of mid-morning gossip sessions and midnight sessions of private confidences shared with friends, all come pouring back. I want to open all these brass knuckles and see them all smacking their hair, blowing bubbles, but, because I know they're not behind the door anymore, I reluctantly pass by. But isn't that giggling I hear?

I take one last look at the home-room. This was the place Jan and I burned all those brass knuckles when Karol and I made chili but forgot the salt powder; when in grade ten we had a fashion show in which we modelled our first sewing efforts. The place I not only and fun, but learned how to take criticism for my mistakes, not to get upset when things went wrong, and where I learned most about being a woman. It played a big part in my growth up.

I sigh and close the door. Is that the third chicken we made for a Christmas party in grade eight, I smell?

Well, here I am. The end of the ball. All that's left is one more day and then school is over. Twelve years of my life completed. Finished. I never did get to go to the principal for the strap. I used to be proud of that best-a-perfect record and all-but... I don't know. I think I'll like another what at being a little blonde. I guess I'll just like another what.

I'm stilling. My last have stopped moving. After twelve years of waiting and yearning for the moment when I could finally leave get out of this brick building of boredom (and a small good time). I find myself wishing I was back in grade one... that first day when big men had to sit with bewiling kids, kids that wet their pants, kids that screamed when Mommy had to go, kids that finally got to make their first, started making friends with each other, playing together at recess, changing friends, working over kids, crying over a thousand and one trifles, starting to notice the opposite sex as something other than "rucky," shyly blushing under the mistletoe at the Junior High dance, dating, and also, graduating.

Some of these "kids" are now mothers, some are dropouts, some have moved away, three have died. Some may stay here and some, like me, will go. But we'll never all be together again. Graduation only comes once.

This is it. Even after twelve years of preparing for this, I'm still not sure if I'm ready. I mean, how can I go through the day without hearing Mrs. McMillen's raspy voice go through the hall, or watch Mr. Gutter's face turn red when discussing sexual reproduction in the science class?

As well, like somebody once said, there comes a time when you gotta let go. But even then, looking back, I hear bounding in the gym-7

The Alberta Heritage Trust Fund will take the plunge into purchases of blue-chip stocks, despite reservations of Conservatives that the move will extend government intervention in the marketplace.

The Longhead government plans to pass legislation this spring that will permit the Heritage Fund to buy shares in both the Canadian and foreign-owned corporations as a means to increase the Fund's yield.

The Heritage Fund earned 8.9% on its investment in 1978-79, the last year for which an annual report has been issued. And Fund managers are hoping that by diversifying Fund investments in other kinds of securities they will be able to enhance earnings above inflation.

The government has promised its supporters and critics alike that the Fund will not buy controlling, majority interests in companies and will restrict its purchases to minority positions that will not be used to exercise influence over managerial decisions.

Having made this promise however, the government has not included it in the legislation. And scored Leader Bob Clark has suggested the bill will give the government "carte blanche" to make any kind of blue-chip investments it may want.

In reply, the government says it will derive a set of guidelines for share purchases which it will present to the legislature's select committee on the Heritage Fund this summer.

Peter Knack (PC-Edmonton Whitecourt), whose constituency spearheaded approval of blue-chip investments at the Progressive Conservatives' annual convention, has suggested that the guidelines restrict stock purchases to a maximum of seven per cent of a great company.

The Fund's investment committee, the cabinet, would be allowed to exceed this limit under "special circumstances."

NDP Leader Grant Notley has objected to the decision to permit purchases of foreign-owned equities and argues that the role of equity purchases should be to place the Alberta economy back in Canadian hands.

Notley also contends that the Heritage Fund is losing sight of the original goal set by the government to aid in diversification of the economy.

However, the government responds that a collection of foreign stock portfolios is necessary to ensure a higher, stable return to the Heritage Fund.

And Premier Peter Lougheed is now warning that the Fund's primary, fundamental role is to be a savings account that will help pay for government services once Alberta's annual billions in conventional crude oil revenues begin to dry up.

In the same legislation allowing blue-chip investments, the government has also increased to a maximum of 10 per cent the amount of the Fund that can be lent to other provinces. Previously the maximum was 15 per cent, a level that the Fund reached last year.

Streets assistance program extended

A total of $6 million has been allocated for the 1986 Streets Assistance Program which will be extended to 199 towns, villages, and summer villages in the province, Transportation Minister Henry Kroeger announced May 14.

The Streets Assistance Program provides a capital grant to communities for capital projects such as paving, bus lanes, sidewalks, curbs and gutters, storm sewers, street lighting, and bridges.

"We are now into the third year of this ongoing grant program and the municipalities are realizing lasting benefits from the street improvements which are being completed with the aid of this funding," Mr. Kroeger said. "This program continues to be well-received and municipalities planning to enter the program in 1981 should apply as soon as possible," he said.

Hardisty Chamber meets

A large group of people were present at the Hardisty Chamber when the Chamber met on Tuesday, May 24. Mr. and Mrs. Henry and Rev. Clair Woodbury, representatives of the Institute of Cultural Affairs, presented the Chamber with a sample of their Community Development program. It is hoped that the Chamber can arrange for a complete Community Development Workshop to be held in our town, as reports from communities from 29 countries around the world, where these forums have been held, indicate they can be of tremendous value to the communities which participate in them.

Following this presentation, Vice-President Doug Drever chaired the regular meeting in the absence of President John Sheehy. Doug is to be commended for the admirable way he has taken over this additional task the past few months.

Treasurer Robert Taylor reported that all advertising collections have been completed, and once again the Chamber has a few dollars in the bank. The motion from the last meeting to pre-collect the $100 Round-Up Days fee was rescinded at this meeting.

Seventy-fifth Anniversary Chairman Joyce Harrison gave an excellent report on the many activities that will be taking place on our Heritage Round-Up Days this year, 11, 12, and 13. With such an interesting and varied array of things to hear, see and do, there is certain to be something for everyone, every day. A 75th Anniversary meeting will be held Thursday, June 6 at 8 p.m. at the arena, where everyone is welcome to attend to hear all the existing plans. Continuing with Round-Up Days, the Plant Committee will begin to work on our Town Plant and we hope it will be ready to participate in events in other towns in the area. If any persons are interested in obtaining best materials, please contact Joyce as soon as possible. A motion was passed that the Chamber inquire about running one of the concession booths at the Roberto Grounds on July 13, while Lewis Johnson volunteered to construct a carnival-type game for the Chamber to set up during the downtown festivities on July 11.

Devonshire Chairman Rose Marie Thompson reported that meeting of the main park had taken place before the rain, to take advantage of the moisture, and once permission had been granted, the moving of the old tree from the road crop. The planters are in place and the Chamber will deliver annual flowers for planting. It was decided to have an official luncheon at the Devonshire Park on the Saturday of Round-Up Days, hopefully in conjunction with the Road Croquet following the parade.

Reports from the L.S.T.A. Committee resulted in approval of a 75th Anniversary submission to the Town of Hardisty and approval for a presentation by the Chamber of the Saturday of Round-Up Days, hopefully in conjunction with the Road Croquet following the parade.

Golf Tips

Possibly the most basic rule in golf is to keep the left arm straight, if swinging right-handed.

Reasoning for this rule is simple. A golf swing is not one in which arm strength is terribly necessary, body swing and momentum is most important.

The left arm acts as a guide for the pendulum motion a golfer is trying to attain. Keeping the left arm straight guides the club from and towards the ball during the swing.

Information for this weekly series is provided by Doug McNeill, who took golf lessons in Sedgewick.

It only takes one catastrophe.

Many more happy birthdays to the three "May" girls.

Mrs. Parsons was given an 80th birthday celebration at the C.E. building. There were open house in the afternoon. Barbe Matthews had her birthday too, as did Marguerite Dwyer on May 24.

Thirty-five enjoyed dinner at So's to help Marguerite celebrate with her family there. Yvonne and John Senger from Uxley, Florence Byrne with son, Danny, from Vancouver, as well as Kenny and Marguerite from Camrose. All were able to come except Marie who will be home in a few days.

Barbe Matthews' birthday, on May 21, was spent quietly at home. She was joined by her daughter, Debbie Rowland and great grandson, David of Red Deer. While she did have an invasion of friends and relatives, she received various phone calls and many cards.

The Drop-In Centre held its May meeting at the home of George and Emma Matthews, with a good turn out.

Erna played the record "The Alberta Story" which was enjoyed by all. Olaf Nelson was a guest at this week's meeting in Camrose for the take-out of 9 a.m. Saturday. Approximately 15 vehicles lined up. Guided by the R.C.M.P., these vehicles turned onto Highway 18 west - destination the Moback Recreation Area near Dryden Valley. En route, the Pipestone Creek at Millen and the new Black Gold Recreation Centre at Leduc were visited. At each place welcoming committees were on hand serving coffee and goodies. The Moback is indeed a fine interesting area in the process of development. Here, we spent Saturday night and had a joyful time, boating, water sports, games, music, films, drama, tours, visiting.

Soon after, when the Kilian R.C.M.P. arrived, the crook ran to his car and sped down Highway 18. The chase went on for several miles at speed of up to 90 miles per hour, before the third pulled over.

Butte River Zone Five is truly alive! The glad you see in the town of Alberta.

It was so nice to see Cheryl Groves from Westlake visiting her Auntie Bette and Ruth Moor. She also visited a few friends before going to Moose Jaw with her sister and brother-in-law, Mary and John Senger. They also will come back with her sister, Marie Berdson and back to Moose Jaw.

The Drop-In Centre held its May meeting at the home of George and Emma Matthews, with a good turn out.

Erna played the record "The Alberta Story" which was enjoyed by all. Olaf Nelson was a guest at this week's meeting in Camrose for the take-out of 9 a.m. Saturday. Approximately 15 vehicles lined up. Guided by the R.C.M.P., these vehicles turned onto Highway 18 west - destination the Moback Recreation Area near Dryden Valley. En route, the Pipestone Creek at Millen and the new Black Gold Recreation Centre at Leduc were visited. At each place welcoming committees were on hand serving coffee and goodies. Sedgewick Kindergarten ends busy year with party

The Sedgewick Kindergarten Class of '79 has ended its year with a fun time party at the Anglican Church. It has been a very busy year for them as they have toured many places and hopefully learned a little plus enjoyed themselves. The last and most recent trip was to the Irma Hutterite Colony and before that a trip to the R.C.M.P. Station in Kilkam. Just before that a visit to the Sedgewick Firehall and a train ride on the Camrose Dayliner to New Sarnia. Sedgewick's Pancake House provided us with a lovely dinner. Also many talks have been given. Paul Vanderwood was a visitor at the classroom to speak on the safety required when crossing streets, riding bicycles and many more things. Every Tuesday was swimming and the Dental Hygienist made another visit to show everyone the proper way of cleaning and brushing their teeth. They each received a toothbrush "care" package.

We would like to thank everyone, including the moms, Mrs. Affolder and Betty Smith, and the businesses for making this Kindergarten year a happy and successful one. Also we wish the "little troopers" all the success for next year and in the future. Their names are: Cameron Baird, Stacey Barclay, Cindy Bruce, Corey Bernard, Steven Cookman, Michael Cysouw, Russell Cumber-

California visitors enjoy rural Alberta

Lee and Mary Overholtzer, citrus fruit farmers from Southern California compared farming in Alberta recently.

Mary (Coombs) Overholtzer, whose father was a banker here in Sedgewick's pioneer days is a cousin of Matt and Colin Beirsto, and is reuniting old acquaintances here. Mary is attending a Nurses Reunion where she graduated in Prince Albert Saskatchewan. As supper guests of John and Ellen Arncliffe, the Overholtzers enjoyed the view of stock and grain farming in Alberta.

A trip to Iron Creek, as guests of Art McCracken didn't produce much gold, but they enjoyed paning for it.

The Overholtzers made a flying trip to see the Headwaters of Kilkam before leaving for their home.

FLAGSTAFF PSS SURVEY RESULTS

From January to April 1980, four researchers were hired by Flagstaff Preventive Social Services through a Provincial Government grant to carry out two surveys. The first asked 246 families to give their views on PSS and its programs. The second tried to find out how many people in the Flagstaff area are handicapped and what program needs they have. This leaflet gives the results of these two surveys in brief so that everyone in the area served by Flagstaff Preventive Social Services has a chance to see the possible services that could be developed with community support and especially to prompt local discussion about PSS programs. Birthday greetings to Margaret Culbert last week. The occasion was marked by visits from friends and family. The Rood children of Hardisty stayed overnight recently with their Culbert grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Stanton of Edmonton spent Wednesday at the Gring Martin home, and Greg accompanied them back to the city for a Thursday appointment. Mr. Stanton spoke to Gring's Social Studies classes about his experiences as a prisoner of war during World War II.

Ted Lister and Doran Cornell spent three or four days last week visiting at Drumheller, Radium Hot Springs and other points.

The annual St. Edmund's Parish picnic at Shorefield Park was enjoyed on Sunday. The traditional Angels vs Devils softball game concluded in a 10-10 tie. True to his word, the rector had cancelled the rain for the afternoon, and not until the time had come to return home did the skies threaten. The picnic marked the first phase of the celebration.

Members of the thirty-fifth anniversary of Hughenden's Holy Trinity Church.

We were happy to see Mrs. Peggy Richmond of Strone at our picnic. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw for bringing her in past years. Mrs. Richmond was an active member of St. John's.

Vestry meetings will be held in all points during June to prepare for the summer and to discuss budget proposals for 1981. Kilkam Vestry will meet on June 9 at 8 p.m. Sedgewick will meet June 24 at 8 p.m. Loughheed's meeting is scheduled for June 8 at 8:30 p.m. Hardisty will assemble on June 15 at 8 p.m. Hughenden Vestry will meet June 22 at 12 noon.

Theresa and Doran are off to Edmonton again. Doran is taking a Statistics Canada course and Theresa is busy with an Artex seminar.

FLAGSTAFF PSS NEEDS ASSESSMENT RESULTS

USEFULNESS OF PREVENTIVE SOCIAL SERVICES

In general, a large majority of those interviewed have heard of Preventive Social Services prior to administration of the questionnaire, most frequently through personal contact or the newspaper. The PSS programs most consistently recognized are those relatively well-established, such as the play-schools, solo clubs and home support services, although "Big Sisters" received a significant positive response, probably a result of extensive media coverage. Women appeared to be more frequently aware of Preventive Social Services possibly due to a higher "social awareness" through concern for their children and the quality of family life in general.

An overwhelming majority, 92.9%, considered PSS to be useful service in this area.

COUNSELLING

Of all those completing the questionnaire, 86.6% felt that a counselling service would be useful in this area, and in particular saw a need for counselling in the area of alcohol abuse (85.6%). Other suggested types of counselling all received a favourable response including legal, 70.7%; parenting and children, 69.9%; drug abuse, 75.8%; financial, 65.1%; career, 60.3% and marriage, 63.3%.

The desire for legal counselling should not be unexpected; the Flagstaff area is served only infrequently by visiting Camrose lawyers and most residents have no regular access to legal aid, income tax information and so forth. Perhaps more surprising is the lack of urgency in the request for drug abuse counselling; either the Flagstaff area is relatively insulated from surrounding drug abuse problems or residents would prefer to think it so.

Although a counselling service to deal with "planned parenthood" did not receive a decisively positive response (51.5%), many respondents individually expressed a need for birth control information for teenagers and a general concern about moral ethics in youth and teens.

FAMILY LIFE EDUCATION

The concern for children and teenagers that had been indicated earlier was reiterated in the respondents' perception of the need for particular family life education courses in this area, with "Dealing with Teens" eliciting by far the most positive responses (71.8%) followed by "Parenting" (60%). Considerable uncertainty is evident in the very divided response to courses pertaining to morals and ethics, such as death and dying (54.7%), personal growth (54.4%), marriage enrichment (51.9%) and marriage preparation (50%). The feeling most commonly conveyed to researchers during the survey was that many of those interviewed regarded this topic as the responsibility of the Church.

Despite the fact that only 34.8% of those interviewed were previously familiar with Family Life Education, and despite doubts about specific courses, considerable support was expressed for the family life education courses in general and 66.3% of those interviewed felt that they would attend at least one of the courses if available.

Some other courses suggested as useful in this area included coping skills, dealing with the handicapped and family finances.

ALCOHOL AND DRUG ABUSE

Alcohol abuse is a visible problem in the Flagstaff area, especially among young people. Annual per capita alcohol sales in the County of Flagstaff are apparently increasing at a faster rate than the provincial average - 10.1% in Flagstaff compared to 17.6% provincially - and the unadjusted dollar value at the four Alberta Liquor Control Board outlets in the County area is increasing at a significant rate.

Concern about the abuse of alcohol and drugs in this area was reaffirmed in the positive response to all of the suggested alcohol and drug abuse services; in particular many saw a need for alcohol education in the schools (78.2%) and a course for drinking drivers (75.1%). A parent/teen discussion night was considered less urgently needed, but a good idea nevertheless (71.5%). Two other suggested services were considered to be less urgently needed; alcohol and drug abuse counselling (78.3%) and a community and alcohol drug studies (68%) which seems to reflect, in the researchers' opinion, an attitude of less immediate concern or awareness of a drug problem in the Flagstaff area.

Other suggested services indicate an apparent need for practical assistance and guidance for those whose lives have been complicated by alcohol/drug abuse.

SEX EDUCATION

In the opinion of 60.1% of those questioned, the problem of teenage pregnancies might be alleviated by workshops providing information, however 39.9% believe that sufficient information is currently available. Of those in favor of workshops, considerable interest was shown in the courses "telling children about sex" (75.6%), "telling teens about sex" (73.9%) and "planned parenthood" (68.8%).

The rate of out-of-wedlock pregnancies is increasing provincially and many parents in the Flagstaff area are concerned about the apparent trend; the indication seems to be that they require some assistance with the subject of sex education but that they would generally prefer to convey the information to their children themselves.

YOUTH PROGRAMS

With boredom and lack of direction frequently cited as the major sources of discontent among youth in rural areas, and criminal offences by juveniles increasing in the Flagstaff P.S.S. district at an alarming rate - between 1966 and 1976 the rate increased by 130% for males and 230% for females - the need for programs for young people appears obvious.

It should be noted that no youths were interviewed and therefore the perspective is exclusively adult!

Considerable interest was expressed in youth programs, particularly crafts (62.3%), camping (61.5%), leadership training (69%), youth clubs (63.5%) and a teen centre (62.7%). Some reservations were obvious in the response to the suggestion of teen dances, with only 53.2% in favour, and of study groups, 31.6%, although in the latter case many parents expressed the opinion that although such a program would be valuable, most teenagers would be reluctant to attend.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS

There are more children in the Flagstaff PSS area between five and fourteen years of age than the provincial average.

In general the suggested programs for children were all considered valuable but comparatively few regarded any particular program as urgently needed. The prevalent feeling concerning a children's library seemed to be that the community needs are adequately served through existing school and/or town facilities. Although the idea of a toy bank often received initially enthusiastic response, the consensus seemed to be that there is little need for such a service in such a "financially comfortable" area as Flagstaff. The playschool was occasionally confused with kindergartens, especially by senior citizens.

Most of those interviewed seemed to be generally satisfied with available programs for children, but a few alternatives and improvements were proposed.

WOMEN'S PROGRAMS

Although none of the proposed women's programs received an emphatically favourable response, interest was expressed in a Mother's Day Out program (60.1%) and Women's Self Defense (57.7%). Considerable division is evident in the Women's Awareness program and Women's Council and the reaction to a Women's Rights Studies Group was decidedly negative.

Of all the women completing the questionnaire, 58.9% indicated that they would participate in at least one of the programs if any become available in this area.

Perhaps surprisingly, only 37.5% of female single parents expressed interest in attending any of these programs compared to 60.1% of the other women. Possibly many female single parents have had sufficient experience in coping independently to feel they no longer require assistance or direction in this respect. Other programs were proposed as useful for women.

SINGLE PARENTS

The majority of single parents questioned (58.4%) considered a course in pertaining to "Being Single or Widowed" to be especially valuable in this area. Needed - but less urgently - would be a parent/child counselling service (75%), Big Sisters (66.7%) and a playground program (58.3%).

Of significance is the decisiveness in the opinions expressed by single parents, who seem to most emphatically support or refute the value of many cases, such as the women's awareness, mother's day out, women's rights and loneliness programs, there is apparently either an urgent need, or no need at all. Opinion appeared to be very divided on programs such as summer camps; one might speculate that single parents often feel that they are permitted insufficient time with their children and the prospect of yet another time consuming program has little appeal.

BIG SISTERS, UNCLÉS/GRANDPARENTS AT LARGE

Although a few (15%) considered Big Sisters, Uncles/Grandparents at Large program to be an urgent need in this area, a majority (55.7%) did express the feeling that such a program would be useful.

Of those denoting a need for such a service, 56.1% indicated that they would be willing to personally participate, and it is the opinion of the researchers that the most enthusiastic responses came almost invariably from senior citizens. Comparatively few single parents reside in the County of Flagstaff area and perhaps such a program would indeed be of more benefit for the area's senior citizens, who might well appreciate the benefits of such social contact, and an increased sense of self-worth.

SENIOR CITIZENS/HOME SUPPORT SERVICES

With 26.3% of the Flagstaff P.S.S. population on public assistance over 60 years of age (compared to a provincial average of 14.09%) and the same percentage (26.3%) on a public assistance due to illness or disability (compared to a provincial average of 18.01%), indications seem to be that there is a critical need in this area for supportive services for the elderly and the disabled.

Although 92.1% of those interviewed indicated no personal need for homemakers, handimen, meals on wheels or taxi service, 79% deemed them useful services in the community in general.

Some doubts were expressed by rural respondents as to the appropriateness of a taxi service in their situation, and perhaps this at least in part contributed to the overwhelmingly negative reaction (95.7%) to the usefulness of such a service to their families. Nevertheless a majority (66.7%) did consider that these home support programs would be feasible and valuable to the community in general. In urban areas, although 90% of those interviewed had no immediate need for a home support service, 86.3% regarded it as a useful service in the community generally.

WELCOME WAGON

There appears to be much confusion and uncertainty in all Flagstaff communities over the existence of an official welcome wagon; many confused local representatives of church groups, etc. with Welcome Wagon programs. However, 75.1% concluded that their communities did not have such a service, and 72.2% felt that a Welcome Wagon (reg'd) name was used because of its high recognition factor, but in actuality the service provided would be an independent program. Length of residency did not significantly affect attitudes towards the usefulness of a welcome wagon service.

COMMUNITY DIRECTORY

Opinion was divided as to the usefulness of a community directory listing service clubs, agencies, churches and businesses in the area, but a majority (59.8%) felt it would be a useful service. As the period of residency increased, the value placed on the community directory decreased.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Of those completing the questionnaire, 56.1% believed that sufficient job opportunities are available in rural areas for women, youth and the handicapped while 36.4% expressed the opinion that there is not adequate employment in these areas. A few suggested that better distribution of jobs is required.

None of the proposed "local industries" elicited a positive response and this appears to reflect skepticism as to the feasibility of such programs in a rural area. The researchers also submit that some of the terms may have been misinterpreted; for example, "waste recycling" was often confused with "paper pick up".

A slightly more favourable response to the proposal of a Thrift Shop was evident (52.9%) despite apparent reservations in an earlier question where only 49.2% indicated approval. A belief that the "social stigma" attached to second hand goods would prohibit the success of such a venture in small towns was commonly voiced. Statistical evidence supports this view; 82.5% indicated that they would donate to a Thrift Shop, but only 61.1% that they would purchase. In addition, especially in west-central regions of the County area, many suggested that the Thrift Shop in Camrose adequately meets the needs of Flagstaff residents and Stettler has now established a Thrift Shop, which may well serve the needs of south/southwest residents. A variety of potential local industries were proposed by respondents.

CLUB DEVELOPMENT

Although a large percentage responded that they belong to a club or organization in the community, few indicated a desire for any type of assistance. One respondent suggested that some means of coordinating club and event dates would be useful to avoid conflicts. (eg. community calendar).

RESPONDENTS' VIEW ON THE MAIN SOCIAL PROBLEMS IN THIS AREA

Reflecting concerns expressed earlier, the abuse of alcohol and to a lesser extent, of drugs, are by far the most commonly cited social problems. The other primary concern is for the apparent boredom and lack of direction in youth and the consequential vandalism, reckless driving, and so forth. The isolation and loneliness of senior citizens - at least in a consequence of recreation programs and transportation - is viewed as a severe social problem throughout the county area. Listed below is the complete range of problems seen by those answering the questionnaire:

1. Alcohol and drugs including adult, youth and teenage drinking and drinking driving
2. Youth including lack of direction and programs, juvenile delinquency, teenage pregnancies, peer pressure, boredom, lack of discipline and knowledge and over abundance of money

3. Senior citizens including loneliness, isolation, recreation, home support, visitations, transportation and nursing homes
4. Vandalism
5. Reckless driving
6. Parenting and family problems including lack of parental responsibility, communications and relationships, family breakdowns, adultery, lack of family orientated activities, lack of love for children, lack of awareness and child neglect
7. Community problems including getting out and meeting people, welcome wagons, lack of social development, activity, respect, communication, community participation and working together.
8. Unemployment including women and generally everybody
9. Apathy including youth, public and general
10. Handicapped
11. Needs including programs for women, police protection, fitness, block parents, entertainment, day care and involvement.

RESPONDENTS' SUGGESTIONS FOR SOCIAL SERVICE PROGRAMS IN THE AREA

Most respondents felt that the topic had been adequately covered in the questionnaire but some wished to emphasize or reiterate previous points and a variety of suggestions were made. Many suggestions pertained to recreational programs or ways of improving Preventive Social Service programs.

1. Children including crafts, gymnastics, playschools and child neglect investigator
2. Family including summer camps, trail rides, life skills, more facilities, courses for women and teens and more programs to help communities
3. Senior citizens including meals on wheels, complexes, transportation, home care and money management
4. Home support including homemakers, expanded services
5. Parenting including skills, counselling, planned parenthood/birth control
6. Teenage including drinking and driving problems, more varied activities, teen and family activities, drop in centres and stock car racing
7. Family life education including discussion groups, reading groups, alcohol education, sex education and mother's day out
8. Further education including sewing and woodcraft
9. Economic development including used oil depot
10. Municipal including need for more police protection.

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Recreation was considered to be important to 84.1% of those interviewed and 51.6% affirmed that it was very important to their families. The main types of recreational activities specified were: television, reading and films (39.1%), organized sports (24.6%), social gatherings (12.6%) and individual sports (11.5%), but numerous other activities were mentioned such as arts/crafts and camping.

RECREATIONAL PROGRAMS

The most positive response to proposed recreational programs was for camping and fitness activities and crafts, however no unqualified response was evident concerning any particular program.

"Sports for the Handicapped" was apparently not a significant concern as only 43.1% indicated interest in the establishment of such a program. For families with handicapped adults, 85.7% felt that sports for the handicapped would not be a useful program in this area, whereas only 55.9% of families without handicapped adults were of this opinion. It is interesting to note that such a small percentage (14.3%) of those with handicapped adults regarded such a program as important, but those who did were more emphatic.

Of all those questioned, 75.5% responded that they would utilize some of the programs suggested, and 51% indicated that they would be willing to help establish such programs.

FLAGSTAFF FURTHER EDUCATION COUNCIL

Of those interviewed, 78.3% were familiar with the Flagstaff Further Education Council, the majority through the newspaper (70.4%). Other sources were personal participation (15.6%) or friends (14%).

The types of courses in which those interviewed were most interested included crafts, 31.2%; trades, 14.5%; general, 14.5%; business training, 11.3%; and university courses, 5%. A variety of other types of further education courses were suggested. Subjects were also requested to list the courses that they would personally like to see offered in the area.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF P.E.P. RESEARCHERS REGARDING MOST NEEDED SERVICES

Alcohol education should be implemented in the schools, preferably at the junior high level, in order to assist young teenagers with making intelligent decisions about alcohol before the effects of peer pressure preclude rational, independent choice.

The position of counsellor should be reinstituted in the schools to provide young people with guidance in all aspects of their growing up years. Although no questions related directly to programs within the school system, many parents expressed support for the resource room programs and it is the opinion of the researchers that these programs should definitely be continued in the County of Flagstaff.

HANDICAPPED NEEDS ASSESSMENT RESULTS

AREA COVERED

The area covered was the County of Flagstaff # 29 with an urban population of 5131 and a rural population of 4654. The towns surveyed follow, with population figures in brackets:

Lougheed	(227)	Hardisty	(604)
Sedgewick	(847)	Killam	(940)
Strome	(273)	Daysland	(656)
Alliance	(228)	Forestburg	(862)
Heisler	(215)	Galahad	(184)

STATISTICS

The range of the 76 handicapped surveyed was from 2 years to 90 years of age. The median age was 27.5. Of those surveyed, .58% of the rural population was handicapped and .95% of the urban population. Specific breakdown of the handicapped per capita within the towns is as follows:

Dryland	1.5%	Lougheed	1.3%
Sedgewick	1.3%	Killam	1.2%
Hardisty	.75%	Strome	.73%
Forestburg	.55%	Heisler	.47%
Alliance	.44%	Galahad	0%

The major cause of the physical handicaps was disease (46%), most of which were in Level I (mild) or Level II (moderate), Handicap (66%). 75% of the mental handicaps were due to genetic or birth orientated causes, with 46% of these with a Level I or II handicap. Only 4% were in the severe category.

EDUCATION

The educational needs of the handicapped varied, with the greatest need being for special education programs (19%) and part time and full time employment (9%).

53% indicated they didn't participate in any of the programs listed on the questionnaire for the following reasons:

1. no program available,
2. family chooses not to make use of programs, or
3. programs available, but too far from home.

12% indicated that they are participating in other programs such as regular classroom physiotherapy and home training program (visual training, portage kit).

Educational programs needed within the next three years are special education programs (17%) and employment programs (19%). Within the next 3 - 5 years, a greater need for employment (25%) was shown, with the needs for special education programs (12%) being second.

Those with children enrolled in an opportunity room were very pleased with the program and hoped it would be continued. Others with older children expressed regret that such programs weren't available years ago. It was also suggested there be a follow up program for children in a resource room. Other educational programs suggested were speech therapy, a special class or school for handicapped within the county and a special teaching aid available to use in the home.

RESIDENTIAL PROGRAMS

39% would make use of a residential program for the handicapped only in case of a family crisis or emergency. Other comments regarding residential programs were:

1. immediately
2. within the next few months
3. location of such facilities nearer home
4. depends on medical condition and success of treatments of the handicapped.

VOCATIONAL SKILLS

Most adult vocational skills were of a domestic nature or related to animal care. The majority felt they would not want future employment training. Of those seeking further training, two fields were specified - clerical and trades training.

Full or part time employment for the handicapped is a necessity and these people feel they are being discriminated against. Many have talents and skills but employers are reluctant to hire them. Perhaps employers could be informed about the capabilities of the handicapped and be encouraged to hire them.

If an educational or vocational program became available in the immediate area, 37% expressed the need for daily transportation and 11% expressed the need of a residential program. 52% were not in need of any support services should they wish to participate in any such program.

RECREATION

There was no community recreation service in which a significant number of handicapped participated.

Regularly scheduled recreational activities to make available for the handicapped include swimming, hobby clubs, skating and camping. Other suggested activities were bowling and senior citizens clubs. Although a number of these programs are offered in the communities, the handicapped felt they couldn't participate mainly because they couldn't keep up to the rest of the class.

Most of the recreational activities were home centred and include TV, visiting friends, reading and playing cards. Other activities included shopping, spectator sports and fishing.

HOME SUPPORT

97% of the handicapped live at home for nine months of the year with 88% of these living at home year round.

The greatest support services required by these handicapped were daily transportation and homemakers. Some other support services suggested were meals on wheels, handimen and homecare.

Families of the handicapped would like assistance with or information about:

1. teaching speech and language skills
2. teaching social skills
3. teaching coordination skills

Services families would appreciate to assist in understanding and dealing with handicaps are:

1. social programs
2. adult education programs
3. family groups.

THE FLAGSTAFF PSS PROGRAM

HISTORY

In 1976 the eleven municipalities of Flagstaff entered into a joint agreement to establish Flagstaff Preventive Social Services. The program received the approval of the Provincial Government and operations began in November of that year.

THE MUNICIPAL RESPONSIBILITIES

The eleven cooperating municipalities are responsible for:

1. maintaining the local responsibility and authority for the PSS program
2. appointing local representatives to sit on the Flagstaff Preventive Social Services Board, and
3. contributing from 15 - 20% of the funds (on a per capita basis) to operate the program.

THE PSS BOARD'S RESPONSIBILITIES

The PSS Board:

1. guides the planning and development of the PSS program.
2. approves funding for local projects.
3. hires and supervises the PSS Director, and
4. gets input from the community on projects and ideas to help individuals and communities grow and develop.

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT'S RESPONSIBILITIES

The Provincial Government is responsible for:

1. ensuring that the local PSS program operates within the Preventive Social Service Act,
2. providing a consultant service to PSS Directors, Boards and to cooperating Municipalities, and
3. contributing from 75 - 80% of the funds to operate the local PSS program.

OTHER SOURCES OF FUNDING

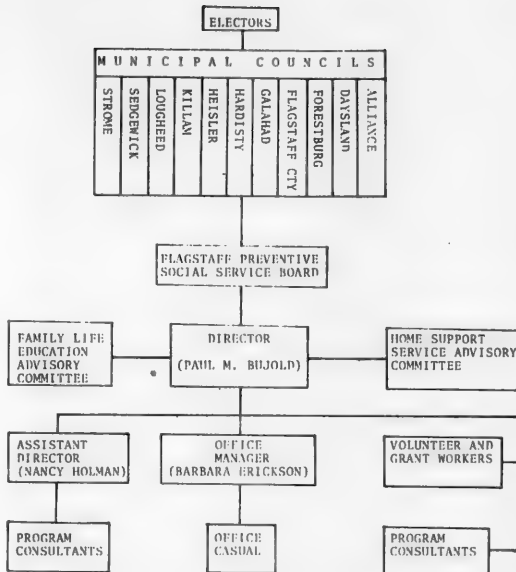

The Flagstaff PSS program also gets funds for various programs from other agencies such as Health and Welfare Canada, the Alberta Law Foundation and the S.T.E.P. and P.E.P. programs. These funds can amount to up to 20% for the total PSS funds lessening the financial burden on local municipalities.

WHAT IS PSS?

Preventive Social Services (PSS) is a resource which can assist you or your group in improving the quality of your life and your community life. By strengthening the bonds between us and by helping each other, we can work to prevent the loneliness and despair that causes so many of the problems in today's fast moving world.

WHAT DOES PSS DO?

PSS listens to people, helps them discover goals for themselves and their communities and then tries to work out some way for them to achieve those goals. This process of developing the community can take the form of educational, recreational, personal enrichment and organizational programs. PSS can help men and women, children, youth and seniors, married people and singles. PSS can help you!

Day care workers resign

Controversy continues to dog Social Services Minister Bob Rogie with revelations that two senior day care development workers resigned after the department's suppression of the first 30 pages of a provincial day care study.

He also contended that the province did not want to force day care centres out of the price range of most Alberta families by raising standards too high.

But the policy drew outraged cries from the administrators of the province's two largest cities.

Calgary revealed the full provincial take-over of family subsidies as a means to undermine any local control over provision of day care services.

But critics say Alberta's standards for staff to child ratios are among the lowest in Canada and the government has had plenty of time already to study the matter.

In fact, a Conservative caucus took fire on day care headed by St. Paul MLA Charles Anderson completed its own report this spring.

And shortly after its submission to caucus, Rogie announced changes in day care policy in the legislature.

But the changes contained no improvement in staff-child ratios.

The minister announced that the province would take over the full cost of day care subsidies available to families. Local governments would no longer be required to cover 30 per cent of these payments.

Rogie argued this measure would make day care more accessible in rural areas where a number of municipalities had never signed day care agreements with the province and subsidies were therefore not available to needy families.

Sedgewick girl earns highest award

"A" is for courteous, "M" is for mother and daughter. "N" is for notable for everything. "N" were some of the compliments by sister Guides as they spelled out the words "Canada Cord" as Pat McArthur of Sedgewick was presented with this well-earned award.

The Canada Cord is the highest achievement that a Girl Guide can earn, a red and white silk sash which only a specially determined girl can wear. The cord is earned through much hard work, many badges earned, service in her community and activities in her group. Pat has been a Girl Guide for four years, after being a Brownie for three years. The presentation was made by Guides Jan House and Elaine Keith.

The event was the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet of Sedgewick Brownies and Guides, held Thursday, June 1 at the Anglican Church hall. Commissioners Soja Frank of Foreburg and Dorothy Pigeat of Killam were special guests. Mrs. Pigeat spoke to the girls and mothers on the importance of keeping the promise made by Brownies and Guides.

Prior to a delicious roast turkey dinner served by the Kinetix, a toast to the Queen was made by Angela Kobear, a toast to the mothers was made by Pat McDonald, with reply by Mrs. Mary Ann Lewis. A toast to the leaders was made by Tracy Pellers, with reply by Mrs. Lesley Nerdstrom.

Following supper, the Guides sang a song for International Year of the Child, accompanied on guitar by Mrs. Soja Frank. The Brownies formed their ring for presentation of badges, and then the Guides awarded a horseshoe for presentation of awards.

culminating with the presentation of the Canada Cord. The four leaders, Laurie Nordstrom, Robin McLean, Jan House and Elaine Keith were the recipients of gifts from the Local Association, presented by President Mary Ann Lewis.

R.C.M.P. Report Breakins feature this weeks events

R.C.M.P. Killam Detachment caught four impaired drivers on the rodeo weekend as well as jailing and arresting several others for fighting at the Killam Rodeo Beer Gardens.

Also in Killam, Kalawaky Pontiac Buick was robbed recently of two mag wheels. The three and rims were stolen right off a van at the lot.

Elsewhere, in Lougheed, the United Grain Growers Elevator was broken into this month as well as the Canadian Pacific Railway Station and the Alberta Wheat Pool. Total theft from the break-ins were a fire extinguisher and a radio. Police have two juvenile suspects, and feel they were involved in all three cases.

In Sedgewick, Cumberland's Mens Wear was broken into and robbed of close to $1,000 in merchandise last weekend.

Entry was gained through the back door, as the crook or crooks removed the hinge pins and pried the door open.

Most of the clothing stolen was in large sizes, but there are no suspects as of yet. Owner, Colin Cumberland said that in the almost 70 year existence of the store it has been robbed but twice, unfortunately both have been this year.

Hardisty Social Club reports

The May meeting of the Hardisty Social Club was held at the home of George and Erna Mathewson on Tuesday evening, with 7 members and one guest present.

Following reading of the minutes and a very satisfactory financial report, arrangements were completed for the Strawberry Tea.

It was reported that Ron Williams of Edmonton would be in town at 4 p.m. on June 2 to meet with the History Book Committee and check on progress.

Information was received regarding Sister Games to be held in Camrose in August. Particulars of this can be obtained from members of the executive.

Some discussion followed on organized games in the Drop-In Centre. Margaret Chasman was appointed to look into possibilities.

It was decided to buy overstock for the centre, also a small carpet sweeper and a step ladder.

The members then enjoyed listening to a record on Alberta's development, which had been donated by the company selling them. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies, ending a very pleasant evening.

Helpful Hints on Insurance

MOBILE HOME OWNERS

Did you realize that many "Mobile Home" insurance policies do not cover many of the damages caused by a hailstorm? If you have checked the price of trailer siding, this may cause you some concern.

If so, contact your agent or see us about a policy that will give you full coverage. There is very little difference in cost in most cases.

Do Your Own Operation "Tune-up"

Phase I
For the next week or so, drive as you normally would, recording the number of kilometers (miles) you drive, and how much fuel you use. The accompanying chart will help you keep a record.

Phase II
During the second week, in the tank, take your car in for a professional tune-up, being sure to have your tire pressure, wheel alignment, and brake drag checked. In Phase II to practice driving according to the energy-saving driving techniques listed below.

Phase III
During the third week, in your tank, use the energy-saving driving techniques. Keep a record of gas, oil, and fuel consumption. Then, calculate the amount of gas, oil, and fuel used, and compare it with the amount used in Phase I and II. You may use the accompanying chart to help you keep a record.

ENERGY-SAVING DRIVING

TIPS
1. Try to maintain a constant highway speed of 90 km/h (55 mph). Most cars use about 20% less fuel when being driven at 90 km/h instead of 110 km/h (70 mph).

2. Avoid jack rabbit starts.

3. Accelerate smoothly when passing or merging with fast traffic.

4. Watch traffic well ahead of you so you can change lanes and/or adjust speed smoothly.

5. Anticipate stops ahead of time so that you can slow down gradually.

6. Drive in the highest gear possible if you have a manual transmission. This gives you adequate acceleration without "flapping" the engine.

7. Don't rest on your left foot on the brake pedal. This causes brake efficiency, increases fuel consumption, and is a safety hazard.

8. Turn off the motor if you are waiting for someone or caught in traffic jams.

9. After starting, drive away as soon as your engine is running smoothly. Long periods of idling will warm up the engine as unnecessary and harmful to the engine.

10. Try to avoid traffic jams by staggering your work hours and/or listening to traffic reports.

11. Don't store heavy items in your trunk. Remove roof racks when not in use.

12. Don't "fill up" the tank. Attendants will top off the tank to the brim, causing spillage and wasting gas. Fill only to the "click-off".

13. Minimize the use of air conditioners. They can increase fuel consumption by as much as 20% when they are operating.

14. Maintain your car properly. Make sure that you get through oil and spring tune-ups.

15. For more information on how to drive, and maintain your car for greater fuel and dollar savings, try the Car Mileage Book. This publication is available free from "Car Mileage Book", P.O. Box 1900, Postal Station "CC", Ottawa, Ontario, K1V 6G1.

R.C.M.P. address meeting

R.C.M.P. Officer Frank would like our teenagers to behave socially. We as parents should be concerned enough to know where our children are going with the family car and where and what they would be doing if they do not get home until 4 a.m. It should be pointed out to the youngster who has his or her own vehicle that they may be a black mark against them which could cost them a job opportunity later or a poor character reference. As we as members of a community should be willing to report offences that we see to the R.C.M.P. By stopping the youngster's offense early we may prevent him getting into deeper trouble at a later date. Many questions were asked by the parents and teachers and we appreciated of the interest of four students who attended the meeting; some they may like to be a friend not to drink and drive. Thanks to Officer Frank for his time and thanks to the parents and teachers who have supported our group this past year. We hope to have more informal meetings in the near future. The next meeting will be on Monday, September 8. Have a happy summer vacation.

Killam O.O.R.P.

There were 19 ladies in attendance at the June 9 meeting of the Killam Order of the Royal Purple. H.R.L. Blanche McGowan presented her list of commitments for the coming year.

Further plans were made for our visit to Sedgewick Lodge on June 11, and for catering to the grade 9 celebration Banquet on Thursday, June 26.

Ladies Agnes Blawie and Sandra Brownie contributed to the birthday box and the attendance prize was won by Lady Rose Wagnon. To celebrate the 17th anniversary a wine and cheese lunch and an appropriately decorated cake was served after the meeting by Ladies Joanne Foster and Margaret Ward.

Our next meeting will be on Monday, September 8. Have a happy summer, ladies.

Weather data for forage insurance

Eight counties including Flanagan will have Alberta Halal and Crop Insurance Corporation using weather data as the basis for forage insurance coverage.

Through research, weather data predictions have shown that they can be used as a basis for forage insurance.

The method is used in insuring hay under the conventional production guarantee method.

The counties are measured on the grounds of weather data by researchers using a computer to establish 25 years of normal yields in the area. The available soil moisture, hours of sunshine and temperatures are taken into account.

This long term yield is used as a foundation for comparison in the year the forage is insured. Using computer data, a calculation of the actual yield is then averaged over the township.

The actual and normal yields are then compared and a percentage is established. Payment on a claim is then made when the actual yield is 80% less than the normal yield.

Payments will be split between the two seasons: the first, usually April to the end of June, will be 65% of the total claim; the second, usually July to the end of August, the remainder will be paid.

Registration Friday afternoon, Parkside Breeds Saturday and Sunday morning. Homecoming Parade Saturday afternoon. Beef pit barbecue Saturday at 5:00 p.m. Danes Saturday, Ruby Keesh, Prairie Schooner, Church service Sunday noon. Kick off for sale of History Book (Golden Echoes). Everyone welcome to attend and make old acquaintances. Notice to Homecoming, Box 81, Galtland, Alberta.

75th Anniversary
Salute to a pioneer

Old Nelson, 91, was born and raised in Norway until he and family moved to South Dakota in 1890, and he later left to move to Hardisty in 1908.

Upon arriving in Hardisty, Mr. Nelson began work in the concrete industry. He quit this work to take up employment with the County of Flanagan in 1910, and did roadwork with the County until his retirement in 1967.

Although he had lived in Hardisty since moving to Canada, Old moved into the Flanagan Lodge in Sedgewick in 1972.

"The people in Hardisty were good to me and it was always a nice place to be," said Mr. Nelson. He added that he particularly enjoyed going fishing on the Battle River around the town.

Old said that he is really proud to live in Hardisty and especially enjoys his beauty. "It's a parkland. I like all the land and the scenery." In comparison to the other places he's lived, he feels that Norway is too mountainous and South Dakota is too flat.

Mr. Nelson said he has a lot of friends in Hardisty and it has interrupted one of his favorite hobbies, making crafts. He has made a great deal of things for the people of the Lodge and some for himself. "My criteria is getting better now, it's so much good enough for me to go fishing."

M.L.A. Report Marathon meetings

The last few weeks have been marvellous. Our first meetings started as early as 8 a.m. in the morning and often go to midnight. We often miss dinner and supper, and when we do have a meal, it is usually a dinner meeting. It was a pleasure to accompany Debbie Hensel to the Premier's dinner. Again, I was impressed with her enthusiasm and interest. Helen Sperdahl and her sister, Mrs. Adler, and her husband, Alan, were at the dinner. Helen formerly ran Helen's Cafe in Innis.

Hal construction in our area is really going to get a boost this summer. Road 801 and 870 will be the major beneficiaries. Six miles of grading is scheduled on 870 from the Battle River to 801. 419 should get three more miles south of Minniston to the Beaver River.

The grading should be completed south of Highway 16 on Highway 80. As well, paving should begin on Highway 41.

Viking, Manville and Minniston will receive their street improvement grants this year. Viking can now complete their 1979 project.

The Viking airport should proceed this year. Highway 16 widening and curve projects are receiving the attention that it requires in the Innisfree-Hardisty area.

Preliminary reports indicate that it will be undertaken on Highway 41 north of Vermilion this year providing manpower is available. With all the attention and construction, manpower is at a premium. The new Vermilion River dam is also scheduled this year.

The Battle River Beef Club gathered at Ross Gibson's farm for our morning and some demonstration. John Gibson and Brian Spady gave a grooming talk and demonstration. Sherri Spady gave a showmanship talk and demonstration.

We held our meeting afterwards. The meeting was called to order with John Gibson leading the pledge. The roll call was answered by a hint for grooming or showmanship. The main business for this meeting was set decoration. After the meeting was adjourned we had lunch and went home for a busy evening. L. Sprecher a known fact that the world's energy supply is limited. But before it runs out completely, we could develop other methods to use as energy—and stretch our present supply to last for generations to come! It's worth the effort now by each of us. Let's all get actively involved in saving energy. Shut off lights. Keep thermostats down. Drive at lower speeds. Don't let the energy we do have go to waste. Let's all save energy!

As gasoline prices soar, many "gas guzzlers" (both new and used) are being offered at bargain basement prices. Don't be fooled by discount prices. You'll pay for it at the pump! And you'll pay again when you try to sell that gas-hungry car in a marketplace overrun with large cars that nobody wants.

Alberta - Ottawa continue combat

Relations between Alberta and Ottawa are becoming increasingly tense as the federal government continues its battle with the province over the oil price. The federal government wants to simply increase its pressure on Alberta now that the Quebec referendum has passed.

In fact, Alberta officials say there has been no contact between the province and Ottawa since Lalonde met Energy Minister Marc Lévesque in May.

The federal energy minister since confirmed that a refinery tax on all petroleum products is part of the oil price package. Ottawa is aiming for. And Lévesque has responded that such a tax would be acceptable to Alberta providing it did not cut into the province's ability to collect royalties or severely damage oil industry profits.

Days later in Ottawa, Lalonde chastised Alberta for pursuing what he described as economic sovereignty and political association with Canada, the reversal of the Parti Québécois' defeated goal of political sovereignty with economic association.

He also accused the province's constitution of subsidizing Canada's oil industry to the tune of $10 billion a year by keeping oil prices below world levels.

Tuned-up Cars Tuned-in Drivers

Operation Tune-Up is a specially designed to compare the fuel economy of various cars, before and after a tune-up, and a driver education seminar. To date, four rallies have been sponsored by U.M.W. and the Canadian Automobile Association (CAA) in Vancouver, Ottawa, Quebec, and Toronto. Vancouver rallies helped to demonstrate that gasoline savings of up to 41 per cent are possible, simply by tuning up their cars and practicing good driving habits.

Phase I
The program is divided into three one-week phases. During Phase I, the participants drive as usual and record their mileage and their gasoline consumption.

Phase II
In Phase II, each car is given a pre-tune-up by the CAA. All electrical and mechanical functions are checked as well as tires, suspension, drive train, instrumentation, exhaust, fuel and cooling systems, brake system and general condition of the car. All malfunctions or maladjustments affecting fuel economy are corrected. When necessary, the engine is "tuned-up" and the car is "tuned-up" to the driver's style.

Phase III
After a few days to practice efficient summer driving techniques, the third and final phase begins. The participants again record their mileage and gasoline consumption as they drive their "tuned-up" cars to work in their own vehicles. A volunteer is organized to collect the summaries who also receive a copy of U.M.W.'s "The 4 Mileage Book." Attention is

ON TUNE-UP

Large gasoline savings. In one rally, a 1978 Datsun 1-10 driven by Jacques Rivest of Mounties, Quebec, achieved a 31 per cent improvement in fuel economy — a savings of over $200 per year.

To date, the "star" of Operation Tune-Up is Max Keeping of Ottawa driving a 1978 Buick. He improved his fuel economy by an amazing 44.2 per cent — a savings of over $500 per year. The average improvement in fuel economy is 17.5 per cent.

In addition to increased dollar and fuel savings, cars that are properly driven and maintained will provide improved and more reliable performance. The life of the car will also be extended, requiring even further energy and dollar savings.

1980, the total federal budget was $11 billion. Today, 12 years later, we have an annual debt of $15 billion per year.

Our cost of borrowing is so high that the interest rate on our accumulated debt takes the largest single bite from our tax dollar. In fact, Canada has the highest per capita debt of all industrialized countries.

Presently, the federal debt equals $2,500 for every man, woman, and child in Canada and is growing at a rate of $700 per year.

Calculate that on the basis of your family! Moreover, in asking for additional borrowing power the government has restricted its request to the size of the debt but not one word has been mentioned about the intended use of the funds. Surely, if Members of Parliament are to approve or disapprove borrowing, they ought to have a right — in fact an obligation — to understand how the government intends to use the money.

If citizens borrowed and spent like their governments, all would be in a state of debt. The fact is that the government first holds the view that the debt cannot go on forever and, therefore, income tax levies are used to increase the debt and, secondly, that the only logical approach to decreasing the debt is to increase revenue rather than decreasing expenditures.

"Fuel for Thought"

The theory of supply and demand dictates that a decreasing supply and increasing demand results in higher prices. This holds true for many commodities, especially those dependent on non-renewable resources. Thus, using less energy not only helps insure an adequate supply but should also lead to fewer and smaller price increases.

Keeping Cool

Generally, we Canadians enjoy a moderate summer and don't require a great deal of mechanical cooling in our homes. There are, however, those miserable mid-summer heat waves that make us all wilt.

Before you go out and spend several hundred dollars on an air conditioner for those few hot weeks, stop and consider the following:

• It takes energy to produce and operate air conditioning.

• There are other effective ways to help reduce the heat in your home.

The following are some ideas to help keep your home cool. Why not try them before deciding to buy an air conditioner? If you already have an air conditioner, they will help reduce the number of times you turn it on — saving you both energy and money.

Keep The Heat Out

• Ventilate your attic. One of the greatest sources of heat into the home is hot air trapped in the attic. The sun heating down all day on a dark roof heats up the attic air to 54°C (130°F). Installing an attic fan cools your home by helping to prevent that hot air from entering the house.

• Retrofit your home. Just as insulation and weatherstripping keep valuable heat in during the winter, they also keep unwanted heat out during the summer. A double pay-off!

• Keep doors and windows closed during the hot part of the day.

• Keep your drapes closed during the day and open at night. Light coloured drapes and shades reflect the sun's rays and reduce solar heat by as much as 50 per cent.

• Try awnings and sun screens. They can reduce the heat gained through windows by as much as 80 per cent.

• Plant some trees. Deciduous trees are best planted close to the house. They produce good shade for both you and the house during the summer and have the double advantage of letting in valuable winter sunshine.

Bring In Cooler Air

• Whenever the outside temperature is lower than inside, usually after sundown, use it for cooling. • Open up the windows, let in the cool night breezes.

• Use a window fan or attic fan by opening the back to the house to draw air through the house.

• If we have a forced air heating system, try turning on your circulating fan. It can move cool air from the basement through the house and uses less energy than an air conditioner.

• Reduce Unwanted Heat Loads. There's enough heat coming from outside. Don't generate more by using appliances unnecessarily.

• Turn off lights when not needed.

• Don't use the stove unless you have to. Try cooking in the morning or evening and feature tablets and foods that require little cooking.

• Do your vacuuming, ironing, clothes washing and dishes in the tank house.

• Make sure that refrigerator and freezer door seals are air-tight, and avoid leaving the door open longer than necessary. The cool air you momentarily gain will be more than made up for by the heat the refrigerator generates in order to re-cool itself.

• Hang clothes out to dry. If you must use a clothes dryer, exhaust the hot air out-of-doors.

Air conditioners

If you've given the ideas in the "Keeping Cool" article the old cooling try you your house is still too hot, here are some energy factors to consider when buying and using an air conditioner.

Types

There are basically two types of air conditioners: room air conditioners (usually window-mounted) and central air conditioners. Room air conditioners are smaller and designed to cool one or several rooms. The central units go on your forced air heating system and cool the whole house. They are larger, more expensive and generally more energy-consuming. However, they are more energy-efficient and cheaper than a series of room air conditioners.

Choosing A Room Air Conditioner

• Buy the proper size. Decide how much space you really need to cool (kitchen room, bedroom) and choose accordingly. The cooling capacity of air conditioners is rated by BTU of cooling per hour.

• Buy the most efficient model in the size you need. That is, one which uses the least electricity (watts) for the amount of cooling capacity you want. Simply compare the wattage which on such air conditioner's information plate. Since less energy is required to produce the same cooling effect, the more efficient model is probably better made.

Consequently, this unit may be a little more expensive. However, it is probably a better buy in the long run and certainly will cost less to operate.

Reduce Your Energy Bill

• First, make sure you have followed the ideas in the "Keeping Cool" article. They'll help you save energy by reducing the cooling load on your air conditioner. • The temperature setting should be high as is pleasant (the opposite of winter thermostat setting). The higher you set the thermostat, the more money you'll save.

• Keep the doors (and windows) to the air-conditioned room closed.

• On cooler days, or if you go away for the day, be sure to turn off the air conditioner.

Maintenance Tips
The more efficiently your air conditioner runs whether it is a room or a central forced air cooling system, the less energy it consumes. You can carry out some maintenance checks yourself.

• Clean the dust and dirt off inside and outside coils before the summer.

• Be sure that the blower and electric motor on the unit are lubricated.

• Check the filters on the unit and clean or replace them where necessary. In a central cooling system, the filters should be checked once a month. Make sure that shrubs and grass outside can't block the flow of air through the condenser and that the outside area is kept clean.

• In a central forced air system check the tension on the fan belt; you should be able to press the belt down between ½" and 1 ½" inch. If it moves more or less than this, change the tension by moving the adjusting screws on the mounting frame that carries the motor to the blower housing. If in doubt, check the instruction manual.

• During winter, either remove inside-mounted units, and seal the window, or seal the unit on both sides with plastic, wood or a piece of styrofoam. Tape it up well so that cool air won't infiltrate.

PADDING THE DEBT
This past week the government had Bill C-30, the Borrowing Authority Act, before Parliament. The Bill, if passed, would grant the government the privilege of borrowing another $12 billion foreign dollars.

During the debate I spoke against this policy of ever increasing the debt. Today, our debt is more than $60 billion, over $80 billion with interest included and we cannot borrow our way out of debt.

The facts are that of every Canadian dollar earned, government (all levels) spend 42 cents of that wealth. In other words governments spend almost half of the earned wealth of this nation. No wonder many ponder about the erosion of individual freedoms.

Recently our federal government has been spending $15 billion more than it collects in taxes on a regular basis. Moreover, Dr. Ian Stewart, Deputy Minister of Finance, when appearing before the Senate Finance Committee last week took the view that the debt cannot go on forever and, therefore, income tax levies are used to increase the debt and, secondly, that the only logical approach to decreasing the debt is to increase revenue rather than decreasing expenditures.

RADIAL TIRES WILL IMPROVE YOUR MILEAGE

NEW GENERATION RADIAL T/A 60's 'A PROVEN PRODUCT MADE BETTER'

After extensive research on the T/A performance series, BF Goodrich has developed the new generation T/A 60 Radial — an improved premium quality passenger tire that puts BFG a cut above competition.

"In developing the new generation Radial T/A 60, we took a good, proven product and made it even better," says R.R. (Rusty) Tartaglia, vice-president, sales — U.S.

The new generation T/A 60 has a new computer-designed block tread that includes wide, deep grooves and cross grooves that bite down and shed water to reduce hydro-planing with no compromise of their dry traction.

Its DuoGard® Folded Belt construction helps absorb shock and a dual compound tread reduces heat buildup for long mileage.

In independently conducted tests measuring a tire's capacity to withstand severe, scientifically-controlled high speed impacts, BFG's Radial T/A 60's with the DuoGard® Folded Belt system proved more than 20 per cent better than a major competitor's top-of-the-line steel belted radial, said Tartaglia.

The new generation T/A 60's rayon construction also offers a softer, smoother ride than textile material and steel.

It is available in eight P-metric sizes. The success story following BFG's new generation T/A's on the U.S. racing circuit is phenomenal.

June Public Swimming

Commencing the week of June 8 at Killam Pool, there is public swimming every night of the week with the exception of Wednesday nights at 8 p.m. is the evening that Janet Birch and her girls come and enjoy their aquatic class. All ladies are welcome to join this evening class which will be finished at the end of June and will commence again this fall. Summer swimming lessons at our pool will be slightly different from our previous swimming programs.

New Aquatics Program

This year Red Cross has taken an extensive look at its aquatic program and decided that it needed some changes. It has completed a new program which is presently in a pilot stage. We, at the Killam Swimming Pool have decided that we would like to introduce the new program. At first the public will be generally confused with the changes, so with this letter, I hope to explain a bit about the changes.

The new program involves: Water Safety I, Water Safety II, Water Safety III, Water Safety IV, Water Safety V, Swim Skills VI, Swim Skills VII, Swim Skills VIII, Swim Skills IX, Swim Skills X.

The levels of the program include: Personal Safety Development Levels and Swimming Skill Development Levels.

The new program has 10 levels with four major areas of content that will be used which will be finished at the end of June and will commence again this fall.

Summer swimming lessons at our pool will be slightly different from our previous swimming programs.

Pre-requisites - 1. for Water Safety I - 6 years of age or already in Grade 1; for Swim Skills VI - 8 years of age and successful completion of Water Safety I. 2. for all Water Safety levels - each level is a pre-requisite to the next higher level.

To compare the old program levels to the new program levels, I have made this chart for your convenience. Water Safety I - No old program level, Water Safety II - Novice, Water Safety III - Pro-Beginner, Water Safety IV - Beginner, Water Safety V - Survival, Swim Skills VI - Junior, Swim Skills VII - Junior.

Water Safety I - No old program level, Water Safety II - Novice, Water Safety III - Pro-Beginner, Water Safety IV - Beginner, Water Safety V - Survival, Swim Skills VI - Junior, Swim Skills VII - Junior.

"Did you know"...

A typical sub compact car can achieve 1.6% better fuel economy with a 4-speed manual transmission than with an automatic transmission. New lock-up automatic transmissions which are available on several new models also achieve good fuel economy.

Any transmission, manual or automatic, with a higher number of gears will generally use less fuel than a transmission with fewer gears. Thus, the most efficient is either a 4-speed manual transmission, or a lock-up automatic transmission.

Car air conditioners operating at maximum output can increase fuel consumption by as much as 20%. The mere presence of an air conditioner will add extra weight to the car and can reduce fuel economy by as much as 6% in sub compact.

A 6-cylinder engine averages 15%-20% better fuel economy than a V-8 engine.

Cars are the largest single consumer of petroleum in this country - they consume 33% of petroleum fuels. At current growth rates, that percentage is due to increase significantly.

Of all mechanical modes of transportation, the bicycle is the most efficient - that is, it travels the greatest distance per unit of energy.

Leave your car at home for short trips. It'll clean your feet. And, you too!

moderate. Safety Skills VIII - Novice, Safety Skills IX - Junior, Safety Skills X - Junior.

For further information you may come to the pool on June 14, Record Breaking Day. This is the first day of our registration for the summer sessions. The July session commences on July 1 and will run five days a week for two weeks.

The August session of lessons will commence on August 1 and run for two weeks - August 15 (two weeks - 10 lessons). No registrations will be accepted until Record Breaking Day, June 14.

As well as the Red Cross program, we will also be holding a pre-school class where the younger children will go into the water without their parents. The only pre-requisite for this class is that they must be able to stand on the bottom (three feet deep) without assistance. The age group for this is usually three and a half to five years.

All parents who drive their children to swimming lessons will have a chance this year to receive instruction as well. This summer, we are offering parents classes. Hopefully this will encourage more and to bring the kids for lessons and get something out of it as well.

Record Breaking Day - June 14

This is free-fee day! Everyone gets into the pool free. Last year our record was 276 patrons in the pool. Let's see if we can increase the number this year. As well as free swimming, we are holding a special noon time rubber ducky race with 8 boats competing. Our manager, Brian Bowles, has gone out to all the Jr. and Sr. High Schools encouraging the students to participate in our fitness run for an aggregate trophy. At any rate, it should be a great day for the whole family. June Gair, Pool Supervisor

CHIP: Financial Aid for Home Insulation

A MAJOR INSULATION PROGRAM FOR YOUR HOME IS EXPENSIVE. ARE THERE ANY GOVERNMENT GRANTS TO HELP WITH THE COST OF INSULATING, WEATHERSTRIPPING AND CAULKING MY HOME? IF SO, HOW DO I GO ABOUT GETTING ONE?

Homeowner in Regina, Sask.

If you live in an older home, you're in luck. The Canadian Home Insulation Program (CHIP) offers grants to a maximum of $500 to assist with the cost of materials and labour involved in insulating or weatherstripping your home. The program is administered by the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC), and is directed towards single family homes, semi-detached or row house units, apartment buildings, and non-profit housing.

In order to be eligible, your home (or apartment building) must meet these conditions: (a) be a principal residence; (b) be 3 stories or less; (c) have been built before January 31, 1961 (applies to all provinces except Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, where the date is February 28, 1961); and (d) have not previously received a grant under the CHIP program.

Although the program is available for all homes built before 1961, your materials must have been purchased and installed after April 20, 1979 when the terms of the new CHIP program became effective.

If you must own or rent the unit you may obtain only one CHIP grant per unit, amounting to the full cost of insulation materials up to $500 and 1/3 of labour costs to a maximum of $150 for a total possible grant of $650 for detached, semi-detached, or row house units. Apartment building units are eligible for a maximum of $150.

Questions about coupons

Paula Mills

General Foods recently sent me a new brochure they have developed which answers common questions about coupons. Since coupons are a widely misunderstood marketing device, I can use why they printed this brochure. Here's what it says.

Question: What is the purpose of a cut-off coupon?

Coupons are just one of the many ways a manufacturer has of presenting a special sale that will draw your attention to a product. In many cases, especially with new products, the idea is - try it, you may like it. If they can just get you to try the product once, you may become loyal to the product. Question: Why doesn't the manufacturer just reduce the selling price to increase his sales?

Good question. But it's a proven fact that reducing the price on an item does not necessarily draw your attention to it. Coupons do. Also, coupons give you some product information which may encourage you to buy - lowering the price does not.

Question: Why are grocers obliged to redeem coupons you present to them?

The answer is Not But most major supermarkets will. They view it as a customer service, and it often increases their sales. Question: Do people appreciate receiving cut-off coupons and other advertising material through the mail?

The post office says yes, about coupons. Since coupons are a widely misunderstood marketing device, I can use why they printed this brochure. Here's what it says.

Gardening the Right Way!

Energy Related Gardening Considerations

The reason for gardening often given by home gardeners is recreation, but no one denies the dollar savings to be made not the joy of using fresh, nutritious home-grown food. Whatever your reason, growing "your own" can also be an energy saving way to acquire your fruits and vegetables.

However, the amount of energy you save varies directly with how you garden. If your garden habits entail a car trip of several miles to go to your plot, heavy dependence on your tractor and extensive use of oil-based fertilizers and pesticides, you may not be saving energy (or money, for that matter) by growing your own food. If this is how you garden, consider for a moment the energy and money you can save on this year's garden by making a few changes:

• A backyard garden is, of course, preferable but if you do have to drive to your garden, be efficient and save on gasoline (and your time) by making only the trips that are necessary to maintain the garden.

• If your plot is large and you really do need a rototiller, then consider renting or sharing one with a neighbor. Remember, energy is required not only to run a rototiller but to manufacture it as well.

• Save energy by replacing fossil fuel based chemical fertilizers with fertilizer from your own compost heap. Many gardeners feel that organic fertilizers do a superior job of fertilizing and conditioning the soil. As kitchen and garden wastes move from the garbage can to the compost heap the energy costs of transporting and disposing of the garbage are also reduced.

• Use materials for modern pesticides that are largely fossil fuel based. Pesticides require still further inputs of energy for manufacturing, packaging, transportation, and distribution. Consequently, any reduction in the pesticides you use also saves energy. So before you reach for that energy expensive can of insecticide, fungicide, or herbicide, why not try the following:

• "An Ounce of Prevention" This old adage is certainly true when it comes to gardening. Here are several ways to reduce the risks of insect or disease ridden plants:

• keep the garden area tidy and eliminate hiding and breeding grounds for insects;

• don't handle a healthy plant after being in contact with a diseased one;

• don't put a diseased plant in the compost heap.

• "The Cure" When your cucumbers are being nibbled away and holes appear in your cabbages, the time to take the offensive is at hand. Check the plants during the day or in the evening (by flashlight) to find the culprits and if possible, pick them off. If this is not possible, then:

• hose them off with water;

• spray them with soap and water or salt and water (two tablespoons of liquid pure soap or salt to a gallon of 20-4 (70°F) water);

• set traps and barriers. For example, tin cans, with both ends removed, placed around the stem of young plants will stop cutworms — make sure the can extends 1-2 inches into the soil; a barrier and down slugs must be fresh beer.

Garden books, available at your local library or bookstore, have many more helpful hints and suggestions on how to garden "naturally". Your garden can be a source of nutritious, "energy cheap" food.

Hardisty Hospital receives plans

George Matthews, Chairman of the Flagstaff-Hughenden Hospital Board announced the government outline of the new Hardisty Hospital to be built soon, at the Flagstaff County Council Meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, June 12.

The 55 bed building will be diamond shaped with the nurses' station in the centre, eliminating long hallways. The kitchen and utilities will be in the basement.

The advantageous thing about the new unit will be the availability of expanding to a 60, 75, or 100 bed hospital if need be. All that would be necessary to enlarge the building would be to add an additional wing, like the first. The increase to 75 or 100, a second story would be added to one or both wings.

Because of the size of the new plan, the Town of Hardisty has agreed to exchange proposed sites with the new hospital.

Instead of the new building to be set on the land of the previous hospital, it will be built on the hill above the new water tank which will be the only signature left in final approval being the outline of the old, which is rarely used.

Also announced was the approval of a $400,000 improvement grant from the provincial government to Dayland Hospital. It is feared that this may be too much money, and that if the town in the future desires a new hospital due to the poor design of the old, it will not be granted.

Landfill Nearly Dumped
Alberta Environment almost dumped the County of Flagstaff's landfill site, set to be underway this year.

The County was told that the money should be going to larger centres, but the County replied that it was too late for Environment to back down.

Environment's plan was to hold off the operation until next year, but were persuaded to turn back on this plan. Work is still progressing at the site, with the only signature left in final approval being the outline of the old, which is rarely used.

The County of Camrose Planning Commission is taking the Alberta Provincial Government Appeal Board to court and request that all other planning commissions help by sharing 50 per cent of the costs.

The Battle River Planning Commission (B.R.P.C.) agreed to pay its share, being in mutual disgust over the appeal board's numerous reverse decisions on area appeals for sub divisions.

B.R.P.C. feels that this is an issue that affects all planning commissions and when its bylaws can be over ruled, they are not actually laws.

Art club honours Alberta

The first of a series of Art Shows which the Battle River Art Club is presenting in honour of Alberta's 78th Birthday closed on Saturday, June 14.

The first show was held in the Craft Room of the Killam Agplex and ran for the week of June 7 to June 14. The response to this venture was most gratifying.

The Battle River Art Club's Salute to Alberta is a display of paintings and photography by local artists. The shows feature Alberta landscapes, portraits of pioneers and present day Albertans, and themes of nostalgic or historical interest.

The second show of the series will be held in the Sedgewick Community Hall, July 1 to July 5, and the third in the Lougheed Senior Citizens Drop-in.

The Purchase Award is given to a picture which is raffled to raise money for future scholarships. The Dorothy Gardiner Memorial Award is presented in memory of the third President of the A.C.A.C.A. This is the second time this award has gone to a Sedgewick painter. Mr. Ben Weber received this award in 1975.

The Battle River Art Club is pleased to have had members do so well in recent A.C.A.C.A. shows.

Reverend Stewart Abel, 66, retired from the Church of the Nazarene after some 40 years of service, and Sunday, June 15, a special party was held in his honour at the Community Hall in Sedgewick.

Over 300 people were in attendance at the affair, presenting Rev. Abel with cards of appreciation, gifts, a certificate and a plaque. A special present was given to him by his family who gave him a record album, "Singing in the Rain" by Louis Rollard, his daughter from Minnesota. Stewart had no idea the album was completed and it came as an incredible surprise.

Louis Swanson was Master of Ceremonies for the event which heard many people from the community give tender speeches. Particularly touching was one by Sedgewick Mayor Ernie Koshl, who thanked Rev. Abel for his guidance during his time with Sedgewick Church of the Nazarene.

Although Stewart had a religious upbringing, it wasn't until he was 17 that he made his conversion to Christ. At that time he made a decision that his work should be involving religion.

From that time until the present, Mr. Abel said that he has enjoyed his work and the rewards have been plenty, "I have found many riches with the church but not necessarily involving money," said Rev. Abel, "involving the riches of friends and love."

He said that his rewards for his work have come in the form of feedback, after he has given people advice. People who have wanted to kill themselves and others have been turned around by Rev. Abel's words of wisdom.

Stewart was born in Lacombe in 1914, but moved with his family to a desolate farm outside of the town.

After discovering Christ, Stewart attended Canadian Nazarene College. After learning the religion, he became Reverend of his first of many churches, in Chisholm Mills, a lumber town in northern Alberta, in 1940. Stewart worked with no less than seven other churches in Canada and the United States before moving to Sedgewick in 1976.

At this time, the Sedgewick Church of the Nazarene was still under construction, so Rev. Abel held his services in Lougheed until the Sedgewick church was completed in February, 1977.

Stewart married his wife, Sophie in 1944, and the couple have four children.

Rev. Abel's outstanding contribution to the Sedgewick district will not end now that he has retired. The effects of his work live on within the people he has served. Perhaps the most fitting statement to sum up his influence and career was one often said by him, "I'm it good to be a Christian."

'Honest Joe'

In a recent Toronto speech, opposition leader Joe Clark admitted that his Conservative Party brought on its own downfall in late '79. His honesty is admired as a man but absurd as a politician.

Past Tory leaders never admitted a wrong doing. John Diefenbaker always shifted the blame and Robert Stanfield never felt a desire to explain.

Although truth is respected in politicians, Mr. Clark just doesn't come across like Abe Lincoln walking great distances to return a penny.

Since taking power in May, 1979, Clark stated it was a poor move attempting to relocate Canada's embassy in Israel from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem.

He has also pointed out that he should not have been putting on a low profile while learning the ropes; ropes he supposedly already knew when elected to the prestigious position of prime minister.

In his latest apology to the public, Clark said that it was a misjudgement to continue with the non-confidence vote holding its foundation on the Conservative budget.

He said that he should have pulled back on the budget and gone on with other issues until Canadians realized the need to decrease the deficit.

It is Clark's prerogative to justify his actions in whatever way he chooses. But, he makes it difficult on both Tory members and supporters alike when he admits wrong in a budget that was presented most timely and with integrity.

When Mr. Clark states that he was wrong, he admits that the public was wrong to support him.

Although the public can appreciate 'Honest Joe', he is still a politician, and unfortunately honesty can sometimes play a small role in politics.

What Others Say

A limited objective

A majority of Canadians, when polled recently, expressed opposition to the admission of more Vietnamese refugees to the 50,000 agreed to by the federal government by the end of this year. That's not surprising.

Probably a majority of Canadians, of whatever background, has always been opposed to the immigration of others who are not of their own kind. Prejudices are pervasive and persistent. The prejudice against the Vietnamese refugees may not be apparent in the argument that "Canada cannot absorb every refugee". It just seems like common sense to admit the impossible. There are at least 14 million refugees in the world today and there is no way Canada could cope with that many immigrants.

But nobody expects Canada to even try. Most of the refugees are not candidates for immigration. The six million African refugees, for instance, are being looked after in neighboring countries, under an official policy of the Organization of African Unity, until they can return to their homes. The two million Palestinian and Lebanese refugees are kept festering in camps to serve the political ends of the Arab nations of the Middle East.

Canada is in no danger of being overwhelmed by immigrants, let alone refugees. Immigration is strictly controlled. Only seven per cent of the country's population growth is due to immigration and only 10 per cent of the immigrants are refugees.

The Vietnamese refugees appear to be integrating well. The jobs they seem to be getting look suspiciously like ones nobody else wants. Thus, they are not taking jobs away from other Canadians.

Even if there were not the facts, Canadians could only have refused with bad conscience to take some of the Vietnamese Boat People. The prejudice that prevented Canadians from helping to save Jews from death in Hitler's extermination camps has been judged by history. It would be under even harshest judgment if permitted to turn callous hearts against the Boat People in a supposedly more enlightened time.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:
Flagstaff Preventive Social Services apologues for two errors printed in their P88 Survey Results inserted in the June 4 paper. The first one on Page four under Alcohol and Drug Abuse should have read that Annual Alcohol sales in Flagstaff are increasing at a rate of 25.1%, not 12.1%. On the last page, the budget figure totals were reversed 1980 - 81 $25,000 and 1981 - 82 $25,000.
Flagstaff Preventive Social Services

Dear Monte, Elaine and everyone else at the Press:
Hi. You were going to receive a letter but this will have to do for the time being. Cornwall is beautiful, old churches, narrow little streets, flowering trees and bushes. Downers of all kinds, birds, and of course, the sea. Very pretty, lots of rivers and streams. Old pubs where good meals are served. Will have lots to write about.
Jim and Betty Walsh

Please extend our thanks and best wishes to the Kilian community, particularly Luan Dutton and Reg Faw who took the time to personally welcome the workshop participants and, of course, Dr. Amin, for representing the town at the Saturday evening dinner. We have rarely been welcomed so cordially.

I am sure that your town is the envy of everyone who attended the workshop - and we had writers from as far away as Jasper, Silver Creek and Lathbridge.

Many thanks and best wishes,
Sincerely,

Philosophy for the Birds

IT IS MUCH BETTER TO GO FISHING WITH YOUR CHILDREN THAN TO GO HUNTING FOR HIM LATER

The Third Column

BY TRINACUTE

WHENEVER I "VENT MY SPIN", boiler and my yell, scream and boiler, and generally give forth on my post-up sager at the stupid individuals who carve down the streets in their two-ton juggernauts, at the same time pointing to the bulging bags under my eyes, the sallow look on my face and wobbly gait of my walking, pleading for sympathy and understanding, what do I get? My son merely says, "Why do you go to bed at night and go to sleep?" Of course I know that he is only trying to calm the troubled waters, but I have only heard of one person who ever accomplished that feat. Then too he might be trying to protect me from a coronary arrest. What he doesn't understand is that if those rare drivers continue their unbecoming visits there is far more chance of a least stop. Anger is a dangerous contaminant, and anger I've got in large portions. As long as the situation lasts there is no possible chance of losing the bags under my eyes. They remain a constant reminder of loss of sleep and appalling of sleep and appalling of sleep.

IT BECOMES QUITE APPARENT to me that a stop can be put to this abominable practice if we get off the lily-pod and swim to shore where the action is and do something about it.

THE NO - longer - effective practice of lightly tapping the knuckles on the steering wheel needs to be relegated to the back burner and more meaningful and effective penalties substituted therefore. There is no respect for the law that is being upheld. We must offenders where it hurts. Hurt them enough and you gain their respect. Hit them often enough with escalating penalties and you gain their things down. Otherwise we are wasting our time.

IT IS UNREASONABLE to expect the police officers can be everywhere at all times. Their numbers just do not permit. Besides that, when they do appear you can bet that would-be offenders know it, and suddenly spring angel wings. They also know when the police leave the scene.

THIRDLY, and more important, it is time to revise the penalties under. A two-bit fine is no longer a deterrent. A fine that can be recouped in one day's work no longer wastes. The hit must be a hurt. I'm not too certain of my grounds here, but it appears to me that the impounding of vehicles and even incarceration is an area of real punishment. The loss of driving privileges because you do not have a license is going to hurt feelings as well as pride, and after that that's the whole idea, isn't it?

LASTLY it's time the law-makers upgraded the laws to fit the times. Cause drivers to realize that driving on the highways and streets is not a RIGHT, but rather a PRIVILEGE. Such avenues are put there at great expense for public convenience, with proper courtesy displayed by all. The way some drive around the streets one would think all the horses under the hood were entered in Indianapolis 500. Give Judges something to sink their teeth into and then see that they do just that. It's time for the maximum not the minimum.

Killam holds record breaking days

Killam Swimming Pool Supervisor June Galt and Recreation Manager Brian Bowles are promoting fitness. "The pool has been dead," said Recreation Manager Brian Bowles, "and we're trying to turn it into more or less a teen centre." The pool organizers have gone to all the high and junior high school students in the county in an attempt to develop a greater interest in swimming to do, and maybe even keep them out of trouble.

Last year it (Record Breaking Days) reached its peak but we wanted more people so we started high school and junior high school challenges. Mr. Bowles said. He added that the pool could accommodate some 400 people every day, and it is the only indoor pool in the county.

Record Breaking Days included free swimming, floor hockey and bowling as well as a poster contest and a bicycle fitness test.

The bike provides a good test," said Brian. "The government is trying to push fitness, and we are trying to make the people of this area fitness conscious." He added that if this interest in fitness enough, the Killam Recreation Board may set up fitness classes. Mr. Bowles said that he is hoping that Record Breaking Days will generate enough interest among teenagers to keep the Killam Aquatics hopping.

During the summer and all year round. "A greater interest in fitness will help the kids by giving them something to do, and maybe even keep them out of trouble."

Killam Public School was the overall trophy for the combination of three challenge events, swimming, and floor hockey for junior high students during Record Breaking Days. Central High from Sedgewick won the overall trophy for senior high.

First place prize in the poster competition for elementary grades was a one month family pass into the swimming pool. Grade one winner was Mark Gillespie of Killam; grade two, Karen Collins of Strome; three, Shelly Gubb of Dayland; four, Marvin Lang of Viking; five, Leah Mattinson of Viking; six, Mark Gubb of Dayland.

Second prize in the competition was a summer swim pass for one winner for grade one, Janet Pfeiffer of Strome; two, Michelle Trueland of Dayland; three, Doug Adams of Dayland; four, Leslie Cookman of Sedgewick; five, Marlene Hahm of Sedgewick; six, Karen Smith of Sedgewick.

Killam holds U.G.G. meeting

A.M. Runciman, President of the United Grain Growers Limited (U.G.G.) was guest speaker at the U.G.G. Regional Meeting in Killam, Thursday, June 12. The purpose of regional meetings is to hear and talk about the farmers' problems. Mr. Runciman gave a short talk and then broke the people into small groups so that they could present problems and ideas to the gathering.

Mr. Runciman, 66, was born in Scotland but moved to Canada in 1926 with his family at the age of 13. The family settled on a farm near Balaam, Saskatchewan, where they resided for a number of years.

Mr. Runciman grew up, farmed, and got married in 1949 to his wife Marjorie. He was elected to the U.G.G. Board of Directors in 1955, and became U.G.G. President in 1961.

"When I was a young farmer, I used to think it would be great to be involved with the grain growers," said Mr. Runciman. "I had always had an interest in what they were involved with."

He added that the changes have been enormous from the time he was a young farmer to

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Keldorfer and family spent an enjoyable time at Shorcliffe Lake swimming and water skiing. Joe's first time trying to water ski. Heard he didn't do to bad.

Miss Adelle Keldorfer of Edmonton spent the week-end with parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Keldorfer.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Keldorfer and family and a number of friends spent the weekend at Lac Sainte. The big attraction in town on Thursday was the arrival of the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young. Really interesting to watch a big crane swing the house onto its foundation. Already Easter has it decked with pots of flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Morgan and family of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Fossen, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nistras spent an enjoyable weekend at Buck Lake, trying for the big one in a fish derby. If there were any there, no one from this bunch found them.

Clara Johnson

Clara Johnson, 82, was born in Millville, New Brunswick, where her and her family lived until 1907, when they moved to the Alliance area.

Mrs. Johnson went to Argyle School in country school near Alliance until finishing in grade 10 and proceeding to Camrose Normal School and Alberta College, where she learned teaching.

After completing her training, she moved back to the Alliance area and taught at Leopoldville School and Alliance Junior High School. She spent her entire career at these schools and taught sometimes what amounted to three generations of pupils, before retiring as Vice-Principal of the Alliance school in 1970.

Clara was married to Marion Johnson in 1920, and the two spent their time together on a farm near Alliance. When Marion died in 1955, she moved into Alliance, where she still resides.

She blames the loss of business and facilities for the removal of the high school. "The high school was a big loss...it formed a centre for activities."

But, she points out that the town is still a nice place to live. "It's a clean little town, and we're all doing a lot to make it attractive," says Mrs. Johnson. "It's friendly and has a lot of organizations."

In reference to Alberta, Clara recalled, "Alberta was a haven, province but we knew it when we came out." She said that the west was greatly taken advantage of by the east, being taxed hard and having little.

Mrs. Johnson stated that she is not sorry for the east in as far as high priced Alberta oil goes. "They've run us for so long...now we've got a man whose demanding something for the west," she said.

The committee thanked everyone who assisted with serving the rodeo pancake breakfast.

A delicious lunch was served by Ruth Grainger and Mary Manning.

Clara has done a lot of travelling and plans to continue with it, adding her vast knowledge. She enjoys needlepoint and all types of crafts.

She has been involved with the library for a number of years as well as belonging to Alliance W.I. and the Fun For All Club.

Mrs. Johnson got terrific fulfillment out of teaching and enjoyed it very much. "The only work to teaching was after school, during the day was a real pleasure."

Further information later.

The exact date for the picnic will be arranged at the July meeting. An announcement was made that Harry "Queen" would be at home for his 92 birthday, June 13. The next picnic party is June 19 and "500" on June 30. Meeting is on July 10, all are at 2:00 p.m. Everyone welcome.

A delicious lunch was served by Ruth Grainger and Mary Manning.

It was reported a great deal of volunteer work was done, with a good number to transplant 700 plants in the street flower boxes also cleaning up the park area. Also setting up a new book case, and sanding and varnishing the storage cupboards to match. Building a frame and decorating the float for the parade which will also be entered in the Killam's 75th anniversary celebration and parade.

The committee thanked everyone who assisted with serving the rodeo pancake breakfast.

The date set for the 75th anniversary celebration tea and Senior Citizens craft display as September 13.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

LETTERS OF LARRY AGO
L.A. Davidson

I browse through the history compiled by old friends, Of places and people I know.

When I was a child, Was it that long ago? How swiftly, it seems, the years have flown.

As I read the stories and as I look back Recalling my youth once again, It seems the book has left something out The love, the laughter, the pain.

The past is all tidy and neatly set out Like the view of a farm from the plane. It looks so precise for from that far away You can't see the junk in the lane.

In the history book all the scandals are gone That once led us all in a bind. The grumpy old couple who threw pots and pans About the same as the ones who were kind.

This thought is a solace when troubles arise And life seems so dull and grey, Let us remember that time will erase The pain that we feel today.

IN MEMORIAM

D'ARCY - Treasured memories of my dear son Edward who passed away on June 17, 1978. Every day is some small way.

Memories of you keep coming back to me. A thought, a prayer, a memory. Then a silent wish that you were here. They say that time will ease the pain. And help me to forget. But time so far has only shown.

How much I miss you yet. I miss your smile, your voice, your touch. The things you used to do. I miss the happy times we had, but most of all, I miss you.

Always remembered and sadly missed by Mother. 46-19

MACKAY - In loving memory of my son, brother and grandson, Marvin Mackay, who passed away June 21, 1978. We often sit and think of him.

When we are all alone, For memory is the only friend.

That grief can call its own. Like river on the withered oak.

When all other things decay, Our love for him will still keep green.

And never fade away. Ever remembered and sadly missed by Mom, Dad, Sharon, Kim, Kristin, Marvin, Jamie and Karl. Grandma and Grandpa Harry and Grandma and Grandma Anderson. 45-19

Hardisty Auxiliary News

As eager as school children, looking forward to their summer holidays, were the ladies of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary as they met for the June meeting of the Auxiliary, held June 10 at the Hardisty Hospital.

After a hard 10 months work, we too look forward to a little break from activities as the summer months approach. President Erma Matthews reported that a meeting to be held in Edmonton tomorrow, will decide the location for the new hospital; and she read a letter outlining the responsibilities of the municipality when a new facility is built.

A letter was received from the Provincial Auxiliary asking for names of any members 75 years of age or over, so that they may be honored during our 75th anniversary year. Much to our credit, we have several ladies who are eligible, and we are indeed proud to forward their names to our provincial body.

Nellie Johnston reported that she had forwarded a total of $427.30 to the Heart Fund, proceeds from our Donors Choice Canvass.

This was a considerable increase over last year, and everyone agreed that the type of canvass had been a great success.

A committee to try to get the Meas-Or-Wheel program operative was set up at this meeting, with Nancy Holman, Erma Matthews and Bae Hahn volunteering to serve as members.

Charlotte Gola offered to have the memorial plaques re-done over the summer, as we are having problems with the name plates falling off of the plaques.

Marion Elm requested that the Auxiliary prepare an Auxiliary history for inclusion in the Hardisty Hospital History and to this end Hilary Grey volunteered to look out the history of the original St. Anne's Hospital Auxiliary, while Rose Harris Thompson will write the history of the current Auxiliary.

The fall meeting will see the invitation of several guests for a special presentation. So for the occasion only, the September meeting will be held at the Drop-In Centre. All regular members please note.

Have a happy summer.

Hardisty history book

The History Book Committee met on Monday afternoon with Mr. Bill Williams of New Horizons.

The section of the Senior Citizens Group supplies the grant for operating expenses, so far the Committee has purchased a file cabinet, two second-hand typewriters, a file and card and folders for the stories, as well as postage on brochures, etc. Mr. Williams expressed satisfaction with the work done so far. Another 25 stories have been sent in to the printers.

Hardisty Legion Auxiliary meets

The Hardisty Legion Auxiliary met in the Hall on June 2, with 10 members present.

The meeting opened with the usual Flag Ceremony. Madame Kromer reported a few kitchen utensils bought. A letter of thanks was received from the Provincial Bureau Fund for the regular donation.

A report from the rally committee showed a profit of $257.85 made on the building of the Legion. The group is going to the men's branch of the Legion to the Blood Analyser machine, is the Hardisty Library and the School Playground. Win ners of the draw were: bedspread, Sharon Gately; sheet set, Iva Hagen, of Loughheed.

It was decided to have a table of miscellaneous articles at the Farmer's Market during July.

The fall raffle was discussed for a draw November 11, as the application must be sent in.

The next meeting will be held on September 8, put it on your calendar!

Following the closing ceremony, a tasty lunch was served, with Happy Birthday being sung to Madame Marguerite Tisholm, as she cut her beautiful cake.

CANADA DAY

Let's join together and stand as a nation on this July 1st Canada Day

Ken Affolder

Teachers honoured

Hazel Burden, Betty Galletty, and George Jenvey retired from school teaching and were honoured at an open house held at Central High Sch.-gym, Wednesday, June 18.

Mrs. Burden and Mrs. Galletty both had lengthy careers including teaching 19 years of grade six and seven respectively at Sedgewick Public School from which they retired. Mr. Jenvey tended to travel more in his career. He taught in the United States and Europe before being kind at Central in 1972. Of the many speakers at the event, possibly the most important to the teachers were speeches by former students, now adults. They thanked their former teachers for shaping their lives and for many, the lives of their children as well. The retired teachers were given gifts from their respective schools and thanked for their dedicated work by both principals and staff. Sedgewick Public School Principal Ken Affolder

Some closed, some are not

Although the Town of Killam has declared Monday, June 30 a civic holiday, giving most of its people a four day weekend, the other county towns and villages haven't.

Hardisty has not declared Monday a holiday due mainly to the confusion of stores open Mondays. Hardisty will instead have a civic holiday on the first Monday in August, as usual. Sedgewick will be open as usual on June 30, but most stores are closed down in any case. The town is planning its civic holiday for the first Tuesday August.

Sedgewick principal going overseas

Sedgewick Public School Principal Ken Affolder will be among five Alberta teachers and 70 Canadian teachers who will participate in the Canadian Teachers' Federation's (C.T.F.) Project Overseas this summer.

Every summer, selected Canadian teachers provide assistance to Third World countries in an effort to improve teaching skills and organizations. The chosen teachers are not paid for the summer work, but the expenses are picked up by C.T.F. and the Canadian International Development Agency. Mr. Affolder will be appointed to the island of St. Vincent.

This is not Ken's first trip, as he spent a lengthy one at Sierra Leone, another underdeveloped country through Project Overseas earlier in the '70s. He will be leaving for this trip on July 2, by himself, with his wife Helga and children to meet him there later. They will be returning in mid-August.

In explaining the reason he took on the teaching task, Mr. Affolder said, "It's a challenge...I have as overriding interest in Third World development." He added that when he was a university student in the '60s, he and a number of other students believed in causes. Ken said that he guesses that same belief is still with him. (Continued on Page 16)

Celebrates D.A. office

The first District Agricultural office in Alberta was opened 60 years ago in Sedgewick, and the town will have a celebration of the birthday on July 11.

D.A. office will give plaques for their contribution in Alberta by the government during this, the province's 75th anniversary.

Sedgewick, though, will be given a special plaque, which will be unveiled by Agriculture Minister Dallas Schmidt at the July 11 event. The first D.A. in Alberta, appointed to Sedgewick, was Mr. Herb Scott. He was succeeded by Mr. L.D. Williams. Mr. Williams is presently retired and living in Cranston. On page 8 there is an obituary of an ancestor Mr. Williams has written.

4-H breakdown

When the membership of an organization declines, it must cling together forming tighter bonds in order to strengthen itself. Unfortunately, the County of Flagstaff 4-H movement has acted in the opposite direction, causing a structural breakdown.

Traditionally, 4-H in this region held its annual show and sale in Killam. It was a two day affair in which each club showed to its own community on Monday afternoon, transferring stock to Killam that evening. Tuesday would be the big show and sale with clubs competing against one another.

In the mid 70s however, the memberships of the county 4-H movement began to drop, and in 1975, the two day show was changed to one. In 1977 the Daysland club dropped out of the event deciding it would be more practical to host its own show.

This year, Killam was unable to host the show, and dropped out because it was relocated in Loughheed. The Killam club felt it couldn't draw any buyer support in Loughheed.

Contributing to the 4-H membership fall is the decline of beef raising in the county. A lot of the farms formerly being used to produce beef is now being broken down into farm land. The farming population also seems to have turned around, with numerous adults past 4-Hers and many children unable to qualify under the club's age regulation of 10 and over.

Now with individual clubs competing against themselves, club members have had hard feelings towards each other instead of the 'team' spirit felt previously.

One proposed way of reuniting the clubs in one large sale is to alternate locations each year, allowing each club to host. This though, has been frowned upon by many parents (past 4-Hers) who witnessed the death of county 4-H during an interval which this rotation was being used, some 25 years ago.

Some involved with 4-H feel there will be a membership increase in about five years due to large recruitment of what are now younger children. Although this may, and hopefully will be the case, county 4-H must bind together to build up its strength, until such time, if it doesn't, there may be no 4-H in Flagstaff in five years.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I have lived in the town of Selkirk for 58 years, paid taxes since 1948 and owe the town no money. My son has property which he has paid taxes on for the last two years. We put in a bid to get the hay on the town property west of the town road north of town, but were turned down.

Now, for many years the town can put more off of their streets on your lawn, etc. full of rocks, sand, and sealed up the back alley behind my place by hiring a truck and loader, to find shortly after, the town foreman came down the alley and graded all the rocks and garbage from the other side of the alley over to mine and partly in my garden.

I had holes dug in my lawn once, and when they moved some sidewalk, they filled them with gravel, and I had to redo them.

I honestly feel that the hay could have been split, giving us half, portion we wanted and someone else the rest. I keep my taxes paid and do my best to keep my yard clean. So if I get rate a few dollars of hay, even at a 10 cent a bale less bid, then there is certainly no way they are going to give snow, etc., on my property any longer. Jack Stevens

Dear Sir:

I am the manager of the Killam Recreation Complex. My throat has just been cut, thanks to the County Press in their article on June 18, about Record Breaking Days.

No, the pool has not been dead. At least not since hard working John Gay and her diligent staff have strived to make the pool an active centre. The quote pinned on me concerning the swimming pool was definitely misinterpreted and certainly discrediting to the pool staff, many volunteers and the community as a whole.

What I intended was the pool was being poorly supported (1 - 8 years previous) before Record Breaking Days 79 and other programs were introduced.

Record Breaking Days 80 was a very successful event with about 800 people attending (87 swimmers in the pool). The majority of the crowd were teenagers, but also there were several parents who seemed to enjoy themselves fully. It was a day of excitement, but the Community Press annihilated the purpose, educational factors and fun that were part of the event. It is not the goal of a newspaper to recapture the vigor and excitement of sporting events not to create winners.

It was a free day for all ages and made possible by many volunteers and merchants (donations).

Did the newspaper reader, not present, get a true feeling for the event? My case rests.

"I Write as I Feel"

TELEVISION is an instrument made use of by its operators to bring to the viewing public not only about instantaneous news of events that are shaping the future, but also an effective implement used by manipulators to propagate and spread the seeds of dissension and dissonance among the multitude. It also serves the purpose of bringing to reality the baseness of human nature and the aboriginal instincts of the human race when presented with the opportunity to assert the true instincts. That this is true has been proven time after time, but perhaps more especially by one or two recent events of a global nature, which provided the basic reason why nations are at loggerheads. It all stems right back to the age old adage that "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn".

THE RECENT uprising in Miami, Florida, where discontent exploded in riotous tumult and disorder along with unrestrained indulgence and displays of inhuman and stupid reaction, resulted in loss of life, pillage and looting, destruction of property, which will take years and millions of dollars to normalize. It also pointed up very drastically that the human animal is after all an animal and in many respects not really as sensible as the four-legged variety.

WHILE VIEWING the racial outburst in South Africa the other day I was struck by the hatred which surfaces between people of different skin colors, where a minority forces its power on a majority. Particularly brought to the fore was the reaction displayed, I watched as some teenagers seeking rights which is their due, but because their skin was black, they were hit and blooded by white adults every time they came within reach. The display of inhuman behavior made me realize that there is no possibility of global content or peace among nations so long as individuals exist side by side in hatred. After all

Salute to a pioneer couple

George and Irene Friesler, 71 and 70 respectively, were married in 1905 and lived and farmed in the Heister area most of their lives.

George was born and raised in Balgownie, Manitoba until he was nine months old, when the family moved to the Heister area to farm.

Irene was born in Waskia, but moved to Coronation with her family when she was young. She then moved on to Heister, where she met and married George.

The couple farmed until 1970, when they retired and moved into Heister. They have eight children.

"Around 1950, when the C.N.R. came through the town picked up," said Mr. Friesler. Heister used to be quite a bit bigger than now, he added. "There were smaller farms and more people...I used to be considered a large farm, and I only had three quarters."

But, Mr. Friesler said, they like Heister and don't care that it's not terribly big. "Everybody is more or less just one big family. There are a lot of clubs and they all work together," she said.

"Nationalism or domination doesn't make any difference," said George. "I like Heister as it is, but the young people would like to see it grow. Unless they're working, there is nothing for a young person to do."

Mr. Friesler said that when he first moved to the area, Heister was non-existent. He said that he knew Henry Arden, who used to own the land Heister is now built on. Henry then sold the land to Martin Heister Senior, who sold it to the town, which bears his name.

In reference to Alberta, the couple agreed that anywhere they have travelled in the province, they have witnessed beautiful scenery. Also, "It is the best and wealthiest province in Canada," stated Irene proudly. Together they pointed out that it makes them feel pretty good that they have seen Alberta grow to its 76th anniversary.

Both George and Irene are members of the Heister Senior Citizens Club. Irene likes to bake, garden and crochet, while George likes baseball, fishing, and generally all sports.

O'Canada stamps

Composers of O'Canada, Calixa Lavallée, Alphonse Busby, and Robert Stanley Weir will have their portraits and music on two commemorative stamps to celebrate the song's 100th birthday and will be released by Canada Post on June 6.

In 1980, the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec asked Lavallée to compose the music and Busby to write the words for a national song. O'Canada was the result of their work and was first heard on Saint-Jean Baptiste Day, June 24 of that year.

The song became a big success in Quebec, but it wasn't until Weir wrote an English version in 1908 that it became popular throughout the country. A miniature pane of 15 postage stamps will be available instead of the usual 80. A souvenir envelope with the music and words of O'Canada will be given with each miniature pane of which each will carry the message "I am proud to be Canadian."

One of the stamps will represent the first bars of O'Canada and the other the portraits of the three composers. Frederick Peter of Vancouver designed the stamps using lively and bright colors for the occasion. Sixty million of the 17 cent stamp will be printed.

What Others Say

Rumbles

Voicing support for what you believe is right can cause problems, especially in the Alberta legislature.

Conservative backbencher Tom Sindlinger took abuse from his own party last week when he came to break ranks and lend support to a Social Credit bill.

Sindlinger was showered with angry notes from his party members when he spoke in favour of Sacred Walter Buck's bill calling for a freedom of information act. The bill would allow people the right to see government documents and personal information about themselves.

The Terry MLA showed courage and initiative by backing the opposition. In too many cases, party politics have taken a follow-the-leader attitude. Instead, Sindlinger stood up for what he believed, even if the idea was not promoted by his own party.

The governing party does need to show a united front but too often an opposition proposal, even if it shows merit, is rejected out of hand, simply because it came from the wrong side of the floor.

If Sindlinger and other like him, continue to speak for what they believe in right, democracy and the people it serves will receive the benefits.

Vehicle recalls

Ford Motor
Has your car ever been recalled for a safety related defect? Over the past 18 years more than 80 million North American vehicles have been recalled.

There is a recall on the owner to bring the car in once a recall has been announced. Eighteen months after one of the most publicized recall campaigns in the industry's history, the possibility of fiery explosions in rear-end Plato and Robert collisions, more than half the 80,000 vehicles recalled have not been repaired.

There is the crux of this whole consumer problem. Laws can be made to protect the consumer. But with these rights come responsibility and many consumers ignore this until it is too late. In fact, ignoring your responsibility in cases like this may not just be foolish, it may be down right dangerous.

Nazarene News

Stewart's retirement

"God bless you both for your personal caring ministry to each other at the Sedgewick Nazarene Church" was the inscription on a plaque presented to Rev. and Mrs. Abel by their church family at an open house and tea given in their honour June 15, 1980, at the Sedgewick Community Hall.

Friends from as far away as Wisconsin, U.S.A., Malvern, Saskatchewan, High Prairie, Lacombe, Innisfail, and Red Deer, joined with the community and church friends to show their appreciation of the ministry of this dedicated couple. Greetings were also received from Texas, Illinois, Iowa, Idaho, Ohio, Iowa, Minnesota, the Yukon and British Columbia.

Elaine Louis Swanson called upon the local N.Y.C. chorus for two songs to begin the program. A hostess for Rev. Abel and Mrs. Abel was Mavis Gibson. Sister and Elina Ballant presented their grand-children's first singing record, a delightful surprise which everyone enjoyed as we listened to Lois sing "I Love to Tell the Story."

N.W.M.S. president (Mrs. Betty) presented a Distinguished Service Award to the Abels on behalf of the local missionary society.

Rev. Lorne Fisher, representing the Protestant Ministerial Association brought greetings and a gift of an engraved silver tray. Lamar Graff reminisced of the Abels of the years he had known them.

Sophie received red roses, a token of our love, from Glenys Rott. Gordon Graff gave a humorous history of Jesus' life in Alberta and she received an engraved bracelet. Jane is employed in Edmonton, but we hope she will still think of Sedgewick as home and visit us often.

District Superintendent Ardrey brought devotional thoughts on the past, present, and future as we sat around the table. We can benefit from the past, but we must live in the present. Get involved now and let our lives touch people and help them by caring and by sharing our faith with them which has been characteristic of the Abels forty years of pastoral ministry.

Following the benediction there was a time for tea and fellowship, visiting, remembering, and looking ahead. Rev. and Mrs. Abel expressed heartfelt thanks and appreciation at every detail of planning and thoughtfulness and the presence of their many friends which made the day a momentous one to remember at the close of forty years ministry.

Steady creating an informal singalong took place in the lower auditorium with Rev. Lorne Fisher of Wisconsin bringing a message and sharing with us the impact of the Abels' ministry in his life as a teenager, a story I'm sure repeated in the lives of many privileged to be a part of the Abels' ministry.

Congratulations to Gordon and Lynette Graff on the birth of their second son, Darren Alfred.

About 60 "Amahak" and "Pillidone" 66 bottle for the most points in a variety of races with water balloons and egg tossing and penny scramble organized by Herb and Grace Rott at the annual Sunday School picnic held for the first time at the church recreational area.

Mr. Dummer led us in a quiet time reflecting on the love of God. A beautiful supper followed then the poetry hall game. Thanks to everyone for excellent participation and to Richard Dalbok for organizing sports event with spiritual ligaments.

Sunday evening George Colthart of Lacombe showed slides of his recent trip to the Holy Land. June 28, everyone is invited to pot luck dinner at the church and a further opportunity to visit with the Abels.

A timely gift was presented to the pastor and his wife by Herb Rott, rocking chair retirement bank!

A purse of money and plaque was then given as a token of appreciation. Lamar Graff reminisced of the Abels of the years he had known them.

Sophie received red roses, a token of our love, from Glenys Rott. Gordon Graff gave a humorous history of Jesus' life in Alberta and she received an engraved bracelet. Jane is employed in Edmonton, but we hope she will still think of Sedgewick as home and visit us often.

COME ALIVE . . .

Stewart M. Abel
CHURCH OF NAZARENE

One of the finest facilities God has given us is the ability to remember. I heard Lois Polge, a teenager in our church, repeat a very lengthy poem which her grandfather, Tom McCracken, had written some years ago. We all waited, with baited breath, as she recited stanzas often, wondering if her memory would fail her. But it didn't and Lois went to quietly take her seat in the congregation she left us with a special Father's Day message as well as an announcement of the power of memory.

God makes use of this faculty in us all. Right now your memory is playing a part in your thinking. Good thoughts that can help you, are going through your mind or evil thoughts that can harm you. Memory is recalling facts, true or fancied, that are influencing your attitude and behavior.

God makes great use of this faculty for good when we listen to Him. Often in the Old Testament God spoke to Israel and said, "remember when you were bondmen in Egypt" or "remember the days of old" or "remember all the way the Lord hath led you" or "remember my Commandments and do them that it might be well with you."

Over and over again God used memory to hold the Israelites. God uses memory to help us. To young people He says, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Many a young person, "coming in wild oats", has been made to stop and think and change his ways by that verse. This I know for it helped me as a teenager.

"Remember Lot's wife," has kept some backward Christians from backsliding and it has been a reminder to many of the necessity of going straight forward.

"Remember them that have the role over you" has changed attitudes and direction of many youth as

CORPORATE TAX INCENTIVES SUBMISSIONS INVITED

Under the provisions of the new Alberta Corporate Income Tax Act, Alberta will administer and collect its own provincial corporate income tax effective January 1, 1981. Aside from the new Rental Investment Incentive Program there are no significant changes in the existing corporate tax law this year; the taxing responsibility is simply "brought home" to Alberta.

Since new tax measures will be considered for 1982 and subsequent years, the Provincial Treasurer has asked the Government Caucus Committee on Business Tax Incentives (Chairman Peter Knaak, M.L.A.) to solicit and review submissions that would:

- assist small businesses to be more competitive with large national and international corporations;
- encourage business expansion, new job creation, and research;
- stimulate increased processing, manufacturing and upgrading of raw materials in Alberta; and
- encourage venture capital funding.

These measures may include, for example, selective corporate tax cuts, new deductions from taxable income or tax credits.

All submissions should be in writing and submitted to the undersigned before September 1, 1980. After examination of the briefs, the Committee may call on sponsors to make a presentation before the Committee.

Following the hearings the Committee will make proposals to the Provincial Treasurer regarding amendments to the Alberta Corporate Income Tax Act in 1981/82.

Organic farming

C. A. Campbell
What is organic farming? Organic farming covers a wide spectrum of farmers varying from those who will not use any synthetic chemicals at all to those who will use a little as a last resort.

Organic farmers have certain basic beliefs: They believe that man is abusing the soil-plant system and that there should be a recycling of plant nutrients.

They believe that the soil is the source of life and soil health is therefore very important.

They believe in diversifying the system; monoculture is not good.

They believe that organic farming will free us from our dependence on foreign countries for energy, pesticides, fertilizers, etc.

Thus, instead of fertilizers, organic farmers often use compost. In their sequence of crops they include at least one legume which is later plowed down to provide nitrogen. They feel that fertilizers such as ammonium nitrate and anhydrous ammonia will "kill" the soil so these are definitely out. For insect control, no insecticides; some buy ladybird beetles by the gallon to eat aphids. One difficulty is keeping the beetles at home.

Many organic farmers are converted chemical farmers. One difficulty they find is that in the first year of change-over to organic farming, yields are very poor; later yields gradually improve. Therefore, the recommendation is not to make the change "cold turkey" but to change gradually.

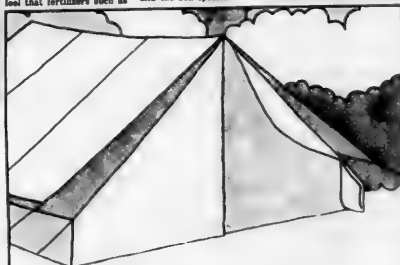

From an economic standpoint, analyses have shown that profits from conventional farming cut by 50% greater than those from organic farming. This is mainly due to the low income legume in the organic farming rotation.

However, in this comparison no negative value has been assessed against row crops for the way in which they are exploitive of fuel and the soil system.

Even with all its pluses, it is felt that organic farming on a large scale is impractical, especially if we are to continue to feed the world's ever-increasing population. There just isn't enough "good" nature in the world to allow this. It seems we must continue to rely on our technology and use of such inputs as fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides and so on. Long-term experiments in the United States and England indicate that added measures have no beneficial effects that could not be accounted for in the nutrients they contain. However, we need to learn more about the chemicals around us, both the natural ones and those we make. This is a necessity if we are to eat well, safely and be better nourished.

Daysland 4-H Beef Club holds banquet night

On June 30, the Daysland Beef Club held its banquet. Everybody sang "O' Canada" then the pledge was led by Lynne and Annette. Grace was sung, then everybody lined up for dinner. After the delicious dinner, David introduced all members and buyers of the claves. Presentation of awards and trophies were led by Eric Bedson. The guest speaker of the evening was Judy Beth, who spoke on public speaking. Herb then gave a speech of the activities he and the 4-H members participated in during the year.

Then awards were given to Dorothy Spiller, Glen Brown, Eric Bedson, and Herb Robinson, for the many years of service in 4-H. Everybody sang "God Save the Queen, and class up was afterwards." Jane Hrdlicka Tracey Gubler (above) raised and showed the Grand Champion steer of Daysland 4-H Beef Club show, June 11 in Daysland. The Grand Champion was purchased by United of Camrose. Below: Tracey's brother Gerard won Reserve Champion at the same show. The Reserve was purchased by Highway Service (Case dealer in Taber).

Tracey and Gerard, both rated as juniors in the competition, had their steers judged against senior stock before being chosen as the winners.

Stopping children from having children

One out of every eleven infants born in 1977 had an unmarried teenage mother. Teenage parents are on the increase, and since over 80 per cent are now keeping their babies, society has something to worry about. On the one hand, there is the need to help these teenagers to become self-sufficient and on the other hand, there is the need to consider the right of the baby to adequate care. It is not true that, in contrast to older parents, teenagers are more likely to be unmarried, to have dropped out of school, to be unemployed, to have had little or no prenatal care, to have undergone medical complications from pregnancy and to have delivered a low birth-weight baby. Early childbearing can mean serious health con-

Lougheed Womens Institute stops for summer

The Lougheed Womens Institute's June meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Sadie McClements with Mrs. Eileen Peterson co-hostess. The President welcomed the visitors and then brought the meeting to order by repeating the creed. All reports were given. Mrs. J. Johnson gave the report on the Women's Institute Convention at Olds. Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. Hazel Swanson and Molly Parrybough attended this Convention June 9, 10, and 11. It was very interesting to hear our President's report on this Branch. After the meeting was adjourned, the hostesses served a very delicious strawberry short-cake. Gayle McClements won the hottest prize. Happy holidays to you and your families. We will see you in September. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wagner and family of Lethbridge were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Nease and family.

Hardisty couple attend show in Wainwright

Doris and Perry Powell attended the show in Wainwright, "I Made a Good Story." It was a musical show sponsored by the Wainwright and District 75th Anniversary Drama Group. It started with the white men coming, the Indians here, the coming of the immigrants, the railway, the great fire, the breaking crew, the oilman, etc. Two known here in Hardisty were Perry Powell and Billy Brown. It was a great event for Wainwright to get the Buffalo back as the first time arrived in Wainwright in June 1908 when Montana but held at Elk Island Park until the fences were completed. This then was known world wide as the largest Buffalo park in the world. The last round-up was around 1908-09 when Buffalo were shipped out or slaughtered. Many of the old timers picnic years ago had barbecued Buffalo meat. Doris and Perry having lived near the park found this show very interesting as they were familiar with so much of the story.

Tickets were sold out almost immediately so many would like to have seen the show again. However, it was covered by radio and television, so possibly we who would like to have seen it, will some day see it via T.V.

Another thing of the twelve riders in the park only six remain. On June 16, Old Nelson celebrated his 92 birthday.

What can be done to stop children from having children? Separate the sexes? Hardly a practical or even a desirable procedure. Supply all youngsters of reproductive age with birth control aids? Most parents aren't ready for that course of action since it would give the need to premarital sex. However, if the present attitude doesn't change, it's an option that may have to be considered, at least for those known to be sexually active. Remember that while parents may be saying "No", fashion, magazines, radio and television - and peers - are saying "Yes!"

What parents can do is to love their children, as best they can, pass on to them values which they believe in, and live by these values; let them have choices to learn about human sexuality and human reproduction; see that they know what being a sexually responsible person (boy or girl) means and what the consequences are of irresponsible sexual behavior; make sure they have hobbies, pastimes and activities which interest, excite and absorb them; listen to what they're saying and be willing to discuss the pros and cons of the new lifestyles with them; and finally, having done all these things, hope and pray that when the time comes for them to make a choice, they will make the right one.

What if a friend called and said all of the businesses in your town closed up!

What would it mean to you? How would you fare financially?

It could happen. In some towns it already has because the local people did most of their shopping out of town. We all know of communities with lots of empty stores...and empty stores mean less tax support...a lot less.

Did you ever think about how much of our community's taxes are paid by business? If they were no longer paying their share, do you know how much more your taxes would increase to pay for essential local services? If they no longer made charitable donations to those groups to which you belong, how much more would you have to pay? A healthy business community benefits everyone. Shop locally.

No need to roam...the best shopping's here at home!

Albrecht heads Sedgewick Chamber

The June barbeque of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce which was to have been held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Potage was moved to the Sedgewick Centennial Golf Club due to the rainy weather. Thirty six members and guests attended including M.L.A. Mr. Tom Lyons of Vermilion. Mr. Al Schreiber welcomed all and called the meeting to order.

Mr. Vic Albrecht, reporting for the committee on street numbering, stated that the Council had been presented with the proposal and a reply was promised by July 31. Mayor Koehli brought the meeting up to date on the street numbering program stating that 80,000 gallons of oil had been ordered at a cost of $40,000. The water system for the Town will be presented to the rate payers for approval next year. Another well has been added so that the town is adequately protected for fire at present.

Mr. Dave Black assured us that the Senior Citizens are ready and able to supervise the tourist information booth which was recently moved to Sedgewick. Mr. Lyons then addressed the meeting briefly. In his remarks he noted that the first twenty five years of Alberta's existence had been the pioneer era, the next twenty five the depression and the war years, while the last twenty five have been the easiest and best years of our lives. However, he felt that the next twenty five would be quite different in that we will see more development in various industry, petroleum, coal, etc. Nevertheless, agriculture will still hold the most important place. The government is vitally interested in agriculture and has allocated $50 million dollars for irrigation, mostly in the southern part of the province.

He further related that what Alberta is taking most of the heat for the oil producing provinces but an increase of even $1 a barrel for one year would build six children's hospitals.

He commended us for sponsoring Karen Miller to attend the Forum for Young Albertans and had enjoyed meeting her.

His intention is to be in every centre at least once a week during the summer and intends to be here for July first. He was warmly applauded and thanked by the chairmen.

The nominating committee was then asked to present the slate of officers for the coming year. The following were duly elected: President, Vic Albrecht; Vice-president, Mel Kapicki; Secretary-treasurer, Helen Alexander; Business and Promotional, L. French and R. Hansen; Membership, A. Eastly and H. Alexander; Entertainment, C. Beaudry and R. Potage; Agriculture, John Baker. A motion was made by Mrs. Betty Galloway that we award a plaque to the three people with the most attractive yards during the summer. Mrs. Judy Kapicki presented the motion and the Promotion Committee will choose the judges. Mr. M. Keith will present a colored picture of the yard to each of the winners.

A suggestion was made by Mrs. Jean Johnson that the Junior and Senior High School students be involved in doing some research for the History Book, perhaps in September.

Calgary Power has offered flag poles for July first and everyone is urged to get their flags ready.

Tennessee 4-H member, Marcia James (left) presented Arnold Gammoth and Carol Armitz with the State of Tennessee flag, at the 4-H exchange in Heister, June 30th. Twenty-four young people and their 4 chaperones are spending a week at school of local 4-Hers.

Fire prevention a concern

County of Flagstaff Fire Chief Bill Sandmaier presented points brought up at the recent Stettler Fire Chief's Convention, at the County Council Meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, June 28.

One of the suggestions he had was that the County apply for a grant to employ a person to inspect farms and suggest safety measures. This person would try to eliminate poor disposal and burning methods often used by county farmers.

Mr. Sandmaier stated that one major point stressed at the convention was that $1 in prevention will bring back $5 in worth. He added, it would protect the guy who's paying your taxes.

Discussion on this issue concluded with the thinking that such an employee would be an asset, but by the time the provincial government gave such a grant, the entire province could burn down.

Mr. Sandmaier also reported a poor turnout among fire chiefs in the County. He said that the major reason only half of them attended the convention is because they had to pay their own expenses.

He bought a $180 slide kit at the convention for a training program, and the council decided to pay Mr. Sandmaier back for the purchase.

Collection Depot
The County in conjunction with Alberta Environment have set up a collection depot for pesticide containers at the Forestburg Seed Cleaning Plant.

The choice was made, feeling that this location for such a depot would be safer than any other place in the County. The location was chosen with the objective of getting down the slide of environmental damage.

Disability Grant
The provincial government has given the County of Flagstaff a $800 grant.

to be spent on transportation for the disabled.

Because the County did not apply for the grant, the usage of the funds must be determined as to the needs in the rural areas.

Rebroadcast Tower
Council was informed that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC) is considering the setting up of a rebroadcast tower in the County.

The proposed tower would be built four miles N.W. of Killam. It would be the second such tower in the County with the previous erecting of a C.F.R.N. tower.

Additional Routes
County Council agreed to the purchase of six new portable hand radios and four truck radios, for ambulances and county vehicles respectively.

Lougheed fights on the road

Premier Peter Lougheed has taken his fight for higher oil prices and a new energy deal on the road, with personal meetings with five different premiers and major speeches in Winnipeg and Halifax.

His sales pitch came amid increasing reports that Alberta and Ottawa have no hopes of reaching an agreement by the time the current one expires July 1. Alberta officials have already indicated the province will reject a three-month interim package proposed by federal energy minister Mark Lalonde.

Lougheed took dead aim at federal Liberals in his Winnipeg speech when he accused Ottawa of ignoring Canada's chance to become self-sufficient in energy. "It appalls me, but the present implication is that they're not interested in pressing for energy self-sufficiency in the '80s and I pray I'm wrong," he said.

Lougheed's whirlwind tour followed a Monday meeting of all 10 premiers and prime minister Trudeau to set a timetable for constitutional reform. The premier's main point at that meeting was that an energy deal must be settled before constitutional reform can be seriously discussed.

The premier's sales pitch was not confined merely to the current situation but also to his long term worry that Ottawa intends to invade provincial jurisdiction and take over control of natural resources. A major factor in Alberta's stridency on the oil pricing issue has been the fear that in the long term the province might lose its ownership of resources.

That view picked up important support this week from Stan Roberts, president of the influential Canada West Foundation. Roberts, once touted as a possible Liberal leadership candidate, said in an interview that Trudeau is not only not prepared to negotiate a new constitutional deal with the West but is also gathering an army of speakers to sell his notion of reform to westerners.

The Liberal prime minister intends to take control of western resources, Roberts argues, but has no plans to give the West anything in return. "His aim is to divide and conquer the West. Separatism is not the mood in the West at this time, although there is a real disenchantment with the way of government. But if Trudeau tries to bypass the concerns of Westerners and force a resolution which is totally unacceptable to them there will be an equal and opposing reaction."

Roberts' gloomy viewpoint mirrors almost exactly the prevailing feeling in provincial back rooms.

The Town of Sedgewick Float was one of the many entertaining exhibits seen during the Sedgewick Sports Day Parade, July 1st.

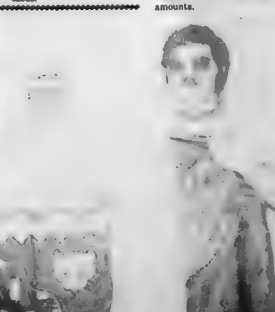

Flags go missing

About 10 flags were stolen off of poles around the Town of Sedgewick on the weekend before the town's annual Sports Day. The thieves climbed the poles to remove the flags, suspect R.C.M.P. Killam Detachment. Although nobody has been arrested, there are suspects, and the theft is still under investigation.

Two break-ins were also reported by the police. A farm house near Sedgewick was broken into with liquor stolen as well as some gas. Granger's Mohawk in Hardisty was robbed of some batteries and some gas. The thieves entered through windows in both cases.

Devonian Committee member Rosemary Thompson and Chamber of Commerce member Gordon Britz display the first flag Hardisty has received in its bid to become Flag Capital of the World. The government of the Northwest Territories was first to respond to the request, but Hardisty is expecting flags from all over the world to erect in the new Devonian Park.

Buckle up law enforced

Alberta's Conservative government should pass a law stating that it is mandatory that all automobile drivers and passengers wear seat belts for their own protection.

Although Transportation minister Henry Kroger favors this law, his caucus members do not.

The reasoning behind its disapproval of such a law is contradictory and illogical. It feels that such a law would be imposing on human rights (by telling the public what to do) and inconvenient.

Well the government is imposing on my rights by setting a limit on my travelling speed, often inconveniencing me due to a longer travelling time. But, I do follow the limit for personal safety and law abiding reasons.

If the seat belt law had been passed last year, there would have been 380 more people in this province to beeb about it, according to a study by Alberta Transportation. Another 8,000 individuals would have not sustained injuries because of traffic accidents.

The vast majority of doctors and policemen favor seat belt law and they are the ones that clean up the bloody mess which occurs in fatal accidents. They realize the pitiful waste of life often sustained due to not buckling up.

Saving lives is the whole purpose behind traffic laws and the Alberta government is just shirking its duty by

What Others Say

Olympic farce

While Afghan women and children protesting in the country's capital of Kabul die from Soviet gunfire and rebel battle Soviet tanks with World War I rifles the farce of the Olympic Boycott continues. While athletes in a number of countries are banned from travelling to Moscow to compete in the Olympic Summer Games businesses are still allowed, or are circumventing the rules and continuing to trade with the Soviet Union.

In the United States the boycott began grain shipments which were supposedly stopped from going to Russia as being routed by foreign companies through a third country to Russia. It also appears that a number of American companies are also using this route to sell their products to the Russians.

In Australia where the government is still trying to convince its athletes to stay home from the games, trade with Russia has increased by threefold in the last ten months.

And Canada is not guiltless. This past week negotiations between the Russians and a major Canadian manufacturer, Bombardier went into the final stages of what will be the largest deal between the Russians and a Canadian company. The Russians want to buy trucked vehicles for use in oil exploration in Siberia. Also the Russians are looking for a site in Canada to build Russian designed cars for sale in this country.

While western governments continue to lambast the Soviets for invading Afghanistan on the one hand they continue to trade with them on the other. The athletes are made to suffer while the businessmen make profits. The farce continues.

Signs of the times?

One of the largest manufacturers of farm machinery in North America, Massey-Ferguson Industries Ltd. is closing complete operation for three months per August. The shutdown is because of slow demand for farm machinery throughout Canada and the U.S.

Normal practice is, to shut down for a month during summer.

All of the company's operations at Toronto, Brantford, Des Moines and Detroit are affected by the agricultural recession and some 7,000 people will be idle for three months.

While there are some signs of encouragement on the agricultural front, the company does not see a significant improvement in demand during 1980.

The farm equipment business serves as a barometer on the welfare of the agricultural industry. The latter, facing strong increases all along the line in equipment, fuel, supplies and labor, is undergoing a difficult period of adjustment.

Price increases for agricultural products appear to be a major solution. In our view, such increases are inevitable.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:
I am the only one left here of the five men that started the Killam Beef Club in 1946, first show and sale in 1946 with over 100 members. A few comments now as to the heading of your editorial 4-H Breakdown. Nothing has broken down, certainly not the 4-H movement, only a few short-sighted adults who have forgotten what the 4-H's stand for.

The statement, Killam was unable to host the show is absolutely untrue, and as the thank you card from Killam proves they have forgotten what the 4-H's stand for.

The Third Column

"I Write as I Please" HAVING AT ONE TIME been a partner in the precarious enterprise of raising, feeding and marketing eggs as a supplement to a main income, I developed a certain sympathy for the much maligned provider of a large assortment of tasty basic supplements to our daily diets. Having raised a number of these quadrupeds grunt and squeal their way from trough and to trough and in an endless desire to satiate an increasing appetite, only to find that when the state of perfection has been reached, that their only destiny was a slit throat and hanging by the sculler's tendons to be thus stripped of hide and dignity and other vital accessories, to satisfy man's desire for the finer things in the way of foods to be placed before him. That is one reason why I have developed into a "Beane and Egg" person, in that I am despised thing among some; something to be shunned even in the face of starvation. Yet my happy matrimony with "Forker" has not been conspicuously simple because of kindred spirits. If that were the only criterion here probably would have been a long time ago. HAVING EATEN in a far-ranging variety of food catering establishments, I have seen the way from Joe's Greasy Spoon where you may be seated wearing blue jeans and be harpooned and where the only requirement is to eat the barrelhead and no complaints, where you pipe from the soup bowl yourself and back through a tough chunk of meat with a dull knife, onto the more elite establishments where jacket, shirt and tie are rigid requirements, where in ordering the card-carrying food is sent out rare with each cut appearing blood to the elbow, and waitresses unaware that if you want a blood transfusion you will go to a medical clinic. I have seen the way from the card-carrying food is sent out rare with each cut appearing blood to the elbow, and waitresses unaware that if you want a blood transfusion you will go to a medical clinic. Former D.A. writes on experiences

In January of 1980 the Alberta Government appointed its first permanent District Agriculturalist. It was Mr. Herb Goddard and was assigned the large district around Sedgewick in the many years that followed a number of District Agriculturalists have served the area, and many of them were actively involved in the changes and improvement of rural family life.

One of the most District Agriculturalists that served in Sedgewick was Mr. Spencer Goddard. Mr. Goddard served this area for a brief period of time, nevertheless, he too made a contribution to the people and the area. The following is an excerpt of a account written by Mr. Goddard:

"Only about a third of the farmers in Alberta had electricity in late 1954, but the push was on to get electrical power to all the farms in the province."

Rural electrification associations were springing up everywhere, and district agriculturalists received many requests from farmers for schools on planning for electrical power and farm wiring. The farmers were anxious to have the facilities and conveniences enjoyed by city dwellers as quickly as possible. These included hot and cold running water so that they could have a bath in their homes, which would replace their Saturday night sponge bath, and inside toilets, which would eliminate long cold walks to the outhouse or worse.

carrying-out the chemical toilet, which he began sometimes dropped out (because of rust) during its journey through the house. The installation of electricity would also mean the end of starting cars and tractors with fuel soaked cloths or hot coals, which sometimes started a fire, causing unnecessary excitement and the occasional loss of a car or tractor and/or the building. Electrical power would and each tedious task as bringing new-born pigs into the kitchen to dry off. The alternative was often the loss of the whole litter. Electrical power meant block heaters, automatic pumps and water pressure systems.

It was in November 1954, that I started my first job with Alberta Agriculture's extension division as an instructor in rural electrification. Ken Fennessy, an electrician and now chief electrical inspector for Alberta joined me as the second member of a two-man team. We spent about three weeks collecting our equipment, printing hand-outs and rigging up demonstration boards. We loaded all the material into a fairly new 1954 Ford and took off to conduct 13 one-week schools on planning water and sewage systems and farm wiring. The schools were held in an area that extended all the way from Manning in the Peace River region to Foreman in the extreme south of the province.

I will remember when the farmers at one of these schools called out of the hall at 4:30 p.m. on a Friday afternoon without so much as a "thank you", leaving us to pack up and head off. The following Friday we were at another small community about 100 miles away, which had a different white heat ground. Here we were presented with a tie each and helped to pack up all the equipment and given a royal send-off. And today we think of culture shock as taking place only between nations.

I look back with a certain amount of nostalgia to the icy and rutted roads, to "hitting the rubbers" near Slave Lake and to the pot-bellied stove around which we huddled in 40° F. weather."

About the Author: Mr. Goddard was district agriculturalist at Medicine Hat from 1955-1957. He spent the next nine years with Alberta Agriculture's field crops division as supervisor of special project (weed plants). The following year he was district agriculturalist at Foreman. In 1967 he worked for Enzyme Industries Ltd. in Calgary, and then joined the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations. He spent 1968-1974 in Mauritius and Afghanistan as an extension rural youth specialist. He returned to Canada in 1974 and became district agriculturalist at Drayton Valley. Three years later he went to Bangladesh under FAO in the capacity of an extension evaluation and training specialist. In 1980 he again returned to Canada and is now agricultural coordinator-international with Alberta Agriculture's extension division.

Back in March I wrote on "Beaumont appliances" an error was made. Beaumont appliances will be sold at the Bay and Simpsons Sears will continue to sell Kenmore, Simpson-Sears Limited is not owned by the Hudson Bay. There is some confusion on my part as to who the Hudson Bay did buy - but I am waiting for more information. Did you know?

The average family of four consumes about 200 pounds of food in a year. In 1961, food used about 22% of a family's disposable income. Today food expenses account for only 17%.

When selecting a new refrigerator, remember that a frost-free model requires about 30% more energy than a standard model. Therefore a family can save electricity costs by choosing a manual defrost. Remember

How are you going to spend the summer? Each 4-er had a different idea when roll call was asked at the June 16 meeting in the Harker school.

The Achievement Day was the main topic of discussion. July 10 is the big day, starting at 11:00 and a community lunch at noon. Everyone is welcome to come and enjoy the day with us. Final details were made for the tour to U of A in Edmonton. The Henderson and Lorraine Badry took on the big task of drivers and supervisors for the day. Darcy Martz reported that Gilbert Martz, Neil Martz, and Gerard Badry were the winners of the Stanley Cup pool. The Find a Friend campout weekend for 4-fivers and family on July 12 and 13 was talked about. Your leader encouraged everyone to go if they could as it is at the Battle River Guest Ranch down by District Bridge.

Everyone was glad that school was nearly over so we all had lunch and everyone went home worrying about final exams.

Flagstaff Lodge

Well, your reporter from the Flagstaff Lodge (Valda Storkbaken) went on a trip again. This is why there was no news in the Thursday paper. Valda Storkbaken and her sister Gunda went on a trip with a group from Killam with the majestic Turo. We went to Waterton Lake and then to Montana and around to Yellowstone Park and then to Billings, Montana and then home. It was a great trip with great weather. We left on June 21 and were gone seven days. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Risa of Bedford, North Dakota, U.S.A. were visiting friends in the Lodge. Bob, Connie and Randy Reed of Edmonton were in to visit Mom Pink. Norman and Betty Holt of Haines were in to visit their many friends. Stewart and Doris Hartley of Vancouver, B.C. were down to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weber. Chester Falls of Edmonton was in visiting Aunt Thelma Kustson. Max Fox of Calgary was in visiting Mr. and Mrs. Blanche and Mr. Betty. Maxine Irene O'Neill of Calgary was in visiting Mrs. Clouston. Ken and Ann Hudson of Edmonton and Mary Flinch of Totford were in visiting Aunt Thelma Kustson. Marg and Pete Lindquist of Taber, Alberta were in

Damage at Hardisty

Having written the reports of the activities of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce for the past couple of years, the writer of this column would not like to hear with her for a few paragraphs, as the digressions from her regular report. The regular meeting was held last night, Wednesday, June 26, at the Parkland Manor, and this report is being written the following morning, with a heavy heart and a feeling of despair. While a small handful of people, which the attendance book shows to be Doug Draper, Jane Dunn, Alan and Rose Marie Harrison, Lucy Syder, Hugh and Mary Duncan, Linda Johnson, Gordy and Betty Britz, Joyce Hanson, Bob Taylor, Marion Harrison, Jim Thompson, and John Skene, were present, the month after month to improve our town, often serving on several committees at once, and repeatedly digging into their own pockets to pay for various undertakings, as equally small number of mental media, used to destroy news to improve the town. While the above mentioned group of people held their meeting, the Chamber of Commerce meeting also was stolen from main street, and a vehicle was busy demolishing 30 poles in the Devonian Park. This is the fourth incident of destruction in the Park this month. Last week a privately owned gas container being used to refill a lawn mower, cutting the Devonian Park, was stolen in broad daylight during a short interval that it was left unattended. The persons perpetrating these acts should realize that these types of activities are offensive to every citizen of our town because tax dollars must be used to replace the items destroyed and the already overworked town employees must spend many hours repairing the damage. Recently the Myth Chamber of Commerce made national headlines by suggesting that drug pushers be subject to capital punishment. This writer personally adheres capital punishment for any crime, but perhaps a return to the old punishment of using the stocks would be appropriate in the case of persons found guilty of destroying public property. The guilty party could be placed in the stocks, and the local citizens could join and throw tomatoes for a while day, after which the guilty party would be required to repair the damage he or she was responsible for. The system of justice which now punishes thousands of dollars in fines, costs, and/or incarceration of persons in our courts, where we pay their upkeep, seems to me to not be the answer for these types of crimes. It does nothing to compensate the injured parties for their losses. What are your feelings on this matter? Why not write a letter to the editor of this paper and express your views.

Hardisty chamber plan activities

It was with regret that the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce accepted the resignation of John Skene as President. The membership wishes John good luck and good health, and many thanks for past performance. Vice-President Doug Draper also chaired the meeting. A letter from the Superintendent of C.P.R. stated that they had no plans to build a new station at Hardisty in the near future. Welcome Chairman Lucy Syder distributed copies of our new Welcome to Hardisty book. They are most impressive and were certainly worth waiting for. These books will be presented free to newcomers and other persons wishing to have them, will be required to purchase them for a nominal $1. charge. Devonian Chairman Rose Marie Thompson, reported that invitations had gone out for the Park Dedication to take place during the Band Concert on July 12. In regards to the I.E.T.A.

Committee, Rose Marie stated that 15 Canadian letters and 44 American letters had been sent in the last two weeks. Much appreciation to typists Jean Dunn, Shari Irving, Wendy Masare and Thelma Anderson for their fine work and good health, and many thanks for past performance. weekend, after which a group of chamber members will paint them. In three anyone out there willing to help dig the holes for placement of these fire fly poles, or perhaps willing to donate some cement? Don't be hasty! In the meantime, the Chamber will be running your services and help. At this time the Chamber would like to publicly commend James Cavanaugh for his fine civic spirit in being the first private citizen in Hardisty to purchase and install flags on his home. They look great! Jim! We hope that Jim's initiative will serve as an example to all of us in supporting this project on a cooperative basis. Regarding Round-Up Days, the assembled group will gather Friday night to finish the town fest. What will make its first appearance at 7:00 p.m. is the Chamber will run the small concession booth at the Stampede Grounds on the Sunday of Round-Up Days. The downtown business people will hold their sales on the Friday afternoon, July 11, as in previous years. The Chamber has unfortunately been notified in the Heritage Days advertising, to everyone please note this addition. A street dance for the young people will be held between the Hardisty Inn and the Town Hall from 8 o'clock to midnight on the Friday night, Linda Johnson reported that he had completed the carnival game he was run by the Chamber on Friday afternoon. Word has been received from Jim Thompson, Chairman of the Beautify Yards Committee, that the date for judging for the contest this year, has been set for Sunday, August 1. A motion was made that the Chamber sponsor a Halloween Ball on Friday, October 31, to enable us to raise some badly needed funds. There will be no regular meeting during the summer months, although the various committees will continue with their projects. Next meeting will be held Wednesday, September 24 at 7:00 p.m. Parkland Manor. Mark the date on your calendar and if you care about your community, please give us your support.

John Anderson passes

John David Anderson was born July 2, 1909 in the Kilian General Hospital, the oldest son of George and Mollie Anderson. He received his entire education in Sedgewick, graduating from Central High School in 1928.

John was a keen sportsman and it was while a student of Central High that he stopped a curling team to the Provincial Championship and went on to place second in the Dominion Finals. He then left Sedgewick and went to Edmonton and became a member of the Edmonton Huskies Football Team.

John returned to the farm in 1930 and farmed with his dad and brother; while farming was his major concern, he never lost interest in the sports he so loved. He played hockey with the Sedgewick Sabres, was an ardent curler and played baseball with the Sedgewick Oilers. John was a member of the Cur Royal and was responsible for driving in the winning run to win the Western Canadian Championship in 1978. John was on many teams which competed for the curling championship.

John lived at home and he was quiet, unassuming and made friends wherever he went as it suited for those who came to pay their respects to his family. John

Energy price talks drag on

The interminable energy price talks have now been dragged into mid-summer when Premier Peter Lougheed and Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau are to meet to try to hammer out an agreement.

But the Alberta and federal positions on oil and gas pricing seem to be as far apart still. It's difficult to imagine how Lougheed and Trudeau can arrive at a mutually satisfactory outcome.

Alberta-Ottawa discussions broke down in late June when Energy Minister Merv Leitch and his federal counterpart Marc Lalonde were unable to come to terms at a two-day Ottawa meeting.

The two governments' positions were so far apart that meeting that the ministers were compelled to discuss a range of other unrelated energy issues, like the natural gas pipeline from Alaska, to extend the season and give the appearance of real bargaining.

Lalonde offered Alberta a $2 per barrel annual increase in the price of oil, $2 to $2.50 less than was offered under last year's Clark agreement of which Alberta still claims it wants "the net benefits."

Accompanying the proposed $2 price hike would be a very likely the imposition of a heavy, federal refinery tax that would raise the price of gasoline to the consumer as much as the Clark pact, but would divert revenues to the federal government rather than to the industry as the production of oil.

After Leitch rejected this offer, Lalonde put forward a second proposal for higher prices with the formation of special interprovincial equalization funds.

The fund would be made up of provincial revenues from resource exploitation and would be paid out to Canada's poorer provinces.

Unlike the existing equalization system, the burden for making equalization grants would fall on the producing provinces rather than the federal government.

Jack and Ellen Kortgaard were married in Edmonton, Alberta on June 27, 1960. They lived in Vermilion for 6 years until 1968 they moved to Killam where they resided for 12 years. In 1980 they returned to Killam where they still reside. They have two daughters, three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

An open house and dinner were held in their home on Sunday June 28 in the Sedgewick United Church. Many friends, neighbors, and relatives came to help Jack and Ellen celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary. It is the first time in 45 years all of Ellen's brothers and sisters have been together.

After sister and brother-in-law were here from Greyfriars, Ireland and a niece, her husband and children from Dublin, Ireland. Other relatives were from Coronation, Calgary, Washington, Delta, B.C., Vermilion, and White Rock, B.C.

Dave and Audrey Fretsch of Killam, with daughters Jody (left) and Jennifer show their Provincial Lottery cheque for $100,000. The draw was made on Jody's birthday, June 29, but the couple didn't discover their winnings until the following Tuesday. Audrey compared numbers in the morning and found them as correct. Omni Duffing Dave would not believe their luck until he came home and compared numbers himself. They plan to invest the money.

Hardisty Heritage Days

Days, but due to organizational difficulties, it was called off.

The Town of Hardisty is expecting Heritage Days to be as successful as Round-up Days, attracting people in and out of town.

Heritage Days, organized by the Hardisty 75th Anniversary Committee will include special exhibits for the pioneers of the community by having such things as antique displays and an old timer's picnic.

Although events throughout the three day affair beginning Friday will be for young and old, the theme to most events will be "Alberta's Heritage."

Friday boasts a number of events, one of which will be a historical tour of the town. The ladies are to bring a lunch for this event to be auctioned off. The ladies must then share their lunch with the lady who brought it.

Saturday at 11 a.m. the Heritage Days Parade will proceed with much of the remainder of the day spent viewing both chuckwagon and pony chariot races. A band can be heard at noon, and late in the day a stomp and dance can be enjoyed in Hardisty Arena.

Among Sunday's events, there will be an amateur rodeo and more pony chariot and chuckwagon races. A little bitches rodeo was expected for Heritage

D.A.s, Past, Present and Future

With the upcoming celebrations of Alberta's first district agriculturist located in Sedgewick, one must compare the past and present before predicting the future of D.A.s in Alberta.

Possibly the main challenge Alberta's first D.A. Herb Scott and Flagstaff's present D.A. Glen Werner had and have respectively, are to convince farmers of changes for the betterment of their productivity.

Scott spent much of his time arguing that better breeding of stock could bring about better beef. Werner fights the same battle with crop improvements.

It is hard for many farmers to break away from ancestral ways and change to scientifically proven better ways. Both Scott and Werner have been accused of "book farming", but science and old ways combined have formed today's farming picture.

Today's D.A. can reach more farmers in less time due to technological advancements in transportation and communication. Scott worked long hard hours to help 400 farmers per year, while Werner can help four or five times that many.

Mr. Scott used to speak too much of the community's young people, educating them in farming. Mr. Werner now communicates mainly with parents, as 4-H has taken over as an educator.

The agriculture club should not have this responsibility, but although agriculture is Alberta's second largest industry and Flagstaff is mainly an agricultural area, schools do not teach the subject adequately. Thus, the agrarian population of Flagstaff has dropped extensively.

Possibly in 60 years time, many of the same problems as Scott and Werner have experienced will still be around. No doubt much will be incredibly different.

By 1960, possibly every D.A. in Alberta will be linked on a computer terminal overflowing with information. It is also expected that in the near future D.A.s will be in constant communication with their offices through radios. Both of these practices are already being used by D.A.s in the United States.

Although Mr. Scott passed away many years ago, I am sure he would marvel at the advancements in D.A. work and agriculture in general. The scope is only now broadening, with no end in sight.

What Others Say

Hospitality pays

Tourism in Alberta is big business. It generates travel receipts of one billion dollars per year and employs over 56,000 Albertans.

Yet too often, the persons and businesses directly involved with this trade forget that the typical tourist appraises an area with more in mind than its physical attributes. Many times, a tourist's decision to return is swayed by an intangible resource - hospitality.

And Albertans have something to learn in this department. It is hard to blame a waitress in a crowded restaurant for marling, slightly, at a loose-lipped tourist's wisecrack, just after she has dropped a plate of French fries and gravy all over the floor at the 11:45 mark of a 15-hour shift. But that waitress, or our jockey, or hotel clerk should be convinced that everyone benefits from a friendly smile and a few pleasant words. Not only is it good for business, but it feels good, too.

Good customer service has to be worked at and only an employer can help his front-line staff develop the right attitude. This attitude can result in a smoother operation, increased business and repeat and referral customers.

One way for an employer to set an example for such an attitude is to offer the visitor from the U.S. a fair exchange on his dollar. The few pennies that a business operation saves by paying less than bank rate does not offset the bad feelings it causes. A "ripped-off" customer is not likely to return.

Travel Alberta, in cooperation with the Alberta Travel Industry of Alberta is starting a joint-campaign to improve customer relations. This campaign, "Reach Out A Friendly Hand", is designed to involve businesses by offering employees of the month awards and customer relations seminars.

"Awareness kits", with nomination forms and more information are available from distribution agents in each of Alberta's 14 tourist council areas. In this sense, the kits may be obtained at the Red Deer office of the David Thompson Country Zone 4 Tourist Council.

The many activities scheduled for this summer in Lacombe and area, in celebration of Alberta's 70th anniversary, will draw many visitors from other areas of Canada and from the U.S. This is an ideal opportunity to make "western hospitality" mean more than the trite cliché it has become. —The Lacombe Globe

Cattle industry conversion

The metric system should be introduced to the cattle industry only when the U.S. is ready to make the switch, Progressive Conservative MP Bert Hargrave said Friday.

Hargrave, who represents the Alberta riding of Medicine Hat, asked Small Business Minister Charles Lapointe in the Commons to seek "an agreement or treaty which would allow for metrication only when both countries agree to proceed together."

Philosophy for the Birds

The Third Column BY TRUANCATE

"I Write as I Please" — ALTHOUGH THERE IS a certain dog consistency between the words "Adage" and "Cliche", I prefer to use the latter in the old saying that "You can't go back". You can really, of course find reality as you go back and find reality as you come know it. But actually that is not what I mean. I mean that things have changed since you were last there and the longer the lapse the more the change. But actually that is not what I mean. I mean that things have changed since you were last there and the longer the lapse the more the change. But actually that is not what I mean. I mean that things have changed since you were last there and the longer the lapse the more the change.

Monday was cloudy with a few showers intermingled with sunshine. An interesting spot was Frontier Village where we had coffee and examined many antique wares, saddles, bridles and carvings done by the man who had started the village. He had made all the massive tables and chairs in the spacious dining area. Lunch time saw us in Helena, the State Capital. As it was raining we took the long walk home to the Lewis and Clark Cavern where a guide informed us that he walked in many a mile to the entrance to the cave and explained how the cave itself was formed. Some last afternoon a stop was made at the small hamlet of McAllister which had been the birthplace of Marjory Wilson. This was one of the highlights of the trip for her as she got out of the town to look some things over. It was her first visit back since leaving in 1918 to come, with her parents, to Killam. The valley was very green and productive looking with "My goodness you haven't changed a bit or I've been here for years and you haven't gotten a bit older, and you return the compliment with your most genuine smile, and say, 'Same to you.' We all know the truth but then when you are on a diplomatic mission, diplomacy is the best way to handle a little exaggeration is not as nice if it warms the heart. So after all you can go back if you don't wait too long. I've been back, but now it's too late to go again. There's nobody left of those I know. So take some advice and if there is still time do it. "Go back" and find out how many surprises await you."

News From Strome and District

Strome and district were saddened to hear of the passing of Ken McDougall on Friday, July 5. Sympathy was extended to the family and other relatives. Funeral services were held in St. Paul's United Church on Tuesday, July 9 with Rev. Port Jackson officiating.

James Frobenius and family visited with relatives in the Strome area. Mrs. Gene Galt and niece of Rev. Port Jackson and husband of Presoville, Saskatchewan was called in the Gordon Police on their return from a visit in Donalda.

Bill and Karen Ashburn and family, Tom and Betty Blake and family, Don and Rosalee Hill and family took their trailers and spent the long weekend in Caroline. The Strome and District will meet in the Drop-In Centre on Thursday, July 10 at 2 p.m. to discuss their plan for the Humane Society.

All members of the Homecoming Club are urged to attend all practices from now. Practices are held every Thursday in the United Church at 8 p.m. Friday, July 12, Mrs. Cram drove to Fort McMurray to attend the graduation ceremonies of the Strome-Lake Strome.

There were 175 students graduating from Fox Murray Composite High School who were dressed in white and purple robes. The Cram and Strome had graduation dinner in the Black Tower and then visited and dined at Peter Pan Hotel. Jim and Florence returned to Strome on July second.

Jim and Florence Cram drove to Edmonton to see their new grandson Joel James, who was born June 24 in the Misericordia Hospital. Joel is number five grandson with one grandson, daughter.

Soldiers were buried just where they fell. Carter and his company of 255 men were all killed. A large cemetery for World War I casualties was here also. Then on to Billings and overnight stay. Our hostess, Mrs. Shirley Fair held a get acquainted party that Thursday saw us pass through Roundup and Lewistown where we stayed overnight. Our crops of winter wheat and barley, as well as numerous other crops, were in good shape for the next night at the Ponderosa Inn. Here we were treated to a delicious chicken dinner as guests of the cecoria. A short program was put on by various members and groups on the tour.

Rising at 6 a.m. Friday morning, our group was packed for the long drive home via Coitville where we cleared the Customs Office and were now in Alberta; on through Warner, Taber and on up highway 16 stopping at Carter to let off one of the ladies and we had coffee there. We arrived at Killam at about 5:30; no doubt glad to be home but extremely delighted with the tour. Great appreciation was expressed to our congenial driver, Mr. Art Newman for his generous escort, Shirley Fair.

Seniors tour Yellowstone Park

The morning of Saturday, June 21, saw 38 Senior Citizens from Killam, Sedgewick, Dayland and Longbeach climb aboard a Charter Majestic Tour Bus for a 7 day holiday tour to Yellowstone National Park in Montana and Wyoming. There were stops at Drumheller, Calgary and Ft. McLeod this first day out. Our first night was spent at the Kimbrey Lodge at Waterton Lakes. Sunday saw us travelling through the picturesque mountain scenery of Glacier National Park, then on to Missoula, Montana for the night at the beautiful Executive Inn.

The next stop was to see the few showers intermingled with sunshine. An interesting spot was Frontier Village where we had coffee and examined many antique wares, saddles, bridles and carvings done by the man who had started the village. He had made all the massive tables and chairs in the spacious dining area. Lunch time saw us in Helena, the State Capital. As it was raining we took the long walk home to the Lewis and Clark Cavern where a guide informed us that he walked in many a mile to the entrance to the cave and explained how the cave itself was formed. Some last afternoon a stop was made at the small hamlet of McAllister which had been the birthplace of Marjory Wilson. This was one of the highlights of the trip for her as she got out of the town to look some things over. It was her first visit back since leaving in 1918 to come, with her parents, to Killam. The valley was very green and productive looking with grain and cattle mainly. The night was spent at the Desert Inn of West Yellowstone. We were in Wyoming now so Tuesday was spent in Yellowstone Park when a guide was with us to point out its interesting facts of animals found there, the bubbling, steaming pools and of course Old Faithful Geyser which performed twice for us while we looked on. Other geyser were seen on our way to the Grand Canyon formed by the Yellowstone River. We finished our tour on the beauty of two waterfalls and the canyon itself. Leaving this behind we followed the shore line of Yellowstone Lake and into Idaho for the night.

After a restful night in the Holiday Inn we left only and entered Big Horn National Park. Interesting spots were the Shell Falls in Shell Canyon and over one's head at an altitude of 8600 feet; the highest one on our trip. The canyon had very deep gorges, rocky gullies and formations. We took a lengthy stop at the Custer Battlefield National Monument where the location of the battle between American soldiers and the Indians in 1876. The Custer Battlefield was cleared of the battle while marble markers are a reminder of that long struggle for possession of the American continent.

With summertime here your body care extra sensitive. Heat dehydration, the skin and air conditioning makes the problem worse as it removes moisture from the skin's coat. Your skin's reaction is to flatten out, cling layer to layer, instead of sloughing off and renewing to surface in a healthy way. Both oils and emuls should be added whenever you take a bath and soap with moisturizers should be used. Moisturize your skin afterward with a good moisturizing lotion.

For those of you who are going to be spending time in the water this summer we are now carrying a complete line of waterproof make-up.

Junk mail

Public Mail

Some people like it, some do not, and others are indifferent, but just about all of us receive junk mail at one time or another, whether it is advertisements, coupons, samples, or contest materials.

Unsolicited mail, or direct mail advertising, is yours without obligation. You have the choice of keeping it, sending it back, refusing to accept it or throwing it away. If it is a sample, you are under no obligation to pay for it, or to send it back.

Requests for charitable donations may also be enclosed with sample mailings, and for some familiar organizations, this has become a generally accepted method of fund raising. In other instances however, you may wish to learn more about the organization before deciding to send payments or donations. If you are billed for unsolicited goods, you may ignore the bill, for by law, unordered merchandise cannot be sent C.O.D.

In ordering merchandise from any of the brochures, always read the offers carefully and keep a copy of the original advertisement. In some cases, buying a membership or ordering goods may obligate you to make future purchases. In these instances, it is the consumer's responsibility to be aware of the terms of any offer accepted.

How do companies find your name? Mailing lists may be compiled from magazine subscription lists, club membership lists for directories, and may be sold by one company to another as a means of reaching proven direct mail purchasers.

Consumers wishing to have their name removed from such mailing lists can do so by writing to the Canadian Direct Mail Marketing Association at 180 Merton Street, Toronto, Ontario M4S 1A4.

While you cannot ask your letter carrier to stop delivering junk mail, since mail addressed to you must be delivered to you, Post Office regulations do prohibit the use of the mail service for anything obscene or indecent, for fraudulent advertising, or for schemes to defraud the public. Misleading advertising laws also apply to direct mail advertising, and complaints can be made to the Edmonton office of Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada.

One of several new programs helping to meet Alberta's housing needs.

Municipal Housing Incentive Program

To help municipalities offset costs of medium and high density housing, the Alberta Municipal Housing Incentive Program offers grants of $1000 to $2000 for each new housing unit or mobile home site, meeting certain density and production criteria.

This new program will stimulate development of more land for affordable housing in rapidly growing centres, as well as encourage more economic use of land.

An estimated $15 million will be directed to Alberta's municipalities in the 1980 calendar year with this initiative. Grants are based on housing production levels for the current year, as compared to the average production in the past 3 years.

Cambridge Homecoming

Donna Cookson Martin

Five months of concerted planning and hard work reached a highly successful conclusion on Sunday, June 28, 1980, when four hundred residents and former residents of the Cambridge district, along with assorted relatives and friends, gathered at the dinner's first homecoming, Victoria Hotel, from many parts of Alberta, B.C., and Saskatchewan, as well as Oregon, Wyoming, and even England.

The local families of the Cambridge Community Association had spent long hours in preparing for the event, which was made possible in part by a grant from Alberta's 1980 anniversary fund. Freshly cleaned and painted, the little schoolhouse was filled with exhibits and memories. Atties had been searched for old pictures. Lists of all former students and teachers at Cambridge had been gleaned from old registers. Account and board minute books, dating from the school's inception in 1912 notebooks, letters and the cup, land pull lunch bucket, and even some of Don Cookson's old report cards. The outdoor prizes were outfitted for the occasion with old editions of the Eastern's catalogue. Commemorative spoons and keychains were offered for sale.

A huge pot luck meal at noon was followed by ball games, horseshoe, children's competitions, and lots of do-you-remember-when. Master of Ceremonies, the Honorable Jack Cookson, Alberta Minister of the Environment, introduced local MLA Tom Lygon, who made a number of presentations. They included: Mrs. Lily Bell of Rockyford - oldest former resident present. Gladys Stasys (Webster) one of the seven students present when the school opened in January, 1912.

George Potter - oldest person born in Cambridge district to have lived here continuously since.

Todd Roushchuk - youngest resident born in Cambridge district to have lived there continuously since.

Former teachers at Cambridge: Beadie Gordon Marlow, Eleanor Leslie Burns, Jean Thomas Burns, Yvonne Klatt Harding, and Marjorie Johnston White, who were able to be present.

The program also featured family histories of the Hart and White families, and history of Cambridge School, written by Donna Martin and read by Verena Cookson. The May Black contributed a humorous reading, and Louise Wyllie and the Cambridge school children of today sang several musical numbers. An unorchestrated recitation and choral selection was gamely offered by the ladies of the Cambridge Community Association.

The program was considerably enhanced by the reading of excerpts from "The White Willow" autobiography book.

A pit barbecue, supervised by Tom Barton, was the center of the supper. An old time dance followed, with the Rhythm Kings donating their services as orchestra. They were ably assisted by the Honorable Jack on his saxophone.

The weatherman lingered throughout the day to send rain, but every time a cloud ventured tentatively across the sky, our noble Minister of Environment glared at it sternly, and it would drift away without even a faint pool of thunder.

Encouraged by the success of the homecoming, the Cambridge district hopes to prepare a history book. Family stories, anecdotes, pictures or anything else which you might be able to supply us would be most welcome. Feel free to contact Mrs. Donna Martin or any other member of the Cambridge Community Association.

Marlow family reunion

On June 20, 1980, the Loughhead Senior Citizens Welfare Club was the scene of a most enjoyable reunion of members of the Marlow family. There were 77 names in the guest book. They came from Surrey, Maple Ridge, Kelowna and Armstrong, B.C., Alberta members came from Jasper, Edmonton, Sherwood Park, Wainwright, Red Deer, Rocky Mountain House, Camrose, Maynard, Sedgebrook, Hardisty and the largest number from Loughhead.

The oldest member in attendance was 80 year old Mrs. Margaret Marlow of Camrose, widow of J.R. (Tom) Marlow. The youngest was 8 months old Christina Gravel of Red Deer, great grand-daughter of the George Marlow.

Of the 9 children of their own and two adopted in the family of Joseph and Anabelle Marlow who came to the Loughhead district from Illinois in 1915, only three survived. They are George and Arnold of Loughhead and Belle, Mrs. Harold Craig, of Wainwright.

Ruth (Marlow) Pascoe made a large family tree with the names of all descendants of the original Marlow family. She also prepared a pamphlet with some detailed information such as dates, names of spouses, etc., and had copies to present to the heads of each family. She also read an article on her "Impressionism" of the Marlow family, being the daughter of the oldest son.

There was singing by Adele Acres, granddaughter of the George Marlow, also by Ruth Pascoe and George Muldoon, which were much enjoyed.

From 1938 to 1964, Mrs. George (Belle) Marlow had taught members of the Marlow family. The oldest was Wilbur Smith from Cambridge School and the youngest, Garry Smith in Loughhead. These present surprised their former teacher with a gift and a photograph set presented by Thelma (Belle) Acres.

Throughout the afternoon, old and young enjoyed the facilities in the Welcome Club and the home shown over in the back yard. The children got a "bang" out of the balloons donated by Betty Louisa.

All families contributed to a delicious and bountiful lunch supper. With much visiting, meeting many who had come for the first time and taking pictures, a most memorable occasion came to a close. Our only regret is that so many were unable to attend.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT

There are a number of indications in Ottawa that the Federal government is going to design methods that will increase the amount of taxes collected from Canadians. Our annual debt is now larger than the largest of 1980 when the Prime Minister first came to office. Of serious concern is the fact that the largest single portion of your tax dollar is used to pay the interest on the accumulated debt.

One of the reasons government is experiencing difficulties is the excessive "cost overrun". Specifically what happens is that the government commits itself to a project at a fixed cost and by the time the project is completed costs have escalated beyond reason.

On May 15, 1980, the president of the Treasury Board tabled a list of projects that had experienced cost overruns. That list totaled more than 1/2 billion dollars in overrun costs.

The worst department in Environment where 188 out of 228 projects were experiencing cost overruns at a total cost of $288 million. Overruns in the department are equal to 30 per cent of original budgets, with 80 per cent of projects experiencing cost overruns. One overrun is for $45.9 million (The Lachine Canal) - an overrun of 80.4 per cent. Three of the 10 largest overruns are in the Department of the Environment.

National Defence has the largest overrun in dollar terms, $66.7 million for the Aurora Patrol Aircraft, and the largest overrun as a per cent of original budget, Research and Development helicopter project CHSS-899.2 per cent over budget.

Other large overruns in dollars include $45.9 million for the Lachine Canal, $43 million for a Via Rail Contract, and $38.4 million for a major postal facility in Montreal.

Other large overruns in percentage terms include an agricultural laboratory in Lethbridge $50.6 per cent, an Environment project in Port Arno, Nova Scotia $87.7 per cent, and a Department of the Environment highway project in Newfoundland $96.5 per cent.

In short, Parliament must work much harder at controlling the expense of government. It simply is not satisfactory to raise government revenue by increased taxation if government itself cannot keep in touch with costs.

Let's Talk It Over With Gordon

During the last two weeks I attended the opening of the very lovely completed Chapel of the Good Shepherd at the Rosehaven Institute and one has to be impressed that the patients as well as the staff have the service of a full time Chaplain.

There was an evening meeting at Rosehill Hill for the proposed Natural Gas Pumping Station for that area. Concerns were raised with officials from the petroleum company as to some level, toxic material being split and location. A full year ago my yearly tour of Rosehaven discontinued with Administrator Bill Marshall as to further expansion plans for this institution which now has 387 patients and 380 on staff.

Two very full days at Edmonton at our monthly caucus. And Saturday the 38th was all set up to take part in the Klagen parade and anniversary celebration which was cancelled because of rain.

However, spent that afternoon with my men at the opening of the Edberg Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre. Also met one evening in Daymond, with a group that want to start a Drop-In Centre in their town. You know, I sometimes wonder why New Norway and Daymond have not had their own drop-in centers.

I was not at the Forestry Alberta Disaster Services presented emergency equipment to the Fire Department. Out of 38 applicants for this equipment, I think I was the only one awarded in Alberta. Forestry's volunteer Fire Department was awarded because of their enthusiasm and training.

As you are probably aware, the Government of Alberta has set up a committee to recommend to the government a location for a vocational and trade school outside of Edmonton.

This school will cost $100 million and eventually have an enrollment of 8000 students. The city of Camrose has appointed a committee which I am a member of to plan and submit a proposal for this school. I believe that a school of this nature will not only benefit the Camrose region but all of central Alberta and consequently urge you to support the location of this trade school in Camrose by writing letters of support either to Mayor Rudy Swanson or myself as we may include these letters in the proposal. 3000 students. Now that's a clean industry for a city. No smoke stacks polluting our environment or strip mines tearing up our farm land.

July 1, the Camrose Board for Canada where the Minister of Culture, Mrs. Mary McManis, received an edition of Cedric Condon of Camrose contacted me one day and suggested that it would be nice if I could get the 75th anniversary flag and present it to the patients of the Bethany Nursing Home so they could fly it on Canada Day, which we did, and with Andie and the kids, I had a nice visit and lunch.

Cookson family reunion

Descendants of William and Susan Cookson who were married in Chebucto, England in 1869 and home-stayed in the Cambridge district in 1912, converged on Cambridge School on June 30 for a family reunion. This was the first get-together to be held, since the family last reunited in August of 1975. Relatives attended from as far away as Vancouver and Casper, Wyoming. Five of the six surviving children of William and Susan Cookson (three were originally nine) were able to be present, along with many of their descendants. The family tree chart, begun in 1975, was displayed on the wall, and received several new additions. The latest spouses and little ones were added to the list.

The family assembled in the early afternoon for a large dinner, and spent the afternoon in games, races, picture taking and reminiscences. In the early evening, an impromptu orchestra, consisting of some of the more talented members of the family, Darlene Hammett, Allan Cookson, Horace Cookson, Jack Cookson and Wendy Edley, provided music for dancing.

Oldest family member present was Mrs. Lillian Ball of Borden, Alberta who is ninety years of age, while six month old Mark Edley of Edmonton took the honours as the youngest. A distant cousin from the latter side of the family (Susan Cookson was a Rutler), Mr. Ed Dennett and his wife Evelyn of Warrington, Cheshire, England also attended the reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Sister had been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cookson of Lacombe. They have been visiting by plane for San Francisco.

COME ALIVE . . .

Ted Howard, Foreword
WHEN YOU'RE ALONE

How does it feel to be hopelessly lost at sea or in the desert or in the mountains, without provisions and facing the mounting terror of an early death? The survivor of such an ordeal almost certainly will recall that in the midst of the struggle to survive there is an intense desire to re-examine the meaning of life. One author who has researched this has written that "Persons lost in the mountains, in the desert, at sea, persons faced with slow, painful death, persons craving food and water, consider the past and then begin to search for deeper meanings in life. They review their relationships. They hear again the words of love and hate they have spoken; the individuals they have violated with criticism and recriminations. They relive the scenes of meanness, pettiness and nastiness. They feel again the attachments they have known, the tender and co-operative endeavors. Everything of importance comes to mind. They search for answers to life. The lost and lonely persons seek deliverance. They seek to be forgiven their trespasses. They yearn to be absolved of their misdeeds, to rectify their sin against their fellow man. In the face of death, each person in his or her own way turns to God." (adapted from "Loneliness", Clark E. Mountakis). In John 8:11, one gets the feeling that the woman accused of adultery felt exactly like that. She is not being evidence of religious lawlessness. Should be upheld the religious law and recommend the woman's execution, they might be able to turn him over to the Roman on a charge of inciting to kill a woman. The scribe scheme falls when Jesus applies one of the great paradoxes of all time: "Let the man among you who has no sin on him be the first to cast a stone at her." Hearing those words, the women's accusers withdrew in silence and the two main characters in the scene remain alone. Jesus says simply, "You must sin no more on, avoid this sin." You have another chance, start a new life. "God sent his Son into the world not to condemn the world, but so that through him the world might be saved" (John 3:17)

Enter Jesus, who empathizes with the unfortunate woman, and becomes involved in the situation. Jesus' main concern is for the welfare of the woman. The Pharisees are not really

Let's Talk It Over - With Gordon

The other day a Mr. Derek Dodds of Environmental Co-ordinators on the Dept. of Transportation phoned me and explained that he was responsible for acquiring adequate supplies of gravel throughout Alberta to be used for paving and grade base and after a further explanation of their dwindling gravel supply in our construction asked my opinion, and my co-operation to remove the gravel and sand from Dried Meat Hill. My opinion, he got, my co-operation, he did not.

In fairness to Mr. Dodds' job, he is accurate about the local supply of gravel. His Dept. gravel pits at View Point, Dabland, and east of Donsdale are now mined out. To just explain how tight the gravel supply is, the County of Ladue and Flagstaff now haul their gravel from outside of their counties and some Edmonton contractors are trucking their in from Dried Meat Lake and Montingale. I believe there is still a fair amount of gravel around but it's covered by overburden and stripping can be very costly. Depending on the depth of overburden, As a point of interest one time when I had a few gravel pits I used to show him Dried Meat Hill he told me that the north half of Dried Meat Lake lies not on a substantial gravel seam and some day as the used areas, a paved highway is estimated by barge.

To readers not familiar with Dried Meat Lake, it was formed 10,000 years ago during the ice age. Archeological dig date its use by the North American Indian as far back as 4,000 years. A major land mark was the Dried Meat Lake on Manitoba on the Empress to Fort Saskatchewan Trail and in turn by horse-drawn travelling east from Watskwin. It was, one time, a social gathering point for miles around, with dance hall and rooms and a lively bar. It was one time owned and mined by local contractors and because of poor quality of gravel, sold to the County of Camrose, who run into considerable local controversy over the removal of gravel and in turn sold it to the Dept. of Highways at the rate of $425.37. And so the Dept. got stuck with a hill, they can't get their hands on it.

You would think that officials would know better. Three years ago they agreed to mine Dried Meat Hill into oblivion. And in order to show the Dept. that the Hill meant something to the people of east central Alberta, the Minister of Transportation would view Dried Meat Hill with local contractors and because of poor quality of gravel, sold to the County

Galahad Homecoming

The Galahad homecoming is over, but it will live on in the memory of all who were privileged to be present. Gladys McMahon, Velma Carmichael, my husband Pete and I, viewed most of the happy, smiling faces that we were permitted to see from behind the table, in our small cabin which was the of the organist's hymn book, reminded us again that life is not all sunshine.

One could not capture with pen and paper the happiness that was mirrored on the faces of those long separated from one another, who were together once more. The laughter, the joy, and in some cases tears, as they clasped their beloved schoolmate, or teacher to their heart.

The time was far too short, it truly was a "Golden Echo" of the past, lived again in the old school, and yard. The boarded up windows of the present school, provided a wonderful "whiteboard" where the names of many who were recorded, as we looked at that long, long list, our thoughts went to the beautiful first chapter of Berea, and the closing line

PHANTOM GNAT (Chabrosus shigetae) - (A) larva (B) pupa. Although they resemble mosquitoes and have the same hairy, scaly wings in the adult stage, phantom gnats do not feed and therefore do not bite. The larvae live in ponds, marshes and lakes and feed on the larvae of mosquitoes, small crustaceans and other aquatic animals. They swarm in great numbers after emerging from the pupa stage and can be a nuisance along beaches and near homes where they are attracted at night to lights.

Fighting back

the drought, the Government of Canada and You.

Recognizing the threat to prairie livestock breeding herds caused by the current drought, the federal government has introduced a $60 million drought relief program that will aid drought-stricken livestock, dairy and sheep producers in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and affected areas of Alberta. The $60 million is in addition to the $7 million in federal drought aid announced earlier.

In 1977 the Government of Canada established a Task Force on Drought in Regina to develop programs to assist Western agriculture in the event of drought. The Task Force has continued to monitor developments and met with senior provincial government officials in May of this year to plan measures to assist producers in drought areas. The first of these programs is already in place and includes — measures to retain feed grain stocks on the prairies and, through the Canadian Wheat Board, take steps to facilitate the import of feed grains. — federal expenditures of up to $7 million to cover cost sharing programs with the provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, including assistance for the transport of feed and livestock and emergency water supplies, including the federal P.F.R.A. Farm-Well Aid Program.

Crop Insurance and the Western Grain Stabilization Plan will help cushion the economic impact on grain farmers. The federal Herd Maintenance Assistance Program will assist the cash flow position of livestock, sheep and dairy producers. This program, along with earlier federal government action and measures implemented by the provinces, will hopefully encourage producers to keep breeding herds over the winter. The Herd Maintenance Assistance Program will be administered in the prairie provinces by the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (P.F.R.A.).

A Nutritional Advice Program to disseminate nutrition and ration information on feed substitutes to as many prairie livestock producers as possible is another important aspect of the government's current drought plans. Dependent upon the extent of the drought, the length of time it continues, and the availability of adequate feeds and fodder, further programs are being prepared. These will be implemented as required as part of the federal government's initiatives to ease the drought's impact.

If you are in a drought area and require application forms for livestock, dairy or sheep Herd Maintenance Assistance, or additional program information, please call this

75th Anniversary

Salute to a pioneer

Ned Butcher

Ned Butcher, 87, was born and raised in Yorkshire, England, before he moved to the Loughhead district in 1913 to farm.

His sister and brother-in-law moved to the area and told Ned how nice it was. "I wanted to get away from the building and trade industries and I wanted to be a farmer," he said. His brother-in-law told Ned that he liked the Loughhead district better than anywhere else he had seen in his life. Ned believed him, moved, and has not regretted it.

Mr. Butcher worked for Jamison and Comber, farming in the area until he fought in W.W.I, where he received a military medal of honour. He came back to Loughhead in 1917 after serving two years overseas. Not long after he got back he bought a quarter section of land, through the Military Settlement Board, near Loughhead at Sleepy Hollow.

Ned was married in 1921 to Patricia (Holmes) from Edmonton, and the two lived and built on their farm. The couple had three boys and one girl before Patricia passed on in 1978.

In 1970, Ned retired from farming. He recently moved into Flagstaff Lodge.

Mr. Butcher has travelled extensively in his life.

Including several trips to Europe, but says "I am happy to be living in Canada." He added, "I've got the best living conditions of anywhere else in the world."

In speaking specifically about Loughhead, Mr. Butcher said, "It's probably as good a district as anywhere else in Canada." In fact, he said, "I've had a good life in Canada and I think it is the best place I've been."

He also said that Alberta is the most beautiful province he has been in, and is glad he now lives here as a senior citizen. "They take care of the seniors, and this lodge (Flagstaff) is one of the best in the province. Mr. Butcher is a life member of the Hardy County Lodge and Grand Masonic Lodge of Alberta. In 1953, he was District Deputy of his Masonic Order.

Today, Ned spends a lot of his free time making rugs, but "My main hobby is to stay busy," he said.

Heritage loans exceed $1 billion

The Heritage Fund has now loaned out more than $1 billion to six provincial governments as a result of the recent $110 million loan to Hydro Quebec, the provincially-owned power corporation's second borrowing.

The Fund has shown little more than willing during the last year to make loans to provincial governments and their Crown corporations at near commercial interest rates.

To accommodate the apparent high demand for loans, the legislature passed a bill this spring increasing to 30 per cent from 15 per cent the maximum amount of the Fund that can be lent out to other provinces.

The Fund now contains about $7 billion, and is expected to grow to $8.7 billion by March 31, 1981, over without any cash and gas price increases.

Alberta's growing resources will be used to finance the province's major infrastructure projects, such as the $1 billion Alberta Leader Stuart Smith's concern at a recent Edmonton speech in which he advocated the re-cycling of petro-dollars in his home province.

Smith was less than precise about how this should be accomplished, but the Ontario government, which Smith hopes to meet in the approaching provincial election there, has outlined several proposals for sharing Alberta's wealth in its 1980 budget.

The budget suggests a major reform of the national equalization system that would make the resource-producing provinces carry the load of financing a national income-sharing pool designed to help poorer provinces pay for basic government services.

Up until now, the federal government has been wholly responsible for equalizing incomes among provinces using cash from its own tax sources.

But the system, in effect for 30 years, has been thrown into disarray by resource revenues accumulating in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

The rise in the national average revenue capacity of the provinces as a result of the rapid expansion of Alberta's income base increases Ottawa's equalization obligations to the so-called "have-not" provinces.

Despite the Ontario proposals and similar ones from federal Energy Minister Marc Lalonde, however, the Alberta government will not contemplate any new equalization system that takes money directly out of provincial coffers.

Federal and Inter-Governmental Affairs Minister Dick Johnston said recently resource revenues should be removed from equalization calculations.

Johnston said resource revenues are derived from sales of an asset—what's more, a depleting asset—and should not be considered along side of other revenue sources such as income tax and taxes on liquor or cigarettes.

The Family Subsidy for DAY CARE is worth asking for Applications are now being accepted from families entitled to a subsidy for the day care of young children.

You may have been receiving a day care subsidy through your municipality (city, town or county/municipal district) or you may be a parent making a first application for assistance in providing out-of-home day care for your children. In either case you are eligible to apply under Alberta's new Social Services and Community Health Day CARE program.

TO APPLY, CALL YOUR NEAREST SOCIAL SERVICES DISTRICT OFFICE FOR AN APPOINTMENT.

LOUGHEED ROCKETTES HOSTING

NORTHERN ALBERTA PLAYOFFS

First game commencing at 9:00 a.m. Saturday, July 19
Finals, Sunday afternoon.

8 teams competing, Lougheed Rockettes, Kitchissippi, St. Paul, Hardisty, Bon Accord, CFB Cold Lake.

The Travel Alberta float sponsored by the Alberta Travel Industry and the provincial government made an appearance at Hardisty Heritage Days parade.

July 12. The float will only make one appearance in Flagstaff this year due to a busy and demanding schedule.

Hardisty District News

It is very discouraging to find the young people beside the Link Hardware that were all in bud, mowed down, while beside them dandelions, pig weeds, yellow mustard and thistles were left standing.

Congratulations to Rick and Patricia (Harrison) Bergselt of Lougheed on the arrival of a young daughter, June 30, weighing 9 pounds 5 ounces, and named Cheryl-Layne. A grand-daughter for Ian and Marlene.

Hardisty woman top barrel racer

Shirley MacRae of Hardisty was the ladies barrel racing at Stony Lake Stampede recently, boosting her into eighth place in the final competition for the event in the Canadian Cowboys Association (CCA) overall standings.

The top ten competitors in the event will be eligible to compete in the finals for ladies barrel racing in Lloydminster in the fall. Mrs. MacRae said that this is her goal, and thus far has won every rodeo she has entered.

Although she has won outside of C.C.A., rodeo this year, she has won three inside the association including Stony Lake.

She finished first at the Pierceland (Saskatchewan) Rodeo and the Gooseberry Lake Rodeo.

She said that she is looking forward to competing in Austin, Manitoba

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ricketta and daughter-in-law of Edmonton were visiting with the John Sherlock. John and Jimmy came over on the same boat from England.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Powell of Sacramento, California are visiting with Anthony's brothers Perry and Paul. They love to come back to Alberta where Anthony went to school at Nipawin.

It is with great pleasure that we notice the posts previously knocked down are in position again by Devonian Park. If it's fun to knock these things down it should be fun to put them back up again.

It has appeared to have been a very successful weekend both in Hardisty and out at Reliance. Those attending the Arnold reunion are bubbling over with enthusiasm regarding the gathering.

More about all these things at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Matthews and Bill with Dick Matthews of Sedgewick, attended the Duhamel homecoming on July 1. The day was perfect, and the whole community joined in welcoming the homecomers.

The afternoon festivities took the form of an old-fashioned country picnic, with games and food for all. A payment was shown of friends through the years.

Schools were then presented to those early residents of the community who were 75 years or more. Barbe Matthews was one of those so homecoming having been at Duhamel in 1906.

99s greet Hardisty

The Alberta Chapter of Women Pilots landed in Hardisty to send greetings from 75th Anniversary Commissioner Bob Dowling, July 9.

The group originated in 1929, when invitations were sent out to the 117 American women holding a pilot's license. Of the women contacted, 99 replied. There are now over 5,000 members in some 34 countries, including 30 in Alberta alone.

Gretna Goodwill Club hold meeting

The Gretna ladies met at the lovely new home of Etta Huse, in Forestburg on Wednesday, July 9 with six members and six guests in attendance. We were happy to welcome all guests. Following their business meeting, the ladies enjoyed a picnic at the home of Etta Huse. The picnic was especially happy to see Mrs. E. Huse, who is living with her mother at the present time. She thanked the ladies for the lovely cards sent to her while a patient in the Kilian Hospital.

Roll call. "Some house-hold catastrophe" brought forth many interesting and humorous replies. There were episodes of story telling, cleaning days, pressure cooker blow-ups, canned fruit exploding. Tables coming apart in the middle, at the wrong time; impart of a hot iron on the dining room table; macaroni all over the kitchen floor (from trying to wash two pots at the same time and reach too far for an open package); to Gordo in his basement, one by rule and the other by water leak. "The next meeting is to be at Helen Sutherland's in Forestburg, August 18 with Christine Armstrong as co-hostess. The roll call will be "what I see from my kitchen window". The hostess prize and the lucky tea cup were won by Helen Sutherland. The contest was won by Mary A. on a cut of cards with Mary and Marlene Valeri. Adamson got the least points, as it was a contest to see who had the most of the listed items on them or in their purse. A lovely lunch was served by the hostess and we all had a good visit.

Metis receive co-operation

Alberta's Metis are growing recent government co-operation with them enthusiastically even though the province remains intransigent that they will not receive mineral rights to their lands.

Social Services Minister Bob Beggs has paved the way for the establishment of democratically-elected, local government on Metis colonies within two or three years by initiating an exchange of letters between government and Metis leaders.

The letters assure both sides in the battle for $40 million in oil and gas royalties from Metis lands that a joint committee established to review Metis local government will not prejudice the outcome of the court case.

Maureen L'Hirondelle, president of the Federation of Metis Settlements, greeted the no-pledge agreement with perhaps the most complimentary remarks for the beleaguered social services minister since he took office in 1976 and a half years ago.

"Beggs has certainly come a long way to help us along," L'Hirondelle said. "I'm not of fighting us like he has in the past, he's ready to help the people of the north."

"He's beginning to understand us, and he sees we're not trying to beat him out of anything. We're not looking for hand-outs."

L'Hirondelle's words were a far cry from the vilification heaped upon Beggs last year when officials of the social services department refused Metis colony officials to select sites they believed relevant to the mineral rights court case.

The statement also contrasts sharply with the criticism the minister has been receiving over his handling of child care and day care in the province.

The new atmosphere of co-operation with the Metis colonies is reflected in a recent $30,000 grant to the Casas settlement to help the community establish a garment factory there.

At one point last year the government had frozen all aid and new programs to the colonies until a court case was resolved.

Now, however, while any new services or grants to the settlements are screened by government lawyers to determine their effect on the legal battle, the province no longer appears to be attempting to freeze the colonies out or force them to drop their mineral rights claim.

The grant to the Casas settlement is the first payment from the $16 million that has been held in trust for the Metis as their share of last year's municipal debt reduction program from which all Alberta municipalities received a total of $1 billion.

Beggs has promised more of the money will be paid out as suitable projects are put forward for his approval. Meanwhile the joint government-Metis committee will get down to work and develop a proposal for democratically-elected, local government for the colonies.

K.K.K. in Canada

Although the federal government could not prevent the recent opening of a Toronto office by the Ku Klux Klan, it doesn't intend to put up with the Klan's prejudice in this racially and religiously blended country.

In the House of Commons recently Bob Rae stated his opposition to the group who has "throughout its history preached doctrines of race hatred and religious bigotry".

Mr. Rae made the motion that the government battle against any K.K.K. harassment with the "full force of the law". The motion was seconded and given the unanimous consent of the House.

The Klan was founded in 1865 in the U.S. state of Tennessee, and has had its ups and downs power wise. It started out to be a social club for war veterans, but has since made its name in bigotry.

Its activities historically have been directed against Negroes, Jews, Roman Catholics, so-called radicals and foreigners. At the height of its power the Klan had an estimated five million members.

During the early 1900s, K.K.K. had enormous political power. D.C. Stephenson, Klan head in Indiana, virtually became the state's dictator.

With government intervention in Klan activities and prejudices in general, the group has lost the majority of the power it used to maintain. It has been watched and policed recently with force in the United States.

Thus, the need for moving up to Canada. The Klan is suffering from a power shortage and is hoping it can obtain some in Canada.

Canada, more and more is becoming a racial and religious mixture of people. Each year there are great numbers of foreigners accepted into the Canadian way of life.

If Canada is to control or eliminate Klan activities, it must take a forceful stance. It seems this is the plan.

Philosophy for the Birds

The Third Column

"I Write as I Please"
OF COURSE YOU ALL remember the old jingle, "Jack Spratt could eat no fat, his wife could eat no lean, and so between the two of them they licked the platter clean". Sounds like a nice, cozy little arrangement, with nothing good to waste and both being satisfied. Almost since time began man has been hunting down edible animals and consuming the meat therefrom, from which to me is a definite indication that meat has always been a part of the human diet. Prepare it however you will from jerky dried in the sun to roasted chunks over an open spit or broiled to a turn over a charcoal fire, meat has been enjoyed over the centuries as a part of the survival of man.

BUT DID YOU EVER sit out at a table and with mouth-watering anticipation order a sizzling top sirloin steak and then have the partner you are with order a vegetable plate? If you are a meat lover, a quizzical look out of the corner of your eye, he hastily explains that he is a committed vegetarian and allows no place in his life for meat. With calm courtesy you offer a smile of condolence mingled with sympathy and wonder. While you delicately detect and masticate the ultimate there is shovelling in forkloads of what looks to you like a saphyran mixture of slugs fit only for the animal from which came your sirloin. Then you begin to wonder what it is he has against any sort of bodily contentment the better things of life. You remember a treatise you once read, and while longing to, you refrain from telling him about how the various parts of animals are used not only to sustain but to enhance human life. You remember that it was written by one Linda Curtis; not copyrighted, you feel free to reproduce parts of it after mentioning the author's name. So, here, we give "The Did you know" quiz.

THE BRAINS of sheep are used in research into a procedure called "brain washing" with insulin will eliminate side-effects that plague diabetics, which are many and varied. The brains of beef hide we think of leather, but collagen from beef hide is used in injectable treatment for acne; it clears it and removes scars. An injection of thrombin from the blood of cattle coagulates in three seconds, trapping kidney stones and allowing surgery in three minutes. The thymus gland of cattle (which we call testosterone) is being examined as a possible cure for a type of lung cancer. It is an "ant" which surrounds the heart of an old cow is being used to heal a faulty pallidator.

THE EARS of sheep are used by people wearing micro valves in their hearts, made from sheep's ears. Even John Wayne had one. Cowhide is now used for covers on baseballs and the stitching is made from pigskin and the wax coating is made from beef tallow. There are three grades of sheep wool and the cork centre is fused with cattle hair. Cattle hair is an animal.

FOOTBALLS are covered with hide from young calves; caught in tennis shoes and gloves are leather from cattle; artists use brushes made from the fine hairs from the inner ear of cattle; hammers of a piano have leather. Chemicals for detergents, pesticides, industrial oils, all contain animal products. Bone charcoal is used to manufacture industrial oils, all contain animal products. Bone charcoal is used to manufacture industrial oils, all contain animal products.

GLANDS from many animals are used in the pharmaceutical industry. Part, in all life depends on other life. These animals never really die; they live on in other forms.

A YOUNG 4-h member once said, on seeing his calf go to market, "I think God would consider it a great sin if any part of my animal was wasted". My eating partner assumed that I was eating a pig, something of a cow. He might just as well have ordered a top sirloin and enjoyed his meal as well as I did mine.

WHEN MY FRIEND ordered a "BEEF" along with his vegetable salad, I could have reminded him that there was a Pig in it. As a vegetarian, I was summing an animal product. You, see, beef is clarified by adding plain fat. And the "beef" on a beer comes from enzymes from cattle.

What Others Say

Pricing our oil

If you have followed the current round of talks concerning the pricing of Alberta oil, I hope the whole thing makes sense to you somewhere. I seem to have missed something, because the further along the discussions go the more confused the issue seems to get.

Albertans might as well face up to the fact right now that we aren't going to come anywhere close to receiving the current world price for oil for what it is worth I don't feel we should necessarily hold the rest of Canada to ransom just to bring more dollars into this province. After all the other nine provinces are family, and as such they should be given some consideration in the matter of a better deal.

But what has happened now though is that no longer is the question of an oil price being based on fact nor is good common business sense being employed. Instead prices have become the deciding factor, and no politician is about to lose any favor with his voters by telling them they have to pay more for their oil or gas.

Politically the side with the biggest hand has to be Peter Lougheed. He will have to do something very, very stupid in order to lose his favor with Alberta voters. Not so the rest of those concerned. Prime Minister Trudeau has a majority, but with all of his strength coming from east of Winnipeg he has to be very careful he doesn't lose favor with consumers of oil in the west.

Recent remarks by Ontario Liberal leader Stuart Smith show just how much thought some political figures have put into the whole question. Smith calls on Alberta to live up to its responsibility to help Ontario in its time of distress (with 61,000 more workers unemployed than a year ago). He allows "oil is a depleting resource, but consider your fabulous reserves of natural gas, coal and tar sands."

That sounds good, but what's to say the federal government and the rest of Canada don't step in at a later date and demand their share of these also. What happens for instance when an alternate oil source is found? And if it should be located in the east, are there any assurances that all provinces would benefit?

Most Albertans, I think, would favor Alberta lending a hand to other provinces in their times of distress. What they don't favor is that helping hand being bitten off by politicians of the day who are trying to gain points with their voters.

— The Wetaskiwin Times.

A crucial period

Some people blame the oil and gas industry for the price of gasoline, home heating oil and natural gas. This is not unusual because most industries in a free enterprise system do their price or, to be more specific, competition sets the price.

This is not true of oil and gas. Almost all the mineral rights in Canada historically have belonged to the government, and because of this, governments essentially have total control of the industry. They actually tell the industry what it can do, when, where and at what cost.

Governments set taxation levels and the price, and decide how much of each dollar goes to industry. While the industry is borrowing heavily, and its cost are spiralling, taxes and royalties continue to take a bigger and bigger bite each year. That is the single major bone of contention right now between Edmonton and Ottawa — who is to get the larger share!

The already high risks of exploration, coupled with the uncertainty of just what share of the price industry will receive, make the search for oil and gas more difficult. As recently as two years ago, the government collected more than half the industry's gross revenue from oil and gas production and sales.

The industry and Canadian citizens now need fairness, firmness and direction from government at a crucial period in the nation's energy scene. They certainly are not getting it at this date.

COME ALIVE...

Ted Elmsrud, Forensberg

A pious old man was asked why he remained a man of hope, even in the most difficult days. He replied, "Because I believe that God is new every morning. I believe that God is creating the world today, at this very moment. He did not just create it in the long Ago and then forget about it. That means we have to expect the unexpected as the normal day of our existence is at work." The Pharisees in the story of the woman caught in adultery found fault with his way of thought. They thought that God was not subject to change. In other words, they thought they knew it all. The trap they had set for Jesus did not work because he did the unexpected. He came an opinion that could not have occurred to them. Their minds and hearts were stuck in the past. They had long ago closed the book on God's ways, as if to say, "God himself could not promise to teach us anything new." They were conditioned to reject, rather than expect the "unexpected." But this is precisely what we must do - expect the unexpected.

It is hard, at times, to actually believe that certain people around you - people whom you can't stand because they're full of faults - are capable of becoming better persons. Parents especially should be mindful of the consequences of using young people's past transgressions as a point-scoring device, or worse, as a weapon. It is a dangerous practice because it can stifle hope. "What's the use," the young person will say, "the matter how much I try for a fresh start, I know the minister I make the first false move, they'll be telling me how awful I was last week, last month, even years ago. It seems like they are willing to forgive, but they are not willing to forget." During World War II, the famous American pilot, Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, was flying on a special mission to the Pacific Islands. The plane crashed and Rickenbacker and his crew were lost at sea for twenty-one days. In the beginning many of the men were atheists or agnostics, but at the end of the terrible ordeal each, in his own way, discovered God. Each man found God in the vast, empty loneliness of the ocean. Each man found salvation and strength in prayer, and a community of fellow developed which created a liveliness of human fellowship and worship, and a sense of

Daysland District News

In late June a Week-end reunion was held in the community of Daysland. Some 300 people were reported to have signed the guest book.

The day began with the serving of refreshments followed by a delicious potluck dinner. The afternoon was spent renewing old acquaintances, playing cards, singing songs, and dancing. Mrs. Donald Losch provided the music. A family reunion was attended by several of the relations and each family filled in their branches. The reunion proved most interesting. Attending the reunion were Mrs. Mary Longhe 77 years young down to baby Dwayne Elmsrud and Mr. and Mrs. Elmsrud, nine days old.

Outside guests came from the District of Edmonton, Spruce Grove, Calgary and Red Deer. Supper was served later in the day and dancing departed around 10 o'clock. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all who were in the hope of making that another reunion will be held soon.

PARLIAMENT IN SUMMER
The summer in Ottawa is not particularly convenient. While the weather is often warm the extra high humidity wears heavily on us. By law, it was supposed to have been passed in 1978 when the greatest Act expired. Since then banks have been allowed to remain in operation on the basis of three extensions to the Bank Act. A few weeks ago the fourth extension was granted and banks are continuing to operate on legislation that was designed to expire almost three years ago. With that Act unpassed, most other legislation remains either housekeeping or ceremonial.

Parliament did pass legislation to amend the O Canada our official national anthem. Elevating "O Canada" to the status of an official anthem by Statute is commendable but citizens have every right to wonder why it is that by October we will have gone three years with out a passed budget in this country.

One can expect that in the autumn of 1980, Parliament will be faced with numerous substantive pieces of legislation. Hopefully, at that time this institution will take on a sense of greater importance. More specifically, it will learn to keep in touch with the concerns that are being begged upon us by all Canadians.

Daysland District News

The directors have a good weekend of entertainment for young and old planned. Special prizes in the cattle section this year are expected to attract a lot of interest. In these classes, fair prize books are available at most business places in Daysland.

A special attraction this year on the grounds is a three-unit caravan from the Municipality of the Atlantic Provinces. This will be a display of Eastern Canadian culture, to give us Westerners an idea how our fellow Canadians live. The Museum will be open on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday and free of charge. Mr. Martin Rogers has left Daysland and is now residing in London, B.C.

Mrs. Anna Rogers has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Irene Cribbin at Leduc. Irene drove her mother home to attend Mrs. Mac Pryn's funeral. Kevin Tulloch of Carr and Connie Shepley of Camrose were married Saturday, July 19 in Camrose and the reception and dances was held in the Community Hall in Daysland.

75th Anniversary

Salute to a pioneer

Charlie Wiseman, 85, was born and raised in Macleod, England prior to the family move to the Galahad area in 1909. Charlie's father bought a homestead on which Charlie worked for several years before buying it in 1908. Mr. Wiseman married his first wife Mabel in 1923 but she passed away in 1975. The following year, he was remarried to Edna. He has three children who still live around the Galahad area. Mr. Wiseman retired from farming six years ago, and is now resting out his senior years. Charlie says that he likes the Galahad area. "One thing Galahad has is good land, and I know good land when I see it," said the life long farmer. He added that Galahad's people can't be beat. "It's an extra good district, and the people are really friendly." He pointed out that the Galahad Homecoming attracted about 8,000 people to a village of not even 800. At the homecoming Mr. Wiseman bought the third history book auctioned for $500. "I've taken a lot of cream out of that community, so it was worth putting some back," he said. Charlie's wife has a house in the United States, and the couple usually head south for the winter. "The house is close to Mt. St. Helens, so I doubt if we will head there this year." In comparing Alberta to the U.S. or the rest of Canada, Mr. Wiseman said, "It's a pretty hard province to beat...and I've got the U.S. beat." He said that Alberta has always been a rich farming area. He added that the potential for Alberta's recent wealth has always been there. "It just took a long time to get going." Mr. Wiseman has had only one hobby during his life, and that is horse racing and raising. He is known

Hardisty News Items

The Hardisty Garden Club met in the Drop-In Centre on Tuesday, with some members present. It was decided that it was Hardisty Homecoming. The Wilkington sisters felt that they had not seen too many that they have known. They were very disappointed to miss Jill Mela from Alz.

Ted Berthel of Chilliwack with son Neil and family of the town and he had stayed over and saw most of his old friends.

It would never seem right to have a gathering like this without Billy Gutkowski of Drumheller, a Hardisty of some years ago.

Some of the familiar faces I noticed among Hardisty girls were Theresa (Clark) Mays who lives at 100 Mile House; Theresa has travelled a lot since leaving Alz. as she has a son in Australia.

Elmer Dodds, Jimmy Mays, Theresa (Clark) Mays, Margaret (Edmunds), Margaret came all the way from Macmillan Island to attend Arnold's homecoming.

I went out with Ruth Tillman to see the crop and came back in after supper. In the meantime Shirley Jones and Tammie called. However, Shirley spent the night at Cyril Dwyer's so she caught up on some of the Hardisty happenings.

I phoned her after she got home and she, too, had had Stampede Queen at the rodeo sponsored by Battle River Light Horse.

The Hardisty Ladies enjoyed a very successful 11th tournament at the Burns Bridge recently.

With bases loaded and Ian MacKinnon hitting a grand slam, Hardisty won the first day. Then on Sunday they played against Spring Lake, winning that game too, with Ian the hero again, making two home runs, so they came home with the prize of $250. Congratulations, ladies.

Sympathy is extended to Agnes Rasmussen and her family, as well as brothers and sisters, on the passing away of her brother Melvin Wood at Dryden.

We were sorry to learn of the passing away of Herb Bricker in Wetaskiwin. Herb and his family lived in Hardisty for some years and he was always in great demand at gatherings etc. for songs, having a most beautiful voice. Sympathy goes to his family.

A card of condolence from Hardisty attended his funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Matthews welcome a great grandson born on July 10 to Linda and Ken Torpe at Sedgewick and named Jason Richard, a grandson for the Dick Matthews.

It was nice to see Mr. and and Mary Brown were holidaying in that area and Larry Larsson and Shirley Tillman. So Shirley was disappointed too.

The Charlie Dunn have and company from Ontario a brother-in-law Allen with son Alex. Alan Jr. got called into rehabbing and a brother-in-law Allen Sr. enjoyed the crops and the country. It didn't rain until the 21st.

The Galloway sisters, Ethel, Annapel and Helen called in last week and especially to see Alf Wilk.

Doris and her husband caught up to Isabel at son Allen's house.

The girls hoped to see Barbara Hays so a phone call soon brought Barbara and Howard and she and Ethel had gone to attend together. They had many things to recall.

A number of our Hardisty members attended Herb Bricker's funeral. Some of those were Don Kirk, Jim Jameson, Brunsgrange and Chaspy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Larjo and family of Tofield spent last weekend with Tim's mother Mrs. Mary Lario.

Welcome home to Mr. Gauden who has been in Killam Hospital since first week in June. Keep on improving our friends.

Frank, Jody and Alexandra Oliver and Lianne Potter stayed at Lougheed for a week after the Cambridge Homecoming. Then they and George, Irene and Shale Potter all went to Lac Le Lache for the weekend of July 11. There we met Lorne and Bernadette Potter of Edmonton and were all guests of Dr. and Mrs. Jim Hardy.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Marie Martin and family on the passing of her husband Mr. John Martin last Monday morning.

The funeral was on Thursday, July 17 in the Anglican Church in Sedgewick, with the burial in the Lougheed Cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Cook recently visited with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Peter Grove and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reister and family of Allison were here to take in the Rockettes Homecoming, here Mrs. Barbara Branson of Huguenot. They stayed with Joanne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Clouston.

Some of you will remember the Jack Caudwell family. Their daughter, Edith Caudwell's daughter Diane and husband George Lawler and two children Jennifer and Jeffrey of Powell River, B.C. have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George Collier and family, George, Ella and Art brought them in to look through the Goose Creek Museum while they were here.

Tommy Kenny and his sister Karen Horvick were home for their grandpa Tom Kenny's sale on Monday of last week.

Welcome to the Lougheed Rockettes and their visiting aunts that are playing this weekend July 19 and 20.

It was in Carleton last Thursday and who should I run into but Mrs. Art Hertel and her daughter Carolyn. I had not seen them for some time. Carolyn is getting married at the end of the month. I just could not believe she is almost 50 years old.

Mrs. John Wright has returned home after spending a couple weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wright and family on Victoria Island. Willie and son Kevin brought her home and she is staying a couple of weeks.

All and Jean Rumbagen and family of Galahad visited last Sunday with Mrs. Margaret Denham.

Understanding consumer laws

Paul M. M.

It's one thing to know that legislation affecting the consumer exists. It's another understanding what it means.

For example "Bait and Switch Selling" is illegal. But few know what it means. It's a situation that occurs when a merchant advertises a product at a bargain price, then claims not to have the product available. He tries to switch the customer to a higher priced item.

And then there is double ticketing and most people don't know what it means. When two or more prices are clearly marked on the item, the retailer must sell it for the lower of the two prices. Note the words "clearly marked" on the item. It's not clearly visible.

then it does not constitute double ticketing.

What about refund? If a product is defective the store can choose to replace it, repair it, give a cash refund or a credit note.

But do keep in mind the store is only obligated in this way if the item is defective. Returning a good simply because it does not fit Aunt Mary is not just good money.

And what about price? An advertiser is not required to sell it at that price. However, it should be made clear that a store that consistently misrepresents its prices is in serious trouble.

And so, as you can see, it's one thing to know the law. It's another to understand it.

Sedgewick Beavers play in provincial playoffs

First game: Saturday, July 12, 1:30 p.m., Sedgewick 14 - Provost 9.
Second game: 3 p.m., Red Deer over Sedgewick, 30-4.
First game: Sunday, 10 a.m., Sedgewick 4 - Red Deer 3.
Second game: Red Deer 16 - Provost 1.
Third game: Sedgewick 8 - Provost 3.
Fourth game: Red Deer 18 - Sedgewick 10.

Considering the fact that both Provost and Red Deer, the latter named especially, had such great advantage in population from which to select players, I think that we have reason to be extremely proud of our best performance.

The battery of Perry Sparrow and Garret Wahlund was easily the class of the journey. In the first Sunday's game limiting the powerful Red Deer Padres to three scores in six innings.

In the seventh inning Pat Krause, in relief of Sparrow did a masterly job, retiring the three batters who faced him in order, effectively snuffing out any incipient rally.

The players from Sedgewick were: Perry Sparrow, Garret Wahlund, Murray Stiel, Kevin Schaeppner, Lloyd Osm, Pat Krause, Colin Tanton, Darren Lewis, Mike (Freddy) Fredrick, Vernon Hill, James Bell, Larry Ness, Darren Mota and Jimmy McDonald, with Carmen Schaeppner, bat girl.

The coaches were Roy Krause and Ralph Stiel. A good contingent of rooters from Sedgewick accompanied the team.

Killam plans new lagoon

It was announced that the Town of Killam is planning for a new sewage lagoon, at the County Council meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, July 22.

The present lagoon will be used to its capacity within the next three years, so the town council is planning for the building of a new site and have four proposals in mind.

The first proposal is east of the present site, just outside of town to the east. It would involve a 90 acre purchase and cost $1,025,300. It is designed for a population of 2,000 or more.

The second is farther east, south of the tracks by the gas well. It would be a 64 acre purchase of land costing $1,025,300. It has a design capacity for over 2,000 people.

Trudeau, Lougheed: $5 billion spread

Prime Minister Trudeau says 16 billion separated Premier Peter Lougheed and himself from reaching a new oil pricing deal for Canada.

After the end of two days of face-to-face negotiations at Trudeau's official residence in Ottawa, Trudeau complimented Lougheed as an "admirable and responsive negotiator who tried to get a very good deal" for his province.

But an oil pricing schedule proposed by Trudeau that moved well-head prices to $27.50 in four years and the possibility of a natural gas export tax were the major obstacles to reaching agreement.

Lougheed proposed raising well head prices to $37.25 from their current $14.75 level and vehemently opposed the imposition of a natural gas export tax that he said would prevent Alberta and the industry from obtaining full commodity value for gas sold to United States markets.

The premier claimed the Trudeau package produced net benefits only half as large as the Clark energy proposals of last December. The same net benefits had been Lougheed's objective throughout the five months of negotiations with the federal government.

Lougheed made two major concessions in his talks with Trudeau even after saying the province had already "walked the extra mile" in negotiations with the Clark government.

He told Trudeau he would agree to having oil valued at 78 per cent of the U.S. price, rather than 85 per cent as in the Clark package. And he said the Alberta government would commit $2 billion to transportation improvements in the West, breaking a long-held position that there should be no transport trade-offs for a better oil deal.

The Trudeau proposal would have raised consumer prices for oil to nearly the same levels as proposed in the Lougheed plan by levying hefty refinery taxes that would bring billions to the federal treasury.

The prime minister agreed the money was needed to finance increasing equalization obligations to other provinces and the cost of compensating eastern consumers for the higher costs of imported oil.

He did later say, however, that he might not impose an export tax on natural gas in the fall budget if the provinces of Alberta and B.C. were prepared to reduce their royalties and leave more room for the federal government to collect corporate income tax.

Trudeau may have been hoping that the federal government's recent approval of new natural gas exports and the pre-build portion of the Alaska Highway pipeline would have sufficiently pleased Alberta to get Lougheed to accept his proposal.

But without the premier's approval, the way was paved for unilateral price-fixing action by either the federal or Alberta government.

And Trudeau indicated any unilateral action would be a last resort. The first comes from the provinces, not the federal government.

Margaret Gillespie retires

Margaret Gillespie, a name that has become as familiar to the shoppers of the Killam-Strome Co-op as Campbell's or Libby's, retired from the Killam-Strome Co-op on July 19, 1988 after twenty-five dedicated years of service in Killam.

Her final week was spent in her familiar spot behind checkout no. 1, ringing through the customers she knew by both name and number. A guest register gathered signatures and comments from more than 400 people from a large area. Saturday was a particularly hard day for both Margaret and the staff knowing it was her last day.

A surprise farewell retirement party was held in the Legion by the staff. The party included a pot luck supper with a dance following. Presentations made to Margaret included a plaque from the association for her 22 faithful years of service, a lifetime invitation to attend in future staff functions, a rocker-recliner from the staff and a few items of clothing.

We all wish Margaret a very happy retirement and wish to thank her for her years of faithful service. She will be missed by both staff and customers alike.

Albertans accident prone

Albertans tend to use their automobiles more often than most Canadians because of the province's sparse population compared with its large size. But this fact is also showing up on R.C.M.P. accident sheets, with gruesome results.

In 1979, Alberta had a reported 79,146 accidents. Of these, 692 people died in 571 fatal accidents.

During the year, these figures ended up being the second worst per capita in the entire country next to New Brunswick's. Looking further, one finds other alarming figures.

Out of the reported accidents, 19,700 people attained injuries, and 15,456 had to be taken to hospital.

There are three major causes for the reported accidents. They are responsible for over one-quarter of the total accidents, leaving 60 other causes responsible for the rest. The most common cause of the accidents was the driver losing control of the vehicle, causing 9,299, second was hit and run with 7,376, following by tailgating, 5,682.

Most of the accident causes were human error, as vehicle defects caused less than 1,500 accidents. In fact, with proper maintenance the majority of these would also have been prevented.

Over half the vehicular caused accidents were by either brake (439) or tire (387) failure. Tire failure alone caused over one-third of the injuries in this category and four of 10 fatalities.

Newfoundland has had the fewest per capita fatalities in the country for at least the last five years, about half that of Alberta on the average. Alberta has not finished lower than fifth in this category for at least five years.

Although Albertans have to use their vehicles more often than Newfoundlanders, the reason we have so many fatalities is that we generally drive like mad and don't use seat belts.

What Others Say

A ray of light

If there is a kind soul that doesn't become thoroughly depressed upon opening a national newspaper or catching a news broadcast then there is no need to read any further.

During the past 25 years, it has become quite depressing to calculate the percentage of bad news to good news. To put it bluntly, it appears as if "no news is good news."

For a generation that held so much promise in the sixties, the seventies proved to be a bitter anti-climax. And who knows about the eighties? From global conflict to personalistic conflict, the daily spew out of information gets harder and harder to take. The person who stated that every cloud had a silver lining certainly would have changed his tune had he used the present day as his model. Maybe he should have said every silver lining has a cloud.

What scarce good news there has been is usually followed by controversy or misfortune that darkens the whole event.

New wonder drugs to solve age old medical problems almost always turn up side effects that are hideous. Viable alternative sources of energy follow the same pattern.

Governments are founded on the overthrowing of political systems rather than a peaceful succession and usually end up as radical as before. Even when a shining figure emerges, a true Madonna like Mother Teresa is recognized for her selfless devotion, the aura is doubted by serious illness.

"If a woman like Mother Teresa can get seriously ill, what hope is there for us mere mortals? Is it any wonder that 15% of the adult population is on a daily regimen of Valium and suicide rates are at all time highs.

And does the future look any brighter?

Yet once in a while there comes a tidbit of news that is heartening: optimistic with no strings attached.

In the July 17th Edmonton Journal is a story of a Montreal scuba diver who leaped into a coma when an air bubble entered his bloodstream. After 24 days in the coma, doctors gave him and 80% chance of dying and most of the remaining 20% of severe impairment if he came back. Yet he beat the odds and made it.

No wonder drugs or bolt of lightning, just one human body striving to survive.

Doctors called it a "wonderful surprise" in a modern day understatement for it is as close to a miracle as we seem to be able to get.

— St. Paul Journal.

Some things are better . . .

Advances in medicine and improvements in living standards have increased the lifespan of the average American by some 25 years in the past century. The average age of death used to be 47 years. Now it is 73.

One of the main reasons for the longer lifespan has been the control of certain acute diseases. Smallpox, once the scourge of the world's population, has for all intents and purposes been completely eliminated. Other diseases which have been controlled are tetanus, tuberculosis and diphtheria. All of this has come about because of advances made by medical science and research.

It is not all good news though. Longer life has brought about a higher incidence of some chronic ailments such as hardening of the arteries, arthritis, emphysema and cancer. According to the New England Journal of medicine these ailments now account for over 80 per cent of all deaths.

At first glance it might appear that a dismal and awaits us all. Not necessarily so. If medical science was able to find the solution to controlling smallpox, then we have a right to expect it to enjoy a similar success against the ailments of today.

Considerable work has been accomplished in many of the fields, and solutions may well be just around the corner. Let us hope so.

The Third Column

BY TRUACATE

"I Write as I Feel"

WHEN ONE BECOMES OVERLY repetitious, either by the written word or by mouth, he becomes vulnerable to one of two things: either he is eventually listened to or he loses his audience altogether. Yet it is the crying help that gets the bottle, the squeaking car-lock that gets the oil, the persistent who finally wins. You know the type I mean. No matter what the subject of conversation, he always returns to his pet theory and keeps at it until he is left drinking his coffee all alone. Well, under threat of losing you somewhere along the line, I'm going to repeat a couple of my ramblings which you have heard before, but this time I'm going to try and say it a bit different just in the hope that you may be fooled and read this to the end.

YOU WILL RECALL that for some time there is a column has said there are two things the Russian bosses cannot abide and when presented with either usually backs off to wait for a weakness to appear. The first is a determined and obvious show of strength. The Kremlin thrives on passive weakness in others. But a determined and rigid stance nearly always provokes a stalemate, a period of detente. The other thing is a loss of face, a hurt pride. This latter is just what is happening at the moment, and in spite of a comic show of disregard for the first is taking hold, not only of the Kremlin itself but of the ordinary Russian on the street. After all the yelling, screaming and representative pleading, the Olympic Boycott has been only partially successful. But it hurts and it shakes.

wise. The people want to know why the stands are half empty, why all the diplomats and representatives of various countries are not there. They want to know why they are forbidden to talk to their other competitors. Why, in fact, so many countries are not represented. They want to know why the United States is spending Westerners are But perhaps the biggest blow to the Russian pride was not in the BOYCOTT but in the actions of the countries outside the Iron Curtain, who are not singing their national anthems after a win; who are not parading with their country's flag but at the Olympics. It's like saying we are here physically but not spiritually. That, in front of the Russian layman is causing wonder. It was something that could not be hidden even if the cameras tried hard enough. It was all staged as a massive protest and was far more effective in my mind than the boycott itself, which could easily be explained away by the organizers. But there in front of the people, the truth must have dawned and must have been a headache to the Leaders. Some went further than not carrying their country's flag but refused to march in the parade at all. Right there in front of Bresnev with over 100,000 of his own people watching is a shocked dismay. That is something that the Kremlin can't take easily and won't take without retaliation. So my bet is that when the next Olympic Games roll around in four years time, we should look for the Russians and their communist allies to boycott in turn or attempt to scuttle the Games altogether.

IT IS TRUE that politics has always been a part of the Games right from its origin to the present day, but never before in the history of the event has it been so apparent and blatant as in 1980. And even though Lord Kilanin, the stooge of the Russians, is out of office, it is more difficult to see future improvement. I fear the Olympic Games are in danger of being a thing of the past, and that various regions of the world will stage their own games instead. A helping hand has been given in this regard to the fact that the financial forecast today is that the 1984 Olympic Games will show a deficit of over $200 million of dollars. The boycott was effective, almost too effective, in pausing acts of protest. The Greeks must be squirming in their respective graves. NEXT WEEK you will hear more on another subject on which I have been overly repetitious.

Mrs. Blanche McGowan, Mrs. Shirley Fournier, and Mrs. Joy Hampshire spent last week in Onda at the Alberta Women's Week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Anderson of B.C., cousins of Louis and Art Anderson of Louis and Cora, also Mr. and Mrs. Leif Peterson of Viking were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Larson were sent around town visiting relatives this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson and Mrs. Ruth Granger spent a wonderful Sunday renewing old acquaintances at the Kinsella Homecoming.

Ed Borth took in the ball games at Lacombe last Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Gill of Regina visited her parents Laura and Harold Cotton for a couple of days the past week. Alan golled in the Nicholson Chevrolet Tournament in Edmonton and returned with a trophy.

Jerry and Lorraine Peddema and Harry Fed-dema were weekend guests of Mrs. Annie Kinner and they all took in the Strome Homecoming.

Rev. and Mrs. Carson have been vacationing in Europe and attended the Oberammergau Passion Play.

Killam hosts ball tournament

Killam was blessed with two perfect days for their tournament last weekend which took in baseball, softball and netball (under 10) basketball.

There were three teams in the Mosquito games and a round-robin was played. This resulted in Alliance emerging as the victor, beating both Killam and Forestburg.

Four games were played in the men's baseball on Sunday which resulted in Sedgewick winning over Viking, Amiak over Killam, Healer over Caar and Brownfield over Longbeed.

Mr. Don Woldova of Oregon has been visiting with his folks Ruth and Bill Davidson and he took them back to Oregon for a two weeks to attend a family reunion and on their way home were in St. Helena last fall of ash.

Sunday saw Sedgewick meet Amiak in the first of the semi-final games. This was a really close game which resulted in a 6 to 5 win for Amiak.

The next semi-final between Healer and Brownfield was a similar game. It needed 2 extra innings before Brownfield came in with the winning run to take the game 4 to 3.

The final started out as close as the other two games but by the fourth inning Brownfield jumped ahead and stayed there to win 13 to 5 and so take the tournament.

The Labette Tankard was presented to the captain of the winning team immediately after the game. Also receiving a special award, the H.R. Lackey Memorial Trophy for the most valuable player in the Tournament, was Brian Mellon of the Brownfield team.

By the applause at the softball diamonds, some good games were going on there but at the time of writing I have no results. Since Jim and I have been away most of the summer, this was our first ball tournament and we found it extremely entertaining. There's nothing like a small town ball tournament as far as we're concerned. Long may they flourish!

Agriplex News

The second set of swim lanes is now open for registration. All levels of swimming are offered and begin August 11 (phone 365-3617). The pool was very active for the month of July and we are hoping for better and better things for August. Any groups interested in renting the pool should phone and make arrangements.

Roller skating is going strong and several individuals are becoming excellent skaters. The Agriplex is the site of the first ever roller hockey game. Several of the better skaters got together for a night of sports and thrills.

The family concept developed for Sunday is catching on slowly. What the Agriplex is attempting to achieve is to encourage family activities at a reasonable cost. From 1 - 5 p.m. on Sundays there is roller skating and/or swimming for only $5. per family. The Agriplex pool is admitting all Alliance children (12 and under) free from July 28 to August 3. The next week Viking's children (12 and under) will be honoured with a free swim, from August 4 to 10.

By the applause at the softball diamonds, some good games were going on there but at the time of writing I have no results. Since Jim and I have been asked to do the summer, this was our first tournament and we found it extremely entertaining. When breaking up a small regular stroke and avoid rough handling which can damage the scalp and individual hairs breaking them off and splitting the ends. However, excessive brushing can make hair too oily and loosen a set.

COUNTY OF FLAGSTAFF NO. 29

GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN

A. INTRODUCTION AND PURPOSE

The one purpose in adopting a General Municipal Plan is to inform present and future landowners as to the type of development allowed in different parts of the County.

Council believes landowners should be able to act as they please on their land if neighboring tax payers, landowners and future neighbors are NOT harmed.

The plan consists of a map accompanied by several policies. These two parts read in conjunction explain how to avoid potential harmful activities.

Council's fundamental policy is: The practice of agriculture will have priority in all land use conflicts.

B. OBJECTIVES

- Preservation of agricultural land for agriculture;
- Maintenance of existing population centres welcoming planned growth;
- Protection of subsurface natural resources through surface development control;
- Preservation of game and wildlife habitat;
- Provision and designation of accessible recreational land;
- Identification of special areas and concerns;
- Designation of certain poor soil areas for non-agricultural rural development.

C. POLICIES

- Preservation of agricultural land for agricultural activities. Council believes productive agricultural land is non-renewable. It is council's policy therefore to protect land in the county from incompatible land uses and activities which would have the effect of eroding this existing resource. Protection will be achieved through the county's land use bylaw and subsequent amendments. Council wishes to subdue speculative pressure on the value of land by assuring the practice of agriculture its proper place in the county.
- Maintenance of Existing Population Centres. The County of Flagstaff supports proposals for moderate industrial growth which has the effect of strengthening local economy. At the same time the county realizes the importance of having stable urban areas which contribute to social needs of the rural sector. Therefore, to mutually contribute to these two desires, the county encourages industrial/commercial business to locate in urban areas accessible to urban services, transportation and labour. The county has two policies: first, the council opposes industry scattered haphazardly throughout the county. Second, council supports the protection of an area, two miles around each urban municipality, for realistic urban expansion plans and industrial parks. The county realizes that part of this fringe area will, through annexation, change jurisdiction; but the county realizes that the control of land use in the remaining fringe area is through their rezoning.
- To effect two desires simultaneously the county is willing to firstly enter tax revenue sharing agreements with the towns and villages pursuant to Section 118 of the Municipal Government Act, and secondly to rezoning wherever necessary within the urban fringe from agricultural to Rural Industrial designation. Rezoning, however, will not occur until the county is satisfied with plans for the use of land, utility servicing, fire protection, the future, and the urban municipality's agreement. In areas where primary or secondary highway access is important, planning must also be guided by comments from Alberta Transportation.
- Two exceptions to a policy of locating industry in urban areas is the location of resource based industry and hazardous industries. The county is willing to allow coal, gravel and gas extraction or processing in areas where raw materials are situated, and to have hazardous facilities located.
- Protection of Sub-Surface Natural Resources. Council believes natural resources must be protected from surface developments particularly if such development has the effect of making exploitation expensive, difficult or impossible. Therefore, on land which is underlain by economic deposits of coal or gravel, it is the county's policy to allow subdivision only for farmette operations or the creation of intensive agricultural parcels. Council may relax this policy in areas where the economic value of a particular resource is yet to be established.
- Preservation of Wildlife Habitat. Council wishes to protect ungulate and waterfowl habitat but realizes in some areas wildlife must co-exist with man. Two areas of potential conflict in the county are close to the Battle River and around lakes. Council believes an area adjacent to the Battle River must be protected for wildlife as well as three lakes, Wavy, Beeshill and one in Section 10-43-10-4. In other areas, not designated on the map, council chooses to encourage individual landowners to keep bush on watershed land.
- Designation of Recreational Land. The area adjacent to the Battle River contains the highest recreational potential in the county. Council therefore wishes to set aside eligible easily accessible locations for future facilities. Other potential facilities could be located at Fish, Bott, Byers and Sedgewick Lakes. In these twelve areas council encourages recreation boards to identify their land needs and if necessary will consider using part of the county's reserve fund to purchase land for public use.

(VI) Identification of Special Areas and Concerns

- Council wishes to identify a number of special areas:
 - The strip-mining area north of the Battle River is in part presently being reclaimed to crops. This reclamation is very expensive. Council wishes to have it known that they are receptive to development proposals which would contribute to the change from wasteland to a better use.
 - Two areas in the county have been investigated and identified as suitable for possible acreage subdivision: south of Byers Lake and west of Hardisty. Council will have other locations investigated by county planners as these two areas become occupied. Before that time council believes the onus is on developers to prove accessibility, suitability and the need for other services.
 - Four gas fields are of particular concern to council because of the potential hazard. The plan identifies areas where sour gas has already been discovered. In these areas council will be critical of all development proposals and will use guidelines of the Energy Resources Conservation Board.
 - All cemeteries have been identified on the map with a small square. These are church or town owned and council has no plans for any future use.
 - All existing dumps in the county have not been identified. They are in the process of being closed as the regional landfill becomes operational. New sites will be identified as Flagstaff Waste Management Transfer Stations in each town and in the Merna and Battle Bend areas.
- The Special Concerns Council Wishes to Identify are:
 - Ambulance Service: Presently a municipal ambulance service is located at each hospital and council believes, that under existing agreement, the hospital is adequately served.
 - Fire Protection: Each urban centre has fire fighting equipment which serves the surrounding county area. For this service the county contributes to the upgrading of equipment by agreement, and the council has no plans to change.
 - Schools: The public school system is owned and operated by the county but the schools, with one exception, are located in the urban centres. The one special school, South Bend, is located in S.W. 15-38-12-4. No other schools are planned for the county. Reserve land and money will continue to accrue to the county as set out in existing agreements.
 - There are two other schools in the county, but council anticipates no change in the future. They are the Killam Roman Catholic Separate School No. 45, and the Merna Seventh-Day Adventist Private School.
 - Council wishes to identify two road networks: numbered highways - primary and secondary, and the local county road system known as "market roads". Numbered highways are indicated and council plan few changes. The "market road" system has also been identified, parts of which are already upgraded. Upgrading of the whole system is planned as financing and demand dictate.
 - Airfields: Council recognizes the increase in small airplane traffic in the county. To meet this need, council wishes to identify three areas which, they believe, will adequately serve the public: the Hardisty, Forestburg and Killam-Sedgewick areas.

Merna S.D.A. Vacation Bible School

From July 21 through the 26th over 60 children with 15 leaders enjoyed another Vacation Bible School. After the usual opening exercises the classes separated. The assembly room of the church was a bonanza of 30 kindergarten boys and girls. The singing, coloring of workbooks, creative craft work, and listening to stories kept the little tots busy and happy. One of their highlights was in the Harry Anderson yard. Over 80 primary students met in the hall. These avid listeners heard the stories of God's love to mankind through His creation. Their crafts were: chenille flowers, seed pictures, and play dough. Outdoor activities cared for the surplus energy. Pastor Johnson gave the daily lesson and story on Creation to the Juniors. Their crafts were: basketry, and stationary flower decorations. From 11:00 to 12:00 their physical needs were met when the group vigorously indulged in a fast playing ball game. On Friday evening parents and friends gathered at the church for a program. The kindergarten acted out a song on creation of animals, the primary had a skit about the sun, moon, and stars on the fourth day of creation, while the Juniors posed as the nine planets and gave some interesting facts about each one. Elder Johnson told some interesting stories on honesty and purity. Lunch was served in the hall while folks visited and looked over the crafts. Another successful Vacation Bible School has become history. Our motto: to help develop the cultural, physical, and spiritual aspects in youth, and prepare them for good citizenship not only here, but also at the earth made new.

Edmonton Power to pay damages

Edmonton Power representative Dave Mulder

Dave Mulder, representing Edmonton Power, said the company would be willing to pay a letter of credit to the County of Flagstaff for the upcoming year of staff for the County Council meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, July 24.

The power company would like to carry out burn tests on coal from Genesee to the Alberta Power Plant south-west of Forestburg beginning August. Mr. Mulder said that although he is not sure of the technical aspects of the tests, they must be carried out in warm weather and it is imperative they be done this year.

Edmonton Power brought the question to the meeting as to the best and most convenient route it could take. It also requested the use of county roads if necessary.

The route the company would like to take is down the private road owned by Forestburg Collieries. Unfortunately both the County Council and Edmonton Power doubt if the company will be allowed to take this road because of the unsay terms the two companies are on. Mr. Mulder stated that the power company would like to have public clearings on the road at higher costs to them.

Towns around the County are upset about the R.C.M.P. using the town radar guns in the rural areas. The buying of the additional three guns will give the County total coverage. The new guns would be given to the County Police, Forestburg R.C.M.P., and Kilam R.C.M.P. for use on highways and county roads. The new guns would have an instant readout, unlike the town guns. County General Plan Hearings. The County Council has given three locations to have public clearings on the general plan. The locations will be in Council immediately object to the use of county roads, but a certain amount of money would have to be paid back; according to the type of road used, the distance travelled and the amount of damage. "I guess you're not got Japanese pavement," said Mr. Mulder referring to the thickness and instability of county roads. Council replied to this by explaining that the roads are thin but never have the concentrated traffic the power company is proposing.

Mr. Mulder and council then discussed different routes the company could travel on. Basically the company wanted the fastest route since Edmonton power propose to make two trips per day with each of two trucks, said Mr. Mulder. The Council and Mr. Mulder then came to conclusions that the trucks would or should take provincial Highway 88 to a county gravel road joining in five miles to the plant road, or 14 miles of county road from Highway 88 to the plant. The problem with taking the gravel road is that it can be slow going if it rains, agreed the group. The letter of credit was then worked out. It was decided that if Forestburg Collieries would not let the power company use its private road, the company would use one of the two main roads.

Mr. Mulder agreed that he would present the following conditions to the Edmonton Power: if it takes the gravel road for five miles, it would pay the County up to $20,000 if it took the gravel road; if it took the gravel road, it would pay up to $140,000 if damage was extensive.

Norman Miller formerly of Strome, now residing in Westlock bought the first edition of the Strome history book, "Lanterns on the Prairie" for $1,175 at the book's auction during the Strome Homecoming last weekend.

Highway 36 to be repaired

Alberta Transportation will open tenders on August 5 for a cement stabilization base course on Highway 36.

The construction will be carried out over 34 km of road beginning where the road to Forestburg, Highway 88, junctions with Highway 36, and north to Kilam.

Another construction tender will be from Kilam north on Highway 36 to the correction line, Highway 26, and various treatments at intersections.

Tenders for this project opened July 29. Both projects are to be completed in the 1980-81 fiscal year.

Dowling at Strome Homecoming

The Village of Strome Mayor Jim Mohler (left) presented 75th Anniversary Commissioner Bob Dowling (centre) and M.L.A. Gordon Stromberg with town gifts in appreciation of their attendance at the Strome Homecoming last weekend.

75th Anniversary Commissioner Bob Dowling said that he attends about three homecomings and anniversary events per day, including weekends, at an interview during the Strome Homecoming, Saturday.

Dowling said that although he has attended a number of celebrations in Calgary and Edmonton in particular, his favorites are the small town festivities. "The ones that really give me a kick are the celebrations in smaller communities. They are unique."

He added that of all the hundreds of celebrations he has attended this year, none have been a failure. "We have not had bad weather yet, and Mr. Dowling, Mr. Dowling said he holds that the 75th celebrations and homecomings have really added a lot of spirit to the small towns. Spirit is exactly what the Strome Homecoming had, as people from all parts of the County of Playfair, and in fact the entire province gathered for the 75th anniversary reunion. About 2,000 people were expected, but homecoming officials estimate that even more were present.

The eight ring test provided visitors with excellent entertainment facilities, and entertained them were. All of the activities went off as planned. The tent, including a fashion show, barbecue, and two dances. Also in the tent was the auction of the history book, "Lanterns on the Prairie." The second edition of the book was auctioned first and bought by Bernice

Hardisty News Legion and U.C.W. sponsor shower

A very lovely shower was held in the Legion Hall on the evening of July 21 when the Legion ladies and U.C.W. honored Blanche McBride by sponsoring a shower for her.

A reading on "Love" by Doris Powell, also a reading by Imbel Nelson and a contest provided the program. Seated at the table to help Blanche open gifts and record them were her sisters Lis and Linda Dreyer, also Freda McBride and Isabel Nelson with Pamela Dreyer at the head table also.

Each received beautiful bouquets from Blanche. Many beautiful gifts were received, among them some pieces of Royal Albert to help her dinner set along. Blanche, overwhelmed by so many lovely things, found it difficult to thank each one sufficiently, but did remember to invite one and all to her open house.

A nice lunch was served topped off with a beautifully decorated heart shaped cake.

It was nice to see Marguerite Dreyer there, Esther Nelson, also Mary Grisel from Castor and Mary Usselein from

Marsh World

HARLEQUIN DUCK (Querquedula discolor) — A medium-sized species, the Harlequin duck is found on both the east (Greenland, Ellesmere Island, and northern Labrador) and west coast (from Alaska to Oregon). It favors the rock seacoast, where it spends much of its life offshore. In the nesting season, however, the Harlequin moves inland to nest near fast-flowing mountain streams; usually six eggs are produced. It is adept at feeding beneath the surface of rapidly flowing water. In winter, Harlequins leave the inland breeding areas and move to the seacoast.

Oil price increase was cautious move

By raising the price of crude oil last Saturday, Alberta has shown Ottawa it is prepared to set on its conviction that ownership of a resource gives the province the right to set the price.

But the fact the province was only ready to raise the price $5 a barrel to $16.75 demonstrates the province is not yet ready to provoke a full-scale constitutional confrontation over the issue.

The $2 increase announced by Energy Minister Marc Lévesque corresponds to the price of oil in the United States.

It also corresponds to the amount Alberta agreed to in the tentative energy pricing package with the federal government of former Prime Minister Joe Clark.

The Lévesque announcement only serves to prolong the oil price debate another three months to October 1 when the government will be under pressure to raise the price above the level Ottawa can be expected to live with.

But in the meantime, there is the possibility of renewed negotiations if, as Lévesque would have it, the federal government comes forward with a substantially altered offer.

The price increase declared by the government applies to all Crown-owned oil or oil products in the province. (The energy minister said he expects freehold oil will continue to be produced at the price set under the expired federal-provincial agreement).

The increase also includes an equivalent hike in the price of natural gas to $2.00 per thousand cubic feet from $1.80.

In announcing the increase, Lévesque said he was disappointed the province had been forced to take unilateral action.

"We have had sight of the real energy issue in Canada. What Canadians should be asking is whether oil is going to be available in the late 1980's."

Alberta takes the position that its 5 1/2-year plan to raise prices to an estimated $37.25 a barrel is the formula that will provide energy self-sufficiency for the country.

The federal proposal would raise refined prices to $27.50 in the same period. But the cost to the consumer would be $34.50, only $2.75 less than when the Alberta proposal, because of a $7 federal refinery tax Ottawa would impose.

Oil sands plants in north-eastern Alberta will be delayed indefinitely without an agreement on the price of synthetic crude oil, Lévesque said.

The federal government had offered a price of $32 a barrel for oil sands production, with annual increases tied to the consumer price index. That price would mean an immediate cut from the close to $36 world price of the oil sands plants have been negotiated until now.

Olympian Swim Club Demonstrates in Killam

The Olympian Swim Club from Edmonton gave a demonstration to swim clubs at Killam Pool as part of the government-sponsored Athletes on Tour program in honour of the province's 15 anniversary, August 2 and 3.

The club demonstrated strokes, turns and starts. Spectating clubs included the Killam Aquatics as well as clubs from Forestburg and Camrose. A total of 60 swimmers partook in the two day event.

M.L.A. Gordon Stromberg spoke at the closing ceremonies on behalf of the provincial government. He presented 75th anniversary flags to Killam Aquatics President Doug Wilson and Coach Janet Borth.

Saturday evening the swimmers enjoyed a barbecue dinner. A large cake decorated with the 75th anniversary emblem was presented to the coach of the Olympian team.

Mrs. Osborne is the sister of Commonwealth Games 1970 champion swimmer Graham Smith, and is a champion swimmer in her own right. Another Commonwealth Games champion, 1974, on the Killam tour was Stephen Badger, who won a gold medal for Australia in freestyle.

SECOND SECTION WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1968

Nine children of Mr. & Mrs. Rasmus Bergum Jr., pioneers of the Sedgewick district, attended a family reunion in their home town of Sedgewick, August 2 and 3.

Five of the 13 children of Rasmus Bergum Jr. and wife Maria, pioneers of the Sedgewick district, attended a family reunion at the Rec. Centre in Sedgewick, August 2 and 3.

live, as packed up and moved. They arrived in Wetsakwin in 1904 where Maria stayed with friends while Rasmus searched for a home.

Rasmus returned to Wetsakwin and his bride after finding a relatively uninhabited area, later called Sedgewick. The couple's 75 mile journey by horse-drawn wagon took five days.

They lived in a tent until a 14 x 16 foot log cabin was built. The couple later built a large house on their two sections of land.

The couple had 13 children who became equally important members of the community. Although only two built a life around the town, the rest of the children moved to serve their new respective communities in Bergum traditions.

Rasmus passed away in 1960. Maria then moved into Sedgewick and in the late 1950's passed on.

Golf Tips

Garret Erskeland
Only lightly for those who make a golf ball travel a long way? Club head speed squarely applied to the ball, that's what.

Most people think only clubhead speed is necessary to achieve distance. This distinction is vital, because for many golfers, in striving for ultimate clubhead speed, create too much tension in their hands and fingers. This pressure not only stifles clubhead speed, but also prohibits a free natural swing.

Therefore, a good guide to use, when attempting to achieve distance, is a small bird, and use only enough pressure to keep the bird from flying away.

Service held for John Martin

Service was conducted by Rev. Richard Conrad in St. John's Anglican Church in Sedgewick, July 17. The service officiated with burial in Lougheed Cemetery.

Funeral services were Graham Beaton, Melvin Larsen, Lars Beaton, John Beaton, Eric Oleson, and Ralph Beaton.

Lunch was held in the Lougheed Legion Hall for mourners and friends. Kindly served by Lougheed and Sedgewick A.C.W.'s and friends after funeral.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all our dear friends, neighbors and relatives at this time for their kindness and support in our time of sorrow. For flowers and food to the house for prayers, cards and donations.

A special thanks to Rev. Conrad for his kindness and help. Myrtle Roggenbach for her assistance, the Ladies A.C.W.'s and friends for food after the funeral and many more I may have forgotten.

Mario Abb, Bev and family, Malmo, Ross and family, father in 1960, and his mother in 1964.

COUNTY OF FLAGSTAFF NO. 29 GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN

A. INTRODUCTION AND PURPOSE

The one purpose in adopting a General Municipal Plan is to inform present and future landowners as to the type of development allowed in different parts of the County. The Council believes landowners should be able to act as they please on their land if neighboring tax payers, landowners and future neighbors are NOT harmed. The plan consists of a map accompanied by several policies. These two parts read in conjunction explain how to avoid potential harmful activities. Council's fundamental policy is: The practice of agriculture will have priority in all land use conflicts.

B. OBJECTIVES

- Preservation of agricultural and for agriculture;
- Maintenance of existing population centres welcoming planned growth;
- Protection of subsurface natural resources through surface development control;
- Preservation of game and wildlife habitat;
- Provision and designation of accessible recreational land;
- Identification of special areas and concerns;
- Designation of certain poor soil areas for non-agricultural rural development.

C. POLICIES

(I) Preservation of agricultural land for agricultural activities. Council believes productive agricultural land is non-renewable. It is council's policy therefore to protect land in the county from incompatible land uses and activities which would have the effect of eroding this existing resource. Protection will be achieved through the county's land use bylaw and subsequent amendments. Council wishes to subdue speculative pressure on the value of land by assuring the practice of agriculture its proper place in the county.

(II) Maintenance of Existing Population Centres. The County of Flagstaff supports proposals for moderate industrial growth which has the effect of strengthening local economy. At the same time the county realizes the importance of having stable urban areas which contribute to social needs of the rural sector. Therefore, to mutually contribute to these two desires, the county encourages industrial/commercial businesses to locate in urban areas with access to urban services, transportation and labour. The county has two policies: first, the council opposes industry scattered haphazardly throughout the county. Second, council supports the protection of an area, two miles around each urban municipality, for realistic urban expansion plans and industrial parks. The county realizes that part of this fringe area will, through annexation, change jurisdiction; but also realizes that the control of land use in the remaining fringe area is through their rezoning.

To effect two desires simultaneously the county is willing to firstly enter tax revenue sharing agreements with the towns and villages pursuant to Section 118 of the Municipal Government Act, and secondly to rezoning wherever necessary within the urban fringe from agricultural to Rural Industrial designation. Rezoning, however, will not occur until the county is satisfied with plans for the use of land, utility servicing, fire protection, the future, and the urban municipality's agreement, in areas where primary or secondary highway access is important, planning must also be guided by comments from Alberta Transportation.

Two exceptions to a policy of locating industry in urban areas is the location of resource based industry and hazardous industries. The county is willing to allow coal, gravel and gas extraction or processing in areas where raw materials are situated, and to have hazardous activities isolated.

(III) Protection of Sub-Surface Natural Resources. Council believes natural resources must be protected from surface developments particularly if such development has the effect of making exploitation expensive, difficult or impossible. Therefore, on land which is underlain by economic deposits of coal or gravel, it is council's policy to allow subdivision only for farm settlements or the creation of intensive agricultural parcels. Council may relax this policy in areas where the economic value of a particular resource is yet to be established.

(IV) Preservation of Wildlife Habitat. Council wishes to protect ungulate and waterfowl habitat but realizes in some areas wildlife must co-exist with man. Two areas of potential conflict in the county are close to the Battle River and around lakes. Council believes an area adjacent to the Battle River must be protected for wildlife as well as three lakes, Wavy, Belshill and one in Section 10-43-10-4. In other areas, not designated on the map, council chooses to encourage individual landowners to keep bush on watershed land.

(V) Designation of Recreational Land. The area adjacent to the Battle River contains the highest recreational potential in the county. Council therefore wishes to set aside eight easily accessible locations for future facilities. Other potential facilities could be located at Fish, Bolt, Byers and Sedgewick Lakes. In these twelve areas council encourages recreation boards to identify their land needs and if necessary will consider using part of the county's reserve fund to purchase land for public use.

(VI) Identification of Special Areas and Concerns

- Council wishes to identify a number of special areas:
 - The strip-mining area north of the Battle River is in part presently being reclaimed to crops. This reclamation is very expensive. Council wishes to have it known that they are receptive to development proposals which would contribute to the change from waste-land to a better use.
 - Two areas in the county have been investigated and identified as suitable for possible acreage subdivision: south of Byers Lake and west of Hardisty. Council will have other locations investigated by council planners as these two areas become occupied. Before that time council believes the need is on developers to prove serviceability, suitability and the onus for other sites.
 - Cour gas fields are of particular concern to council because of the potential hazard. The plan identifies areas where sour gas has already been discovered. In these areas council will be critical of all development proposals and will use guidelines of the Energy Resources Conservation Board.
 - All cemeteries have been identified on the map with a small square. These are church or town owned and council has no plans for any future site.
 - All existing dumps in the county have not been identified. They are in the process of being closed as the regional landfill becomes operational. New sites will be identified as Flagstaff Waste Management Transfer Stations in each town and in the Merna and Battle Bend areas.
- The Special Concerns Council Wishes to Identify are:
 - Amulance Service: Presently a municipal ambulance service is located at each hospital and council believes, that under existing agreement, the county is adequately served.
 - Fire Protection: Each urban centre has fire fighting equipment which serves the surrounding county. For this service the county contributes to the upgrading of equipment by agreement, and the council has no plans to change.
 - Schools: The public school system is owned and operated by the county but the schools, with one exception, are located in the urban centres. The one special school, South Bend, is located in S.W. 15-38-12. No other schools are planned for the county. Reserve land and money will continue to accrue to the county as set out in existing agreements.
 - There are two other schools in the county, but council anticipates no change in the future. They are the Kilam Roman Catholic Separate School No. 45, and the Merna Seventh-Day Adventist Private School.
 - Council wishes to identify two road networks: numbered highways - primary and secondary, and the local county road system known as 'market roads'. Numbered highways are indicated and council plan few changes. The 'market road' system has also been identified, parts of which are already upgraded. Upgrading of the whole system is planned as financing and demand dictate.
 - Airfields: Council recognizes the increase in small airplane traffic in the county. To meet this need, council wishes to identify three areas which, they believe, will adequately serve the public: the Hardisty, Forestburg and Killam/Sedgewick areas.

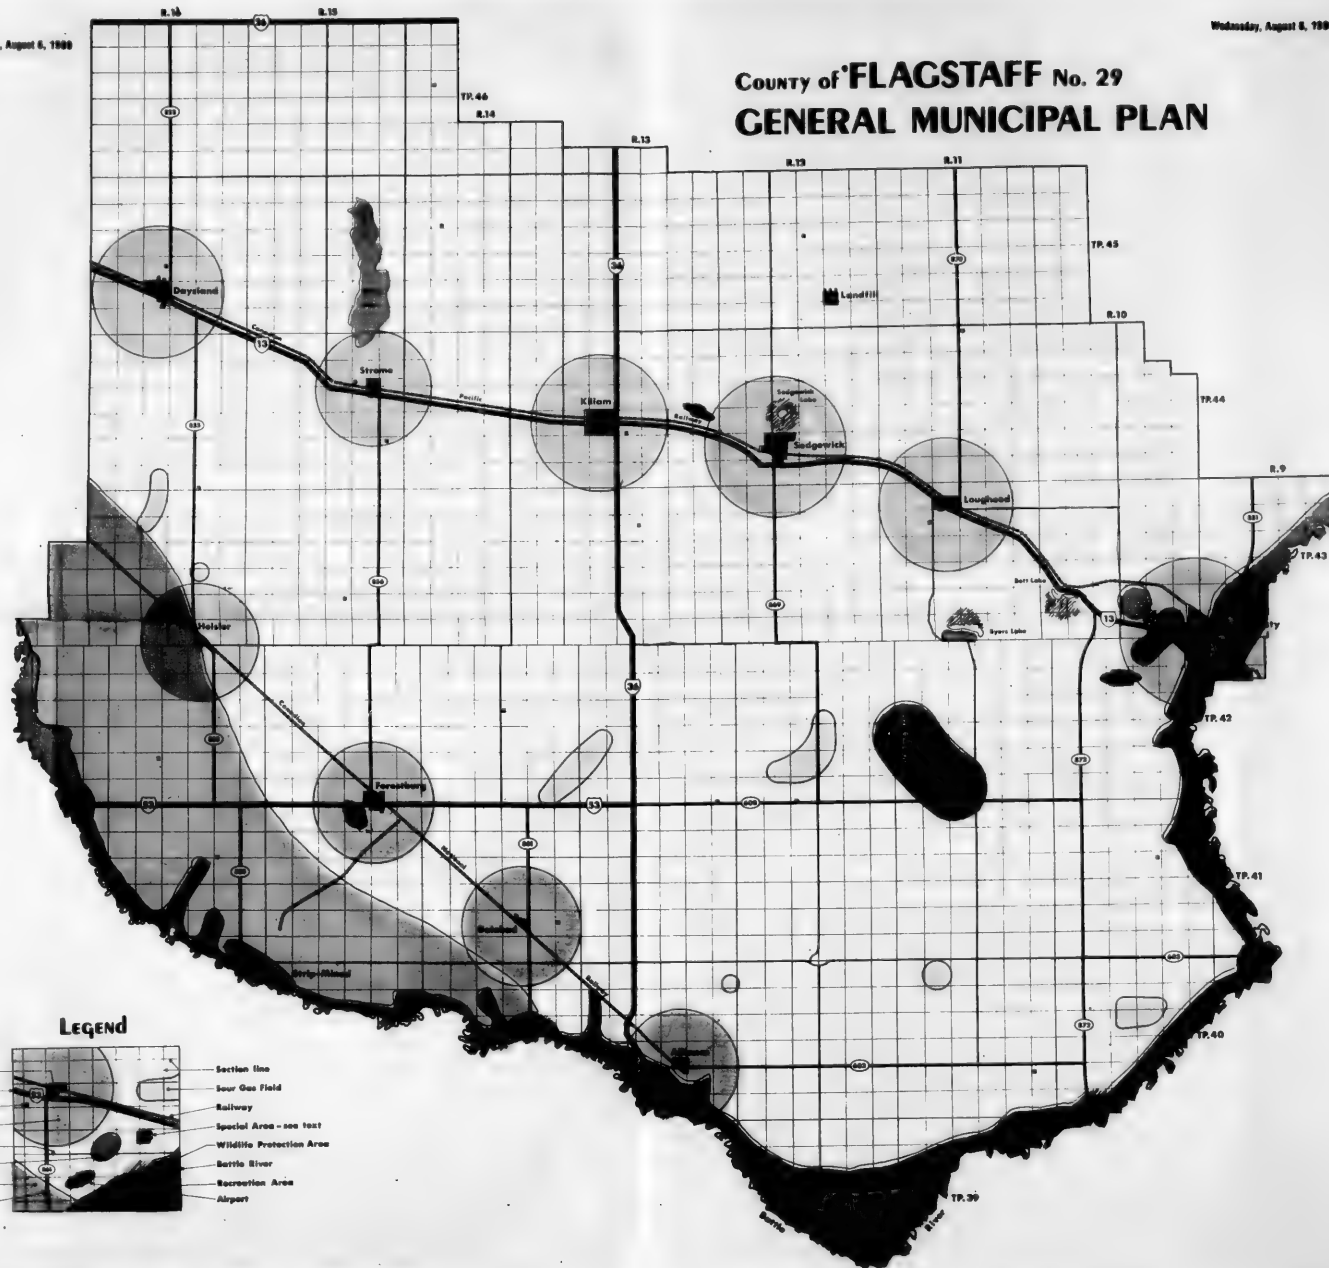

CANADA: ALBERTA: COUNTY OF FLAGSTAFF

The council of the County of Flagstaff, duly assembled, hereby enacts as follows:

- The document is hereby adopted as the 'County of Flagstaff General Municipal Plan' pursuant to Section 59 of the Planning Act.
- This bylaw comes into effect on the date of the third reading.

$8 billion and growing

The $8 billion Heritage Fund is suffering growing pains as it prepares to widen its scope of investment.

The provincial treasury has been busy replacing for three senior staff responsible for handling provincial government transactions on the bond and short-term money markets. Two of the traders resigned earlier this year and one has given notice of his intention to quit.

The staff problems come on the brink of a major re-organization of the Heritage Fund which will see the creation of a commercial investment division to oversee the purchase of blue chip stocks and an energy investment division to handle government equity commitments to energy projects.

Provincial Treasurer Len Hyndman denies that the staff shortages have hampered treasury operations, arguing that the decline in bond trading by the government is a deliberate investment strategy, not the result of juniors handling the job.

But members of the Toronto investment community have disputed this claim, contending that the government has missed numerous opportunities to improve income yields in recent months.

The government is now actively trying to recruit investment dealers to fill the vacant posts, as well as the new positions that will become available under the re-organization.

Up until legislative amendments were passed last spring, the Heritage Fund's investment in securities was limited to bank notes and bonds guaranteed by the federal, provincial or local governments.

But the new law will allow purchases of blue chip stocks in Canadian and foreign companies and foreign treasury bills once guidelines covering these investments are complete.

The guidelines will limit the size of any share offering the Heritage Fund can buy to a fixed percentage, ensuring the fund can have no more than a minority, passive interest in a company.

This condition was demanded by last spring's Conservative convention where it argued larger shares in companies would constitute government interference in the marketplace.

The guidelines are also likely to establish the ratio of Canadian to foreign stocks in the Fund's portfolio and identify the countries from which it is considered safe to buy bonds.

Hyndman has also hinted at the possibility of several factors being included in the guidelines. He suggested arms manufacturers of companies with a reputation as polluters could be declared off limits for fund investment.

Several Conservative MLAs have indicated they support this idea in principle, although others argue it would unnecessarily restrict the expansion of the fund when a more diversified portfolio is needed to enhance the Heritage Fund's yield.

Agri Days this weekend

The seventh annual Sedgewick Agri Days will proceed this weekend with entertainment of all kinds both on Saturday and Sunday in Sedgewick.

The fair was organized and underway in 1974 to give some incentive to the Sedgewick Agricultural Society. It did, and every year the number of entries and displays have been on the increase.

Men and ladies football games can be seen beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday and at 9 a.m. on Sunday.

Dancehall can be seen at 10 a.m. on Sunday.

In the afternoon on Saturday, both a vegetable and flower show can be seen along with needlework and handicraft displays. A barbecue will take place from 5 - 7 p.m. at the Rec. Centre with a closed dance to follow. Tickets are available at the Rec. Centre.

On Sunday, the flower and vegetable shows can be seen from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. as well as the handicraft and needlework displays. At 10 a.m. on the same day begins the 4-H horse show.

R.C.M.P. Report

R.C.M.P. Kilam Detachment recently reported thefts around the Town of Dayland.

Break-ins were broken into last weekend in that town. Stolen was an estimated 9000 worth of electrical tools. Police are still investigating the case.

Also in Dayland, lawn ornaments were taken from two residents of the town. The detachment is still looking for an ornamental vase and owl.

agriculturalist for the County of Flagstaff, August 5, with County D.A. Glen Werner to the position of Senior D.A. located in Stettin.

Mr. Gamache feels that one of the first objectives will be to achieve a reasonably high profile in the community. He says that this profile can be attained by going to meetings and to attend farmers' functions.

Getting acquainted with the people and the different types of soils and crops in the County is essential to better understand and help the County. "I think it is important that this is worked at," said Mr. Gamache.

Peter was born in Cam Lake, Minnesota where he was raised until the family moved to Three Hills when he was 10 years old.

When he completed school, he moved away from his family and spent one year on the West coast. Upon returning to Alberta, Peter attended the University of Alberta for four years where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture.

After his career, Mr. Gamache spent three and one half years near Brooks at Rolling Hills. There he worked at an irrigated farm.

Before accepting the position in Sedgewick as the County first for the County, Mr. Gamache was the D.A. at Athabasca and spent one and a half years there.

Peter was married in August of 1974 to Dorcas. The couple have one child, a baby daughter Kathy. Mr. and Mrs. Gamache have recently purchased a home and are living in Sedgewick.

Mr. Gamache found that he had received as much as a warm welcome to town. He was introduced to the town at the 60th anniversary celebrations of Alberta's first D.A. located in Sedgewick.

"A lot of D.A.s would have been glad to have received the welcome I did. I was surprised with the friendliness of the people and their high regard for Mr. Werner."

In comparison to Athabasca, Mr. Gamache said that Flagstaff is quite different. "There is more contact with the farming community in the County of Flagstaff as one of the job priorities."

where there are second or third generations of farming families."

Before travelling around the County much by car, Peter is planning on flying over the County first for aerial view. He feels that he can establish a better overall idea of what the County is like.

Peter said that his main goal while working for the County is to do a good job. "Basically I would like to establish a reputation for reliability and progress. Not change for its sake but for the sake of improvement."

Mr. Gamache feels that today's D.A.s are dealing with a different type of farmer than years ago. He said that today's farmer has to be shrewd and versatile, like the old days. "He is dealing with chemicals, complex machinery and management decisions."

Mr. Gamache has his own philosophy about farming in today's market. He places personal contact with the farming community in the County of Flagstaff as one of the job priorities. "I hope most of all that people will contact me so that we can have an exchange in ideas."

BE FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT

It's not an option in the Kingdom of God, but a command from His heart to you today. Be filled with the Spirit.

What does this mean? If I want to take your car for a drive, the keys are checked out by the gas tank. Is it full, empty, or filled to half? With a half tank of gas I would be able to go approximately half the desired miles. With a full tank, the total distance to travel would be easily within reach. Now, only a fool would start with an empty tank.

You can have all the love at proper inflation, the transmission and drive train in excellent condition, the settings on the carburetor in perfect harmony, you can even sit behind the steering wheel and make all kinds of our wishes as our bible do, but you will go nowhere without gas.

Livelihood God says...Be filled with the Spirit. It is the Spirit that is the active agent in God and with man. In the beginning the Spirit moved upon the face of the earth. The prophets of old saw the mysteries of Heaven and did mighty acts as the Spirit of God came upon them. Samson, Saul, and David walked in and from the shadow of the Spirit of God. Peter, John, Stephen, and Philip did not need convincing words to convince men of their sin and need of God. The Spirit of God worked through them.

These are those that turned the world upside down...this was the words of the towns' people when the disciples came. How did they do all that the Bible says they did? By being filled with the Spirit. It is the Spirit of God that today keeps the world of sin, hatred and greed from totally destroying itself. That same Spirit can give you all that pertains unto Godliness, wisdom, and understanding in the mysteries of God which will enable you to change your world. All God asks is to be filled with the Spirit. Christ needed and submitted to the Spirit's direction. If He needed to, how much more do we need to see that our spiritual tank is full with strength and power from God, to cause the world around us to come Alive as it did in the times of the early disciples.

Anglican Church News

Mrs. Ruby Parkhouson went back with her children from Fort St. John after Larry and Brenda's wedding, for three weeks. Teresa then got her holidays and Ruby followed them and son Colin back home to Sedgewick. Ruby was a bit worried they would leave her astray, but they didn't.

They actually stayed home for two days, and then Ruby and Louise, Teresa and Colin took off for Big Kik Park for six days. Ruby's grandson, Colin, asked her "How come it rains every night down here?" She was stumped for words if you can believe that.

Laana Parkhouson is off on a three week trip with Perry Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pigeon to California. They left on Sunday on motorcycles, rain and all. Just imagine that.

Congratulations to Cheryl McDougall who passed her grade six Royal Conservatory exam for piano with honours. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mary McDougall.

There was a good crowd from Strome and neighboring towns for the Donkey Baseball game last Thursday night. Proceeding the main event there was a slow-pitch baseball game between Strome and Heister. Heister won 15-9.

Two teams comprised of Strome/Killam and Strome/Dayland Strome played against each other. Can't really say which was funnier - the antics of the firmen or the antics of the donkeys, but there was no doubt that everyone had a lot of fun. The winning voters were in charge of the "hot" book in the skating rink.

The Killam Agriplex Area are hosting the regional swim meet, August 15-17. There will be about 300 swimmers attending. The Agriplex is anticipating a very large crowd. Many volunteers have been working hard to prepare the pool and install necessary equipment to handle this prestigious event.

The program of honouring surrounding towns by admitting children free to the pool has been well accepted. The following children are invited for a free swim at the Killam pool: Goshaw, August 11-17; Hardisty, August 18-24; Forestburg, August 25-September 1; and Helder, August 25-September 1. A new look in the roller skating rink has been created to make the sport more enjoyable. We now have a small light stage to accompany the music. Public roller skating hours are as follows: Monday, 7-9 p.m. (13 and over); Tuesday, 7-9 p.m. (12 and under); Wednesday, 7-9 p.m. (open); Friday, 7-9 p.m. (12 and under); Saturday, 7-9 p.m. (open); and Sunday 1-5 p.m. (family).

Strome District News

Congratulations to Cheryl McDougall who passed her grade six Royal Conservatory exams for piano with honours, and to Lana Lovens who passed her Rudiments, Royal Conservatory exams (piano) with honours. Lana has now completed her practical and written exams for her grade VI certificate.

Jean Gordon brought her parents from Edmonton to Strome for the weekend. Albin has been in the Royal Alexandra Hospital this past week awaiting prospective surgery (as soon as operating room is available) and Mildred is remaining in the city while Albin is in Hospital. Best wishes, Albin!

Cheryl McDougall accompanied Stan and Rene Wheeler to Calgary where she will spend next week visiting with Pat Lennie.

Gilbert and Dorothy Sprague drove on Bob and his fiancée back to Denver, Colorado stopping off at Yellowstone Park enroute. Mary and Al Schoch of Burnsville, Saskatchewan have been visiting at Mahel Robison this past week. With them were Mary's cousins, Ann Chalmers of Scotland and daughter Anna of London, England.

There was a good crowd from Strome and neighboring towns for the Donkey Baseball game last Thursday night. Providing the main event there was a slow-pitch baseball game between Strome and Foster. Foster won 15-9.

Two teams comprised of Strome/Killam and Strome/Dayland frowns played against each other. Can't really say which was funder - the antics of the frowns or the antics of the donkeys, but there was no doubt that everyone had a lot of fun. The willing workers were in charge of the "hot" booth in the skating rink.

Mary and Vic Mohler drove to Forestburg to visit Vic's aunt, Mrs. Pete Schuster of Vancouver, visiting her sister Mrs. Elmer Dahong.

Congratulations to Ben Nishan who celebrated his 80th birthday last Sunday, August 3.

Mary and John Kruse of Wetaskiwin and grandson Larry Kroll visited with Geo Curtis on the weekend to attend the Dayland Fair and Rodeo.

Pat Skuse, a nephew of Gordon Pettie, of Leduc visited at the Gordon Pettie's last Wednesday evening.

Get well wishes go to Ben Nishan who is a patient in the Killam Hospital.

Visiting at the Henry Raves within the past week was son Robert Raves of Calgary and daughter, Pat Miller, and children of Redcliffe.

Shelia Roberson, granddaughter of Dot and Big Johnson came on Friday to drive them to Pigeon Lake to her parent's cabin where the Big Johnson family gathered for the weekend to meet two young boys from Tyrnest, Norway who are cousins of Big Johnson. On Sunday the boys, Rold and Germi Andersen, came back with Dot and Big to see the Strome area. They left with Shelia on Monday to return to Edmonton where they will be guests of the Stan Johnsons. They plan on visiting Jasper, Banff, etc. before returning to Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Schwaiger of Tilly spent a few days this past week with the Anna Anders's. Mrs. Schwaiger is Ruth's sister. Mr. and Mrs. H. Reed of Provost were coffee guests of the A. Anders one day last week.

The ATCO Acquisition of shares of Calgary Power

Questions and Answers

Q. What is Calgary Power?

A. Calgary Power is an electric utility which supplies 2/3 of Alberta's power. It sells this power directly to the citizens, to rural electrification associations, and to electric distribution systems operated by cities and towns. It also sells power directly to some industries.

Calgary Power is one of a group of associated companies assembled by Montreal financier IWK Killam. These companies, all associated in various ways, include Montreal Engineering, Royal Securities (now Merrill Lynch, Royal Securities) and Newfoundland Light and Power. Today 100% of Calgary Power shares are owned by Albertans, and 88% are owned outside Alberta.

Q. What is Canadian Utilities?

A. Canadian Utilities is a holding company with subsidiary operations in the electric and natural gas utility industries. Its natural gas operations are carried out by Canadian Western Natural Gas, which serves southern Alberta including Calgary and Lethbridge, and Northwestern Utilities, which supplies north-central Alberta including Edmonton, Red Deer, Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie and, through a subsidiary, Dawson Creek.

Alberta Power, the company's electric utility subsidiary, serves east-central and northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories including the Town of Hay River. An Alberta Power subsidiary serves 16 communities in the Yukon including the City of Whitehorse.

Until recently, Canadian Utilities was controlled by Philadelphia-based IUI International through its 58% share ownership. ATCO acquired that 58% block of shares in June.

Q. What is ATCO?

A. ATCO is an Alberta-based holding company with worldwide operations. One of its subsidiaries is the world's leading manufacturer of industrial housing which has 17 factories in various parts of the world, and products in use in 40 countries. Another is Canada's largest oilfield drilling and servicing contractor. ATCO also has subsidiaries in oil and gas exploration, commercial and industrial real estate and residential house building. With its investment in Canadian Utilities, it is now in electric power generation and distribution, and natural gas supply and distribution.

Q. Why did ATCO invest in Canadian Utilities?

A. ATCO had established a corporate goal of expanding into the energy field. Earlier steps in this direction included setting up an oil company, and purchasing and expanding a drilling company.

Q. How did Calgary Power acquire its investment in Canadian Utilities?

A. Early in 1980, Calgary Power attempted to buy the 58% controlling block of Canadian Utilities shares held by IUI International. When these negotiations failed (ATCO instead acquired the control block), Calgary Power purchased nearly all of the outstanding 42% of Canadian Utilities shares from individual shareholders in June.

Q. Why has ATCO offered to purchase a controlling interest in Calgary Power?

A. When Calgary Power acquired a minority interest in Canadian Utilities it meant that company would be owned by two large companies, each different from the other. Differing styles of management, stemming from the nature of the two companies, would have made policy differences inevitable at some point along the way.

ATCO therefore decided to offer to purchase sufficient Calgary Power shares to take effective control of both companies. This will allow ATCO to efficiently implement policy decisions in the best interests of the customers and shareholders of both companies.

Q. What is ATCO's offer?

A. Through a subsidiary, ATCO is offering $21 cash for 24,450,000 common shares of Calgary Power. This represents 50.1% of the voting shares and 54% of the common shares.

Q. How are Alberta's public utilities regulated to ensure that the public interest is served?

A. The Public Utilities Board and the Energy Resources Conservation Board are Alberta Government regulatory boards which share the responsibility of regulating electric and natural gas utilities. The PUB has primary responsibility for consumer rates and the ERCB is responsible for decisions regarding the allocation of service areas, and approving construction of major electrical generation and transmission facilities.

Q. How are electric power and natural gas rates set?

A. Electricity and natural gas rates are established upon application by a utility company to the Alberta Public Utilities Board. Each application is the subject of extensive and critical examination by intervenors and the Board itself through the hearing process. A just and reasonable level of rates is set by the Board after careful consideration of all the factors which make up the utility's costs of providing service. These include a fair rate of return to the shareholders, debt costs, operating expenses, taxes and depreciation charges. ATCO control of Calgary Power will in no way change this regulatory process.

Q. If ATCO acquires the investment it seeks in Calgary Power, will electricity rates increase?

A. Not as a result of the proposed acquisition. Financing of the share purchase will in no way result in any increases in either electric or natural gas rates charged by the utilities involved.

Q. What are the benefits to the citizens of Alberta of ATCO controlling the ownership of both Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power?

A. 1) For the first time both utilities will be controlled in Alberta by Albertans. This is a distinct advantage in ensuring firm control from within the province in the best interest of provincial development. In effect, ATCO will have repatriated into Alberta hands, majority ownership of two major companies, upon which virtually every Albertan depends.

2) This will be a positive move toward co-operation rather than confrontation in solving some of the problems facing the electric utility industry in the province today. For example, solutions may be more easily found to problems such as rate disparities, allocation of service areas and ownership and management of future generating facilities.

3) Some cost efficiencies and economies of scale may be possible through one-system business planning such as common efforts in construction and purchasing, and potential sharing of some administrative and support functions.

4) ATCO control will better ensure co-ordinated long-term planning for the benefit of all Albertans in such areas as northern hydroelectric developments and interprovincial electrical transmission connections.

5) Costly and time-consuming proceedings before regulatory agencies could be reduced. In the past, the two companies have found themselves in adversary positions. In the future, common studies can be carried out to determine the most cost effective and appropriate means of co-ordinating the future expansion of both companies to ensure that the strengths of each are objectively considered.

Q. In what way will ATCO's control of Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power affect their borrowing power?

A. ATCO's control will in no way impact negatively on the borrowing capability of the two companies. It may in fact strengthen their combined financial capability as they will have ATCO as a parent. Its financial strength could be made available if required.

Q. What kinds of experience does ATCO have that Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power may benefit from?

A. Both companies have been competently run and are well skilled in their fields. ATCO's contribution will come from its broad business experience which differs in many ways from that of either company. ATCO has an extensive background in meeting the needs of markets and customers in various parts of the world, while complying with the requirements of many forms of government.

Its past experience in managing the complexity of a variety of enterprises will bring another dimension to utility management. As a holding company for 8 different types of industrial operations, ATCO is accustomed to setting policy and providing leadership where needed, yet allowing divisions to operate independently. Its corporate philosophy is well suited for decentralized direction of the utility operations.

Q. Is ATCO financially capable of making this investment?

A. Yes. The Province of Alberta Treasury Branches, the Bank of Montreal, and The Mercantile Bank of Canada have jointly committed to lend ATCO the funds with which it will purchase the shares.

Q. Will ATCO be able to repay these bank loans?

A. Yes. The banks are obviously satisfied that ATCO will be able to repay the loans or they would not lend the money. ATCO will have revenue from its own operations and from its investments in Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power. In addition, the company, if it needs to, will be able to arrange long-term financing or issue additional shares to the public.

Q. Is ATCO borrowing too much money for its equity?

A. No. ATCO has approximately $100 million in common shareholders equity, and over $110 million in preferred shareholders equity. In addition, ATCO expects to arrange additional preferred shareholders equity. On this basis, ATCO's debt to equity ratio will be less than 2 to 1. This is an acceptable ratio considering the assured nature of the earnings of Calgary Power and Canadian Utilities.

Q. Is it true that the Southern family controls ATCO?

A. Yes. The Southern family owns directly and indirectly 52% of the voting shares of ATCO. ATCO shares are traded on the stock exchanges and are available to anyone who wishes to participate in the ownership of the company.

Q. How does ATCO get its policy direction?

A. ATCO has a strong Board of Directors which deliberates all major policy matters and decides on the company's course of action.

Q. Is ATCO's offer of $21 per share fair?

A. In May 1980, Calgary Power directors valued the company's shares at $16.78. ATCO's offer is 24% higher. ATCO is advised that this is a significant and attractive premium for a utility.

Q. ATCO's offer is for 50.1% of Calgary Power voting shares. What happens if less than that number of shares are offered to ATCO?

A. Hydroelectric developments and interprovincial electrical transmission connections.

Q. What happens if ATCO is offered more than 50.1% of the shares?

A. ATCO will buy 50.1% and reserves the right to purchase more.

Q. Would this mean that a Calgary Power shareholder might end up having sold some shares and retaining some?

A. Yes.

Q. What will be the status of people who still own Calgary Power shares after ATCO completes its share purchase?

A. The book value of each share will be the same, and the earnings per share will be as high or higher than before. ATCO believes, for the reasons outlined on this page, that Calgary Power will have an improved outlook.

Q. What will happen to the staffs of Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power?

A. ATCO believes in letting the pro's do the pro's job. The staffs of the two companies will be given every encouragement to continue to deliver power and gas to Alberta's customers effectively, efficiently and innovatively. Specific changes in individual responsibilities, if appropriate, will depend on study of the most effective ways for the two utilities to work together. Obviously with the association between these three major companies, 10,000 employees in all, there will be substantially improved opportunities for employees to transfer from one company to another.

Q. Because ATCO will have varying interests in the two companies, will it face a conflict of interest in giving policy direction?

A. Assuming ATCO acquires 50.1% of Calgary Power voting shares (54% of common shares), its interests will be as follows:

Projected ATCO Interest in Calgary Power

Common Shares	54%
54% of Assets	$794 million
54% of Equity of common shareholders	$243 million
54% of Earnings applicable to common shares	$35 million

Projected ATCO Interest in Canadian Utilities - Direct (58%) and Indirect (22% through Calgary Power)

Common Shares	80%
80% of Assets	$818 million
80% of Equity of common shareholders	$238 million
80% of Earnings applicable to common shares	$ 33 million

Note: All dollar figures are based on 1979 year-end statements.

It can be seen that, although ATCO's percentage interest in Canadian Utilities would be higher, ATCO's interest in assets, common equity and earnings would be comparable. ATCO's intention will be to direct the policies of the two companies so that the greatest number of Albertans obtain the best service at the lowest cost.

Q. If a Calgary Power shareholder wishes to sell shares to ATCO under the terms of the ATCO offer, what is the next step?

A. Deliver the shares, together with the yellow "Letter of Acceptance and Transmittal" to any office of National Trust before 4:30 p.m. August 28. Delivery may be made through a broker, but the broker must meet the above deadline.

Send Shots Can Be Easy fraction of an inch can make a great difference. The first step toward successful bunker play is to buy a sand wedge. This club is especially made to ride through the sand under the ball and not dig in too deep. You should hold this club so that it will face somewhat to the right of your target, which further encourages the clubhouse from digging too deeply.

Next, work your feet down to 1/2 of an inch into the sand. This will not only help to anchor you during your swing, but will make it easier for your normal swing to hit sand first and not the ball.

Finally, if you make a smooth swing and be sure to follow through, "sand shots" can be easy.

Yard contest in Hardisty

On August 8, 1986, judges ventured out on a mission to this community's annual yard contest. The first place winner will have his name entered on a plaque displayed at the town office and all winners to receive a picture of their yard.

This year's winners are as follows: first place, Walker and Frances Koral; second place, Emma and Brenda Lakone; third place, Pat and Marion Madden.

There were so many lovely yards in Hardisty this year that the judges found it difficult to arrive at a decision and so decided to list honorable mentions. They felt that they might miss someone, because there were so many, and felt it was not fair to list any at all. However, the judges did comment that it was too bad more residents didn't take the time to trim lawns and sidewalks in front of their homes.

Judges requested their names be withheld, however, Hardisty and District Chamber of Commerce are pleased with the job done, especially due to the poor weather conditions.

General plan meetings flop

The public turnout from three County of Flagstaff General Municipal Plan meetings totalled 19. The figure states clearly that the meetings were a waste of time due to lack of interest.

The meetings were called so the county residents could present briefs and pose questions to County Council. The meeting locations were chosen because of their easy accessibility for all county residents.

The first meeting, August 8 in Loughheed attracted three interested people besides County Council; while the next two, one in Strome and the other in Galahad saw eight people show up to each.

Even though the General Municipal Plan involves both urban and rural, and each town councillor and mayors were personally presented with a plan, only two showed up out of 46. Given this, it's easy to see how the towns' people could care less when it seems this is the attitude of its council.

The plan was publicized in both The Community Press and The Enterprise newspapers for the two weeks prior to the meeting dates on a three page colour and black and white spread. There certainly couldn't be many uninformed about the plan or the meetings.

Since the meetings there have been a few changes in the wording of the plan, but nothing was really opposed by the public. The plan has since been given second and third readings and is now an official bylaw.

Those who have misinterpreted the plan and in the future no doubt will complain to the County, have nobody to blame but themselves. The County should say "tough luck" to any of a possible 10,000 such residents.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:
Typical happenings at the conclusion of homecomings, reunions, etc. have been the theft of flags and pennants, etc. which were so loan to municipalities for such events. In such case, the municipality concerned must pay the replacement value of these items (e.g. $25.00 for a flag).
If these were taken as souvenirs or if the "Devil made you do it," a cheque made out to the amount of the replacement value of the item or return of said item would be greatly appreciated!

together. The cleanliness of the village, the old windmill on Main Street, and even the old shrub brought back many memories of my earlier days in Strome. The history book of Strome and the community, "Lanterne on the Prairie," so vividly brings back to our minds some of the activities that we can look back on with pride to recall what a debt of gratitude we owe to our parents, our grandparents, our neighbors and our friends who settled in that community and in keeping the history book together, we are most grateful.

Dear Sir:
We were at the "Home to Strome 1988" get-together on July 25, 26, and 27, 1988. What a nice gathering it was! Everyone was so pleasant, so friendly, so wonderful! What happened in the many renewed acquaintances. It was nice to see so many ex-Stromians, present Stromians, relatives, friends, former classmates, neighbors, teachers, church acquaintances, and everyone. In such a short time, it was impossible to find out who had actually come "Home to Strome 1988".
To the organizing committee, you had a tremendous job. It was most obvious that hours and hours of planning, organizing and hard work had gone into the many aspects of getting such an event put

Dear Sir:
Strome Homecoming - Success! What more can we say, the Village All meet and flags flying, even saw a young lad in the crowd on the sidewalk on Royal Avenue. Weather co-operated, not too hot, a nice cool breeze and no rain to speak of. Sure the big blow down a couple of days before, but Pete and the rest had it back up on its time.
The parade Saturday morning led by an R.C.M.P. officer, pipe band, and Alec Todd's own was first class, over 80 entries and would be hard to beat anywhere, no stop, no gaps, a good show! The museum in the curving rink was excellent, old pictures, artifacts of a bygone era. A real do you remember when time, to those who set it up and put in long hours arranging the exhibits, congratulations.
The old cars and machinery in the breezy rink and the outstanding thing to me was the reading of name tags, the look of amazement, the recognition, the years rolled back, it is really you? The

"I Write as I Please"
SURELY IT CANNOT BE a disputable statement to say that sometimes man has to be protected against himself. Even though it is more truthful to say that man has to be protected from man, it still holds that he has to be protected against himself. The universality of human experience is also not a debatable question for in every stage of his evolution he has been visited by experiences, some uplifting some degrading. The very fact that we are all aware of this should teach us the wisdom of carrying the experience of the past as a guide into the present, to be used as an inspiration for the future. Sadly enough many of us fail to abide by this wisdom and the experiences we have enjoyed or suffered have faded to mere memories with sufficient impact to bring them into the present with severity and launch us into the future with confidence. It is necessary to analyze these experiences and store them in the available files of the mind, to be instantly referred to and used as a guide for present actions. The memory of experiences is there in the human mind which is the greatest asset we have. It has only to be fed the right material and the answer materials. But we just don't do this, for really we don't like ourselves very much.

WE ARE CONSTANTLY told that we have obligations to others, but we haven't been very well schooled nor practiced the art of liking ourselves. Directives are constantly being released relative to proper social behavior, and direct that our relationship with others is our responsibility. After all we have obligations to others, but we are actually like them and care about them. After all we have obligations to ourselves, but we are actually like ourselves and care about ourselves. It is assumed that we can be taught in detail how to act toward each other, while for an unfathomable time, to Pete and Miss Curtis, long may your own road! Thank you Strome! Thank you Alberta!

IT IS NOT TRUE that we are spontaneously good by nature. We may wish to be, but are sometimes unwise in our attempts to reach that goal. The matter of the fact is that we often trust ourselves badly, more fanatically and more vaguely than we do others. Hence, self-satisfaction and the more subtle forms of self-degradation such as alcoholism, drug addiction, rampant promiscuity, death-defying acts of foolhardiness, to name a few, are present day evils. We don't stop to realize that such actions constitute a crime against ourselves and against society. If we dislike ourselves that much without a proper regard for our capacities, how can we have a regard and liking for others? It has been truly said that we must have a good domestic relation with ourselves before we can have good foreign relations with others. Really the story of man is a very fascinating one, for it is filled with heroes, villains, adventurers, and the road travelled is lined with dangers and misconceptions. The human self is not a gift, it is an achievement and it is painfully earned. Its attainment is a running battle and a continuous process and a victory that is fully consummated only when the heart flutters for the last time.

THAT IS WHY we have to be protected against ourselves. Yet it seems that every move today to do that is met with cries of anguish "that our human rights are being trampled upon, with no regard for the fact that there is no right without duty and obligation; to ourselves and to all others. The recent law that calls for motor cycle riders to wear helmets was declared by a Judge to be against human rights; a recent statement by a Politician that perhaps "Native people should be 'shut off their beer' a bit sooner. The current law tramping on human rights was long and loud. Not only natives but all people need to be reminded that they should be shut off before they get so drunk as to be irresponsible and irresponsible. "Bike" riders should wear helmets for their own safety and for the protection of others. That's why we have laws. But we don't seem to understand that. We want to go our own foolish ways.

Loughheed Parade

The Hardy Elk Lodge and Royal Purple won first prize in "Organization".

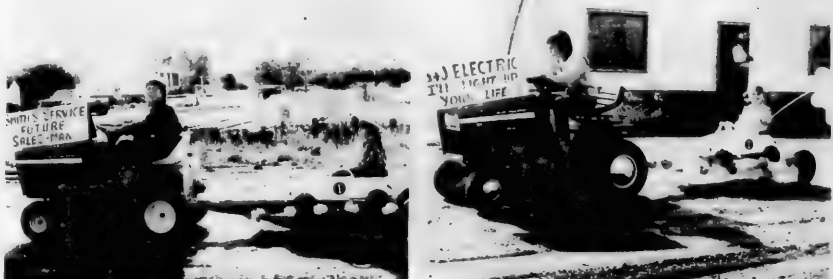

The United Grain Growers won first prize in "Business".

The Loughheed Figure Skating Club entered a float. Members of the club rode it wearing their skating attire.

Two local girls dressed up in old time costumes and rode their bicycle-built-for-two through the parade.

These attractive riders displaying their horses were an example of some of the magnificent animals raised around the Loughheed area.

Smith's Service and S & J Electric turned up at the parade with the same type of float. The two companies also share the same building.

Fashions for fall are a variety of the 80's college look.

Pattern companies are featuring classic and collegiate looks. Fabric companies are supplying women's tailored blouses, flared shirts, and especially tartan.

Kaleidoscope is particularly aware of the new knit. They fit in with lowered temperatures and easy comfort. Fall is the season of the sweater.

The slim skirt is too restrictive for today's active woman. Watch for a return of pleats, and A-line. Grey and black are the colors. Watch for subtle color combinations. Cranberry and mulberry are also popular.

Galahad News Items

The four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lyle, Hazel, Helen, Margaret, and Myrtle, their husbands and some members of their family, were Galahad visitors on Tuesday, August 18. The group numbered 21 persons.

They were touring various towns and villages in Alberta where they had lived when their father was a lumber mill.

The Nelsons resided in Galahad for several years starting in 1894. They enjoyed visiting the house on 12, that their father had built there some 80 years ago.

It was delightful to hear them reminisce as they gathered in the house and yard and pieced together portions of their life in Galahad.

Of necessity the visit was brief, there were other towns on the agenda, including a family supper at Wetaskiwin.

The family members had gathered in Alberta for a size day reunion and bus tour.

It was apparent that everyone on the Greg Goss group was thoroughly enjoying the Nelson gift tour down memory lane.

Helen and Albert Stow of Red Deer spent a few days in Galahad. Helen's father Mike Mochler was able to leave the hospital and be with them while they were here.

Lynn Dicks of Red Deer spent last weekend in Galahad visiting relatives and friends.

Clyde Fordson was a guest at the wedding of a friend in Chauvin on Saturday, August 8.

Stan and Tris Fox and children of Calgary spent last weekend in Kilam and Leduc.

There seems to be lots of activity on the Ernie Vincent acreage. Hopefully it will soon have someone residing there again.

Members of Mrs. Carrie Jackson's family joined her on Thursday when she entertained at a dinner for her guests. Mr. and Mrs. Mel Johnson of Minnesota.

The Jackson and Slomp families gathered at Fleet Sunday afternoon for a pot luck supper in honour of their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rickman of Black Diamond, and Mr. and Mrs. George of Minnedosa. There were 80 persons present for the get together.

McCrimmon under fire

The province has reached a long-term land claim agreement with the Pagan Indians and has moved to defuse a simmering dispute between Blood Indians and residents of Cardston.

But these actions in one week were not enough to placate Indian outrage over statements by Native Affairs Minister Don McCrimmon advocating a crackdown on Indian smokers.

And the government's move to use tensions at Cardston by dropping criminal charges against Indians who mounted a seven-day blockade of a town road has been universally welcomed by white residents.

The Pagan Indians have received $2.5 million and will get annual interest from a $1 million provincial fund to guarantee the Lethbridge Irrigation District the use of its main canal which crosses reserve land.

The Pagan set up a blockade on the canal 2½ years ago, and though court action forced them to drop it three weeks after it began, the province committed itself to a long-term solution of the Indian grievance.

The more recent Blood blockade was only broken after a violent confrontation with RCMP resulted in the imprisonment and firing of charges against 48 participants.

The federal government, after a visit by Indian Affairs Minister John Munro, agreed to set up a task force to investigate the Indians claim that part of Cardston was properly part of the Blood Reserve.

And Attorney-General Neil Crawford later agreed to drop the charges, arguing it would use tensions in the town and smelt the task force in conducting its investigation.

The RCMP is conducting its own top-level investigation supposedly aimed at determining what caused the violent confrontation between its officers and militants.

Cardston residents have criticized Crawford's decision to drop charges, contending the Blood have been doing their jobs and provocations of the Indians were justified.

McCrimmon's statement that Indian drinkers should be singled out by law enforcement with similar hostility from Alberta Indian leaders, as well as members of the legislative opposition.

Indian Association of Alberta president, Eugene Steinhaus and NDP Leader Grant Notley called on McCrimmon to resign, and Steinhaus even threatened a libel suit against the minister.

McCrimmon had said a press conference: "If you ever walked into a bar and seen a table with the native people loaded with beer across the board. I think this could be handled just a little tougher."

Hardy's Garden Club Executive: (l. to r.) Secretary-Treasurer Irma Matthews, President Doreen Stuart and Vice President Vera Hendricks. The club put on a flower show August 12, in Hardy's. Story on page 11.

Golf Tips

Current Education
Choke Down and Trim Up
On Short Chip Shots
Most golfers could vastly improve their ability to chip the ball close to the hole from just off the green by doing two simple things: First they should choke down on the club they are using, even to the bottom of the grip. This will insure crisp contact with the ball.

Secondly, they should firm up their wrists and hit these shots almost like a putt, with little or no wrist break.

This rule, of course, only applies to the short chip shots of 30 yards or less.

R.C.M.P. Report

Arnett and Burgess in Sedgewick was broken into and robbed while Lorne French filed an attempt at Lorne's Pharmacy in Sedgewick, last weekend.

The oilfield construction company was entered into through the back door. The thieves pried the lock off and left with a sack of money.

At Lorne's Pharmacy, Saturday at 8:45 a.m. Mr. French issued some unusual noise at his garage door which leads to the store, so he woke up and phoned the police. The Red Deer R.C.M.P. officers said that the Lorne's police were busy, but would call him back immediately.

When they did, the outdoor telephone bell which is on the patio rang. It is suspected that the noise scared the thieves off.

Karen Sorkin displays her ceramic wall plaque which was her first place at the best 75th anniversary entry in Handicrafts Displays at Sedgewick. Galahad Homecoming

Starts Friday evening

The fourth, fifth, and sixth of July found the little Village of Galahad teeming with visitors who poured in from all over Canada and the U.S.A. Attendance far exceeded expectations and was conservatively estimated at 2,000. Many brought trailers or campers and Galahad soon took on the appearance of a trailer town.

As much as possible, the school was used as a central point for the activities. There were rooms for the various districts, handicrafts, souvenir, museum, history book sales, bazaar, and a sitting room for senior citizens. Registration commenced Friday afternoon and the boarded up windows served as a huge bulletin board on which the names were recorded. Each of the District Rooms had a display of pictures and items of special interest to that area. It was a trip down memory lane as visitors who poured in from all over Canada and the U.S.A. Attendance far exceeded expectations and was conservatively estimated at 2,000. Many brought trailers or campers and Galahad soon took on the appearance of a trailer town.

There was a very good display in the Handicraft and Souvenir Room. All the craft work had been done locally and included art work, quilts, afghans, macramé, knitted and crocheted items. The souvenir items were many and varied. They ranged from beautifully done decoupage work to caps, glasses and trays, etc. Also on display was the homecoming raffle quilt. It too was beautifully made.

try a few swings on the hands of Scotty Morrison's old wooden pump.

On Friday evening the youngsters were delighted with a bazaar and marshmallow roast. The older people had their choice of the Variety Program in the school auditorium, or the new garden in the curling rink and some enjoyed both. The visitors as well as the local people took part in the Variety Program. Presentations were made to

Other persons present Hugh Bowens, aged 96. Present present who came the greatest distance: Lynn Mather, Walkham, Massachusetts. Present present who arrived in the Galahad area - Beatrice Viscotti, 1908. Following the program coffee and cookies were served.

At the Galahad Homecoming, July 4, 5 and 6, an old threshing display could be seen as well as a wood sawing exhibit.

Saturday was busy day

The Alliance Legion and the Galahad Lions Club served pancake breakfast both Saturday and Sunday. Everyone enjoyed the breakfast and the opportunity to meet old friends. Meanwhile the school was a hive of activity as more and more people arrived.

Noon found the auditorium filled to capacity for the launching of "Golden Echoes" the history of Galahad and surrounding areas. Guest speakers were Gene Stewart, Elsie Gibson, and Walter Bowden. The first copies of the book were auctioned by Elsie Peterson. Buyers: Fred Hagen, Galahad; second, Nicole Brown, Galahad; third, Elsie Gibson, Galahad; fourth, Fred Hagen, Galahad; fifth, Walter Bowden, Galahad.

In the afternoon there were games and races for the children with P.S.S. District Leader Elaine Dicks in charge. Prizes were donated by local businessmen. The youngsters also enjoyed pony rides given by the Alliance Light Horse Association.

One of the highlights of the homecoming was the parade. The bright sunny day added to the enjoyment as the parade wound its way through the town. The parade was headed by the school, down Main Street, Highway Ave. back to First Ave. and back to school. There were 48 entries and prize winners were:

Best Float: First, Galahad General Hospital; second, Robert Bowden family; third, Galahad Senior Citizens.

Best Bicycle: First, Trema Hagen, Galahad; second, Nicole Brown, Galahad; third, Elsie Gibson, Galahad; fourth, Fred Hagen, Galahad; fifth, Walter Bowden, Galahad.

Equestrian: First, Shirley Valtier, Viking; second, Joy and Carla Krut, Galahad; third, Debbie A. Riding Club, Alliance.

Novelty: First, Walter Viscotti, Galahad; second, Mather's separator; third, Florence Sheppard White, Courtenay.

Comedy: first, Peggy Bly and Sue Stagner, Galahad; second, Alliance Legion; third, R. N. Ditching.

M.L.A. Gordon Stromberg arrived by plane to take part in the ceremony of the transfer of the Devonian Memorial Park from the Devonian Society to the Village of Galahad. Guest speakers were County Councillor Jim Crawford, Mayor Lou Brausen, and Shirley Hobbes, chairman of the committee that planned, landscaped, and maintained the park. The cutting of a ribbon by Hugh Bowens and Mrs. Carrie Jackson added color to the event.

Crowds gathered around to watch the threshing and wood sawing. To the older people it brought back many memories. To the younger ones it was something many had never seen and could hardly imagine. Fred Kuebler was in charge of the threshing. He used Pete Jensen's tractor and Bob Mather's separator. The wheat bundles were supplied by Bernard

At 11:00 p.m. the fireworks display lit up the dark night. Excited "ohs" and "ahs" could be heard all over the grounds as the crowd watched the beautiful fiery display.

From Edmonton: "First of all I want to congratulate you and the rest of the committee, as well as anyone who turned up to the Homecoming effort for a job well done. It was absolutely super and all the family had just the greatest time ever."

From Toronto: "Congratulations and thank you for the wonderful Homecoming."

It was a picture with its own yard, mobile home, house, and flowers, all so clean looking. It meant hard work, but I'm sure you found it rewarding."

From Vancouver: "The Homecoming seems like a dream now but what wonderful dream. It was just great. You did a wonderful job. Galahad"

Much enjoyed weekend

Sunday morning the Interdenominational Church Service was held in the school yard. Dark clouds hung overhead, a chilly breeze scattered the notes of the participants and warmed the pages of the organist hymn book.

Rev. Gene Whitehead was envious and raved for the words of welcome to the large congregation. Lois Carson, representing the Catholic Church gave the prayer of Invocation and Exhortation 263 & Barry Anderson of the Seventh Day Adventist Church led the singing and sang special numbers. Gladys McLellan was organist. Hugh Bowens lead in the responsive reading of Psalm 96. Rev. D. Carson brought a very appropriate message "A Place To Meet With God" based on the Parable of the Prodigal Son, Luke 15:11-22.

The dark clouds of sin, sorrow, and misfortune may enter our lives and the cold wind of adversity scatter our hopes and dreams, but we, like the prodigal son, will turn our footsteps back toward the Father and He will grant us forgiveness. There is indeed a place to meet again as Rev. Carson gave the Benediction in the sun shone through the clouds.

The remainder of the day was spent in visiting and a lot took at the display.

The homecoming is over but it will live in the memory of all who were fortunate to be present. The following are excerpts from letters received.

YEARLY INTRUDERS

Don Marie Don

Spending many fulfilling hours among my plants makes me exult as an avid gardener. Thus when my paradise becomes invaded I take little.

Without use of pesticides or powders I rely on some beautiful friends and side such as toads, ladybugs, lacewings, spiders, as well as onions, garlic, herbs and strongly scented flowers. My favorite of which where are sixty-six varieties in (lavender) or marigold, known as the "bushy flower." All of these offend a diversity of pests.

I sprayed a weed solution on the bees this year. They vanished, but overnight another kind of beetle was busy chewing off turpentine and radishes. Then I sprayed with a solution of Mr. Clean. The plants yellowed for several days but all bugs disappeared. I threatened to use Lysol next attempt. Maybe some mending is not too far fetched an idea for cleaning up the whole wide world. It is a lie was placed on one of all harmful sprays. Mother Nature may then have a fair chance to balance the mess man has put Her in.

One intruder however, very hard to evade is our large black cat with soft brown eyes, velvety ears, feet like little saucers. His often attacks having less than next holes after some hiding sessions.

Caterpillars, Colorado potato beetle, white grub (popillia japonica) or Japanese beetle in adult stage, aphids, cabbage worms, repeatedly attack. Robins and sparrows invade my strawberry patch, peck, peck, peck. Numerous ants such as Argentine, red, cam, wire, violin, trap, bug, juice spray, radio, watercress, have been devised as help.

Despite all hints or aids for removal of moles and gophers, I find myself frustrated with a noisy invader who this morning dug himself a home having large mounds over my pea crops.

Services for Sam Koehli

Born May 26, 1902, in Kallnach, Switzerland, Samuel Koehli passed away July 27, 1980 at the Dayland General Hospital at the age of 78 years and 2 months.

He came first to Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1901, and then on to Cleveland, Ohio where he worked as a ragon maker. In 1907 he moved to Pasadena, California. While there he worked as a landscape gardener being employed for a number of years as the head gardener at the El Dorado residence. During his stay there he became very interested in horticulture exhibits and flower shows and won many prizes with the flowers he exhibited.

It was also in Pasadena where he met and married Margaret Lang in 1917. Following their marriage they moved to Dayland, settling on a farm in the Willow School District north east of Dayland. There he resided until 1975 when the farm was sold and he moved into Dayland. He took an interest in local affairs and served as Secretary-Treasurer on the Willow School Trustee Board for many years. His greatest love in life was that of nature and, in particular, flowers and shrubs. He was predeceased by his wife Margaret, in 1982. He is survived by one daughter, Vera of Dayland; and two sons, Oswald of Dayland, and Oswald of Calgary; also many nieces and nephews in Canada, the United States, Switzerland, and Scotland.

Funeral services were held from the Dayland United Church, July 29, 1980, with Rev. Armstrong officiating. Pallbearers were his three grand nephews, Alvin, Dennis, and Lawrence Koehli, Sam Worth, Norman Womshoff, and Elsie Kuehler.

The family of the late Samuel Koehli wish to announce the memorials to the Red Cross.

CARD OF THANKS
We sincerely thank relatives, friends, U.C.W. Neighbors, Burgars' Funeral Home, Rev. Armstrong, Pallbearers, organist, Drs. and staff of Dayland General Hospital for their kindness and consideration shown us during our sad loss.

Aqua Aces win trophy

The Killam Aqua Aces Swim Club captured the points per swimmer trophy (donated by Graham Bros. Contracting) at the Zone "D" Regional Meet held last weekend. Red Deer won the total points with Killam finishing second.

Nazarene News Items

Many of our families were able to attend family camp at Hartmann reporting times of good fellowship, revival and God's blessing. The Billy Graham Crusade has also been a highlight. What an inspiration to be part of many thousands assembled to worship and seek God. The Young People who have been busy working in their gardens, attending Camrose Fair, and visiting the Billy Graham Crusade, will meet at the church at 7:30 on Wednesday for singing practice and service. Friday, August 22, at 3 p.m., a "Mailbox Club Party" is planned for children who attended 5 Day Club, or are interested in Bible lessons by mail. We will meet at the church for games, songs, lesson, and lunch.

It was good to see new faces in Sunday School. We hope you'll come back again. A new addition to our Sunday School is a Toddler Class which is being taught by Elaine DeBock.

Mr. and Mrs. John Swindels and Bradley of Red Deer were here to visit Ellen's mother, Mrs. Jessie Swanson, who is a patient in Killam Hospital.

Pastor and Mrs. Abel are now settled in Edmonton, concluding their ministry of love and service among us. A hearty welcome is extended to our new paragon family, Pastor Nolan Haring, his wife Evelyn, and their two daughters Brenda and Barbara. We hope you'll be happy here in Sedgewick. Sunday, August 28, will be Pastor Haring's first Sunday in our pulpit. A not luck dinner will be held that day to give opportunity to visit and become acquainted.

Summer celebrations

Although the Alberta government put out $75 million for the province to celebrate its 75th birthday, it's still the people who make a good party.

The celebrations got off to a slow start early in the 1980 year, with the only real flagstaff celebrations being the Sedgewick-Perdue, Saskatchewan exchange. But, this summer all of the 10 county towns and villages participated in full.

Aside from the usual summer fairs, many municipalities set up homecomings. These were by far the most successful celebrations of the summer. Old friends and neighbors gathered together to enjoy one another, possibly for the last time.

There were a number of parades in the county this year, and each town and village was well supported. Some parades attracted almost 100 entries, and there were a great deal of out of town floats entered.

With summer drawing to a close, the Labour Day weekend will be the last time many people take part in the 75th birthday celebrations. As proven in the county this summer, the success of the anniversary festivities rests with the participating people, and flagstaff participants.

Our national anthem

The adoption of O Canada as our national anthem hasn't been met with great public rejoicing. The move has been heralded as the thing which will weld the county together in a common feeling of national pride.

Having O Canada as our national anthem is fine, but the new song is nothing else again. What was wrong with the old? An acquaintance has remarked that a national anthem written by politicians is not the sort of thing which stirs your patriotic blood or will bring a tear to your eyes upon hearing the first note.

Patriotism is a feeling and it can't be manufactured by using the words of a song — words which the politicians saw fit to use since they would appease groups like separatists, women's lib, and the like.

Remember Canada's official Centennial song? I'll bet you don't. What you will remember more likely is "C A N A D A" written by Bobby Gimby, who was disenchanted with the official one and felt Canada had something more than a few words on paper going for it. It is the dismay of those in high places Canadians embraced the spirit of the song.

Arnold Haines, M.P.

The Price of Energy
On a per capita basis Canadians are the world's largest users of energy. Moreover, our consumption of energy is increasing at a rate of 1.5 per cent per year. In 1979, our consumption of oil was 1.5 million cubic meters of oil per day. In 1980, our consumption increased by 5.3 per cent in Canada while it decreased by 1.8 per cent in the United States. Canada has approximately 919 million cubic meters of oil in reserves. However, the world uses approximately 1.5 million cubic meters of oil per day. In other words, if all of the world's consumption of oil were taken from Canada, our oil supply would last for 96 days, 17 hours and 28 minutes.

Surely that analogy puts the value of our energy into a proper perspective. It is a burden and an obligation upon all Canadians, not only to harvest and husband our resources but to ensure, as an obligation, that future generations have the same privileges and rights to the benefits of being Canadian as we presently enjoy.

While no one enjoys paying higher prices, it is interesting to note the relative cheapness of gasoline compared with other liquid products on a cost per litre basis. This is especially true when one notes the extensive efforts of seismic graphic work, exploration, drilling and discovery, transportation, refining, and transmission to make that necessary in the production and marketing of gasoline.

Note that while regular gasoline in Ottawa costs $4.9 cents per litre, that orange juice costs $1.16 per litre, whereas 71 cents per

The Third Column

BY TRINACRE

"I Write As I Please"

WHEN I WAS YOUNG, locally one night at a meeting restricted to adults (I smoked in anyway, and sneaked out again when the collection plate was passed), there was a man who sat on the platform with him who never took his eyes off the audience. We told later he was a bodyguard. There were angry mutterings from the crowd and when the speaker left, it was by the side entrance. YOU MIGHT ASK what has all this got to do with anything. If you are a member of the current events you will know that the KKK is attempting to re-establish in Alberta something of what it had away back there in the 1920s. It is BEING discouraged by the Human Rights people but no present law forbids them. We have enough legislation in the proper manner, and keep their evil designs functioning. All it takes for the bigots in our society to rally round and they are away in their religious and noble way of separating man from man. Let us hope that such a movement as this never gets off the ground in our provincial society. The Klan is already established to some degree in Montreal and Toronto. Let it stay there.

WHICH BRINGS UP to the whole purpose of this column.

AS THE ADVANCING YEARS showed and pushed me into the select group known as teenagers, it was in a different location and even there was found the same situation. Particularly remembered the 1960s was a "travelling man" who went about in a white van, and was necessary to implement a policy that will encourage Canadians to develop a life style that will encourage conservation. Presently our efforts of millions of gallons of gasoline per day. Once a gallon of gasoline has been consumed, it can never be used again. Once used, that resource has been destroyed for ever more. It is our obligation to harvest and husband our resources in a way that we take into account not only the present but for future generations.

What Others Say

Party system weakness

There are merits in the party system of government but also there are serious drawbacks which at times threaten the continuity of the system.

One of these is the extent to which partisan criticism develops. A rabid party politician cannot see one good thing emanating from the opposite side.

Actually this is nonsense and play for the grandstand. Every party when in power has good policies and bad. This country never had governments which were entirely wrong in everything they did.

To listen exclusively to the opposition — particularly on television the past two years — the government is always wrong. The opposition seems to think that its policies should be pre-announced on the basis that the government cannot possibly be right. All of this is nonsensical, yet otherwise fair-minded people and some newspapers persist in the practice. This creates doubt, distrust and disgust in many people's minds.

One way to improve the party system would be to inculcate a fair system of criticism, and somewhat more consideration of the welfare of the country than of the party. In recent years the major political parties have lost credibility and respect in the eyes of Canadians.

NO FOOL LIKE AN OLD FOOL

Phyllis Ahern

If an old-timer marries a companion from the Senior Citizens Home, people shake their heads and murmur: "No fool like an old fool."

A local fellow took up shuffling last year. He does it for enjoyment and has no intention of becoming another Jean-Claude Rilly. But his cronies laugh and tell him a pensioner is too old to do it. And of course they're right. There, in the privacy of the locked bathroom, I splashed cold water on my face, then changed to the towel-rack, gasping!

"No fool like an old fool," I chided myself.

But I hadn't learned the clutch and took off like a snail on a slow day of dirt and grass sprayed out behind as the back wheel tore up the end. Unfortunately, with the controls, he turned the gas on instead of off, and the bike streaked across the yard. In an instant he'd slowed into the chickenwire fence near the henhouse, and in unison, both he and the motorcycle hit the ground.

As he picked himself up, the family rubbed toward him. Except for a cut on his chin, he was unhurt, and the bike was undamaged. But my father couldn't be persuaded to climb back on. That was to be his first and last ride. As he walked away I heard him mutter, "No fool like an old fool."

By those standards, I'm as big a fool as anybody. I

Daysland Rodeo and Fair

Early this morning the big weekend of rodeo and fair has come and gone at Daysland and as in previous years was a big success. Rodeo lovers were entertained three nights in a row and most agreed it was a good show.

Sunday was Fair Day and hundreds of people attended the bench fair and stayed to take in the pet parade, musical family show, fashion show, etc. The Atlantic Museumobile was well received and more than 1,000 visitors went through it. The anniversary cake auction was a huge success as buyers bid generously, and a sizeable donation was made to the Blood Analysis Machine at the Daysland Hospital.

The horse and cattle show drew many interested spectators. The cattle entries were the most over shown in Daysland, which pleased the committee in charge. The horse show tournament was a challenge and fun for the teams. Baseball fans were well entertained all afternoon.

A list of prize winners and cake buyers will be reported in a future news column.

Mrs. Bill Stevens and Gail Hartwick left for a two or three week holiday in England and France. Tony will be visiting her sister and some of Bill's relatives.

Mrs. Gertrude Eldred, spent a week with her daughter and family in Sarnia, B.C.

Flagstaff Lodge

U.S. visitors

Helga Williams of Sedgewick and Alden and Virginia of Edina, Minnesota, U.S. were in visit Little Danielson and Tille Knutson.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Spilde of Edmonton were in visiting Vera Schultz.

What a pack! Some parties galloped, some jogged, some walked fast. The kids roared, and so did I! Long ping the plectra, I tore down the straightaway. As we neared the clubhouse I lengthened my strides and shot about in wide gaps.

That burst of energy carried me down the home stretch and I strewn over the finish line—The Winner! by six kids and three mothers!

I collapsed on the grass, gasping like a fish out of water. I hoped it wouldn't be too long before I could breathe again. Tim dashed over and plopped down beside me. He wasn't even puffing! I forced myself to breathe quietly as my breath returned and we waited for the last mother to become over the finish line.

I tried not to gloat as Tim looked at me and said, "They, Mom! You sure can run!"

But the result of my athletic endeavors was overwhelming. I tried not to stagger as I walked away on rubber legs and wobbly ankles.

The next morning was agony. I was stiff and sore, completely relaxed up. I felt like I'd been run over by a big truck. My husband helped me out of bed and gropped me upright. As I hobbled to the kitchen, leaning on his arm, I'd swear I heard him murmur, "No fool like an old fool."

Now it's time for the next year's tabloid and I have decided whether I'll go again and suffer the consequences, or back out and quit while I'm ahead. But I'm another year older, and you know what that means: No Fool Like An Old Fool!

Gerald Jenvey of Vancouver, B.C. and Mr. and Mrs. George Jenvey of Sedgewick were in to visit friends. Lloyd Pascoe of Daysland was in to visit his mother Mrs. Kenny and Tom Kenny.

Kathy Carr of White Rock, B.C. and Mrs. Gertrude Hallard of Sedgewick were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carr.

Get well wishes to Hugo Pota, and Tom Shaw in Hillman Hospital.

Galahad News Cemetery clean-up

Eleven persons gathered at the Galahad Cemetery for the second clean up of this year. It was a very agreeable job as the weather was just too large. Much remains to be done, however, the men did cut much of the silver willow, and hollyhocks that were at the back of the cemetery. Hopefully more folk will turn out to help if the community are able to plan another session before winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kluski of Medicine Hat spent last weekend with the Buchholz family; they brought Grandmother Buchholz up to spend a few weeks at Galahad.

Guests at the Gerald Olberg home were the late Elizabeth Syke and her husband Allan of Providence, Kentucky. They visited other relatives too.

Bill and Jean Hardy of Mineral called at the Peter Wills home on Tuesday evening. They came to pick up a copy of the Golden Echo history book. Bill, Jean and their daughter were in Alberta to attend wedding of Roger Hagen's son at Calgary on August 23, and visit relatives and friends while here.

Visitors at Conrad Klatt's on Sunday were John and Eva Klatt of Bertha, Mervin and Elsie Klatt of Edmonton and Wayne and Linda Bouslog of Custer.

We were sorry to learn that Mrs. Laura Cameron, who had been visiting at the Bolton home, had to be taken to the Wetaskiwin Hospital. We wish you a speedy recovery, Mrs. Bolton.

Ray and Len Parquette were Galahad visitors on Tuesday. They spent the morning hours working at the cemetery, then visited friends until evening.

There were a large number of children gathered at the four table, club held by Deanna Hirsby, Patricia and the largest registration with 30 on their roll call. Deanna and the other helpers expressed their appreciation to all who helped in any way.

Betty and Teddy Hall of Calgary spent last weekend in Galahad.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Buchholz and Grandmother Buchholz are spending this weekend at Randy and Sandra Hagan's at Mayerthorpe.

Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Olstad, and daughters Judy and Tracy of Red Deer, spent a few days with Evelyn's mother, Mrs. Edith Johnston. Mrs. Johnston accompanied them by car and she visited before going on to Edmonton to visit other members of the Olstad family for the last service of the Olstad family. Mrs. Johnston and her family were in the area for 21,000 persons recorded.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ellett of Lethbridge, and their daughter, Linda's brother Cliff Ellett, their wife, and their daughter, were in attendance at the cemetery for the official opening of the Senior Citizens' Manor in Beatson on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gamroth, and Mrs. Donald Gamroth, on his way home from his holidays in southern Alberta during the last week.

Also visiting over the weekend, August 16, were Mr. and Mrs. Gino Rogati and family from Calgary with Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Gamroth, Al Hagan, also Gino helped Al Hagan the shagging of his house on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Gamroth attended the Beier and Butta wedding in Calgary on August 23 and visiting with friends and relatives in that area.

On August 16, a bridal shower was held at the hospital for Leslie (Lita) Jones, bride elect for Stan Geigle, on August 23. Over 90 friends and staff members of the hospital were in attendance at the future bride was assisted by her mother Mrs. Elaine from Denver and Mrs. Mabel Basky.

After the opening of the gifts, Lita extended her warmest thanks to the community and staff for the numerous gifts.

A wide choice, and fresh garden vegetable lunch was served and enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gamroth spent last weekend at Didsbury. They brought home some of the produce from their garden to conduct the D.U.R.S.

Fall Cutting of Alfalfa
The current shortage of hay and feed prices make the second cutting of hay look very attractive. Unfortunately most first cutting was taken off early this year. If you are considering cutting your alfalfa now, you must be running yourself short in the long run.

According to research throughout Alberta, fall cutting management is one of the most important factors influencing the potential for winter injury. Winter injury means reduced stand density and hay quality. The critical period when cutting should not take place in Flagstaff County is from the first week of August through the first week of September. This period will vary depending on the year, soil types and local climate differences.

When alfalfa is cut, the storage of food reserves in the roots is critical. This is because the top growth is largely unavailable. The existing root reserves are used to produce new leaves and stems. These reserves continue to be depleted until the plant is large enough to

Sedgewick Central High News School approaching

As September 3 approaches another school year begins for the students of Central High. September 3 is a teacher preparation day. All students who are new to the area and have not registered for high school are urged to contact the school at 384-8617 to arrange for an interview before September 3.

On September 8 students will be assigned to homerooms. They will arrange their timetables and we will run during the timetable to determine class sizes. Regular classes will begin on September 8.

Parishioners bid pastor farewell

On Sunday, August 17, all parishioners from St. Donatus Catholic Church, Forestburg, Alton, and Galahad, gathered at St. Donatus Catholic Church to bid their pastor farewell before his departure to Vilking to take over his new duties.

A delicious pot luck supper was enjoyed by all, after which presentations were made to Father Bees by Mr. Peter Bees, Forestburg; Mr. Raymond Kueber, Alton; and Mr. Fred Kueber, Galahad, on behalf of each parish, and one by Mrs. Rose Bouslog on behalf of the St. Donatus C.W.L. All expressed sadness to see him leave but wished him happiness in his new parish.

Father Bees thanked all very graciously for all the support, help, kindness and cooperation he received during his seven years among them. Also for the gifts of moneys presented to him.

After this Father Bees showed some movie films he had taken recently. Films from Galahad, School, Church, rectory, also Confirmation in 1979 in Galahad and Helder, followed by Father Bees bus trip taken in May with some forty senior citizens and two guides. They travelled over 4,800 miles leaving from Edmonton, Spokane, Portland, passing through dusk from Mount St. Helens, Bismarck, during the great redwood forest, the only kind in the world are in that area, some with a diameter up to 21 feet and up to 300 feet high, feeding on their leaves instead of from the roots. One tree houses a museum, another a gift shop. San Francisco was another stop with its two mile long bridge (Golden Gate Bridge) and cheap peaches (abundance of space), also Japanese garden, and beautiful new cultural.

After this Father Bees showed slides from the Shrine of Lourdes in France and Fatima in Portugal, which he had purchased some 280,000 years ago. All were delighted at the lovely presentation and shared them with all present and the evening came to a close.

Pictures followed from Los Angeles and Hollywood Studios, showing how they make films, etc., also showing some homes of the best known stars such as Bing Crosby, Lawrence Welk, Red Skelton, etc. They passed through Disneyland with all its color and glory. Then into Mexico, San Diego and Harbour Cruise and a show of the Great Sea World, followed by Las Vegas Strip, Lake City, Great Falls, Lethbridge, and back to Edmonton.

PREMIUM GOLDEN MALRIN FLY BAIT

This amazing new formula is based on many years research by several scientists. It performs far better than any other fly bait because:

1. It contains Muscadine as the active ingredient.
2. It contains the most powerful fly baiting agent in the world.
3. It is highly toxic. You begin to see results in 10 minutes. The Muscadine holds the bait and remains on the fly's head, even when the fly has eaten its fill.

Don't lose a chance.

Tested in areas where flies have developed a stubborn resistance to conventional baits.....

IT WORKS WHERE OTHER BAITS WON'T...

Birthday bales

In a gesture reminiscent of the early pioneer spirit, Alberta farmers are extending a helping hand across the border to Saskatchewan farmers less fortunate than themselves. Alberta farmers, who got the rain when they needed it, are trying to help their drought-ridden counterparts in Saskatchewan by making available to them, at cost, baled alfalfa hay.

The serious lack of rain in Saskatchewan had created a desperate situation for the cattlemen there. Without sufficient rain, many Saskatchewan farmers were unable either to harvest their own greenfeed for the sort of "seller's market" prices that a drought crisis can create. So, the Agricultural Advisory Committee of the Municipal District of Kneeshill came up with a plan.

The committee went to the farmers of Alberta and asked them to "commit" 10 or 15 acres of their land exclusively to the growing of greenfeed, so that they could offer to the Saskatchewan farmers baled hay at a price of $200.00 per ton, the cost price. Greenfeed, a mixture of barley and oats which have been harvested before maturity, is usable only for cattlefeed because there is nothing in the head of the grain.

Not only will the Alberta farmers be helping out their Saskatchewan brothers, but they will be doing so in a manner commensurate of both their province's 78th birthday. Their goal is to come up with 75 thousand bales at 75 cents a piece ($56.25 per ton). Or, an Alberta farmer can "adopt" 75 Saskatchewan cows for about 30 days with 10 acres of greenfeed. What the Kneeshill Agricultural Advisory Committee has devised is a clever and heartwarming way of offering life-saving help to their birthday twin, Saskatchewan.

So far the response has been overwhelming. The Alberta farmers have already pledged several hundred tons of greenfeed. The committee feels most farmers can afford to pledge 10 or 15 acres of land, but especially interesting to note is the fact that those who cannot have a horse offering their manpower, free of charge, instead. The Saskatchewan government is doing its part also, paying all the costs of trucking the bales from Alberta to Saskatchewan.

The committee is extremely happy with the response they have received to their scheme, and expect to go well over their initial goal of 75,000 bales. Perhaps it is most gratifying of all concerned to discover that despite the growing independence and isolation of the modern farmer, in hard times, he can still recall and call upon that "pioneer spirit".

Party for Harts

On Sunday, August 10, approximately 60 friends and relatives gathered at Maurice and Irene Hart's to honour Reg and Joyce Hart who were married July 11 in Reno, Nevada. Mr. Jim Grant presented Reg and Joyce with a lovely assessment of gifts on behalf of those present. Reg replied with a sincere thank you from himself and Joyce.

Maurice welcomed Joyce into the family, and Don Miller (father of the bride) told a little of what it was like to acquire a son-in-law he had only known for two days. He welcomed Reg into their family and expressed his joy that Joyce had chosen Reg. In spite of an occasional showers, a great afternoon was spent with a pot luck supper, playing horse shoes, and lawn darts.

Happy birthday was sung to Jeremy Blaxter, Scott McConnell, Reg and Marilyn Hart. The kids all enjoyed a pleasant scramble and a good time was had by all.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere thanks to all friends and relatives who helped us celebrate Reg and Joyce's marriage. Thank you for all the food for the pot luck supper, but most of all thank you for coming and making it such a happy occasion. Maurice and Irene Hart Don and Jean Miller

Badry reunion

On Friday, July 18, the families of Joseph and Helen Badry gathered for a reunion at the 12th Hall, Hailstein, to celebrate their parents' 45th wedding anniversary. All of their 18 children and their spouses were present, as well as 63 of their 45 grandchildren. On behalf of the family, Leaven in a few well chosen words presented their parents with a beautiful painting of St. Peter's Church (where they were married 45 years previous on July 18) which had been painted by Mrs. Dorothy Deunman of Kilm. A 45th plaque, a bouquet of flowers and a huge anniversary cake was also presented. Cake and coffee brought the evening to a close.

The next morning found a preparing for the reunion of the Theodore and Christina Badry families. Motor homes, trailers, campers, and tenters started arriving at the Hailstein Sports Grounds after lunch. Over 300 persons signed the guest book. After getting settled everyone headed for St. Peter's Church where our reunion officially began. The wedding pictures of Theodore and Christina Badry were draped in front of the altar where Father Peron said mass. Father Peron started the service by stating that Theodore had worked on the construction of this church and it was the family church for many years. Mrs. Mel Froehner played the organ and Mel Froehner and Mrs. Dorcy

Lang led in the singing. Then it was back to Hailstein for a tasty and abundant pot luck supper. The remainder of the evening was spent visiting and meeting cousins and dancing to the music of the Hoffman Orchestra. Sunday morning every one woke to a beautiful sunny day and pancakes and sausages at the beach. During the afternoon several relatives (brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews of Theodore) and friends stopped by to visit. All in all a good time was had by everyone and we headed for home with fond memories and hopes of another reunion sometime soon.

Lougheed warns federal government

Pranase Falar Lougheed has issued his toughest warning to the federal government yet in announcing that federal imposition of a natural gas export tax will be considered a "declaration of war" against Western Canada.

The possibility of an export tax "lies at the heart" of the differences between Alberta and Ottawa over energy, Lougheed told a national convention of weekly newspaper publishers in Edmonton.

And he said a federal decision to impose one in the fall budget would be a serious encroachment of Alberta's natural resource rights and an assault on "the very concept of Confederation."

The premier would not say how he planned to respond if a tax was imposed, but said Ottawa would be making a mistake to underestimate the West's opposition to the possible budget measure.

The federal government has given plenty of indications it wants to levy a natural gas export tax, and both Alberta and British Columbia, the two producing provinces, have been expressing vehement opposition to the idea for months.

The current natural gas export price of $4.47 per thousand cubic feet has met with stiff resistance from U.S. utilities and industries who are now switching to alternative fuels in residential fuel oil and hydro — electricity.

Lougheed points out that under current market conditions the federal government will further damage export sales if it tacks an export tax on top of the current border price.

So he contends an export tax would inevitably be applied against the existing price, thus eating into both the province's and the industry's income.

The premier said Alberta is willing to sell its natural gas to other Canadians at discount rates—65 per cent of domestic oil prices and 65 per cent to new customers in Quebec and the Maritimes under the province's own energy pricing program.

But he said the province is entitled to the full return from the sale of a depleting asset to a foreign country.

In warning that imposition of a gas tax would be tantamount to "a declaration of war," Lougheed was echoing a similar statement by B.C. Premier Bill Bennett at the Western premiers' conference in Lethbridge last spring.

Indications are that key members of the federal energy department are enthusiastically pushing for the gas export tax in this fall's budget.

But immediately following the breakdown in energy price talks between Prime Minister Trudeau and Lougheed several weeks ago, Trudeau said he might not levy the tax if Alberta gave Ottawa more corporate tax room by lowering its provincial royalties by about five per cent.

Alberta takes about 65 per cent of the revenues from the wellhead price of gas.

Hardisty Chamber's project succeeding

Hardisty Chamber of Commerce has recently organized a project to make its town the Flag Capital of the World, and already has about 25 flags.

Early this year, the chamber was trying to come up with an idea to put Hardisty on the map, and in a big way, Rose Marie Thompson, a member, came up with the idea after the chamber ran a contest for a Hardisty coat of arms crest.

The chamber felt the idea was good, and followed through with it.

The group got Jim Brager, a Camrose design artist to draw up a flag depicting Hardisty's Flag Capital of the World idea. The chamber then went through the town and the provincial government and registered the plan.

After the chamber's plan and claim to fame was verified by the government, letters were sent to all of the Canadian provinces and territories, and the American states.

The letter described the project and requested that the respective governments send the chamber their respective flag to fly in Hardisty. Also requested was a letter from the hand of state, giving approval of the project. These letters will be displayed in Hardisty Museum.

The chamber is presently writing letters to other countries with their appeal, and hope to receive around 250 flags within the next two years. The reason for the lengthy time period is that sometimes problems may arise either with the hand of state not receiving the letter or not accepting the idea.

Flags will write follow-up letters for countries with negative replies. The chamber has already received a negative reply from Newfoundland, who are presently registering a new flag but will send Hardisty one when the proceedings are finalized.

Flags will eventually be placed as they come in, with the following plan: Devonian Park at the end of main street will be designated as a "Salute to the Territories and Provinces," and fly Canadian flags only. Main street will become a "Salute to the World," and fly country flags as well as the 50 American States' flags in honour of our closest neighbor.

Thus far, the chamber has received seven Canadian flags and close to 20 American flags. The Hardisty Chamber of Commerce hopes that with good feedback, the project might stimulate industry and tourism in the town.

South Hardisty News Arnold School homecoming

Mrs. Marion Elm of Hardisty and Mr. Glenwood Galloway of Burnt Lake, B.C. talked about old times, at the Arnold School Homecoming, July 12 and 13.

On July 12 and 13, Bellin Hill was the site of a big old weekend, when the Arnold School District #24 held their homecoming.

Arnold School was built in 1909 and one of the first schools to attend the new school was Leo McElhane. Many teachers and students went through Arnold School. The school was closed in 1964 with Miss Owen Butler as the last teaching supervisor. Miss Butler later became Mrs. Maurice Stark. The youngest pupil attending Arnold during its last year was Ernest Barntown. He was unable to be at the homecoming. The school was later purchased by Mr. V. J. Barntown and moved to its present site, about two miles south, to be used as a machine shop.

Friday afternoon a big tent was set up with a banner of Arnold School painted on the side of it by Maurice Stark. The school system and loud speakers were installed.

Saturday, about 100 people registered and were given name tags. Many pupils, teachers, and residents in attendance were called up to speak. Much laughter was heard when some of the students told tales of each other and some of the mischievous things that went on at the school and they would only dare to tell now as they are adults.

Mrs. Mary Griffith (nee Anderson) told how she remembered Arnold School and its name. The Andersons had a son, named Arnold, who died in infancy so the school was named after her little brother.

Trishina in Appreciation to Mr. Maurice Stark was read by Mrs. Virginia Johnson (nee Edmondson) and read by Mrs. Claudia Williams (nee Elm).

A poem "The Arnold School" written by Mrs. Owen Stark

On top of a hill
Twelve miles from town
Sits an old school
That looks down down.

It's an old as that hill
And on top may take
Of the people that went there
Who passed and who failed.

The desks tell the story
Of the ages past.
Who met here first
Who sat there last.

It's carved in the desk
That Ernie sat near.

75th Anniversary

Salute to a pioneer couple

George and Doris Bonnett, 83 and 74 respectively, moved from England to Canada where they were young and haven't regretted staying in the Kildan district.

Mrs. Bonnett was born in Leeds, England and moved to Canada in 1909. Her family moved around a lot but finally settled in Sedgewick in 1918, where her father farmed.

Mr. Bonnett was born and raised in Harpley, England and was a member of the English Imperial Army, fighting in World War I. He moved to Kildan after the war because he had a number of relatives living in the area.

The couple met and were married in 1924. George bought a farm near Kildan, and the couple lived on this section of land.

Mrs. Bonnett said that the two stayed in Kildan because it felt like home. They know a lot of people, and have always had good neighbors. Expanding further, Mr. Bonnett said that the people are friendly and there is a mixture of people in and around Kildan. "There are no cliques in religion or race," George said.

The couple also agree that Kildan is a nice town, and that the farms in the area are beautiful. They said that the air is clean and there are a lot of wide open spaces and scenery.

"They also feel that Alberta is the best place in the world to live. 'I think the people have a great pride in their province,'" said Mr. Bonnett.

"Not just because it's in top shape now, we were here in the dirty thirties," said Mrs. Bonnett. "Everything is bigger and better here...like in Texas."

Mr. and Mrs. Bonnett said that they have enjoyed the 75th anniversary year, but it isn't terribly important to them. They added that they have grown with Alberta, and the 75th year is just as special as the 75th.

The couple have seven sons and two daughters. They also have 34 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mr. Bonnett has been a member of the Oddfellows for over 50 years, while Mrs. Bonnett has been a Rebekah for 34 years. Doris is also member of the Anglican Church Women and the Bowling Club.

The couple enjoy traveling, and have been all over Canada, U.S.A. and Europe. "We like to travel, and have family scattered all over," said Mrs. Bonnett.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF ALBERTA

A shoe repair shop, lawyers office and settlers shack have been donated with their original furnishings in them.

Antique cookware sits on an old stove at the museum.

The Cambridge School bell, made in 1912 is resting at the museum.

Museum

Some of the items in the museum include, the Cambridge School bell made in 1912, a 180 year old piano in immaculate condition, an old stove with early 20th Century cookware, and countless tools, furniture and machinery.

The museum is presently open during July and August of the summer months and by request at other times of the year. Throughout the summer period, the museum committee hires students to operate it from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The museum is presently trying to expand its opened period to four months, but is finding it difficult due to a lack of funding. It gets $6,300 per year from the provincial government Department of Culture, but is hoping for an increase.

The grant is given on the basis of expenses incurred and a larger sum could allow the museum committee to open the site for four months. Other than the fund, the museum is provided with few money donations by the Village of Loughheed.

The museum committee executive consists of: President Tom Clouston, Treasurer Conrad Inghvaldson and Secretary Charles Marschall. Last year over 2,000 people visited the site.

Helpful Hints on Insurance

MOTOR HOME OWNERS
Are you planning to clean up your "Home on Wheels" and park it for a few months after the Labor Day Weekend?
If so, you could consider seeing your insurance agent about removing all coverages and adding specified perils with a $100. or $200. deductible until you use it again. It will only take a few minutes of your time and could save you hundreds of dollars, depending on the size of your rig and the length of time it is parked.
Be sure to reinsure before using!

Foremen suggest road bans

Four County of Plagiat foremen made suggestions to County Council at the meeting at the County Office in Sedgewick, August 26.

With the recent rain, the roads are soft and taking a beating from heavy trucks, said the foremen. They suggested that the roads should be protected with weight restrictions on Secondary Road 886 and a six mile stretch from Forebush to the coal trail.

"If only they (the truck drivers) in question used common sense and kept off good roads when they are wet," said a councillor. The rest of council was in general agreement.

Council stated that a ban could be used because there are a lot of gravel roads that could be used as an alternative route until the good roads dry up.

On Secondary Road 886 from Strome to Forebush, a total truck weight restriction ban was placed at 70%, increased from the previous 50% restriction. An 80% ban was similarly placed on the road from Forebush south to the coal trail.

Another point brought up by the foremen was the maintenance of the County's north township line from the intersection of Secondary Road 886 to the intersection of Highway 36.

The road is used as one of the main gravel routes and should be maintained by both the County of Plagiat and the County of Beaver.

However, "Beaver sends a grader out once a month whether needed or not," commented a councillor. Council agreed that Plagiat has been faced with this problem for a number of years, and something should be done to solve it.

Training
Two people have quit work at the County, thus creating the operator training work contract.

The County paid tuition of $500 for 11 people to take an operator training program.

have a bridge across the Red Deer River and later to have Highway 36 hard surfaced.

The club had members from as far away as St. Paul and Viking as well as a large number from the County of Plagiat.

After some struggle the government built the bridge, but did not give in to hard surfacing the mail until this year.

The government's reason for not hard surfacing the road was that it didn't have a great enough traffic flow. The Highway 36 Association felt that after it was hard surfaced, traffic would be attracted to the road.

The association broke up about three years ago, because many members became discouraged and weren't attending the meetings.

Alliance News

Locals return from Europe

Muriel Pankhall and Amanda Lyons have recently returned from a European tour. They enjoyed the weather for the most part of the trip. There were 21 people on the tour with Austrians, South Africans, Canadians, and one lone American (Amanda's daughter, Elaine from San Francisco). They toured Southern France (along the Mediterranean, Italy, Switzerland, and Germany). In Oberammergau, Germany, they attended a Passion Play. At this point I displayed my ignorance and asked what kind of a play that was. Mrs. Lyons explained that in the 1600's the towns' people made a play to God that if they were spared from the plague that they would put on this play every ten years in remembrance. Since that time, true to their word the play has been held by the people of the town and apparently a very successful and entertaining play it is. The history in a place such as this must be overpowered, something we Canadians in this "new land" can only imagine.

The negative philosophy of "all good things must come to an end" is even apparent every time I go grocery shopping, my old stand-by is all becoming "new and improved". Well so it is with our newspaper, our editor is "new and improved" the news delivery schedule I am now writing the news on Fridays for a Monday submission.

mission, no phone phone in your news by Thursday night. Erik and Shirley Holmberg were caught in the terrible rain storm on Wednesday night, they were to Edmonton as over night guests with Shirley's cousin. Erik says the storm was every bit as bad and more than reported in the local news.

Lorraine and Gordie Schofield have had some of Lorraine's family visiting in the past two weeks. Her, the brother, wife, and three children were visiting from Fort Vermilion. Following their visit sister Gus and daughters arrived from Sturgeon, B.C. for a few days. In between bouts of company, Lorraine is polishing up his everything in sight in the school awaiting the arrival of our students on Wednesday. Neil Criss is home from a several day stay in Daysland Hospital. I heard that he was discharged so the staff could retain their schedules and sanity!

There are so many good and funny things that happen in this town. It's a pity most of them are unprintable (a lot of these news items are originals from Neil too).

Vernon and Jane Johnson were at Brooks last week picking up fresh vegetables they brought us back some lovely fresh corn - another ten pounds added to an already over extended waist line.

George and Emma Bullock and family visited last Sunday in Bonfield with the Joe Tabber's. A good visit and lovely turkey dinner passed by the way!

Ted and Virgie Archibald have recently been to Three Hills and then Lacombe to West Fed meetings. This group is promoting western federation for the Yukon, N.W.T. and the four western provinces. There will be a meeting in Red Deer in the near future that the Archibolds hope to attend.

Robert and Betty Connochie were visited this weekend by the younger Connochie son, his wife, and two children of B.C. Robert Falls is back in the arms helping his dad until university starts next weekend.

Norman Wold of Innisfail was in Alliance on Saturday to attend the household sale of Muriel Remick and Otto Johnson. The sales were both a success with numerous interesting items up for bid.

It may ease your mind to know that I'm fond of my in-laws as they were here in full force. Pat Wold of Daysland was also down for the sale. Art and Helen Wold spent the weekend with us. And Dale's sister Diane, her husband Brian, and son Jay, spent the weekend with Bob and Darlene and we joined them for the day on Sunday.

Cecil Pearson was too busy on Monday to stop and visit so I assume he takes the term of Labour Day quitte Morally. Quinte Dale decided I should learn to do the bidding on my articles of interest to me and I'm terrified that I may end up buying the auctioneer if I raise my hand at the wrong time. Dale attended the sale of Muriel Remick and realized we didn't need an auctioneer full time at the house!

The summer students held a wind up barbecue on Friday night, the parents of each were present as well as various groups who sponsored and encouraged the program. We'll certainly miss the students, not only for the amounts of work they accomplished in the town, but also for their bright and sunny personalities.

I'm sorry to report that word of Tom Hamilton's death has reached us. Tom was living in Peace Camp near Grande Prairie at the time of his passing. Tom lived for many years in the Alliance. He arrived here with a states baseball team and remained here to become an active and delightful citizen. He taught boxing to many of the boys at that time, and was often referred to as the "boxing champion" when he actually caught for the ball team while sitting in the rooting chair. He was almost a legend in his time as far as the Alliance people were concerned. Many occupations are often talked about by his numerous friends.

Jack and Mary Bateman are presently at Brooks taking in their horticultural show and visiting the dinosaur park. Mary now has her turkeys carefully stored away in the deep freeze, so who ever has been helping themselves to the live turkeys is now going to have to buy their own.

Ken and Marie Godden are presently being visited by their daughter (Elva)

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Henkha and girls of Foreburg and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cough were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kitchner of Calahad on Friday evening.

Smiths celebrate silver anniversary

The family of Stan and Donna Smith and Stan's sisters and their families surprised them on their silver anniversary by gathering at the Dutton's in Edmonton on Saturday evening, August 28, for a beautiful beef barbecue.

Those present were Margie and Earl Dutton, Jackie and Jane Dutton, Clara Johnson of Alliance, Tina Haskay of Sedgewick, Gwen Palmer of Vancouver, Bruce and Joan Anderson and family of Edmonton, Jim and Karen Norris and family of Calgary, Pat and Gordon

After an evening of visiting, a stag-earring, and viewing of favorite old family slides, Stan and Donna were escorted by their children and friends to the bride's suite at the Edmonton Plaza, flowers, champagne and all. It was as evening to be remembered.

Helpful Hints on Insurance

HUNTERS

You are probably thinking about digging the "Old Scatter Gun" out of the closet and cleaning it up for the fall season. Have you thought about what it would cost to replace that five year old gun today? Did you realize that most "Home Owners" policies have rigid limits on what they will pay for fire arms if destroyed or stolen?

If this concerns you, contact your agent or see us today about an "All Risk Firearms Floater". The premium is about $1.00/$10.00 coverage when added to your present policy.

Junior High School teacher Brian Bernard walked his son Corie to school for his first day in grade one.

Students pile off a bus at Sedgewick to begin the first day of school.

Calgary parents look at Flagstaff

Due to the Calgary teachers' strike, the city's parents are inquiring about sending their children to schools throughout Alberta, including the County of Flagstaff.

One student is living with relatives and attending Central High School in Sedgewick and many other parents have inquired, said Superintendent of Schools Dale Erickson at the County Office in Sedgewick, Monday.

He added that the county schools would have to take in any other students wishing to attend county schools as long as the classes aren't filled.

The Flagstaff School Board will be charging these students a $350 entry fee which if the strike ends and the students go back to Calgary will be proportionally refunded to them.

"Different boards have different standards," said Mr. Erickson. "Some boards are charging up to a $500 fee that is non-refundable."

New gymnasium floors

The Flagstaff Board of Education has accepted an offer by Contract Floor Coverings to refit the Alliance and Hardisty School gyms to the tune of $12,000.

A vinyl asbestos commercial tile will be put in the Alliance and Hardisty gyms. The job in Alliance will cost $7,800 while the Hardisty floor will be $4,200.

The reason for the price difference is because the Alliance gym is larger, and the old tile is made of cork and is harder to remove. The old Hardisty tile is made of rubber.

Both gyms have recently been experiencing water problems causing the old tile to become loose. The tiles, laid in the mid 80s, are also worn down.

The contract prices include stripping the old tile as well as preparing and laying down the new tile. The tile will have infill games lines instead of the sometimes used taped lines.

Many of the new gym floors are made of wood, however, during the mid 80s the floors were made of varied materials often depending on costs. Both the Sedgewick and Lougheed schools' floors, built in the early 70s, have hardwood floors.

Oil and gas rigs in county

There is always some activity relating to the oil and gas industry in the County of Flagstaff, but due to leases due or almost due to expire the mineral companies are working gently all over the County.

Presently in the County there are at least eight companies trying to get the most out of their natural resource leases.

Although neither driver was seriously injured due to the accident at the Sedgewick Highway 18 intersection Saturday, the above car driven by Belva Whitehead was extensively damaged. The Canada Packers truck received only a couple of dents.

A special 75th anniversary service was held Sunday at St. John's Anglican Church, Sedgewick to mark Alberta's birthday.

A special feature was the displaying of the Canadian, Alberta and anniversary flags. Leading the procession were: Lonnie Tanton, candle bearer; Jennifer Affolder, carrying the Canadian flag; Natasha Affolder and Kathryn McKee carried the Alberta and 75th flags. Rev. Conrad is seen at left.

Special music was provided by a Kilmay trio, Betty Towers, Susan Yaworski and Cathy Lesman who gave two inspiring musical selections. The first lesson was read by Ken Offord, representing the Town of Sedgewick and the second lesson by Thelma Tanton.

Lougheed: three elected by acclamation: Bob Smith, Jack Ramaden, and Bruce Bovecamp.

Sedgewick: nominated for mayor: Ernie Koshik, and Monte Keith. Eight people are nominated for six council positions: Dr. Robert, Lawrence Popper, Mary (Betty) Walsh, Kenneth Offord, Matthew Jeaswein, Roy Wilson, Alvin Strobel, and June McDougall.

Peben, a pipeline contractor, will assist the County of Flagstaff in the repair of a half mile of road needing replacement due to a caved in culvert. The announcement was made at the County meeting on Monday.

Damage was caused by the company's heavy trucks being driven over the road located one mile north and two miles east of Killam.

However, the County will pay a portion of the repair money because the road cover was not high enough to support a great deal of traffic. The County admits that the culvert probably would have eventually caved in at some time in the future anyway.

The culvert is five feet in diameter, and should have the support of at least two feet of road above it to be properly secured. The County culvert, though, only has at most a foot of road above it.

When repaired, the County intends to build the road cover up to the proper two foot height. As is, the road has been temporarily repaired by Peben, and is safe to drive over.

The company is replacing pipe line from Strome to Sedgewick for Interprovincial Pipe Line.

Pay Increases
The deputy returning officers and poll clerks will each receive pay increases for the upcoming municipal elections over the past years.

The D.R.O.s received $35 in 1974, $45 in 1977 and will receive $60 for their work at the October 18 elections. The poll clerks received $30 in 1974, $40 in 1977 and will get $70 in 1989.

Fish Lake
County Council discussed the ongoing project of building a park at Fish Lake near Hardisty.

The County obtained commercial reserves on the land by the lake, and have presently built a road and parking lot at the site. Council is planning on adding picnic tables to the park in the near future.

The park is being paid for out of the 75th Anniversary Grant given to the County by the provincial government in recognition of Alberta's birthday. Upon completion, the project will have cost about $10,000.

The lake has over the years been a popular fishing area, but has had poor roads leading to the lake.

P.S.E. volunteers
Councillor Blanche Hagen announced that Preventive Social Services in the County of Flagstaff was recognized as having the largest number of volunteers in Alberta per capita.

Mrs. Hagen said that it has 180 volunteers and was recently presented a bouquet of flowers by local M.I.A.s.

Edmonton officers receive $18 per hour.

Endorsement Denied
County Council turned down the County of Beaver's request that Flagstaff endorse its bid to get a government grant to pave the north township line from the intersection of Secondary Road 870 to Highway 28.

The reason for the grant bid is that Beaver feels that the road, often used for gravel hauls, should be in better condition. Flagstaff, however, has a grant for paving of S.R. 870, and feels that the trucks will use this road once completed to get to Killam's transit mir.

Council feels that the endorsement of the Beaver grant would jeopardize the S.R. 870 grant, and stop the road construction while already about half completed.

Council agrees that the priority is to get the trucks to Highway 18 enroute down S.R. 870, and is writing Beaver a letter of explanation.

Putting a fence around the county grader shed in Forestburg was discussed with the County and looking into price quotations for different types of fences.

Council disagreed about the size of fence that should be put up around the structure. One councillor described a large fence as being a "garbage catcher," while others thought it would make the new building look completed.

Council is looking into the prices of one foot and six foot fences.

ON THE BENCHING OF

"There goes that bell again! How often we hear that phrase throughout the day. Bells seem to ring for us in so many different situations. Bells wake us up, call us to church, job and school, tell us when the cake is done, and most frequently of all, call someone away from us. There seems to be no getting away from bells! Yet the ringing of bells calls to mind, that interval of time between the clatter as ours to use. God gave us the very precious gift of time, in order that we might serve Him in our own creative ways. It is no surprise that "time" is mentioned in over 800 places in Holy Scriptures. But how do we really use our time? With harvest and time so much on our minds, we could forget that God commands that we use time in a loving way. This means taking time to be with our family, to sit down and talk with one another, to share ourselves, rather than use our moments in a self-centered way. All of us need to renew the art of visiting with friends and neighbors, so that we can show concern for one another's spiritual needs. The ringing of bells is a signal that time is moving on, but it is up to us to guide the direction it takes.

75th Birthday Tea

On September 12, the Anniversary Tea and Handicraft display sponsored by the Killam Senior Citizens Club was a decided success. Approximately 180 people signed the guest book. Other Senior Citizens group representatives were present from Strona, Redgwick, Longhead, Hardisty, Irma Rosalind, Alliance, Galahad, and Forsterburg. We really appreciate the patronage of all of these groups. A short program in the Senior Citizens Hall began with the singing of O'Canada, followed by an Alberta Birthday song by Tina Blumhagen, Anne Burdell and Marian Wilson, an accordion duet and a piano solo. M.C. M. Wilson called on the president for a few words about their activities.

Emma George welcomed all present and expressed thanks for coming. Mrs. Honey Curtis spoke for Strona; Mr. Dave Black for Redgwick; Mrs. M. Denham for Longhead; Mrs. Goodrich for Hardisty; Mr. J. Jackson for Irma; Mrs. C. Johnson for Alliance, and Mrs. Allen Lyburner for Forsterburg. Mr. Len Dutton, mayor of Killam, in a short talk officially opened the Anniversary Tea and Handicraft display.

Then everyone retired to the Elks Hall for a delicious lunch and a time of visiting and viewing the most interesting display of quilts, tablecloths, many crocheted articles, pictures, toys, Alberta paintings, and a fine lot of beautiful ceramics.

Many guests expressed their delight at viewing such a fine display, all made by the creative skill of those who contributed.

The Killam Senior Citizens deeply appreciate the patronage of all Mrs. Winnie Hardwick was the lucky winner of the door-prize.

Anglican Church Good turnout

How gratifying it was to see such a new turnout at our church last Sunday. If only our congregation could continue to remember how many they are needed by their church, then perhaps our current problems will not seem quite so large. Sunday School opens in Redgwick at St. John's on Sunday, September 21 at 10:30 a.m. Please bring your children and come along to church yourself. A meeting of St. Edmund's Parish Council has been called for the evening of Friday, September 18, at 8 p.m., at St. Mark's Parish Hall in Hardisty. All council members please attend or arrange for someone to substitute for you.

Sedgewick playschool organizes

The playground and fingerpaint have been made. Ball record is on the wall. The children's chairs and tables stand ready, and the peanut butter cookies are in the oven. If you're still too young for kindergarten, but you're toilet-trained and you're old enough for a morning of games, crafts, stories, and all sorts of really super directed play activities, then, kids, this is the place for you.

The Sedgewick Playschool will open at 9:00 a.m. on Thursday, September 18 at the Prince of Peace Chapel of Bethman Leth-ora Church will Mrs. Marilyn Dwyer as this year's co-ordinator. Playschool will be held each Tuesday and Thursday morning from 9:15-11:00 a.m. Children may attend every session or are welcome to come on a once-a-week basis, if preferred. This year's fees will be $2 per child or $3 per family for each session attended.

The pre-registration meeting for the Sedgewick Playschool took place on the evening of September 9, with 11 mothers and our co-ordinator Mrs. Dwyer in attendance. Officers for 1980-81 are President, Pat Barishak; Secretary, Barb Cumberland; Treasurer, Donna Sparrow; and Supplies Committee Chairman, Ellen Gascyne.

Plans for operating this year's playschool were discussed and it was decided that one volunteer mother should assist the co-ordinator each morning. Since finances will present a problem, a number of money-making projects were suggested.

A meeting of the Play-staff Playschool Association, open to all coordinators and parents, to be held October 8, from 8:45 p.m. at the PPS office in Kulan was brought to our attention. As many parents as possible from our playschool are urged to attend.

Future meetings of the Sedgewick Playschool will be called by the president when necessary. To obtain further information about our playschool or to pre-register your child, please phone Donna Sparrow at 384-3664 or Marilyn Dwyer at 384-3646.

Helpful Hints on Insurance

NEW CAR BUYERS

Are you considering one of the new 81's? Are you concerned about the cost of collision coverage on the unit?

If so, before seeing your agent or us about the cost of insurance you should consider the amount of money you would be able to pay out if it got bumped. Use this figure for your collision deductible, as a higher deductible will greatly reduce the premium.

remember - Never reduce your liability coverage to lower a premium. Your car or truck can be replaced - a liability claim can break you for life.

Hardisty News

Residents tour district

Many people were added to lists of the passing away in Victoria of Mrs. Helen (Galloway) Hines.

Hines had attended the Arnold School gathering in July and although not well enough, had made a special effort to attend. She was survived by two brothers, a number of sisters, and family members in the U.S.

Sympathy to her relatives and her two cousins in Hardisty, Delbert and Lester Galloway.

Seen at the Farmer's Market was Elder Crouch of Edmonton who was spending the weekend with Joe and Anna Savage.

It was surely a nice surprise to have Ida Timmins of Princeville, Corvidine and little daughter of Calgary and also Ida's brother-in-law Mr. Timmins from New York met on some of us.

Ida looking at the yard over from Allen Nelson's deck, mentioned that at the back of that too they had had a garden at one time.

Many who learned of Ida's passing in the Hardisty were very disappointed at not seeing her and her daughter in the U.S.

Last Tuesday, Bernice Timlin kindly picked up Isabel and Olaf Nelson and took them for a lovely drive. They were accompanied by Annie Drever.

It was a beautiful day with the country so pretty.

The Loughheed Cemetery was a beautiful spot with so many flowers.

Getting close to Cambridge district Olaf received the country as he had checked gravel for Flagstaff road for many years.

Then after lunch on the former Emil Jensen's place, Gilbert Timlin who was combining there, took Olaf for a ride on his new combine.

After supper with Bernice, Olaf spent the night in Hardisty and the next day accompanied Bernice and her sister

THERE'S ENOUGH WORK TO BE DONE
AROUND HERE TO KEEP A LOT OF BOBS, TEDS AND LINDAS BUSY FOR MONTHS.

A community is like a team.

And just as most families have lists of jobs that need doing around the home, so every community in Canada has a list of priority projects that could and should be tackled.

Projects ranging from the development and improvement of tourism facilities to energy conservation and environmental programs.

They keep getting postponed because it never seems to be the right time to start; and because there always seems to be something more important to do with the money.

Well right now, in this community, there are people ready to go to work. Men, women and teenagers, some with skills they're anxious to use and improve, others just as anxious to learn.

The Government of Canada wants to give them that opportunity. And we want your help.

We're looking for sponsors for Canada Community Development Projects: associations, local corporations and co-operatives with the experience to organize and co-ordinate government-funded employment projects that will benefit the community and involve local people.

If you want to help but don't know where to begin, start with any Canada Employment Centre.

We have lists of willing people and available skills.

We have application forms and guides detailing the kinds of projects we're ready to support and the time periods (up to 12 months in most instances and as long as 18 months for construction and construction-related projects) over which that support can be extended.

And we're as eager to get started as you are.

If you have an idea that will benefit this community and help three or more people find full-time work, we want to hear about it before September 30.

So does the rest of the family.

Speak up for our new hospital in the office.

Speaking of our new hospital in the office, Treasurer Charlotte Goka reported the receipt of a $1,000 donation from the Bush family to be used in the purchase of a unit in the new hospital in memory of a number of

Loughheed Rebekah Lodge begins season

On Wednesday, September 10, 12 members of Loughheed Rebekah Lodge met for their first meeting of the term. N.S. Sis Rosemary Kampen was in the chair.

Although a few members were reported to have colds, the majority of the absentees were happy that the weather was such that they could be harvesting.

Many visits had been made to the sick and shut in. Birthday, yet, well, and sympathy cards had been sent.

Under new business, there was a discussion concerning a donation to a local hospital.

As many members as possible were urged to attend a seminar to be held in Killam on September 23.

It is hoped that the officers not yet installed will be installed at the first meeting in October.

COME ALIVE

Pastor George R. Qualley
 Sedgewick Lutheran Parish

Answering the Question of Prayer
 If as parents we were asked by our children:
 "Mom and Dad, teach me to pray", what would we say?
 Would we quickly give the child a book of prayers?
 Would we frantically call a minister and seek advice?
 Or would we take the time to sit down with the child and show him how to pray?
 If we are honest with ourselves, we have to admit that the topic of prayer makes us uncomfortable.
 It is usually with a sense of guilt that we approach prayer. We remember the times we did not pray, when we were too busy, or we felt too dejected, or we felt it just did not make sense to pray at that moment.
 But what really makes prayer go? First, we must realize that great praying is preceded by great need. It is the sense of need which precedes any discovery, or a solution to a problem. There are always those moments in life when we feel that we have all our challenges under control. But as the days become more strenuous, when we come up against something which is too hard for us, our confidence shrinks. Then it is we realize the need for power outside of ourselves.

 The realization of need opens the door to great believing. Over the years, values have been published as prayer, retreats have been held, but in so many cases no major point has been overlooked.
 Our Christian beliefs are the very roots of prayer. We can only pray when we have asked ourselves "What do I think of Jesus Christ?" and "What does He really mean to me?" When we acknowledge the lordship of Christ in our daily lives, then the power of prayer is opened to us.

Are you dropping your hard-earned bucks all along the highway?

Let's face it. With the cost of gasoline out of sight and at times hard to find as well, it makes better cents, and dollars too, to shop locally.
 Driving all over the countryside just to save a few cents just doesn't make sense.

 The small amount of money you might save may be more than eaten up by the cost of gas. Shop locally, and save time, your energy, fuel and money.

No need to roam... the best shopping's here at home!

Postmaster to retire

After 35 years of faithful service, our postmaster Emory Trahan, is about to retire. Imagine spending 35 years listening to the post office. Public complaints about postal costs, the weather and anything else we've happened to think of, it's so easy to take advantage of a postmaster. Our trapped behind a counter! Emory will continue to be a volunteer secretary/treasurer, so thankfully our community business will continue to run smoothly. On behalf of the community, Emory, I wish to thank you for all your kindnesses and willing services over the past years.

Congratulations go out to Joyce Belman who will become our new postmistress. Joyce has spent many years capably assisting Emory in the postal service, so we're already sure of her efficiency.

Next week Emory and Lucille and Mrs. Olive Trahan will be leaving for eastern Canada, where they will be visiting relatives in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. It took some digging to get that bit of information, as Emory's only comments when asked where his destination were that he was going to visit Joe and Pierre. Several messages were sent for both of these gentlemen via Emory from many of the Alliance members!

On Saturday, September 20, the night-long Central High graduation ceremonies were held with several of the graduates bailing from the Alliance area. Congratulations to the following graduates: Sam Flinday (grad president) and his wife M.C. Travis Spady (Valedictorian), Gayle Ritchies, Sherry Spady, Louise Cline, Karen Miller, Bob Alcorn, Robin Gibson, and Margaret Davidson. Bittersweet congratulations go out to each one of these students, they're all very nice kids and if they are any indication of the kind of people shaping Alberta's future then we are not of a mapped out plan of our Alliance Cemetery. Several of the graves have remained unmarked over the years and Phyllis requires any and all assistance on this matter. If you know or even think you might have some information on these unmarked graves, please contact Phyllis at 470-3386.

If the large amount of universal and general disorganization in the Ed Beaman yard has you puzzled, perhaps I can help. I have been relieved to know that there is a legend explanation for this. They are in the process of house building and shop something, the weather must be credited for a large portion of the muddy disaster as well. A small sprayed chain to their basement excavation, but the Belmans ignored his plea and are going ahead as scheduled!

A happy birthday is wished to Myrtle Richardson this next week on the 24th. Hope you have a nice day Myrtle with plenty of black gloves on hand for your evening entertainment!

Dinner guests at the Almada Lyons and Marial Franks had some last Sunday were Mrs. Frankham, Mr. and Mrs. Malhot of Red Deer and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brown and Carol Malhot of Edmonton. This weekend Almada and Marial are expecting a visit by Almada's daughter Linda of Calgary.

Doris and Peter Spady were visited last weekend by Mr. and Mrs. Corvish of Vernon, B.C. And the guests of the Corvish's Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Regina. Doris started liking other guests that came and went during the weekend and the couple became so high I stopped writing and just listened!

Laverne Wisener of Bruneau was down one day last week to visit her son Grace McDermott and sister Betty Bombough and had a homey as homey meal in his new home last week. It's try to keep your mother and sister on their toes from now on Glen!

Laverne and Elaine McDermott of Fort St. John were down visiting family and friends last week. And how Glen's heart, he still thinks the old hometown looks darn good.

On Monday night Glen and Elaine, Denny and Laverne Wisener (twice in one week Laverne) and Grace McDermott were supper guests at Betty and Dick Bombough's. Ken and Ann Clough joined them later in the evening for a treat. Where was Glen when the lights went off? Phyllis Alcorn is presently attempting completion of a mapped out plan of our Alliance Cemetery. Several of the graves have remained unmarked over the years and Phyllis requires any and all assistance on this matter. If you know or even think you might have some information on these unmarked graves, please contact Phyllis at 470-3386.

Fred Stagnier is not particularly impressed with local news reporting so I will make it as mundane as possible for him. Fred motivated all the way to Foreburg to pick up an order from Simpson General. However, on the positive side I do wish to report that his wife will be retiring from a week's stay in the University Hospital this weekend.

Visiting at the Dale

Wend and his business of Bushaw, on Sunday Art Baird joined us for dinner, he supplied the dinner on a matter of fact, by bringing some freshly caught and delicious trout from his dam, that's the kind of company I enjoy!

Thanked with Randy and Dorothy Golan the other day, they're still in the area awaiting weather cooperation so harvest can get under way. They were on their way to visit Lloyd and Margaret O'Reilly that particular day. I wonder if Lloyd invited them out for an evening of drinking until he's been known to invite them and then carefully hide his wallet at home!

The Stan Smith's are also having a cement floor poured in their shop. Kenny Towers has been so busy that we're going to have to start putting up the sign that Kenny poured here!

After returning from Stan and Donna's last weekend Herb and Boyd Smith discovered that they had had their apartment broken into in their absence. They lost a few expensive personal articles and a colour T.V. The frustration of working to pay for one's possessions and then having them stolen must be the height of frustration.

Arlene Claire Maudie of Red Deer married Thomas Kelly. Vis of Belesker on July 28.

Arlene is the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Maudie of Red Deer. Thomas is the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. John Vis of Belesker. The couple were joined in the summer matrimony at the Geth United Church in Red Deer. The newlyweds have chosen to reside in Calgary.

Participation by the Senior Citizens at the Killam Agriplex has been very good this far. Monday, September 22, approximately 100 members all over the County and beyond, gathered to bowl to try their luck at white bridge. Five hundred, or crib.

Friday, September 30, promises to be a very good day both socially and for physical activities. At ten o'clock the Agriplex opens the doors for pool activities, bowling and of course, the pot luck luncheon and sing song. Put it on your calendar and don't miss out.

Edmonton Power haul

Edmonton Power has decided to take a southern route to haul coal to burn tests at the Alberta Power Plant near Foreburg.

The company is going on Highway 21 to Highway 13 enroute to the plant, thus avoiding any travel on County of Playfair roads.

The decision came after much discussion between the company and the County on the issue of road damage.

Lougheed Flower Sunday

S. Loran
Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wainston attended the wedding of their eldest daughter, Susan, in Sherwood Park last weekend.
I see our neighbors Tom and Catherine Horvick are home again after another camping holiday around Alberta and B.C. Sure like that Daniel Boone camp acquired on your travels, Tom!
Get well wishes to Mrs. Mabel Grant and Mrs. Mildred Clouston in Kilian Hospital and George Collier, Albert Anderson, and George Hiza who are in Hardisty Hospital. Hope to see you all home again real soon.
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Yahn of the States visited her cousin Bill Yahn and family recently.
Sunday visitors at the Vera Storkbaken home were the Doug Kelle family from Foresterburg, Ed Hartfelder family from Thorby and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Manning from Killam.
Winners of this month's Arena Maintenance Draw were: Killam Farm Equipment $300; Ron Bradley of Lethbridge, $300.
Visiting with the John Burdette for a few days were Mr. and Mrs. Graham Franklin and son Robert of New Zealand. Robert was sent to school in Hardisty for two days and enjoyed it very much. John and Jerry drove their visitors to Kelowna to visit and then on for a tour of Banff.

This year, Alberta is honoring our Senior Citizens with medals, pins, and mementoes, which is a fine gesture. Individuals can do their bit too. Several of our local Seniors are in hospitals and auxiliary lodges. Let's take time from our busy schedules to send cards and pay them little visits occasionally. To be remembered means so much to these shut-ins.
Last Sunday was "Flower Sunday" at the Lougheed United Church. The service was very well attended and the flower displays were exceptional for this time of year. Fortunately this service was held before the heavy frost came.
All those planning to take the "Nature" course and Paper Tube, please register with Veronica Cookson, Lougheed, by October 10, 1988.
Here to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rancier (see Bismarck Valley) of Killam, a son Gerth, Saturday September 18. A first grandson for Mr. and Mrs. Warren

Community Services Projects funding is available through Employment and Immigration Canada, established funding to help non-profit groups and organizations broaden the scope of the services they provide and to help them get local people to work. Not here-today-gone-tomorrow funding. But financial assistance which can be extended to a maximum three-year period. You know what needs to be done even better than we do.
So pick up an application form at any Canada Employment Centre. Lougheed News

Birthday celebrated

On Wednesday afternoon, September 17, a number of ladies gathered at the Baxter White home in Lougheed where Helen hosted a delightful birthday party honoring Margaret Deenan.
Helen planned a pretty rose cake for Margaret's 80th birthday. After chatting for awhile and taking pictures, the guests had a sing song led by Marie Martin at the piano.
In true Helen White style a pretty appetized table with beautiful food supply was set for the guests. A colorful decorated cake complete with candles and miniature bouquet containing the "Queen of the month" graced the centre of the table. After Margaret blew out the candles with one blow, all had birthday cake, ice cream and strawberries to top off the delicious meal. The honoree then opened her cards and gifts, thanking each one. A special thanks was expressed to Helen for the lovely party.

Those present besides the guest of honor and the hostess included Jerry Johnson, Marie Martin, Isabel Johnson, Conover Basins, Elsie Anderson and Catherine Horvick.
Mr. and Mrs. Hamster White visited with the Bixby Olivers on Monday evening, recognizing Annie's pending birthday.
Mr. and Mrs. Art Mills and daughter Cindy, of Theanston, Ontario, were guests of Mary Miller's sister Catherine Horvick and family of Lougheed. Tommy and Catherine accompanied them on a camping trip to Fort McMurray where Mary's daughter and husband Miller daughter and husband and family live. This was indeed an interesting and educational experience.

Nazarene News Ventriloquist

Forty-five eager excited children met for the first service with ventriloquist Wayne Bertone to hear "Randy" tell the parable of the 99 sheep, and to see a slide presentation of Bible stories told by Wayne. Services continue each afternoon at 4 p.m., September 24, 25, and 26, as come back kids and bring your friends.

Several of our families were in Nisku Hospital on Sunday for the opening service of the new Nazarene Church being pastored by the Kanhara former church of the Louthouse church.

A large number attended the open house Sunday afternoon at Herb Rota in honor of Melody's high school graduation.

Our prayers and get well wishes go out to Bob McCracken in Galahad, and Molly Mages and Orval Probst in Kilmarnock Hospital.

HEATING OIL AND PROPANE USERS

IT'S YOUR TURN

Natural gas users have enjoyed price protection for several years. Now the program's been expanded and... it's your turn. If you live in an area where natural gas is not available to you, you are eligible for a rebate of 30% on heating oil and propane purchased on or after October 1, 1980.

Residents, small businesses and community halls may claim rebates on purchases up to 4,000 gallons (16,185 litres) of propane or 2,700 gallons (12,275 litres) of heating oil each year. You will be eligible for the rebate only until such time as natural gas becomes available to you.

The Remote Area Heating Allowance also applies if you live in a gas franchise area, but for some reason, cannot be supplied with natural gas at the present time.

Application forms are available through heating oil and propane dealers and some government offices in your area. For further information write or phone 888-3863—Rebates Branch Alberta Utilities and Telephones 8th Floor 12322 Stony Plain Road Edmonton, Alberta T6N 3T9 Telephone 427-0122

Nutrition program for county schools

Health nutrition information as well as classroom teaching resources. Miss Bourne then shows a person for several hours per week to prepare the food samples. Diane leads the program and the students. In a survey sent out to the parents last year, 109 of 119 returned to the Home Economics office stated that parents felt their children now are more aware of nutrition.

The costs of the program are picked up by the Department of Agriculture. However, "the budget for 1980 is the same as in 1979," said Miss Bourne. The budget is 20 cents per child participating, but "I've gone over the last six programs and the government always picks up the difference."

"The main idea of the program is to teach the children to eat according to the Canadian Food Guide. There are a variety of good food foods. I would rather see the children eating peanuts as opposed to candy bars or chips," said Diane. She adds that the most popular new food that the children have learned to like is yogurt. They also like to eat a variety of cheese and beans mullins now.

"We want to make nutrition fun," said Miss Bourne. "After all, everybody likes to eat."

Sedgewick TOPS

There were 38 members of TOPS (Totally Opposite Parents) Sedgewick who attended their meeting recently. It is very rewarding to see so many enthusiastic ladies meeting each week for a time of singing, laughing, and genuine good fun. Even though the ages range from 8 years old to pensioners there is no difference at TOPS. Leader Betty presented past Weight Watcher Eleanor with a gift of appreciation for her nearly four years of service. Thanks you Eleanor, we will miss your scoldings and also your kind words of encouragement.

The members are busy preparing to take a skit to Camrose to the Area Rally on October 18. Louanne introduced a new contest for the next few weeks and all get down to work and maybe Santa will find an almanac as he makes his rounds this year. Congratulations to the Canadian Food Guide. There are a variety of good food foods. I would rather see the children eating peanuts as opposed to candy bars or chips," said Diane. She adds that the most popular new food that the children have learned to like is yogurt. They also like to eat a variety of cheese and beans mullins now.

R.C.M.P. Report Accidents injure six

Kilham R.C.M.P. report a busy week with a great deal of it being referred from other detachments and investigative work on two accidents on Friday morning, September 26.

Five people were injured in a two vehicle accident one mile north of Sedgewick. A pickup driven by Stan Mackay and a car driven by Gail Marlow were involved. Gail was the most seriously injured and is still in hospital at Edmonton. Also that morning an accident involving a car and a pedestrian sent an elderly Kilham lady to hospital. Lougheed Rebekah Lodge plan District Meeting Seventeen members of Lougheed Rebekah Lodge gathered for their regular meeting on Wednesday evening, September 24. N.G. Sis Rowan Kampen was in the chair.

It was reported that Sis. Quast was out of the hospital. Sisters Frost, Butcher, and Roggenbach were not feeling well.

Visits had been made to local hospitals and to the Senior Citizens' Lodge.

The District Meeting will be held in Lougheed on Wednesday, October 22. It is possible that members from Chuvina and Wainwright will be present.

Card Converter, Sis. V. Coulman, reported having sent get well and birthday cards.

Under old business there was a discussion concerning the wish of the members as to the form of entertainment following the banquet at Assembly. "To dance or not to dance." That is the question. Not to dance. That is the answer. There was also a discussion concerning the benevolent fund.

Under new business, it was reported that the hall was booked for the tea and sausage the first of November. Sis. Barton was appointed degree captain with Sis. Chabery assisting. Members were delighted to serve Sis. M. Pope upon having passed another milestone.

Lodge closed in harmony, after which members gathered around the table for tea and coffee along with the most delicious buns served by Sisters Barton and Barton. Topic of conversation included a review of the weather and a census of the village. Members will meet again on October 8, when D.D.P. Sis. Black and her team hope to complete the installation of officers.

Lougheed and District Lions Review last years projects

The Lougheed Lions held their first meeting since the summer holidays, September 25, with 10 members present. Lion President Bill Delany in the chair.

Last years activities were reviewed to make plans for completion of any project not yet completed. It was noted that all monies had been spent from the Devonian Society and that the contract with the village of Lougheed terminated on September 30, 1980.

The Devonian Society Grant covered the street lighting, flower pots, and the fences. The painting of the Lions hall had been completed but arrangements have been made to complete this project.

Thanks to the Legion and Auxiliary, the playground fence was painted this summer.

The Lions presented individual trophies to the Rockettes and honoured them with a "Recognition Night".

In conjunction with the arena society, the Lions assisted in the scraping of ice and a ticket booth for the Lougheed Midget Hockey Tournament.

A donation of $300 each was presented to the Community Society, the Curling club and the Arena Society. A plaque was presented to Mrs. Ann Smith for the selling of Winsday tickets. The Lions bought a 4-H Club calf. The Lions also chaperoned the Grad '80 dance in Lougheed.

Arrangements were made to put the picnic tables, which the Lions built, into the arena for their use. Lion Harold Haugen reported that he had moved the picnic area of the sports grounds.

Best wishes to Lion Herb Loewen who has been very ill, we hope he will soon be well enough to be back in our meetings.

At our next meeting, Lion Dale Grievs will be installed as new President of the Lougheed and District Lions. Lions, please come out and bring your ideas and support for another successful year...

Next meeting will be held on Wednesday, October 22, 1980. The Lions will be installing a new President, Lion Dale Grievs, and a new Vice President, Lion Herb Loewen. HEATING OIL AND PROPANE USERS

IT'S YOUR TURN

Natural gas users have enjoyed price protection for several years. Now the program's been expanded and... it's your turn. If you live in an area where natural gas is not available to you, you are eligible for a rebate of 35% on heating oil or propane purchased on or after October 1, 1980. Residents, small businesses and community halls may claim rebates on purchases up to 4,000 gallons (18,185 litres) of propane or 2,700 gallons (12,275 litres) of heating oil each year. You will be eligible for the rebate only until such time as natural gas becomes available to you.

The Remote Area Heating Allowance also applies if you live in a gas franchise area, but for some reason, cannot be supplied with natural gas at the present time. Application forms are available through heating oil and propane dealers and some government offices in your area. Sedgewick Central High Increased enrolments

The first month of school is finally over. September must be the most hectic time of any school year. With everyone finally settled in, we can step back and have a look at what's happening. Some encouraging things are happening. Each year the staff persuades students to take as many courses as possible. As a result we have seen a dramatic increase in enrolments over the past five years, in the entire French program. In Accounting classes, in the sciences, especially Physics, in Math 31 and Math 30 and 35. Several elective courses, Law 20 and 30, Psychology, Western Canada History and Agriculture 10 have become quite popular. Another dramatic change has been in the number of students who earn between 110 and 120 credits rather than the minimum of 100 required for a high school diploma.

Hardisty Chamber of Commerce Poor turnout at meeting

The September 24th meeting of the Hardisty and District Chamber of Commerce saw a very disappointing turnout of members. We have a lot of members so one can only suppose that many had forgotten the meeting date after the summer break. Whatever the reason please mark your calendar now on the fourth Wednesday of every month for the Chamber regular meetings.

Hospital committee Chairman Alan Thompson reported that surveys had been busy the past week surveying the area for the new hospital, which will be located near the new town water reservoir.

Board Vice Chairman Jim Thompson displayed the completed pictures of this year's contest winners in which Frances and Walter Kord placed first, Brenda and Frances Lockers placed second and Marion and Matt Madden placed third. These three couples will be invited to the annual Chamber supper where the presentation will be made.

Dance Chairman Gordy Brat stated that plans are well in hand for the Halloween's Masked Dance and Dance which will be held on the night in the Elks Hall with music being supplied by Starlight Country. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday evening to complete the organization of the dance and tickets will be available shortly, so start now to plan your costume for the event. Also at next week's meeting plans will be made for the annual meeting and dinner.

Director of Public Relations Rose Marie Thompson reported on work accomplished this summer on our flag project. The annual arrival in response to our requests was opened at this meeting and we were proud to receive two flags of Israel along with a touching message from Prime Minister Menachem Begin. A preliminary letter was also received at this meeting from the office of President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France. As this letter was written in French and no one at the meeting was fluent in our language, we could only guess at parts of its contents. After the meeting with the aid of a French-English dictionary we translated the letter and found that the French flag and message from the President will be sent shortly. The flag poles for Devonian Park are almost completed thanks to the efforts of Louis Johnson and hopefully we will see them installed soon.

Louis came prepared to the meeting with a draft communique that he suggested we print in quantity and distribute to all persons in the Hardisty area in the near future, so when you get your mail some time within the next few weeks and find a message from the Chamber of Commerce on our lovely stationery please don't throw it on the floor of the Post Office. It is often done with this type of mail, but rather take it home, read it and give the idea your careful consideration.

Homecoming Secretary Treasurer Shari Irving asked for a representative from the Chamber for the Homecoming Committee and Chamber Secretary

Jeann Dunn offered her services. The Chamber is going to place a number of copies of our Welcome to Hardisty booklet in the area offices so that they may be readily available to persons coming to town and requesting information about Hardisty. For any local residents who might like a copy for their own use or to send to relatives or friends, they are available at a cost of $1 from Lory Snyder at the Hardisty Inn.

Cambridge Club Reports

Vesta Cookham

Well, our year planned Homecoming has come and gone, what a wonderful day to remember. After all our club, even our weather man co-operated with us and gave us a lovely sunny day for the event. Everyone reported a good time, so many old friends and neighbors in attendance to visit with each other.

In the school we had old pictures, reports of school registrations, history, lists of Trustees and school teachers, many old school souvenirs going back to 86 years ago. Our big school hall was on display, everyone had to try it to see if it still rang. The school bell is now on display in the Lougheed Museum. So many old memories in the little old school. As they entered they remarked old look at our old pot bellied stove still here, remember when we gathered all around it get warm, I know when I attended my desk was situated just about here. I never there used to be a window here (which had to be fixed in a few years, the only change I see since I attended, the clock room is taken out and a small porch added on.

I would like to remark on all the co-operation and hard work everyone in the Cambridge district put in to make our School Homecoming the success it was. Each one had a job to do and look after each case job well done. We had a big cheer up here of the school crew that got our Homecoming in the area came to give a hand. At noon we had a great lunch. I never saw such a variety of food. Our meeting that day was very short, letters read from replies to invitations.

Plans were then made for the menu for our big anniversary meal for our Homecoming. Also discussion on the various jobs each one would have that day. Some looking after the beverages, registration, the selling of the souvenir aprons, and looking after the pictures.

There was a donation of $10 to be given to the high school in Grade Seven Language Arts. This is to be presented at Lougheed School on November 1st day. Our short meeting was adjourned then back to the clock room.

August Meeting

The August meeting was held at Cambridge School on August 28. The meeting opened in the usual manner with Secretary Vesta and Treasurer Vesta reading their reports. Our president Verona welcomed members and visitors. We had Mrs. M. Coughlin of Delta, B.C. as a visitor at our meeting, she came with daughter Vesta.

Laurie Anne Rodnick to be sent a fruit basket, as she has been hospitalized. The correspondence was more than usual from people who had been at Homecoming. There was a letter from C.N.I.B. asking if our club would like to canvass for the blind again. Lars and Isabelle Stuehnen wished to thank the club very much for the gifts we gave them. The club would like to thank them for making our road signs, school pins, and posters, plus the miniature little clock, exactly like our one.

There were reports back from the making of a History Book. It was mentioned that if possible someone in our district could get a bit of clock to be left at the school. Thanks to Sadie Larlow who kindly donated her school pictures to us. Also

Two anniversaries celebrated in Lougheed

Sunday August 24, 1980 over 200 people gathered at Lougheed Community Hall in honour of the 25th anniversary of the birth of Ray Simpson of Sedgewick and Norma and Gus Probst of Lougheed. The sisters had been married in a double ceremony 25 years ago at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Father of the brides, Mel Larson, escorted his daughters into the hall to the Bridal March played by Mrs. Tom Berghart as had been done 25 years ago. The hall was tastefully decorated in white and silver with bouquets of autumn flowers.

The two couples were seated at the head table along with parents of the brides Mel and Kathryn Larson.

Mrs. Pearl Simpson and Mr. Orval Probst surviving sons of the groom were unable to attend because of ill health but sent warmest wishes.

The head table was graced by two beautifully decorated anniversary cakes done by Mrs. Marlene Simpson. These were flanked by silver tapers and bouquets of flowers, gifts of their children.

Mrs. Joseph Berg (nee Mirehaug) and Colleen Ravick were in charge of the guestbooks. Later of ceremonies for the afternoon was handled as capably by Mr. Conrad Ingvaldsen, as he had done 25 years ago. He started the festivities by asking Duke Probst to give a toast to his parents and his aunt and uncle.

Mrs. Helen Whitson (nee Helen Probst) showed the color home movie of the original wedding taken by the late Orval Probst. She also gave an interesting and humorous presentation of the sisters.

A skit was presented by the Turpin family of Wataskwin and two readings were given by Mrs. Jen Tweedy.

Mr. Jim Foxman and Mr. Al Cookson entertained with several musical selections.

Presentations were made from Trinity Lutheran Church by Andy Stuehnen and anniversary greetings were brought from Premier Peter Lougheed and M.L.A. Tom Lyons by Mrs. Tom Lyons, as her husband was unable to attend.

The couples also received many beautiful gifts and purses of money from family and friends. The two couples graciously thanked everyone for coming and making their anniversary such a special day.

Sedgewick Public School has initiation

New teachers at Sedgewick Public School this year are Miss Lucy Smith for grade 1 and Miss Judy Parker for grade 4. Miss Parker also teaches an introduction to French course for grade seven students.

Miss Smith previously taught at Dayland but grew up in the Westlock area. Miss Parker is from Coronation. Both teachers are graduates of the University of Alberta.

Mrs. Heather Ackers-viller is the new teacher's aid for the special education class. We welcome these new members of staff to our school and to the community.

The Junior High has completed its introduction to the new school year with a series of initiation rites. Students and staff were seen in a variety of costumes from odd neck and shoe to dress clothes. On Friday afternoon the grade seven endured trials of fun and courage and then emerged as full-fledged members of the Junior High. In the evening a very well attended dance was held.

Sedgewick Public will be competing in the County Cross Country Meet to be held in Hardisty, September 30. We wish all participants well during this endurance test.

Basketball practice has begun. We are very pleased to have Lis Erickson coaching the girls team. Mr. DeLoock is once again the boys coach. Miss Smith is coaching the cheerleaders this year. We look forward to enthusiastic response from all participants and spectators.

We will begin work on the playground structure soon. Mr. Doody will be providing much of the help with some of his students and we appreciate the advice and offers of help from other individuals in the community.
